Miss Hamilton said shoes made of straw fabrics are expected to be a popular line next year. These are made of material woven from Swiss yarns. Another new fabric is mandarin, a duplication in rayon of shantung, available in many different colors.

"It promises to be a decorative year for shoes," she added. "Decorations will not be large and bold, but rather feminine such as embroidery and rhinestones."

Present Awards At Rally Day

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The Sunday school "Rally Day" service of the Baptist Mission was held on Sunday morning with a record attendance of 70 pupils. Pastor L. Bigelow presided. Mrs. Bigelow led the children in the singing of choruses and Mrs. Frank Hannah of Marmora gave a flannelgraph story, the theme of which was "Ye must be born again."

Awards for the highest points for the third quarter were made to the following. beginners' class, Sharon McLean; juniors, Evelyn and Eleanor Wilde, tied; intermediates, William Deline. Evelyn Wilde also received a reward for reciting the most verses from memory in the junior class. Marguerite Baptie recited a poem "Are all the children in?" Shirley Taylor played a hymn as a piano solo; Leona Baptie and Onalee Curry sang a duet and the Robertson sisters, Sonja, Marilyn and Marie, sang a trio "Jesus Loves Me"; Sharon McLean led the "Wordless Book" chorus and the beginners' class sang "Zaccheus was a wee little man."

Betty Ann Whalen was the winner of the prize for the juniors and Doris Miller for the beginners. Three prizes for the pupils bringing the most visitors to the service went to Arthur Lloyd, Onalee Curry and Sonja Robertson.

For the last quarter of the year an attendance banner will go to the class with the highest attendance each Sunday.

and Mrs. A. M. Weir, Mrs. Rork Ferguson, and Mrs. H. K. Wright were appointed to take the devotional period in the afternoon.

Mrs. John Starke read an interesting letter received from Miss Marjorie Arnott, a missionary in Haiti. The autumn thankoffering was received. Mrs. Armar Weir and group had charge of the program. Mrs. Weir opened with a reading. Mrs. John Knox sang a solo, with Mrs. J. H. Caskey at the piano. Mrs. Charles McConnell gave an interesting talk on two chapters of the study book, giving a picture of a pagan village and one more Christian.

Plans Winter Sewing Group

NORWOOD (ENS).— The Norwood United Church Afternoon Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society held its October meeting in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. John Starke presiding.

One moment's silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Hugh Cameron, a life member of the society.

Following the reading of letters of appreciation for cards sent to members who had been sick or bereaved since last meeting, the supply secretary, Miss M. A. Carter, reported four boxes packed for the bale and with a moderate valuation amounted to $196, and 170 lbs. had been sent to an Indian mission a short time ago. It was suggested that the group have an organized sewing group this winter. The Missionary Monthly secretary, Miss Maysie Buck, requested that subscriptions be given this month.

Mrs. Clare Telford has consented to assist Mrs. W. H. Hudson as Mission Band superintendent. The president made mention of the autumn rally to be held in Hastings United Church on Tuesday,

DOROTHY DIX

Exceptions Rare For Success In Teen-Age Marriages

DEAR MISS DIX: Our problem is like many others, but we just can't seem to find the answer.

I am 17 and my sweetheart is 19. We are young, it's true, but we are really in love. My father, however, thinks differently. He never understands me. He says I should date other boys and that I don't know if Hugh is the right one for me or not. I'm sure, however, and so is Hugh, that we are in love and won't change.

Should we become engaged, to show the world, including my father, that we are sincere? Should we elope? I really don't want to elope as that would hurt my mother and she has been very understanding with us. Father likes Hugh, but is just stubborn in his conviction that I should go out with other boys. How can I convince him that he's wrong?

Ilene D. C.

ANSWER: Parents are apt to take a dim view of "going steady" for their young teen-age daughters. Adolescents are easily carried away on the wings of love, and are usually convinced that three or four—or more—boys are the "one and onlies" before they really reach the age of emotional maturity and can sanely select the right life mate.

EXCEPTIONS RARE

There are exceptions, it's true, but they are few in comparison with the vast number of youngsters who fall in and out of love with amazing facility. This in-again-out-again period is responsible for more nerve-strain among parents than any other phase of child rearing. Each time a romance ends, Mom and Dad watch their offspring sink in the abyss of despair, then, with remarkable resilience, spring right back when a new boy appears.

Perhaps, Ilene, you and Hugh have reached a point of mature stability where, in spite of your extreme youth, you are sure of each other. Your parents have no infallible system to prove it. What you mistake for misunderstanding in your father is only affectionate caution for the child about whose welfare he is deeply concerned.

Although a larger social circle would be good for you, it's useless to force yourself to acept dates when you know they won't interest you. Therefore, waiting is your only recourse. Don't have Hugh hang around the house all the time; in other words, don't let him get in Dad's hair, but tactfully let your father know that you are interested in no one else.

Do, by all means, postpone all thought of marriage for at least two years. No boy is ready to undertake the responsibliities of a family at 21, unless he is most exceptional character. Even then he will find it a strain. Give up any thoughts of eloping; if you go ahead with that foolish idea I can almost guarantee future trouble for you.

You have selected your sweetheart at an early age—for both you and him. That is as far as you should go for quite awhile. If you truly love each other, you're both worth waiting for. Don't rush into a hasty marriage that will alienate your father, and tie you both down long before you should be saddled with family obligations.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married next month to a fine boy. Everything is ready for our wedding but, as the date draws near, I wonder if I am really in love or not. Before I became engaged, I went with another boy. Now I'm not sure whether I selected the right one.

TONI H.

ANSWER: While you may be suffering from a case of pre-nuptial jitters, it is nevertheless possible that you have made the wrong choice. Better discuss the problem thoroughly with your mother and/or some other people who know you well and can shed more light on your perplexity. It would be a mistake to break off your engagement on the chance that you might love someone from the past, but it would be even worse to go through with the ceremony only to discover that you are not in love with your husband.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Ambitious Hostesses Ask For Ritzy Cookie Recipes

My head is above water, but only just. For I'm swamped with mail and will have to answer at least one letter at bottom of each column for the next few days.

But I am going to say my piece first for I have one of those ritzy cookie recipes that some of you ambitious hostesses are always looking for — to impress your just-as-ambitious guests.

PRINCE'S PECAN PUFFS

is the elegant name, and they live up to it.

Three egg whites, 1½ cups light brown sugar, 3 tablespoons flour, ¾ lb. shelled pecans. Whip egg whites dry and stiff, fold and whip in the sugar, then add gradually the flour and nuts, folding. Drop from wet teaspoon onto buttered baking sheet. Preheat oven to 325 deg. Fahr. Set heat control for 350 deg. Fahr. and bake 5 minutes to 10 minutes, depending on size of cookies. Remove when dry and lightly browned.

Last week I gave you Roast Beef, Beef Stew and Broiled Pork Chops.

This week we'll roast a fresh ham or pork shoulder first.

With a damp clean cloth wipe off the meat. Sprinkle all of the surfaces of the meat generously with salt, then less generously with pepper and paprika. Place meat, fat side up, in open pan with rack on bottom. Do not add water and do not cover and do not baste meat. Set temperature at 325 deg. Fahr. and leave at this temperature throughout roasting period. A fresh leg of pork requires 45 minutes per pound, but total time would be about 3 hours unless leg is very large, then increase time to 3½ hours. Whole pared potatoes are good when added to the pan around the roast during last 1½ hours of roasting time. Potatoes must be turned over at least once.

STUFFED PORK TENDERLOIN

Two medium pork tenderloins are wiped with damp cloth, and slit with sharp knife so that they may be spread open to about ¾ inch thickness. After first long slit, may 2 more slits on each side of it. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Spread one tenderloin with dressing: 1 well-packed cup soft breadcrumbs is mixed with ¼ teaspoon salt shake of pepper and 2 tablespoons butter in which you have sauteed (fried) 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon grated onion and, if desired, ½ teaspoon crumbled sage — saute them just enough to soak with butter and heat through. Cover stuffing with other split tenderloin. Tie securely with clean, white string. Place on baking pan with a little dripping under. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes, BUT DO NOT DRY THIS OUT. Baste twice with mixture of ½ cup boiling water and 1 tablespoon butter or good drippings. This is delicious served with plain or spiced applesauce or red currant jelly. Whole pepper squashes and potatoes, split, may be baked at the same time.

BREADED LAMB CHOPS

Eight lamb chops, 2 tablespoons butter or good drippings, 4 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, ½ cup ground ham or ¼ cup ham sandwich spread. Make a white sauce by melting the butter or drippings, stirring in the flour to blend, then the milk until thick. Add salt and ham. Chill. Trim excess fat from chops and broil or pan broil until barely cooked through. Season with salt and pepper and cool. Spread both sides of each cooled chop with the sauce. Chill again. Then dip in sifted crumbs, then in beaten egg to which you have added 2 tablespoons water, and in crumbs again. Brown in deep fat at 375 deg. Fahr. and serve at once. For special occasions cover ends of lamb chop bones with paper frills and garnish platter with parsley and tomato wadges. This is good accompanied by little moulds of mint jelly or mint sauce.

Centreville W.M.S. Hears Miss Pelton

BAILIEBORO — (ENS).—The Women's Missionary Society of Centreville Presbyterian Church held its annual fall thankoffering service in the church on Wednesday afternoon. Members from the societies of Bailieboro, Bensfort, Fraserville, Springville and Millbrook were also present.

Mrs. Howard Brackenridge, president of Centreville W.M.S., opened the meeting. Mrs. William Lytle of Springville read the Scripture and Mrs. Ruby Wood of Fraserville led in prayer. Mrs. A. Spicer of Millbrook sang a pleasing solo, "Father of Light."

A reading on thankfulness was given by Mrs. H. Yarr of Bailieboro.

Mrs. Willis Hall introduced the guest speaker, Miss Laura Yelton, regional secretary of foreign missions, Toronto, who gave a very interesting and inspiring message.

Mrs. Heuston thanked all who had so graciously helped with the program.

A delightful lunch was served in the hall by the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. Merton Thompson, president of Bensfort Woman's Association, moved a vote of thanks on behalf of the visiting societies.

New Toni
WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION

Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

"My First Home Permanent... and I'm thrilled with it! I chose New Toni because my friends told me it was best. It's given me a beautifully soft, natural-looking wave, and the curl stays for ages without re-setting."

"I've Always used Toni ... and I've always liked it. But this last wave, with Priceless Pink Lotion, is the most wonderful yet! It took less time to give, yet the wave stays set longer than any permanent I've ever had."

"I've Switched to Toni ... after trying all the other home permanents. I find New Toni gives me just the right amount of curl, and the wave is so lively it stays from one shampoo to the next with no re-setting at all."

REGARDLESS OF YOUR HAIR STYLE . . . NO MATTER HOW YOU GOT YOUR PERMANENT BEFORE . . . NEW TONI HOLDS THE SET LONGER!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutrafizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge.

Ask for Toni at any cosmetic counter.

6—In Memoriam

BOOTH—In loving memory of John S. Booth, who passed away five years ago today.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
—Ever remembered by Walter and family.

McDONNOUGH—In loving memory of my dear brother, Emmett, who passed away Oct. 6, 1951.
He was worth the name of brother,
He played life's battle square,
No matter when we needed him,
We always found him there.
—Ever remembered and sadly missed by sister Eileen and brother-in-law Howard.

McDONOUGH—In loving memory of my dear son, Emmett, who passed away Oct. 6, 1951.
Though out of sight, he's ever near,
Still loved, still missed, still mine,
He will live with me in memory,
Until the end of time.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by Mother.

NORTHEY—In loving memory of Mrs. Gertrude May Northey, who passed away October 6, 1942.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better God never made,
A wonderful worker, loyel and true,
One in a million, that, mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends and all you knew;
A wonderful mother, that, mother, was you.
—Fondly remembered by son Elwood, and daughter-in-law Lillian.

STRODE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Albert Strode, who passed away Oct. 6, 1951.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
His weary trials and troubles are past,
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
But God called him home to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to convey my sincere thanks to the attending doctor, nurses and orderlies of Civic Hospital, for their many kindnesses shown; also the clergy, Canadian General Electric, neighbours and friends for acts of kindness and floral tributes in the passing of a dear husband.—Mrs. May L. Grant.

Mr. Robert J. Winn and family wish to express their appreciation to their relatives and friends for their assistance and kind expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement. We also wish to thank Father C. R. Kay and Father V. McFadden of Downeyville, the chaplain and sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

The family of the late Mrs. H. P. Panter wish to thank the attending doctor, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness and sympathy shown during our recent sad bereavement.

SENATORS TRIM HAWKS

OTTAWA (CP)—Paced by Dusty Blair, Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League turned back Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League 4-2 here Saturday night in a bruising exhibition game.

The Senators scored their goals in the final period to come from behind after the Hawks took a two-goal lead in the initial stanza and protected it throughout the second.

Blair scored two of the Ottawa goals, his second with four seconds remaining in the game after Goalie Al Rollins was taken out with the score 3-2. Other Ottawa scorers were veteran Al Kuntz and Ken Laufman, last season with the junior Guelph Biltmores, Memorial Cup champions.

Twelve minor penalties were issued in the hard-hitting affair with eight going to the Hawks. In addition misconduct penalties went to Chicago's Fred Glover and Al Dewsbury. Glover drew his for fighting with Kuntz in the penalty box after the two had been flagged with minors, and Dewsbury drew his for arguing over a minor penalty.

HORNETS LOSE TO LEAFS

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs Saturday night downed Pittsburgh Hornets 4-1 in an exhibition hockey game here. Leafs defeated the Hornets by the same score Friday.

Leaf goalie Harry Lumley tended the Hornets' net for two periods before being relieved by Jack Henderson of the junior Toronto Marlboros. Gil Mayer worked the first two periods in the Leaf nets before being replaced by Bill Chadwick.

GRID MOGULS TALK RULES

MONTREAL (CP)—Big Four Football Union officials met yesterday to discuss playing rules and the college draft system.

They decided to remedy the confused timing arrangement by having the "minute flag" carried from the official timer's bench and raised to signal one minute of playing time before the end of the second and fourth quarters. An official on the field will continue to carry a pistol to fire the shot signalling the end of the first half of the game.

The committee discussed the college draft system inaugurated last spring but proposed no changes. The system is not recognized by clubs in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

BARONS SELL 3 PLAYERS

GUELPH (AP)—Cleveland Barons hockey club sold three veteran forwards to Buffalo Bisons Saturday and sent a fourth to its New Haven farm club. Ken Schuitz, Ray Ceresino and Ken Davies will report to the Bisons Tuesday. Eddie Busch goes to New Haven on a 24-hour recall option.

+ + +

Unimpressive Varsity Team Salvages 8-3 Win From McGill

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The senior Intercollegiate Football Union, Canada's most colorful gridiron circuit, opened its 24-game 1952 schedule Saturday with last year's two top teams registering victories.

The University of Toronto Blues, 1951 champions, salvaged an unimpressive 8-3 win from a fighting McGill Redmen aggregation at Varsity Stadium while last season's runner-up University of Western Ontario Mustangs humiliated Queen's Golden Gaels 33-1 in the Tricolor's own Richardson Stadium at Kingston.

Varsity Blues, exhibiting little of the power that carried them through an unbeaten 1951 season, were lucky to gain their 8-3 win from McGill. The Redmen drove to the Varsity one-yard line in the final seconds of play and it was only a terrific goal-line stand by the Blues that enabled them to walk off victors.

FUMBLES PLAY PART

In Kingston, greasy fingers played a big part in the Tricolor downfall. Queen's pushed the Mustangs back into Western territory time after time, but lost their golden opportunities by fumbling on crucial plays. In all, the Gaels miscued 10 times and were able only three while the [illegible] recovered two.

The running, passing and kicking of 21-year-old Geoff Crain, McGill's starry quarterback, highlighted the tension-packed game in Toronto. His performance was approached only by Steve Oneschuk who scored Varsity's lone touchdown.

Protected by a hard-charging line, Crain not only completed five passes for 65 yards, but ran up the majority of his team's 14 first downs and booted McGill's lone three points. Oneschuk skittered 34 yards for Varsity's only major while Bill Bewley converted and Al Haig booted two singles to complete the Blues scoring.

TRICOLOR LOSES FIGHT

Queen's put on a valiant show in the first half at Kingston, but successive fumbles appeared to break the team's spirit. Each club rolled for 11 first downs in the opening 30 minutes, but Western made it 17 to 10 in the second half.

Ray Truant led the Western scoring parade with a touchdown, a field goal and three converts for 11 of the 33 points. Jim Carrol booted a single while Don Prowse, Bob McMurdo, Bill Smith and Gino Fracas romped over for the four other Mustang majors, Fracas converting his own five-pointer.

Richard's Final Period Shot Ties All-Star Game 1-1

DETROIT (AP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard fired a final-period shot into an open net to give the second all-star team a 1-1 tie with the first team in the sixth national hockey league all-star game Sunday night before 10,680 fans.

Richard, Montreal scoring ace, got his goal just as easily at 1:36 of the final period. Hy Buller of New York fired a close-in shot and goalie Terry Sawchuk moved out to make a successful stop. But he was slow in getting back in front of the net and Richard scored.

Henry was in the net for the first 30 minutes and Gerry McNeil of Montreal the last 30 minutes. The last of 21 shots at Henry got by him.

GOES ALL WAY

Sawchuk had to go all the way because of an injury to his replacement; Chuck Rayner of New York. Sawchuk had 19 saves, McNeil 10.

Line-ups:

First Team: Goal, Sawchuk (Detroit), Rayner (New York); defence, Harvey (Montreal), Kelly (Detroit), Mortson (Chicago), Reise (New York), Quackenbush (Boston), Goldham (Detroit); forwards, Lach (Montreal), Howe (Detroit), Lindsay (Detroit), Creighton (Boston), Sandford (Boston), Pavelich (Detroit), Mosienko (Chicago), Leswick (Detroit), Sinclair (Detroit).

One Count Beats Mark-Ye-Well

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count moved a step closer to the three-year-old championship Saturday, decisively beating Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well by two lengths in the 33rd running of the $79,200 Jockey Club Gold Cup. The two-mile grind, before 35,069 fans, closed Belmont Park's autumn season.

Third money in the small but select field went to Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral.

Third choice in the wagering, One Count returned $9.60 and $2.90. Mark-Ye-Well was $2.30 to place. There was no show wagering.

Pickets Quiet

Company officials argeu that working conditions are not unhealthy at Deloro. An interim report, issued by the Department of Health, stated that there have been irritations of the skin caused by contact with old buildings, now bein gdestroyed, that were contaminated by arsenic. However, continued the report, "there is no evidence as yet that inhalation of arsenic is capable of causing lung canver."

George Herman, Mine-Mill international representative, said today that the union members are preparing for a winter-long strike. Picketing is going ahead 24 hours a day, with about 100 picketers on shift at any one time.

MEETING TUESDAY

Tuesday night there will be a meeting of the Mine-Mill's bitter rivals, the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) in the Town Hall.

C. H. Millard, director of Canadian Steelworkers, is scheduled [illegible] workers Tuesday night. Just next door, his union foe, Nels Thibault, the Mine-Mill director, will be addressing the strikers.

and at Peterborough Collegiate Institute, completing his preparation for life with a business courbe in the Pringle Business College, the forerunner of the Peterborough Business College. He was employed for a time with Higgins Hardware, and then began a long career with Quaker Oats. He was appointed time-keeper with the construction company which built the first plant of Quaker Oats, and from that connection he transferred to the office staff of Quaker Oats in 1902 when that company commenced operations. From the position of office manager, he became credit manager and assistant comptroller of the company, and altogether was 44 years with Quaker Oats, one of the few members of its staff who remained continuously with the Peterborough mill from its inception to his superannuation.

LETTER ON RETIREMENT

Among the honors paid to Mr. Sullivan at the time of his parting with the company was a letter from Mr. John Stuart, Chicago, chairman of the board, of which the following is a paragraph: "I cannot let this occasion pass without sending you a line to express the deep appreciation of our officers for the many years of faithful service which you have given to your company. We have had our tough going and good going as we look back over the years, but on the whole we have gone along pretty well together. We feel you have contributed your full share in the development of our Canadian business, and in protecting the good name of the company."

As credit manager of Quaker Oats, Mr. Sullivan formed a connection with the Canadian Credit Men's Association of which he was eventually elected president. Representing both the copany and the association, he travelled extensively across Canada, and became widely known.

SIX YEARS AN ALDERMAN

Believing that every citizen should endavour to serve his community, Mr. Sullivan accepted nomination for the city council and was elected in 1941, was re-elected in 1944, retired for two years, and was again a successful candidate in 1946. During those six years in the civic administration he was chairman of the fire, water and light committee, and from that experience he was always interested in the fire department and its efficiency. He was also a member of the Board of Health for some years, and acquired a reputation as a careful and sound administrator of city affairs.

INTERESTED IN SPORTS

From his youth Mr. Sullivan was interested in athletics. He probably began with the old Quaker soccer team, played rugby for a while, and in later years was the first president of the Indoor Softball League which introduced that game when it was played at the Armouries. He was always regarded as one of the founders of softball in Peterborough. At the outset it was composed of two groups, club and industrial, including such teams of the past as Belmont Club, Lawn Bowlers, Y.M.C.A., K. of C., I.O.O.F., and so on. The industrial section was made up of teams from various industries. He was elected to the executive of the Ontario Softball Association and in 1928 was vice-president.

Mr. Sullivan accepted many opportunities of assisting in promoting affairs of the youth of the city. He was a director of the Peterborough Athletic Association, of which the late Dr. A. W. McPherson was head; at one time was president of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association, which was one of his major activities; and a member of the executive of the Peterborough Baseball Club.

Some of Mr. Sullivan's other responsible associations were: Knights of Columbus of which he was Grant Knight of Peterborough Council in 1918-1919; St. Joseph's Hospital Board; secretary of the Separate School Board; and on the advisory board of Victoria and Grey Trust and Savings Company.

In the First World War he was an active canvasser for the Red Cross, Canadian Patriotic Fund and other agencies supporting the dependents of men on active service, and in the Second World War he saw his three sons enlist, two of them in the R.C.A.F.

In all his community efforts, Mr. Sullivan was esteemed for his sound advice and readiness to perform personal work.

He leaves his wife, the former Vivian Donoghue, his daughters, Mary and Vivian of Peterborough, Mrs. C. E. (Hilda) Egerer of Oshawa, and sons, Claire and George of Peterborough and John of Toronto; also his brothers, Leo and Frank of Douro, and sisters, Mrs. D. Hart (Eva), Toronto, Rosabelle of San Francisco, Laura and Mrs. M. Sheehan (Anastasia) of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Wednesday from the Anglesey funeral home, 289 Hunter St., to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

Thomas Irving Hill

Mr. Hill retired three years ago after working as a shoe maker here in Peterborough for 38 years. He leaves his widow, two sons and two daughters.

The funeral was at the Comstock funeral home with the Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark Street United Church and the Rev. E. W. Rowland, associate minister of George Street United Church, officiating. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Plan To Restore Chamber To Old Splendor

LONDON (AP)—Two British firms will build a new automobile for distribution in Canada and the United States, it was announced yesterday.

The Austin Motor Co., Ltd., will provide the engine and chassis while Fisher and Ludlow, Ltd., of Birmingham, will make the bodies.

Nash Motors of Detroit selected the two British firms to produce the automobile "after an extensive study of European sources of mechanical and other components already tooled and thoroughly proved."

The car will have a definite sports appearance.

L.P. Lord, chairman of Austin, said the principal chassis components are standard parts already in production—"for instance, the engine is the well-known Austin A40."

George W. Mason, president of Nash-Kelvinator, was quoted in a Detroit statement released here as saying the new car is designed to yield up to 40 miles a gallon at normal highway speeds.

Suspect's Father Tries Suicide

NEW YORK (AP)—The father of the chief suspect in the Arnold Schuster killing attempted suicide early today. Police were unable to ascertain a motive.

Feline Mazziotta, 75, the father of John (Chappy) Mazziotta, attempted suicide in his Brooklyn home by slashing his throat with a razor, police said. He is in serious condition in hospital.

Schuster was the Brooklyn Haberdashery clerk who pointed out Willie (The Actor) Sutton, notorious bank robber, to police. March 8, he was shot to death near his home. His killer never has been caught.

But May 16, police sent out a world-wide alarm for John Mazziotta, terming him the "chief suspect" in the slaying. They believe he sold the gun which killed Schuster. He's still at large.

Alfred Neumann Dies In Switzerland

LUGANO, Switzerland (AP) — Alfred Neumann, 57, German novelist who became internationally known for his outspoken writings against dictatorships, died here yesterday.

Neumann, who spent part of a wartime exile in the United States, came here several years ago for the treatment of heart trouble.

He fled his homeland when the Nazis came to power in the early 1930s, going first to Italy and then to France. When the Germans overran France, he went to the U. S.

Emperor Hirohito Employs Court Taster As Protection

By JOHN RANDOLPH

TOKYO (AP)—Emperor Hirohito still has a court taster to protect him from poisoned food—and to check on the Imperial diet.

This was revealed by the palace cook, Tokuzo Akiyama, in an article in the Japanese magazine Maru.

The 63-year-old Akiyama, who served his apprenticeship in hotels in Berlin and Paris before entering the Emperor's kitchen 38 years ago, put several facts about his boss on public view.

Hirohito doesn't drink or smoke; he likes plain food; and he goes for chocolate bars in a big way.

Court tasters have had a long and honorable place in Japanese history, since several emperors were put out of the way with poison.

INSIDE STORY

Akiyama's is the second inside story on palace life to appear recently. A few weeks ago the same magazine carried a piece by Hirohito's barber.

Akiyama's story will be read and discussed by millions of Hirohito's subjects who know that when the cook says his master has a "cat's tongue" he means that Hirohito cannot stand food that is too well heated. Even his tea and soup are served lukewarm.

LIKES JOLLY TIME

Akiyama also explained why the Emperor is a teetotaler. One time as a young prince Hirohito had to drink some sake (Japanese rice wine) at a Shinto ceremony. It made him sick and he became an abstainer.

But, the cook said, the Emperor likes to see his guests unbend and is jolly in urging them to have one more drink. Empress Nagako likes one or two of the Japanese thimble-size cups of hot sake on retiring.

Emperor Hirohito has a western-style breakfast at 8 a.m. Lunch is also western with a main meat dish. But supper, at 6 p.m., is strictly Japanese, featuring fish and vegetables.

Unlike most Japanese who kneel on cushions and eat from low tables, the Emperor, his wife and children sit on chairs at a dinner table.

When a meal is served, the Empres, the Crown Prince Akihito and the other Imperial children have lacquer trays, red outside and black inside.

Ignore Prohibition

CAIRO, Egypt, (Reuters)—Gen. Mohammed Naguib told a temperance delegation yesterday his government has "much more important work" to handle just now than trying to introduce prohibition in Egypt. The Premier told Egyptian temperance society leaders he had "no intention of upsetting foreigners in Egypt" by introducing prohibition.

Seize Narcotics

TOKYO (AP)—The newspaper Asahi said yesterday police seized $90,000 worth of narcotics in a crackdown on a dope ring. Police said the ring included 20 key men and 1,000 contact men in Japan. Most of the contact men were described as Chinese but some Japanese, Koreans and Americans were implicated, the newspaper said.

Matador Killed

BARCELONA, Spain (Reuters)—Matador Mariano Alarcon Sola died yesterday after a bull gored him and pinned him against the wooden barrier surrounding the arena. The bull's horn ripped a gaping wound in the matador's stomach Sola, 36, died a few minutes after being taken to hospital.

Dies After Dance

NEW YORK (AP) — Jennie Sekinda, 43, died early yesterday after falling and striking her head on a ballroom floor during a dance. Police, who listed the death as accidental, said she slipped while dancing.

Tea Off Ration

LONDON (AP) — Tea came off the ration in Britain today for the first time since July, 1940. Stores said there was no rush to buy.

Entries At Royal Expected Large

TORONTO (CP)—There will be a big entry of western livestock at the Royal Winter Fair here Nov. 14-22 despite the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among South Saskatchewan herds earlier in the year.

Last year the western provinces sent some 40 carloads of livestock and produce—about 120 horses, 300 head of cattle, 100 swine and 50 sheep. Officials said that this year even more western entries may come.

In beef and market cattle classes this year, one-fifth of all animals came from Western Canada. They won more than one-third of the prizes.

The Sale-of-the-Stars—in which prize breeding cattle are sold to the highest bidder—will again be held. Introduced in 1949 when an Aberdeen Angus was auctioned, there will be six classes this year—three beef breeds, plus dual-purpose short horns, Jerseys and Ayrshires.

A total of 120 breeding animals was sold for $120,920 in the 1951 Sale of Stars. United States buyers this year are expected to be fewer because of the ban on the import of Canadian cattle.

Homes Scarce

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—Mayor Paul Crawford reports that although building permits worth $1,500,000 have been issued this year, Alberta's fifth city is experiencing one of its worst housing shortages.

Great Aussie Newspaper Magnate Dies

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Sir Keith Arthur Murdoch, Australia's greatest newspaper magnate, died in his sleep at his home in Frankston, near Melbourne, Saturday night. He was 66 and had been in poor health for two years.

He began his career as a junior reporter on the Melbourne Age and made his name as a war correspondent with the Australian and New Zealand forces in the First World War.

In London, after the war, he was appointed editor and manager of the United Cable service and came into contact with Lord Northcliffe, the newspaper magnate who controlled The Times and Daily Mail, on whose newspaper policy he modelled much of his later life and interests.

Murdoch returned to Australia in 1920 and became editor of the Melbourne Herald, beginning an association that led him through the managing directorship to the Chairman of directors of the Herald and Weekly Times Limited, the largest single newspaper interest in Australia.

He was also made a trustee of Reuters, Limited.

He became chairman of the Australian Associated Pess news agency and chairman of the Australian Newsprint Mills Limited, which he founded in 1938. He was knighted in 1933 for his services to journalism in Australia.

Urges Progress Payments Used

LONDON (CP)—If the Canadian government really wants to encourage development of British firms in Canada, it should provide "progress payments" for companies engaged in defence production.

The suggestion comes from Charles Orr-Ewing, Parliamentary secretary to Britain's Ministry of Labor. In a letter to a weekly magazine, Orr-Ewing says the lack of such payments handicaps British firms who want to establish new Canadian subsidiaries.

"A new firm," he writes, "must be necessarily short of liquid assets and unable to carry the load of perhaps $1,000,000 worth of work in progress whilst it is delivering and producing rearmament orders. . ."

Orr-Ewing, an electronic engineer and technical adviser for a British radio company, adds that under present Canadian policy only the largest Canadian firms can finance the government's business. In most cases, he says, these firms are "off-shoots of their American equivalents."

Say Human Limit Quart Per Day

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—A quart of 100-proof whisky a day seems to be the top limit that the human body can burn or use up.

That's taking hourly drinks. After 24 hours, all the alcohol would have disappeared from the body. If anyone drank more than the quart, he'd have some alcohol left in his blood. And many people couldn't burn or metabolize anywhere near a quart.

Four human volunteers, taking hourly drinks for two or three days, give the evidence, reported in Science, published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The study was made by Henry W. Newman, Roger H. L. Wilson and Edith J. Newman of Stanford University School of Medicine, San Francisco.

From dog studies, Dr. Newman earlier had estimated a quart a day top for humans. The human volunteers had a top limit of somewhat less than a quart. It's unlikely, says Dr. Newman, that any person could burn up more than a quart.

GET VOLUNTEERS

Three volunteers were men, one a woman. Two were chronic alcoholics, including the woman, and two just moderate drinkers.

There were fairly big differences in how fast their bodies burned up alcohol, and how much each could use up in 24 hours. But when differences in weight were taken into account, the difference wasn't very great.

One alcoholic could handle the most alcohol, but second-place in efficiency went to one of the moderate drinkers.

Each got hourly drinks of diluted alcohol or beverage, with alcohol content based upon a test first to show how much alcohol his body could burn up within one hour.

At night they drank three tripled doses, so they had to be wakened only twice during the night to quaff their drinks.

Useful Work

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's police "juvenile clubs" in the four years of their existence have directly aided about 186,000 youngsters through sports and cultural activities, said Det. Capt. Ovila Pelletier, head of the system. The winter program includes educational courses.

Beef Price Support Policy Clarified By Department

OTTAWA (CP) — The agriculture Department Saturday issued a statement clarifying its price support policy for beef.

Confusion arose, the department said, over a misunderstanding between the terms "unfinished" and "lightweight" cattle. The department, which is supporting beef at 25 cents a pound, is extending the support to finished, heavy cattle only. A 23-cents-a-pound floor applies to finished cattle of lighter weight. There is no support for unfinished cattle.

(The Canadian Press reported Wednesday that the department is offering to buy only heavyweight cattle — dressed weight carcasses of 700 pounds and over.)

"Price support is not limited to cattle making carcasses of 700 pounds and up," the statement said, "but 'finished' carcasses of 700 pounds and up are receiving the higher 25-cent price support, basis 'good' steers Toronto, up to Nov. 15.

"If the U.S. embargo has not been removed by April 1, the support price on all properly finished cattle will then go up to the 25-cent level, basis 'good' steers Toronto."

"Finished cattle are being supported. Stocker and feeder cattle are not being supported until they are fed and brought to market ready for slaughter when the support price of 23 cents for 'finished' cattle will apply and by the fact that if the United States embargo has not been lifted by April 1st, 1953, the support price for 'finished' cattle will be increased to 25 cents."

New York Airport Fascinating Sight

By SAULT PETT

From the excitement of a returning MacArthur to the pathos of a frightened Displaced Person looking for a friendly face. . .From Foreign Ministers trying to escape the press with no comment to movie queens trying to capture the press with leg art. . .From handcuffed deportees reluctant to leave the country to zoo elephants reluctant to enter. . .From a suave smuggler with $150,000 in diamonds in the heels of her shoes to a naive little Italian immigrant with ham steaks sewn in the lining of his coat. . .

It has the roar of Super-Constellations coming in from London or Lisbon. . .The breadth of a field big enough to cover one-third of Manhattan Island. . .The frontier-like atmosphere of quonset huts still in use at the expanding terminal and washrooms marked "Men, Messeiurs, Caballeros". . .

The incongruity of a fezzed Moslem puzzling over a headline in a New York tabloid. . .The transparent press-agentry of a farewell cocktail party for a dog. . .The tense uncertainty of shawled refugees walking through the last customs gate.

LATEST DEVICES

The backdrop is seven square miles of filled-in marshland at Idlewild, Queens. The field is so big that the new, 11-storey control tower, in addition to all the usual electronic devices for guiding planes in the air, now has a special radar system to direct aircraft, jeeps, trucks on the ground.

They need such gadgets here. One pilot coming in from London flew the Atlantic safely and smoothly. He had no difficulty until he landed at one end of Idlewild and couldn't find the terminal building three miles away.

Underground, Idlewild has drainage pipes big enough for a subway train to run through. On the ground, it has seven huge runways. The longest is 9,500 feet.

The field uses so much gasoline that bringing the stuff in overland might tie up road traffic. So tankers deliver the fuel by sea, unloading at the airport's own docks in Jamaica Bay.

It cost $100,000,000 to build Idlewild, took six years and they're not finished yet.

Find Politics Popular Topic In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

No previous presidential campaign has evoked so much interest and activity as the 1952 race.

Hollywood's drive for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower is directed by the entertainment industry joint committee for Eisenhower-Nixon. The nature of this group was explained by Mickie Kies, in charge of the office.

TWO GROUPS

She said the committee is composed of two groups—the Hollywood Republican committee, formed in 1947, and the independent volunteer committee, organized last spring to promote Eisenhower's nomination. The latter comprises many former Democrats and independents.

The Republican committee lists such officials as George Murphy, Robert Montgomery, Walt Disney, Ginger Rogers, Adolphe Menjou and Leo McCarey. The volunteers are headed by powerful studio heads J. L. Warner, Samuel Goldwyn and Darryl Zanuck. Members include Fred Astaire, Irving Berlin and Clifton Webb.

The purpose of the joint committee, it was reported, is to raise money and to provide talent for Republican programs. Sample assignments are Irene Dunne to a women's rally in Long Beach; Dennis Morgan to a fund-raising drive in Beverly Hills. Also active are Lucille Ball, Dick Powell, June Allyson and Hoagy Carmichael.

Five Injured In Accident At Roseneath

Car In Collision With Tractor South of Village

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Five people were injured, none seriously, in an accident on Highway 45, eight miles south of Roseneath Monday evening

The accident occurred when a car travelling south, driven by Alex Horner of Roseneath was in collision with the rear wheel of a tractor, also going south.

There were six people in the Horner car and everyone in the car, except the driver was taken to hospital in Cobourg in two cars which came along shortly after the accident.

The injured are: Mrs. Alvin Rosebush, 61, who has a fractured leg; Mrs. William Horner, 68, who received a fractured ankle and Miss Shirley Rosebush, 18, multiple bruises. The driver's wife, and five-year-old daughter Linda were also admitted to hospital for treatment of scratches and bruises but were later released.

GOES INTO DITCH

After the collision, the car veered to the right and overturned in a ditch. It is said to be a total wreck.

The tractor was not damaged to any extent, and the driver, John Bennf, 35, of Baltimore was not injured.

Horner, who was not injured, his wife, and sister-in-law Miss Rosebush, were in the front seat of the car. His mother, Mrs. Wm. Horner, daughter Linda, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Rosebush, were sitting in the back seat.

The tractor had one light on the back of it. Horner is reported to have mistaken the light for the headlight of an approaching car. Since it appeared to be near the centre of the road, he thought it was a car coming toward him with one headlight. He swerved to the right, but was so close that the car clipped the right rear wheel of the tractor and ended up in the ditch on its side.

Provincial Police from Cobourg investigated.

Execution Stayed

QUEBEC (CP)—Execution of Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 43, convicted of murder in Quebec's airlines time-bomb case, has been stayed until Jan. 9, it was learned yesterday. She was to have been hanged Oct. 17. Mrs. Pitre appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. The hearing is scheduled for November.

Peasants Oppose Kremlin, Plan New Drive

LONDON (CP). — Observers here forecast a new full-scale drive by the Soviet state and Communist party to bring to heel Russia's recalcitrant peasantry who are apparently defying Kremlin plans to make them state serfs.

They drew this inference from the speech made to the Soviet Communist party conference in Moscow Sunday by Georgi Malenkov, deputy premier and head of the secretariat of the Central Committee of the party.

Malenkov warned the peasantry —and local Communist party officials who have "aided" them— that sabotage of state plans will no longer be tolerated.

The main part of Russia's agriculture is "collectivized." Under this system peasants produce on a co-operative basis but under state direction. They have to meet state quotas every quarter and every year.

RETAIN SMALL PLOTS

The peasants are allowed to retain small plots where they raise chickens and a pig or two, perhaps a few cattle as well, and grow vegetables. They are allowed to sell this produce "privately" on the open market.

Present Soviet plans calling for the progressive "elimination of differences between town and countryside" appear to aim at the ultimate abolition of the peasant's "private property" so that he will be a state servant, deprived of the right to sell his own produce freely on the open markets.

BIG PROBLEM

Elimination of the "private property" mentality of the peasant is one of the biggest problems facing the Kremlin on the home front. Several recent Soviet press reports have spoken of the "plundering" of collective farm land by peasants —an open defiance of the state.

The broadcast yesterday of Malenkov's keynote speech to the 19th All-Union Soviet Communist party congress disclosed a wide range of defects in the Soviet economy.

In giving an exhaustive review of these defects, Malenkov told the Soviet Communists the United States wields an ever-increasing threat of war over their heads and demanded strict supervision of all phases of Soviet life in an economic drive to raise the Soviet level closer to that of the U.S.

Say Defences Breached Now To Seoul

U.N. Units Strive To Seal Gap, Situation Confused

SEOUL (AP)—A big push by 1,500 Chinese Communists, which overran seven Allied hill positions in the first onset, early today breached defences of one of two heights guarding the road to Seoul.

Confused reports from the front some 50 miles north of this Korean capital said the penetration was made on White Horse Mountain and Allied counter-attacks were trying to seal off the breach.

The Reds appeared to be letting up on their assault on nearby Arrowhead Ridge in order to concentrate on the White Horse position.

Possibly 400 or 500 Chinese Communist troops cut through the perimeter of the hill's defences, the front reports said.

Front reports said the Chinese wore gas masks. There was no explanation given. The Reds have accused the Allies of using gas; the Allies insist they never have used it.

AP correspondent Milo Farnetti reported from the front that a roaring artillery barrage powered today's assault. The Reds pumped 1,200 rounds an hour at each of the heights before the infantry charge.

GAINED GROUND

Fighting was brutal. The Reds threw men, tanks and artillery into the battle, spread over two-thirds of the 155-mile battlefront.

But the Allies had known for three days of the attack and were ready for the assault.

The U. S. Eighth Army said the massive Red assault captured seven hill positions. But the Allied defenders stood their ground at most places. The army added many undreds of Reds were killed.

Brooklyn Threatens In Eighth But Stops Short

EBBETTS FIELD, Brooklyn—The new York Yankees won their fourth World Series in a row today, downing the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-2. With the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh, the Dodgers threatened to overcome the lead that was started by Mickey Mantel's sixth-inning bases-empty homer. Mantle put the Bronx Bombers into a 3-2 lead then, and another run in the seventh sewed the game and the series up. Bob Kuzava, a lefthander, pulled the game out of the fire that the Dodgers lit in the bottom of the eighth. He replaced Allie Reynolds, who was credited with the win after replacing Vic Raschi in the fourth.

Black, who won the opener and dropped a 2-0 decision to Allie Reynolds in the fourth game, was making his third start of the series. The 28-year-old Negro right-hander has allowed only three runs in 16 innings.

Lopat, veteran southpaw, was kayoed in the ninth inning in losing the third game to the Dodgers, 5-3. He was making his second start of the series, with three days of rest.

The line-up remained the same except for Brooklyn's George Shuba dropping from fifth to seventh in the line-up, with Campanella moving back into fifth place and Gil Hodges sixth.

A crowd of about 30,000 attended the final game. The weather was windy and cool with some sun.

FIRST INNING

YANKEES: McDougald slapped Black's first pitch on the ground to Reese who threw him out. Rizzuto bunted and was tagged out by Hodges. Mantle went down swinging at a fast ball. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING

Davies Suggests Canada Get Special Honor

LONDON (CP) — A suggestion that Canada's Governor-General Vincent Massey, or Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent be invested with one of the great ceremonial offices at the coronation of the Queen next year, is made by Senator W. Rupert Davies, of Toronto and Kingston, in a letter published today by The Times.

President of the Kingston Whig-Standard and high sheriff last year for his native county of Montgomeryshire, the senator offers the idea in support of proposals in the United Kingdom press that overseas Commonwealth subjects be given a more active part in the Queen's coronation.

To make this possible, "The Round Table," a periodical devoted to imperial affairs, threw out the drastic suggestion that accommodation be made for the dominions and colonies at the Abbey ceremoney by limiting the peerage to a representative delegation. As compensation the journal thought an older function of the lay lords, suspended since 1831, should be revived.

"It would be a fine recognition of the importance of Canada, for instance, if the Canadian Governor-General, Mr. Vincent Massey, or our distinguished and scholarly Prime Minister, Mr. Louis St. Laurent, could be given one of the great ceremonial offices at the coronation. I am sure it would warm the hearts of the Canadian people."

Senator Davies and his wife, who have been spending the summer at their country estate near Welshpool in northern Wales, sailed for Canada today aboard the Empress of Scotland.

Brig. Connelly Being Retired

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department said today Brig Alan B. Connelly, former head of Canada's military mission in Tokyo, has gone on retirement leave in line with the army policy of retiring senior officers "when there is no further suitable employment for them in the service."

An official statement, prompted by reports the 44-year-old Calgary engineer had left the service, said: "Brig. Connelly is on retirement leave. The department does not normally give reasons for such retirement except that senior officers retire when there is no further suitable employment for them in the service."

A spokesman said there was "no other comment."

Stage Big Quebec Manhunt

SOREL, Que. (CP)—Police today sought two alleged murderers, thought to be hiding on one of 43 islands in the St. Lawrence River near this city 40 miles down-river from Montreal. Maksymilian Ciesla, 21, and Ryszard Ciosowski, 20—who entered Canada from Poland last autumn as stowaways—are said by police to be willing to "risk everything, even murder, to prevent capture and deportation to their homeland." They are wanted for questioning in connection with the shotgun-slaying of a Yamaska garage owner, Aurelien Houle, during a holdup attempt Sept. 25.

At Ottawa an immigration Department spokesman said today that Ryszard Cisowsky, 20-year-old Polish displaced person who police say they want for questioning in a murder case, was deported from Canada Sept. 26.

The spokesman said Cisowsky thus cannot be one of two Polish immigrants police are now hunting

Squads of police, armed with sub-machineguns and wearing bulletproof vests, last night combed several of the islands before nightfall called a halt to the search.

MEN ARE ARMED

They were warned the men are armed with a 303 rifle, two 12 gauge shotguns and 120 rounds of ammunition which they stole from a nearby summer home.

The two men were arrested in Sept Iles, in Northern Quebec, and jailed for theft shortly after their arrival in Canada. After serving sentences, they were taken to immigration detention barracks n Quebec.

They escaped capture and made their way to Yamaska, working on farms for food and shelter, but never staying in any one place long, for fear of recapture.

Houle was killed when he tried to prevent his wife's being robbed by two men. He was cut down by a single blast from a sawed-off shotgun.

DANGEROUS QUARRY

Police were called to Sorel, where they were joined by four R.C.M.P. officers in a police motor launch, when the two suspects were seen [illegible] in a stolen motor boat.

"We're positive the two Poles are hiding on one of the islands," said Hilaire Beauregard, deputy director of Provincial Police.

"Those two are dangerous and armed to the teeth, and our men have been ordered to proceed with utmost caution."

Climbers Face New Dangers

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Post-monsoon rains today were reported bringing new and dangerous snow and ice to the higher reaches of unconquered Mount Everest, where a team of six Swiss mountain climbers is struggling toward a final assault on the world's highest peak.

Latest reports on the Swiss — more than a week old because they must be brought 170 miles by runner — said the men were forging ahead toward the establishment of a series of four or five advance camps along the way up.

The team has moved out from their camp at Namche Bazar, 12,500 feet up, and now is working toward a camp the men plan to locate on the [illegible] mountain Gauri Sankar.

The final assault probably will be made by Raymond Lambert, veteran Alpine mountain guide who climbed to within 900 feet of the 29,000-foot summit May 28 before fierce storms forced him back.

Nahas Resigns As Wafdist Chief

CAIRO (Reuters)—Mustafa El Nahas, seven times Prime Minister and Egypt's most powerful politician until Gen. Mohammed Naguib took power this year, resigned yesterday from the Wafd party he led for more than 20 years.

After a three-hour meeting at Nahas' villa, the Wafd executive committee bowed to Naguib's demands and registered under the new "purge or dissolve laws"—without the 77-year-old Nahas as its chairman.

Naguib had "certain objections" to Nahas as the party boss.

He is replaced as chairman by Abdel Salaam Gomaa, 66, senior member of the Wafd but little known outside Egypt.

The announcement constituted a [illegible] it decided to dissolve rather than lose Nahas. Old guard leaders claimed the party would crumble away without Nahas. Gomaa was reported then to be at variance with this view.

An official statement Monday said Nahas has been made an honorary president of the party for life.

Start Emergency Measures Improve Prison Conditions

VICTORIA (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner yesterday announced an emergency program to correct "shocking conditions" in over-crowded Oakalla prison, scene of a riot last week. He announced additional hutments will be built to house 600 men and 40 women; 68 additional guards will be hired; the system of using trusted prisoners to help in administration of the prison will be abolished; the entire cell-locking system will be changed and some prisoners may be transferred to New Westminster penitentiary as a stop-gap measure.

DELAYED TOO LONG

Mr. Bonner reported that the prison, built for roughly 450, has more than 800 prisoners. The prison is in the Vancouver suburb of Burnaby.

He said some of the action he plans to take should have been taken 10 years ago.

Nearly 100 men were involved in the riot last Thursday, which raged for three hours and caused heavy property damage.

43% Students Fail On English

TORONTO (CP) — Forty-three per cent of some 500 first-year students at the University of Toronto failed an English test.

A report on the test released yesterday shows that the students were examined in vocabulary, knowledge of punctuation, ability to summarize a piece of prose, and to outline a short composition.

The test was compulsory for all first-year tudents at University College, and all first-year students at the faculties of Music, Nursing and Physical and Health Education taking English at the college.

Students taking the test were required to define 10 of 15 words, including "erudite," "amplify," "complement," "condone" and "chivalry." The second part of the 110-minute test was made up of a dictation practice.

Of students enrolled in the fac- [illegible] per cent passed; ties, only 45 per cent passed.

Quebec Scores Again 'Disables' 2 Ships

ABOARD HMCS [illegible] CENT (CP)—In a daring [illegible] attack as an "enemy raider," the Canadian cruiser Quebec was credited with disabling two United States warships early Sunday in the N.A.T.O. convoy exercise on the North Atlantic.

The Quebec's hit-and-run attack "disabled" the aircraft carrier Wasp and a destroyer, with the Canadian ship getting away before guns of the 16-ship escort force could be brought to bear on her.

Following her successful raid, Quebec joined forces Sunday morning with the close escort group of which the Magnificent is senior ship and will remain in company until their arrival at Halifax Oct. 12.

King Paul Dissolves Greek Parliament

ATHENS (AP) — King Paul today ordered the Greek Parliament dissolved and called a general election in an effort to get a majority government that might aid the country's grave economic situation.

The coalition of Plastiras' left-of-centre Progressive party and Venizelos' middle-of-the-road liberals had only half the seats — 129 — in the outgoing Parliament. Its dependence on independent votes forced it to tread cautiously despite the mounting economic troubles.

Papagos, whose party's 114 seats were short of a Parliamentary majority, insisted that a new election be called.

Northern Ontario Has Snowflurries

TORONTO (CP) — Cold air last night brought intermittent snowflurries to Northern Ontario and much of Quebec.

Steady rainfall continued to plague residents of eastern Ontario. In some areas the rain came down without letup for 12 hours.

Say Police Broke Promise

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Mary Mitchell, 28, charged with harboring convicted bank robber Edwin Boyd last December, today said in court that police officers had promised her she would not be prosecuted if she "co-operated."

The blonde sister of Leonard Jackson who is under death sentence for the fatal shooting of Det. Sgt. Edmund Tong last March, charged Sgt. of Detectives Adolphus Payne and Detective Charles Cook made the promise.

She said she was questioned for "hours and hours" and was reduced to such a condition she signed a statement which "twisted assertions" she had made.

New Armored Vests Used By U.K. Troops

LONDON (CP)—An improved type of nylon armored vest, already tested under active service conditions in Korea, is to become part of the standard battle equipment of all British front-line troops.

The new protective gear, patterned along the lines of a vest developed in the United States, is to be manufactured in Britain.

Valued at approximately £35 each the vests are to be given priority rating by contracting firms and shipped to Korea for use by the Commonwealth Division. Officers of the division are reported to have been high in their praise of the American armored vest.

Providing protection against shrapnel and bomb splinters, it is given credit for saving many lives and otherwise reducing the toll of battle casualties.

Police Crack Down On Jaywalkers

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto city [illegible]

Inspector Vernon Page ordered the move today. The city has had 12 traffic fatalities in the last three weeks.

Toronto's 45th traffic death of the year came last night as Fred Martin, 67, died in hospital. He suffered a fractured skull Oct. 3 when he stepped off a street car into the path of a truck in tow, police said. Truck driver Robert J. Andrew, 43, of Tilbury, has been charged with dangerous driving.

Ex-Queen Narriman Denies Any Divorce

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Former Queen Narriman of Egypt said today that reports in Cairo that she intends to divorce former King Farouk are "all wrong, absolutely wrong."

Narriman spoke to reporters as she left her hotel with her mother and her lady-in-waiting to go shopping. She said she plans to rejoin Farouk in Italy "as soon as possible."

The former Queen arrived three weeks ago to undergo treatment at the hands of a well-known Swiss gynecologist. She spent about 10 days in the clinic.

Lie Offers New Plan

Suggest 60,000-Man Volunteer Reserve

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A plan to recruit a 60,000-man United Nations volunteer reserve was forwarded yesterday by the U.N. collective-measures committee for consideration by the General Assembly.

The proposal was made by U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, apparently in lieu of his earlier plan for a U.N. legion. Lie now believes the legion plan, which called for a force under a self-contained international command, is "impractical" at present.

Canada, one of the first countries to offer military aid to the U.N. for collective action in Korea, is one of the 15 members of the collective-measures committee established two years ago.

David Johnson, Canada's permanent delegate to the U.N., told the committee yesterday that Canada agrees that the committee's work should be continued. A continuing committee "would be useful in the event of an emergency."

Also released yesterday was a letter to the U.N. from L.B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, answering a U.N. query about implementation of collective-measures proposals. Pearson told the U.N. that in view of Canada's army, navy and air commitments to the U.N. Korean effort and to the collective-defence effort of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, "the Canadian government does not at present contemplate the recruiting and organization of further units of its armed forces for service with the United Nations."

Lie's volunteer-reserve suggestion would have men trained on a part-time basis as additional strength for other forces provided to a U.N. executive authority at the time of an aggression.

The volunteers would be recruited on behalf of the U. N. through the existing national military establishment of the states willing to participate in the proposals.

Rival Unions Hold Meetings Beside Each Other

Two openly-declared enemies in the Canadian trade union movement—the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) and the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)—are holding meetings side by side tonight in Marmora.

Local 889 of the Mine-Mill are entering the fifth day of their strike against the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co., four miles northeast of Marmora. The strike of the 400 production employees has halted production at the largest cobalt smelting and refining plant in North America.

Tonight they are holding a membership meeting at the union hall in Marmora. And right next door—in the town hall—the rival Steelworkers are holding an organizational meeting.

Nels Thibault, Mine-Mill director, will address the strikers; and speakers for the Steelworkers will be Arthur Jardine, chief of the grievance panel in the Bethlehem Steel plant, Lackawanna, N.Y., and Murray Cotterill, publicity director for the Steelworkers.

The Steelworkers say they are in Marmora to organize the ironworkers in the Marmora-Bethlehem Mines, a Canadian subsidiary of Bethlehem. They claim that all Bethlehem workers in the United States are in the Steelworkers union and it is in the interests of the ironworkers in the Marmora region also to belong.

STARTED ORGANIZING

However Mine-Mill have already done some organizing in the Marmora district. At an Ontario Labor Relations Board hearing a week ago they filed 102 cards on behalf of 157 ironworkers employed by Marmora-Bethlehem Mines. The Steelworkers did not personally intervene but they backed up a group of 56 workers who informed the O.L.R.B. that they didn't want to belong to the left-wing Mine-Mill union.

The O.L.R.B. adjourned the hearing.

Two Sundays ago there were demonstrations and shouts of "get out of town" when C. H. Millard, Steelworkers' Canadian director, spoke at a meeting in Marmora.

Ratepayer Asks Path Of Highway

S. W. Daniel, 1169 Clonsilla Ave., repeated to the council Monday night his request for definite information about the proposed by-pass highway. It is a project conceived in more definite form when the Faludi city plan was newly drafted. The project envisions a highway, leading from Clonsilla Ave., in the vicinity of the end of Western Ave., crossing Sherbrooke St., proceeding north to Parkhill Road, and generally inviting northwest bound traffic away from the centre of the city.

Mr. Daniel lives on the west side of Clonsilla, south of Sherbrooke St. He reminded the council that he first heard of this highway five years ago from Herbert Sills of city planning committee.

Owning 265 feet frontage, Mr. Daniel said he would be content with 100 to 110 feet for his home property, and was willing to sell the rest since the Clonsilla sewer has been in construction, and taxes generally were high. His suggestion was that the council withdraw the project or buy the part of his land that would be needed for its route.

Mayor Waddell said City Engineer Chalmers has had the area surveyed.

"I understand the survey was completed ten days ago," Mr. Daniel said. "I'd like to know whether the council is going to keep after it."

City Clerk Outram told the council he had telephoned the office of John Pierce, surveyor, on Monday and learned that the report on the survey would not be ready until next week. He said that the ground work was done, but certain details had to be determined in the office.

The Daniel request was referred to the next meeting of the committee of the whole one week from Tuesday.

6 European Countries See Coronation On TV

LONDON (Reuters)—Close to 2,000,000 viewers in six European countries will watch the coronation next summer on their television sets if a revolutionary BBC plan works out.

The BBC plans to transmit its own TV coverage of the glittering pageant to France, Belgium, The Netherlands and possibly to West Germany and Denmark over Europe's first continent-wide television hook-up.

"We are awaiting permission from the Duke of Norfolk, who as Earl Marshal is responsible for organizing the coronation," said a BBC spokesman yesterday. "Once we get that we will go ahead."

Reducing Staff

WASHINTON (AP)— The Federal Bureau of Investigation, with personnel recently at peak levels, has begun a gradual reduction of staff to get its payroll within the limits of current appropriations. The F.B.I. payroll now totals 14,600, which includes 6,600 special agents in the investigation field.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The American dollar was at 3 11-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EST. Monday's noon rate was 96 5-32 cents. The pound sterling was $2.68 13-16, against $2.68 Monday.

Fire Protection Outlined

KEENE (Staff)—A lightly-attended meeting Monday night heard the pro side of the fire protection question that faces Otonabee township. Only decision reached was that other meetings should be held in other parts of the township during the next few weeks, to acquaint more ratepayers with the probable cost and effectiveness of one or two fire trucks in the township. These were the suggestions given the ratepayers who attended: that the township be split into two fire areas, and that a decision on the question be made as soon as possible. Reeve Dick Stewart of Otonabee, who called the meeting, said he was disappointed at the small turnout. He had expected more people to be interested in fire protection, especially in view of the two fairly recent fires in the township.

Main theme of the several speakers at Monday night's meeting in Keene town hall was that too many townships have locked the barn after the horse is stolen; too many have decided to buy fire protection after serious fires.

CONGRATULATES COUNCIL

David Low, acting chief of fire service division in the Ontario fire marshal's office, congratulated the Otonabee township council on their foresight.

"You're lucky you have a council that will start the ball rolling," he said. "Most of the time it's the other way around. The ratepayers are the ones who start the agitation for fire equipment."

Mr. Low spoke bluntly to the small audience—about 40—and told them they couldn't get fire protection cheap, that they couldn't expect a city to fight their fires unless they had aid to offer the city in return.

Estimated cost of two fire trucks was given as $30,000 by township clerk James McCarthy. The province will pay a 35 per cent grant for the first fire equipment bought by a township, and 25 per cent for all subsequent equipment and maintenance.

Cost to the ratepayers would be $19,500, which could be raised by 10-year debentures. Cost in taxes to the ratepayers would amount to slightly more than a mill each year. Total assessment of the township is $2,252,000.

Mr. Low said he felt the best scheme for fire protection was if everybody in the township was included; that the cost of equipment should be levied against the whole assessment.

"That way you avoid the individual agreement system, which can be a bad one."

CHARGE SIX MILLS

Smith township, with two fire halls and two fire trucks, is to a great extent on the individual agreement basis, Smith township clerk Alex Edmison told the audience. Two fire areas are established, in which the charge per year is six mills.

Outside those areas, fire protection was sold to farmers at an average charge of $6 a year, for ten years on a contract. Actually, for assessments up to $1,500, the yearly charge is $6, for more than $1,500, $10 a year.

For farmers who aren't signed up, the charge for each run is $150. Sometime, said Mr. Edmison, it's hard to collect the $150, but the best way to do it is "fight the fire first, and fight for your money after."

Those who are signed up, pay their $6 or $10 a year with their taxes.

ANNUAL COST

Mr. Edmison quoted the annual cost: $717 for wages, $150 for oil and gas, $751 for insurance and other items, $1,200 for new equipment, and $880 yearly for debenture charges. However, he said, new equipment was not bought to that extent each year.

Mr. Low said he felt Smith township had done an excellent job in procuring its trucks and getting its two halls—in Bridgenorth and just north of Peterborough—built in a reasonably short time.

Both the fire chiefs of Smith township, Al Crowe of Bridgenorth and Noble Hicks, McLennan Ave., told their side of the story. They discussed their problems, the ways they used to raise money for their fire halls—by raffles, dances, etc.—and the rates of pay set for Smith township.

Mr. Low of the fire marshal's office told the ratepayers that the biggest problems they would face if they did buy fire equipment would be: the right men to man the equipment, and the maintenance of the equipment.

MUST CHECK GEAR

If they got the right men, he said, maintenance would be no problem. He pointed out that the engine of the fire truck must be started and [illegible] each day and [illegible] equipment must be checked to see if it is in working order.

Find Woman's Body In Trent River

BELLEVILLE (CP) — The body of Mrs. Eliza Ann Campbell, 75, of Trenton, today was found in the Trent River. She had been missing from her home since last night.

Dr. A.E. Mcuade, coroner, is investigating. She is survived by her husband and five sons.

Liberals Retain Two Seats In By-Elections

MONTREAL (CP)—The Liberals retained two Montreal district federal seats in by-elections yesterday.

They elected Lucien Cardin, lawyer from Ste. Anne de Sorel, in Richelieu-Vercheres and Romuald Borque, mayor of suburban Outremont, in Montreal Outremont-St. Jean to sweep by-election contests caused by the resignation of Liberal members of the Commons.

Both seats have a consistent record of electing Liberal candidates.

NEW STANDINGS

Here is the new standing in the 262-member House of Commons: Liberals 184; Progressive Conservatives 49; C. C. F. 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal two Independent four.

The complete popular vote from Richelieu-Verchers' 113 polls gave Mr. Cardin 13,238 against 4,394 for Alberic Tremblay, Progressive Conservative—a majority of 8,844.

The liberal majority in the 1949 general election was 7,205 while the popular vote this time was down slightly—from 19,233 in 1949 to 17,632.

A five cornered-fight in Montreal Outremont-St. Jean, with all 156 polls reported, gave this final result:

Mr. Bourque 6,363; Claude Nolin, Progressive Conservative, 3,221; Mme. Therese Casgrain, Quebec C. C. F. leader, 1,127; Raymond Bourque, Independent Liberal, 443; Ben Ash, Independent, 167.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a brief statement that he naturally was "very happy" to see Liberal candidates emerge victorious.

Mr. Bourque's majority of 3,142 was down sharply from the Liberal majority of 11,185 in 1949 but the popular vote also showed a big drop — from 21,245 in 1949 to 11,321. A steady, day-long drizzle was blamed for the light balloting.

The contests brought to 30 the number of by-elections held since the general election. Fifteen have gone to the Liberals, 13 to the Progressive Conservatives and two to independent Liberals.

FIGHT FOR SEATS

In the last batch of by-elections —six held May 27 last—the Liberals retained two seats while the Progressive Conservatives retained one and gained three formerly Liberal ridings. In all, the Progressive Conservatives have won eight Liberal seats since 1949.

stroyed two Red tanks and about 80 bunkers.

FIGHT TO LAST

One Allied outfit fought and died to the last man in defending a vital hill. The number of men, presumably not large, was withheld.

A front-line Allied officer indicated the Reds may have been seeking a weak point where their troops and tanks could pour through to the south. Had they succeeded, he said, they might have cut off the entire Seoul area.

Wave after wave of fanatical Chinese began hitting the western and central fronts last night. The biggest force, nearly 6,000 men, ran straight into an Allied trap and was badly mauled.

The main Red blow hit White Horse Mountain and Arrowhead Ridge, two Allied-held hills near Chorwon. The Reds opened the flood-gates of a reservoir in an unsuccessful effort to cut off Allied reinforcements. The Allies knew the attack was imminent when the Yokkok River, which circles both hills, began to rise.

That meant the Reds had opened the floodgates of Pongnae reservoir. But the Allies had prepared for that by fixing rock fords, cable crossings and a helicopter landing strip.

When the Chinese attacked they were met with a blistering barrage of fire.

MANY REDS KILLED

Between 800 and 900 Reds were killed at White Horse alone. Another 250 died at Arrowhead Ridge.

Associated Press Correspondent Milo Farneti at the front said the fighting produced the first tank battle since the early days of the war. One Russian-built T-34 tank was knocked out.

If the Reds had taken them, an Allied front-line officer said, they would have controlled the town of Chorwon and the road network in the valley.

He said this would have let the Reds push south and isolate the Seoul area.

'HUMAN SEA' ATTACKS

"They were using human-sea tactics," an officer said. "They threw themselves at us—running, shooting and screaming. They were thrown back."

On White Horse the Reds killed the last U. N. defender at the eastern nose of the mountain and occupied the position. A fresh Allied unit counter-attacked and threw them off.

"Our troops stayed there until they were killed," an officer related. "They wouldn't run."

Counsel Files Appeal For Jackson

TORONTO — An appeal notice and application for leave to appeal the conviction against Leonard Jackson for the murder of Sgt. of Dets. Edmund Tong last March were filed Monday at Osgoode Hall by Jackson's counsel, Arthur Maloney.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for Steve Suchan, said he would file a similar appeal for his client today. Suchan and Jackson were sentenced to hang Dec. 16 by Chief Justic McRuer.

Seven grounds were listed for the Jackson appeal:

1. That the verdict was against the evidence, the weight of evidence and contrary to law;
2. That the verdict was unreasonable and cannot be supported having regard to evidence and the conviction should, therefore, be quashed;
3. That the trial judge erred in failing to grant the postponement of Jackson's trial that was requested by his counsel;
4. That there was no evidence that Jackson had formed a common purpose with his co-accused, Steve Suchan, to resist arrest by violence;
5. That the trial judge erred in admitting as an exhibit a paper model of a human head and torso and in admitting evidence that Suchan and Jackson were supposed to have fired practice shots at it. The notice said this was not evidence that Jackson had formed a common purpose with Suchan to resist arrest by violence and its prejudicial effect was very great;
6. That the judge erred in admitting evidence concerning the circumstances under which Jackson was arrested in Montreal subsequent to the date on which Sgt. Tong was shot. This was claimed to be prejudicial also;
7. That the judge erred in failing to give sufficient instruction to the jury about a subsection in the Criminal Code.

Mr. Robinette said there would be four grounds for his appeal:

1. Error by the trial judge in not granting an adjournment at the outset of the trial;
2. Wrongful admission of evidence relating to target shooting.
3. Wrongful admission of evidence of the arrests in Montreal;
4. Incomplete presentation by the trial judge to the jury of the case for the defense.

The appeals will probably be heard in about three weeks, Mr. Robinette said.

DODERS: Campanella sent a dribbler back to the mound and was an easy out, Lopat to Mize. Hodges chased Mantle back to the centre-field wall for his long smash. Shuba rapped a single through Lopat's legs into centrefield for the first hit of the game. McDougald gloved Furillo's bounder inside the third-base line and threw to Mize for the out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

THIRD INNINGS

YANKEES: Martin flied to Snider in short centre. Lopat bounced out to Hodges who made the putout unassisted. McDougald sent a one-bouncer to Cox who threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH YANKEES

Rizzuto rammed a double inside the third-base line, the ball rolling out into the leftfield corner for the first Yankee hit.

Mantle went out on a one-bouncer to Hodges who made the unassisted putout as Rizzuto advanced to third.

Mize singled over Cox's outstretched glove into left field scoring Rizzuto with the first run of the game.

One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

FOURTH DODGERS

Robinson laid down a beautiful bunt between [illegible] third base, reaching [illegible] without even drawing a throw as Lopat was late fielding the ball. Snider reached second on the infield single. Manager Stengel came out to confer with Lopat, and Reynolds started to warm up in the Yankee bullpen.

Campanella executed another surprise bunt, beating out a little roller to Lopat inside the third-base line to fill the bases.

Stengel again came out, and signalled the end of Lopat, calling in Reynolds to pitch.

The first batter to face Reynolrs was Gil Hodges, who has failed to make a single hit in 18 official times at bat in this series. It was Reynolds' fourth appearance of the series.

Reynolds, who cut off the throw at the plate, allowed the ball to roll away from him and Robinson raced to third on the error.

Shuba went down swinging at a slow change-up.

Robinson made several gestures to steal home causing Reynolds to step off the mound repeatedly giving the excited crowd a big kick.

Furillo's sharp grounder bounced off McDougald's chest, but the third baseman recovered in time to throw him out at first.

FIFTH INNING

YANKEES: Woodling walloped Black's first pitch over the right-field screen for a home run, putting the Yankees in front again 2-1. It was the 15th home run of the series and ninth for the Yankees Noren popped to cox on the edge of the infield grass. Martin rapped a ground single through the centre of the diamond. Southpaw Preacher Roe and right-hander Carl Erskine started warming up in the Dodger bullpen. Reynolds was out on a slow roller to Robinson as Martin advanced to second. Robinson went behind second base for McDougald's hard ground ball and threw to Hodges for the out. The nine home runs for the Yankees tied a team World Series record set by the same club in 1928. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

DODGERS: Black looked at a slow curve for a third strike. Cox smashed a double that hit the right centre-field wall on one hop. Reese singled sharply to left scoring Cox with the tying run. Reese raced to second when Woodling's throw to the plate was very wide for an error. Snider swung at the first pitch and bounced to Martin who threw to Reynolds, covering first, for the putout as Reese went to third. Vic Raschi, who started yesterday's game, started warming up in the Yankee bullpen. McDougald spared Robinson's rising liner with a gloved-hand stab. [illegible]

SIXTH INNING

YANKEES: Reese lunged to his left for a back-handed stab of Rizzuto's low liner. Mantle crashed a home run high over the scoreboard and screen in right field to put the Yankees ahead for the third time, 3-2. It was the 16th of the series for both teams and the 10th for the Yankees to set a new team record. Mize singled sharply into right. Manager Charley Dressen came out to the mound, and signalled the end for Black, and Preacher Roe was summoned in from the bullpen. Berra struck out swinging at a screwball. Woodling smacked a ground single through the middle of the diamond, Mize stopping at second. Hank Bauer, a right-handed hitter, batted for Noren. Bauer reached first safely when his bounding ball nounced off Cox's glove for an error and only alert backing up by Reese prevented Mize from going farther than third leaving the bases filled. Martin flied to Snider in centre, the centre-fielder almost losing the ball as the wind held back the fy. One run, three hits, one error, three left.

DODGERS: Hank Bauer went in to right field for the Yankees. Campanella belted a long single into centre. Rizzuto made a fine stop of Hodges' sharp grounder to his right to start a double play, the shortstop to Martin to Mize. Martin threw out Shuba. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

SEVENTH INNING

YANKEES: Ralph Houk, a right-handed second-string catcher batted for Reynolds who showed signs of fatigue. Cox knocked down Houk's torrid smash inside the third-base line and threw him out. Johnny Sain joined Raschi in the Yankee bullpen. McDougald looped a single over Robinson's head into right-centre. Cox came in fast for Rizzuto's bunt down the third-base line and threw him out on a close play, McDougald moving to second on the sacrifice. The switch-hitting Mantle, batting right-handed for the first time in the game, shot a scorching single over Reese's head into left field scoring McDougald. Furillo caught Mize's long foul in the Dodger bullpen. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

DODGERS: Raschi came in to relieve Reynolds, and Joe Collins took over first base, relieving Johnny Mize. Furillo drew a walk. Rocky Nelson came in to bat for Preacher Roe, in Nelson's third appearance as a pinch-hitter. Nelson flied out to Rizzuto. Cox singled to left, and Furillo got to second, staying there. Bob Kuzava, a lefthander, came in for Reynolds, who had walked Reese to load the bases. Snider was automatically out on an infield fly. Robinson popped out to Martin, retiring the side.

No runs, one hit, no errors. three left.

EIGHTH INNING

YANKEES: Berra popped high to Furillo. Woodling lined to Hodges for the second out. Bauer walked. Snider made a runninng catch of Martin's fast-dropping fly to retire the side.

DODGERS: Kuzava struck out Campanella. Plate umpire Larry Goetz warned the Dodger bench, then threw out Branca, McDougald's high throw pulled Collins off first base, making Hodges safe. The Yankee third baseman was charged with an error. Pafko came in to bat for Shuba, then struck out. Furillo flied to Woodling against the wall.

NINTH INNING

DODGERS: Morgan was called in to bat for Erskine. Woodling took Morgan's line fly for the first out. Cox grounded out, Martin to Collins. Reese flied out to Woodling to end the 1952 World Series.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Juniors Compete In Carp Plowing Match

CARP, Ont. (CP)—The International Plowing Match starts today with a local flavor at the 500-tent city on the outskirts of this Ottawa Valley town.

It is Local Counties Day, with preliminary matches setting the stage for the international competition which begins tomorrow. Youngsters hold the spotlight in matches for Junior Farmers and there is also an event for teams from high schools across Ontario.

Many of the young plowmen have travelled long distances to be here. Theirs is the tough job of breaking new ground on the 600 acres marked out for plowing during the next four days.

Farmers from the nine eastern-most counties of Ontario and from sections of western Quebec also have their horses groomed and tractors shined for participation in nine events.

But the big plowing attractions get under way tomorrow when top Canadian plowmen meet representatives of the United States and Great Britain in three days of stiff competition.

The international matches start after Premier Frost of Ontario officially opens the International.

Probably the biggest crowd-drawer is the Mayors' challenge Match tomorrow pitting five Ontario mayors or reeves against Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa the challenger. Entered in this event are Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto, Mayor Bernadette Smith of Woodstock, Mayor E. C Sargent of Owen Sound, Mayor A. D. Simpson of Stratford and Mrs. H. McKenzie, reeve of Beaverton

Stevenson Has Active Group In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The 1952 presidential campaign is drawing the most Democratic activity here in eight years.

The number of celebrities working for Adlai Stevenson still doesn't match the large groups who followed the magic drawing power of Franklin Delano Roosevelt in previous campaigns. But the current race is a far cry from 1948, when only Lucille Ball, Ronald Reagan, Robert Ryan, Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall spoke for President Truman.

Of that group, Ryan now is working for Stevenson, but Miss Ball is on the Eisenhower bandwagon. Reagan, retiring president of the Screen Actors' Guild, came out for Ike before the conventions but now is leaning toward Adlai. The Bogarts, who attended the Madison Square Garden rally for Ike last spring, are back in the Democratic column.

SERVICES FREE

"We are organizing a mass-media campaign that would cost any commercial advertiser $1 000,000," he said. "But all of the services involved are donated, and the other costs are absorbed by our Hollywood contributors."

Unlike the Republican group, which is concentrating on star appearances at rallies, the Democrats are mainly concerned with radio transcriptions and TV films. On his trip here last month, Stevenson spent an hour and a half before the movie cameras. The Hollywood volunteers are producing four 15-minute films, transcriptions, 25 one-minute shots, skits and songs.

The Hollywood For Stevenson-Sparkman Club books some stars to rallies. But the emphasis is on radio and TV. The group is providing Bette Davis, George Jessel and others to introduce such Democrats as Harry Truman on a radio series sponsored by the A.F.L.

Other players who have publicly supported Stevenson: Dana Andrews, Ethel Barrymore, Eddie Cantor, Ava Gardner, Tony Curtis, Marlene Dietrich, Jane Greer, Janet Leigh, Harpo Marx, Ann Miller, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra Don Taylor and Shelley Winters.

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP) — Both the Republican and Democratic parties have pressed some of the individuality out of the views of their respective candidates under the pressure of campaigning for the United States election.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appears to have taken on more of the Republican party's traditional concepts that he had previously disdained. Governor Adlai E. Stevenson has added somewhat less of the party-line Democratic outlook.

But both men have made it clear that the race for the Presidency is more between two parties than two individuals. The desire for party unity and voting organization has dictated compromises with the individual's beliefs.

IKE CHANGES ATTACK

Eisenhower started the campaign saying that peace is the great issue of the election. Later it was the "mess in Washington." He was army Chief of Staff when U.S. troops were withdrawn from Korea and was head of the North Atlantic Treaty armies under the Democractic administration. Now he lambastes the administration foreign policy as "bungling" close to a third world war. Before the Republican national convention he indicated he was opposed to the so-called right wing of the Republican party. Now he welcomes the opportunity to gain their support.

Last week Eisenhower endorse Senator Joseph McCarthy, running for re-election in Wisconsin. Previously Eisenhower indicated distaste for the methods McCarthy used in pressing his charges that the Democratic administration is riddled with Communists.

McCarthy had attacked Gen. George Marshall, former State Secretary, as a "traitor." Marshall and Eisenhower had been close friends.

Stevenson started the campaign saying he believed the Taft-Hartley labor law, which labor considers restrictive, should be amended. Now he says it should be repealed. He has fallen in line with the Democratic party's views on federal legislation on civil liberties and federal control of tidelands oil, instead of state control.

SUPPORTS PARTY POLICIES

Stevenson had the edge in freedom from party entanglements when he was drafted at the Democratic convention in Chicago. The draft gave him the right to say he owed nothing to any one in the party. Since then his rift with President Truman has been healed, although three Democratic state governors in the southern states have decided to back Eisenhower — largely on the issues of civil rights and tidelands oil.

Eisenhower's so-called "liberal" section of the Republican party won him a majority in the national convention but since then there has been a steady shift to bring full support behind him of his former opponents in the party. The climax was the meeting of Eisenhower and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, whom Eisenhower beat for the nomination.

Stevenson says Eisenhower surrendered to Taft in allowing Taft to follow the meeting with a statement calling on his former supporters to work wholeheartedly for Eisenhower, indicating that the two men now are as one on major policy.

Earlier, the Republicans made much of a Stevenson-Truman meeting, saying it showed Stevenson as a captive of the President.

Four Senators Come Under Truman Fire

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—President Truman made a slashing attack on four Senators backing Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the Presidency in a hell-for-leather swing through Utah and Colorado yesterday. He also said he still has plenty of ammunition.

Truman said he doesn't see how Eisenhower can be elected "with the crew he has got around him" and its "terrible record."

Speaking at a train stop at Helper, Utah, the President said:

"I just don't think the people are going to elect a president who has surrendered to Taft and McCarthy and Jenner and Kem."

He charged the Republicans with attempting to hide a 20-year record of obstruction and isolationism behind "the shining armor of a national hero."

Democratic party officials who climbed aboard the Presidential campaign train at Grand Junction, Colo., said they told Truman his presence is needed to stir up the party organization and chart the issues on which to fight out the campaign in Colorado.

They said the fact that the Republican presidential nominee makes his headquarters at Denver, and that this is the home state of his wife, is one of the factors the Democrats have to overcome.

Young Egyptians Learn To Express Selves—Minister

HAVELOCK (ENS)—There is a great movement towards literacy in the upper districts of the Nile River in Egypt and the slogan of the Egyptians is "Egypt for the Egyptians." There is no room for foreigners, said the Rev. Leonard F. Geary, who was guest speaker at Havelock United Church on Sunday evening in the interests of the Upper Canada Bible Society.

This move toward literacy is particularly marked among the young, Mr. Geary said, and as one learns to read that one in turn teaches another. The Arabic Scripture is the book from which they learn to read.

Mr. Geary has served as secretary for six years for the Bible Lands Agency South, which includes all the countries in the Middle East. He returned to Canada early this year because of the uprising in Egypt. He was in his office in Cairo when the riot commenced in that city on January 26. He was advised to leave the premises and about 10 minutes after he had left mobs of rioters came to the Bible House with the intention of destroying it. A Moslem neighbor pleaded with the rioters to leave the building alone because "these people sell the Holy Book and they must not be touched". Despite the disorder of the mob the Moslem's words prevailed and the mob went on its way and the Bible Society's depot remained intact although more than 700 buildings were burned that day.

It has not been easy for any representative of the Bible Society or for any other Christian worker to carry on in Egypt during the past few months. Mr. Geary said. The Bible Society colporteurs have encountered persecution and opposition, not so much because they were offering books to the Moslems, but because they were employed by a British society.

Mr. Geary told about 800,000 Arabic refugees who are wandering up and down the Jordan river, living in abject poverty having little left but their faith. He has been in Israel four times since it became a state and should it survive, he said, it would be a power to reckon with.

There, the doors have been thrown open to Christian missionaries and Bible study classes are prevalent. He told of the thrill he received when a complete translation of the Bible in the Tigrinya language was placed in his hands in script form by the translator by Mrs. Winqvist, a veteran missionary in Eritrea, a state administered by Ethopia under a decree by the United Nations Organization. This script has been forwarded to London for printing and will be returned to her in the form of Bibles for use among the people of Eritrea.

Following the service, the Rev. R. G. Newman was elected temporary president of the Havelock-Belmont branch until another meeting can be held, possibly in November.

Record Production

LONDON (Reuters) — British steel production last month was at a record rate for September, the British Iron and Steel Federation announced today. At an annual rate of 17,149,000 tons, it compares with 15,749,000 tons in the same month last year. The previous high September rate was 16,964,000 tons in 1950.

Geologists Map Great Areas By Helicopter

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of Ottawa scientists has returned after flying in helicopters all summer to map, for the first time, the geology of 57,000 square miles of barren lands between Great Slave Lake and Hudson Bay.

Dr. C. S. Lord of the Geological Survey of Canada estimates that the use of helicopters for the first time in geological reconnaissance did a job that would have taken ground parties 25 years to complete.

Dr. Lord headed a 16-man party in the summer's work. He and his associates now are preparing reports on their findings. Their ultimate aim is to map the geology of Canada's barren lands north to the Arctic Ocean.

The area had been mapped by aerial photographs before, but those photographs didn't show the details that geologists are interested in. Dr. Lord said an average of 900 square miles was mapped in one day from a helicopter about 350 feet above ground. At times the machines came to within five feet of the ground and flew at walking pace to give scientists a closer look.

What did they find?

Dr. Lord reports "substantial areas very promising for prospecting and in which some day there will be mines." The treeless, swamp-ridden country has already yielded finds of gold, copper and nickel.

The party used two helicopters and a light plane, as well as a heavy freight aircraft which landed supplies before the ice melted.

Career Problem Upsets Marriage

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A career problem has upset the Frank Sinatra-Ava Gardner marriage, but it isn't serious, the crooner reported last night.

"We have a career problem," Sinatra said. "But I think everything will work out all right. I'm going to see my wife in about 10 days in Hollywood."

Sinatra said his wife's plan to make a movie in Africa hadn't brought on a disagreement, adding:

"She can go to Korea if she wants. I never interfere with her career."

He said they had had some disagreements but nothing serious.

Solandt Well Pleased With A-Bomb Tests

PERTH, Autralia (Reuters) — Britain's first atomic-weapon test was "a great success" and everything went according to plan, Dr. O.M. Solandt, Canadian scientist who attended the test, said today.

Solandt, head of Canada's Defence Research Board, arrived here by air today from the Monte Bellos islands, where the blast took place last Friday.

Officer Dismissed

PORTSMOUTH, England (Reuters)—An officer was dismissed from the Royal Navy today for running off to Belgium with a women in whose divorce case he was co-respondent. Lieut. Reginald Soden pleaded guilty to being absent without leave and going abroad without permission

General's Daughter Charged With Murder

The attractive woman, mother of two children, is held under observation in a Tokyo army hospital.

A maid found Smith, 45, of San Antonio, Tex., on his bed vainly trying to stem the flow of blood from a wound in his right side. His dazed wife sat on an adjoining bed clutching a knife.

Mrs. Smith's father was Second World War commander of the Sixth Army in the Pacific.

90-Minute Snowfall North Of Montreal

STE. AGATHE, Que. (CP) — Snow fell for 90 minutes early today on this Laurentian mountain resort town 60 miles north of Montreal.

It was the first reported snowfall of the season in the region. However, it was no record. Snow fell in September as recently as 1947.

Traffic Slowdown

HOF, Germany (AP) — Soviet soldiers slowed traffic down to a crawl today at the east-west zone crossing point between Toepen and Juchoe by conducting a minute search of all trucks passing through. Border crossers told West German police the Russians explained that they were looking for a "western agent who blew up a strategic bridge" and also for Soviet Army deserters.

Jail Sentence Spoils Romance

day jail sentence is breaking up the romance of a 27-year-old housewife and a 16-year-old youth she calls "lover boy."

Mrs. Thelma Henderson, mother of three children, is in jail serving the two-month sentence for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The youth was sent by his parents to the state school for boys.

"I don't see where I did anything wrong," the blonde, blue-eyed mother told a reporter. "I always brought him home to his mother."

Asked if she loved her husband or the youth, Mrs. Henderson replied:

The sentence was handed down by Judge J.T. Fuchs after they broke a court order not to be seen together in public.

The husband, Horace Henderson, 28, has sued for divorce and custody of the children.

5 Die In Explosion

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Five persons were reported killed and 12 were severely injured yesterday in an explosion at the government munitions plant on the outskirts of the capital. The blast was so heavy that the national observatory, 1½ miles away, recorded it as a major earth shock.

University Closes

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — Tehran University closed yesterday when nearly 1,500 students went on strike and refused to attend exams. Trouble started when the students heard that candidates for the police training school would be "hand-picked" instead of chosen by competition.

Gives Comfort To Russians

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois today accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of giving "comfort" to Russia by labelling U. S. prosperity as war-born.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address prepared for the opening of a five-day campaign tour in Illinois:

"There is no greater disservice the Republican candidate could do America in its world role than to suggest that our economic strength at home is a war prosperity.

"When the General speaks of our prosperity as being war-born, who can gain comfort except the Soviets, who shout to the world that we have undertaken our defence program, not to ensure peace, but to prevent a depression at home by waging war abroad?"

"We expect this kind of talk from irresponsibles and isolationists, but not from a man who was formerly looked upon as an understanding leader in world affairs."

IKE BLAMES WAR

Eisenhower's statement on which Stevenson teed off was made in several speeches. At Philadelphia Sept. 4, the General said:

"Today our initiative, imagination and productive system are once more tied and shackled to war and the prospect of war.

Not so, said Stevenson. Instead, he contended that "our high standard of living has been maintained since the Korean outbreak, not because of the defence program but in spite of it."

Stevenson's Saginaw speech was only a preliminary to a major address he was scheduled to make tonight in Detroit on the Communist threat — internal and external. The speech will be televised and broadcast.

The Five Stars Lose Their Lustre

When General Eisenhower was being urged to run for the Presidency, people all over the western world lifted up their hearts. When he said he would accept the Republican nomination if it were offered, a glow suffused this world. In millions of people's minds he was not only a man of great ability, tested in war and in international dealings, but also an American of life upright, whose principles and integrity were unassailable. It seemed as if Eisenhower the candidate were to lead a crusade. But ever since his nomination in Chicago, he has appeared less and less like a crusader, more and more like a politician of the kind his person and principles had despised.

* * *

An able reporter whose despatches the Examiner has especially commissioned, is travelling on General Eisenhower's campaign train now, along with forty American journalists. He reports to us that the size and enthusiasm of the crowds who greet General Eisenhower's approach suggest that his chances of becoming President are rapidly increasing, but that the faces of most of the reporters on the train get longer and longer: "It is not because these journalists are Democrats — of those who have usually voted Democrat, many had hoped until quite recently that Eisenhower would be the next President. It is because Eisenhowers' campaign has fallen far below the level of statesmanship for which they had hoped. What the great majority of these newsmen is saying now is that Eisenhower has come down to the level of a party politician, subjecting every consideration to that of getting office."

* * *

General Eisenhower, the politician, has revealed himself through a series of incidents. He did not disown Senator Joseph McCarthy, and in fact has endorsed McCarthy, that irresponsible demagogue, without reservations, although Mr. Paul Hoffman, former Marshall Aid administrator and a man who did more than anybody to secure Eisenhower as Republican candidate, has described Senator McCarthy as a "fantastic liar." General Eisenhower has astonishingly accepted the backing of other extremist Republicans; for instance, of Senator William Jenner, who once described General George Marshall as a "front for traitors." Eisenhower's veneration for Marshall is well known.

* * *

The Eisenhower rapprochment with Senator Robert Taft has been remarkable. The General virtually asked Taft to campaign for him, thinking that he needs to carry the Taft-dominated Republican states of Illinois, Ohio and Indiana. Our reporter on the Eisenhower train says that Eisenhower "crawled over broken glass to seek help from the man whom, on the eve of the Convention last July, he stigmatized as dishonest in his tactics and irresponsible in his statements."

* * *

Then there was the Nixon case. Senator Richard Nixon, Republican vice-presidential nominee involved in charges of using improper campaign funds. "Newspapermen on this train point out that once it was clear to Eisenhower, from the amount of telegrams being received, that the public was not in favour of Nixon resigning the vice-presidential candidacy, the General seemed to lose all interest in the moral issue."

* * *

This has been capped by Eisenhower's speeches in traditionally isolationist territory. Elsewhere he has said that isolationism in the Republican party is dead. On the eve of the Chicago convention he described Taft as a "damned isolationist." Yet now the Republican Presidential candidate is riding on a train with Senator Dirksen who in 1950 said that the Marshall Plan was "money down a rat-hole," and who has been talking in a similar way during these last campaign weeks.

* * *

General Eisenhower himself, he who had been the finest American internationalist of all to millions of Europeans, has been saying that if the U.S. had been "properly prepared in 1916 and 1917, and had we taken precautions in the years 1939 and 1940, we might have easily avoided one or both of those world wars." General Eisenhower also said last week, "If there must be a war, let it be Asians against Asians." Our reporter makes this fair comment: "He (General Eisenhower) is so anxious to unite his party and to appeal to the wide range of view of Foreign Policy held by the Republican rank and file, that he is losing both his regard for hard fact and his sense of principle. Thus his campaign has, in the opinion of his critics, sunk to a level that they never expected to find linked with the name of Eisenhower."

What excuse can be made for the General? He hinted at what might come when he allowed his name to stand for the Republican nomination and he said then that he never went into battle half-heartedly; he went all-out to win. Perhaps General Eisenhower, an expert strategist in military matters, has correctly gauged the political situation, and knows that what he is now doing is necessary to win. But if this is so, we do not wonder that many of the best and greatest Americans eschew politics. If General Eisenhower can become President only by using his present campaign tactics, then we feel sorry for General Eisenhower, whose great name is being forced into the dust by the American political system. What would have happened to a Meighen, a Mackenzie King or a St. Laurent under the American system?

Our First Ambassador

The death on Saturday of the first man of ambassadorial rank Canada ever had, is a mark of the newness of Canada as a nation with its own foreign policy and department. Other countries have had ambassadors at courts for centuries; Canada within the lifetime of the Honourable Leighton McCarthy who just died. Even more remarkable: Mr. McCarthy did not become ambassador until he was aged seventy-two; it was only in 1943 that the Canadian legation at Washington was raised to an embassy, and Mr. McCarthy, who had been Minister there for two years, became the first ambassador Canada ever had. He served until 1945, when he resigned, and Mr. Lester Pearson became our Washington ambassador.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy, a businessman and financier, served the Canadian people in many public offices with discernment and distinction. As Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday, his appointment to Washington "crowned a lifetime of public service to our country."

A Break With Tradition

Newspapers, which so often regard themselves as the very essence of modernity, are slow to change their habits. For instance, the famous Manchester Guardian has only now decided to give up the nineteenth century custom of filling its front page with small advertisements—what is called here "classified advertising"—and to use that space for news. It argues, justly enough, that it is a paper of international importance and that a front page filled with local Manchester advertising looks out of place. We agree, but we would have loved the Guardian just as much if it had decided not to keep up with the times.

It is now up with the times, but The Times remains obstinately where it was. Its front page is still filled with advertisements. But they are not Manchester, and therefore provincial, advertisements; they are the advertisements of a great capital city. And we must say that we never read The Times without looking at the tiny notices on its front page; they contain, as Sherlock Holmes pointed out, some of the most provocative news of the day.

John E. Sullivan

Mr. John E. Sullivan who died on Sunday, is widely mourned in Peterborough. As industrial executive, alderman, sports enthusiast, club man and promoter of healthful interests for youth, he deserved the esteem in which he was held by his fellow-citizens. He was a good citizen of this community, energetic in his enterprise, substantial in his encouragement, helpful in advice and leadership.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Newspa... of a young man who committed suicide in order to discourage his father from heavy drinking. So far as we are concerned, this simply deepens the mystery of the Orient.

A statistic tells us that "the average American consumes half a pound of tea annually." 'Consumes' is a carefully chosen word, for ordinary drinking would never get down some of the stuff we have been offered as tea in the U.S.A.

The Hon. Douglas Abbott spoke wistfully about lower taxes in Montreal, but we are not fooled. We remember many teachers who didn't believe in homework but reluctantly slapped on enough of it to keep us busy until eleven o'clock every night.

Among other important anniversaries, this year marks the centenary of the hotdog, invented by a Frankfurt butcher in 1852. In the U.S. 6,333,000,000 of these dainties are eaten annually, and we are not surprised; a first-rate hotdog is food for the gods.

Royal Confusion In Italy

By CECIL SPRIGGE

ITALY'S "MAY KING", the exiled Umberto of Savoy, who reigned for only one month in 1946, after the abdication of his father, Victor Emmanuel, has been trying none too skilfully to keep his finger on the pulse of events from Cascais in Portugal.

Umberto is no great personal draw. Although ministers who had to do with him when he was Regent in 1944-46 say he was modest and willing to learn, the counsellors whom he has chosen have at no stage been capable of keeping him from unwise utterance.

THE MONARCHIST CAUSE is dear to a great many in Italy, and above all in Naples. The Italian public interest in the British royal family, whose design sometimes fill columns of the press here, expresses a hankering which is often put into words: "We ought to have kept a king ourselves."

Many Italians who feel uncomfortable with things as they are, but have no strong views on how they should be, find relief in this sentiment, which runs strongly counter to Communism, somewhat counter to Catholic clericalism, and in a certain degree counter to Fascism—both as a memory and as a future aspiration. With keen and farsighted leadership, one can imagine the monarchist cause gaining ground. At the 1946 referendum, nine in every twenty Italians voted for monarchy; the winning Republican cause had only a little over half the total vote. In regions south of Rome, the dominant vote was for the King.

THUS IT MIGHT be expected that a swing of the pendulum would bring the defeated cause to the top—particularly as the expulsion of the monarchy was so closely bound up in a military defeat which is now being rapidly forgotten. Organised in the National Monarchic Party (P.N.M.), the royalists this year won the local elections at Naples and in other big southern cities; they may count on a million votes in the coming general elections. But from this to becoming the animators of a new phase in Italian life (the post-war vigour of Christian Democracy has waned; the Communist threat has, at least internally, been dispelled) is a long step. And the process needs leadership which does not seem to be forthcoming.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE RELATIONS of the Monarchists with the two forces on either side of them, Christian Democracy and Fascism, are ambiguous. Quite obviously the majority of Christian Democrat voters voted for the King in the 1946 referendum on the straight question, "Monarchy or Republic?" The present premier Signor Alcide de Gasperi himself showed clearly enough that he thought it would be prudent to keep the King. But when the referendum showed a small majority for the Republic, the King did not at once accept the verdict. The first figures published were only provisional; and the King insisted on waiting some days for them to be confirmed —a most perilous proceeding amid the passions of the hour. De Gasperi was furious, and possibly underwent a full conversion to Republicanism.

THE WHOLE STORY of those agitated days is at this moment being fought over anew in the Italian Press, between Giuseppe Romita, who was the Minister of the Interior running the referendum, and who now tells tales of a royal plot only just frustrated, and Falcone Lucifero, the King's right hand man, whose version is wholly different.

What is certain is that Papacy and Church have, since 1946, found very considerable advantages in a Republican form of Government, without any Communist taint. It leaves the Pope as the one crowned head in Rome and Italy. However, there are among the Christian Democrats many men who are more conservative than clerical. They foresee a sharp decline in the political prestige of the Church in coming years, and would welcome a buttressing of institutions by another traditional Christian authority, that of a temporal Crown.

THE MONARCHISTS cannot easily decide whether to pursue their fortunes by penetrating Christian Democracy or by emphasising their own particular and often antoganistic aims. The first method cannot, anyhow, have any quick success. For by coming openly to terms with the Monarchists, Christian Democracy would alienate allies whom at present it finds indispensable—the Social Democrats and the little party which calls itself Republican.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN ORDER not to be isolated, and because both the Crown and the Fascist Lictors' Reds can serve as symbols for a display of nostalgia for past imperial glories, the P.N.M. has allied itself to a certain extent with the Italian Social Movement (M.S.I.) which is of undisguisedly Fascist inspiration. Local elections have in 1952 been fought in combination and with success. The same may happen in the 1953 general elections.

THE P.N.M.—M.S.I. combination, is, however, unpopular with the rank and file of ... regard it as ... This gives Christian Democracy, on its more liberal wing, a pretext for refusing any approaches from the P. N. M.

The Monarchist movement has been split by these stresses. Two of the dozen or so P.N.M. deputies have left it, and are this month to join in founding a new entity, the Italian Democratic Party, of monarchist and distinctively anti-Fascist character.

ANOTHER ROYALIST association, the so-called "Savoy Groups", led by a well known Monarchist partisan leader of 1944-45, Colonel Verde, have several links with the P.N.M. Ex-King Umberto from time to time gives interviews or sends messages of encouragement.

But more recently these messages have appeared to recognise the P.N.M. only as repository of monarchist loyalty, and to favour the policy of penetrating Christian Democracy. Yet the situation is confused: there have even been a series of interviews in which the harassed Umberto has appeared to be paying Court to the Communists.

"Twenty years!"

Georgy Maximilianovich Malenkov

(A Profile of Stalin's Heir-Apparent)

GEORGY Maximilianovich Malenkov, who is everywhere being spoken of as Stalin's heir apparent, is the arch-type of the younger generation of Soviet leaders who, as it were, inherited the Revolution and did not have to plot and fight for it.

It is plain that their attitude to the Communist Party machine, in which they have grown up, and to Soviet Russia as a power and a fatherland, must be different from the attitude of their seniors, who created the Party, brought it to power, almost destroying Russia in the process, and then proceeded, from the outside, as it were, to build up a brand-new system.

But although we have a fairly good idea of what the elders are like and of the way their minds work, because they had to show their characters in action, first in the days when they were outlaws, later in the more or less open struggle for Stalin's supremacy, the men of Malenkov's generation grew to maturity and achieved their positions in the total obscurity of a Central Committee already packed by Stalin and presenting to the world a blank facade of apparent unanimity.

At fifty Malenkov is without a doubt the most powerful man in the Soviet Union after Stalin and Molotov. To judge by his appearance and his record, in potential power he is second only to Stalin. Although his prominence in connection with the long-delayed Nineteenth Party Congress, which opens today (October 5, 1952) does not in the least mean that Molotov has been superseded (the Congress is a Party affair and Malenkov is the first Party secretary after Stalin) it places him firmly in the self-same position which Stalin used with such effect as the springboard for his own ambitions. Yet until 1941 nobody had heard of him.

IN THAT YEAR he erupted into the public view with a decisiveness and authority which demonstrated to all interested observers that for years behind the scenes a new leader had been incubating. It was not simply that Stalin had found a new young man (Malenkov was then thirty-nine). It was clear that the new young man had already won his spurs, and the speech he made at the 1941 Party Conference had been carefully laid on for him as an opportunity to make a resounding debut.

Nor was it simply that Stalin was rewarding a loyal supporter of the familiar "yes man" type. The impact of Malenkov, apart from his youth and his powerful presence, lay in the fact that he spoke with an individual voice, the voice of a man with ideas of his own. This newcomer castigated in terms of extreme bluntness everything in the Party and the Government that was stale, complacent, or slack. Next day, having created a sensation, having caused a number of highly-placed functionaries to quake in their shoes, having given the signal for an onslaught against nepotism in high places, the new orator was elected a candidate member of the Politburo.

A few months later, when the Germans attacked, he was appointed one of the five members of the inner Cabinet responsible for the supreme direction of the war. It was a jet-propelled rise.

Of course he was not a newcomer at all. Of course the whole performance had been contrived. Stalin had wished to conduct a purge among those who, surviving the great political purges because of their personal loyalty (Madam Molotov, then head of the Cosmetic Trust, was one of those who lost their jobs,) and no doubt found a pleasant symbolism in putting the young ides to the task of clearing out those fusty stables. But, as far as Malenkov was concerned, his first speech was later proved to have been in character.

He has spoken only rarely since that original performance; but on every other occasion, whether in Warsaw at the inauguration of the Cominform, or in Moscow for the anniversary of the Revolution, he has sounded the same note of inspired common-sense and a contempt for doctrinaires, fanatics, and routineers. In this he has echoed Stalin. In this, interestingly, he was consistently opposed to Zhdanov. If his domination of the Party, brought into the open now for the first time, and publicly acknowledged, means anything at all it stands for a new emphasis on consolidation and flexibility as opposed to the Zhdanov emphasis on head-long expansion and ideological rigidity.

These comparisons are relative. Malenkov is a Communist under Stalin, master of all the Communists everywhere. But it is impossible not to see in his words a concern for the greater glory of the Soviet Union, outweighing a concern for the swift realization of world revolution.

HIS WHOLE record, in so far as it is known, suggests a man of immense ambition, great executive ability, high political sense, a determination to achieve power combined with contempt for the appearance of power. Of course he modelled himself on Stalin. He is still the only member of the Politburo to wear the drab utility tunic, buttoned high at the neck, to which his master remained faithful until he blossomed forth a Commander-in-chief. It would be virtually impossible for an ambitious young man, hitching his wagon to Stalin's star at the very outset of his career, not to model himself on the Master. Many have done this, but few have been chosen. What is more to the point is that Malenkov seems to have a fair share of Stalin's temperament and gifts, so that he has been able to turn to good account the experience gained in his service.

It has been very close and sustained service. Malenkov was fifteen when Lenin made his Revolution. Nothing is known about his youth except that he was born at Orenburg, the celebrated steppe-land fortress town on the edge of Asia, where Pushkin laid the scene of "The Captain's Daughter". It is suspected that his family belonged to the bourgeoisie, partly because a veil is drawn across his early days, partly because of the rigour with which he has since attacked those Bolsheviks who regard a proletarian ancestry in a man as being of greater importance than native ability.

He is first heard of as joining the Red Army at the age of seventeen, and the Communist Party a year later. By the time he was twenty, in 1922, he was the Chief Political Officer of the Turkestan Army. From the very beginning he seems to have realised that the way to a career lay with the Party organisation; and the speed and decisiveness with which, at seventeen, he made a bee-line for the political arm of the Red Army, and rose so rapidly within it, is a measure of his far-sightedness.

At the end of the Civil War he went back to school at the Moscow Technical Institute. By 1925, at twenty-three, he was firmly installed in the apparatus of the Central Committee, and there he remained through the fearful upheavals of Stalin's fight with Trotsky, of the collectivisation and the first five-year plan, of the removal of all opposition, real and potential, during the great purges of the 'thirties.

IT IS NOT KNOWN when Stalin first set eyes on Malenkov and took him under his protection; but it was quite early on in his struggle for power. Certainly for some of those critical years he was Stalin's private secretary, and all the time, without a break, unknown and u...d by the outside world, he sat in the ... Central Committee, the seat of all power, watching, waiting, manoeuvring, getting more and more strings into his hands, until, in 1939, at thirty-seven, after a spell as the chairman of the Moscow Party Orgburo (i.e. as effective manager of this supremely important branch of the Communist Party) he was elected to the Central Committee of the All Union Party which he had been manipulating for so long behind the scenes. Two years later he made his great speech and was called to the Politburo itself.

It is this backroom career, which has given some observers the impression that Malenkov is essentially a bureaucrat, an office man, with the temperament of a palace intriguer. His speeches suggest otherwise. His public record contradicts the idea directly. He was not appointed to the Cabinet of five over the heads of so many very senior colleagues in the supreme crisis of the war because he was an intriguing bureaucrat.

Nor was he entrusted with two of the most important executive jobs because he was good at palace politics. He rose because of his ability. First he was put in charge of aircraft production, which was in a bad way, and succeeded in stepping it up to forty thousand planes a year. Then, in 1944, as the Red Army began to sweep the German armies back, he was appointed High Commissioner for the Liberated Territories of the U.S.S.R., which, in due course, made him virtual dictator of all the Western lands and nearly half the population of the U.S.S.R. His achievement in getting the devastated areas back into working order in so short a time was one of the epic stories of the war.

EVEN MORE remarkable was the fact that with these tremendous executive tasks to cope with he never let go of the Party. As Personnel Secretary, he now had virtual control, not only of the Moscow branch, but of every Party official, everywhere in Russia and outside. It was to him that the Party leaders of foreign lands, congregated in Moscow as they waited for the Day, had always to report. It was he who controlled the remarkable Party intelligence network, which rivalled that of the NKVD.

The forecasts of those who first took notice of this extraordinary man are now justified. When Malenkov recently celebrated his fiftieth birthday he was honoured more solemnly than any man apart from Molotov. Now he is put forward as the chief spokesman at the Party Congress which is charged with reorganising the machine from top to bottom.

Already his hand has been visible in recent Party purges in the satellites, and in theoretical essays in Communist journals stressing the need for consolidation as opposed to dynamic expansion. By the time the Congress is over we shall know still more about the ideas of this leader of the younger generation—burly, always a little detached from the strenuous assertiveness of some of his senior colleagues, capable of smiling at a private joke when everybody else is solemn, relentlessly driving his way to the top, as Stalin did before him, while content, for years, to leave the limelight to others. We need to know more about those ideas, because without a doubt, they will be the ideas of the Kremlin for many years to come.

Bible Message

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endureth for ever. (Ps. 111: 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him. (James 1:5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God. (1 Cor. 2: 9, 10.)

And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms from the river unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt: they brought presents, and served Solomon all the days of his life . . . And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan even to Beersheba, all the days of Solomon . . .

And God gave Solomon wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore. And Solomon's wisdom excelled the wisdom of all the children of the east country, and all the wisdom of Egypt . . . And he spake three thousand proverbs: and his songs were a thousand and five . . .

And there came of all people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom. (I Kings 4:21, 25, 29, 30, 32, 34.)

Record Set At Queen Mary In Girls' Broad Jump At Annual Field Day Events

Ann Chenoweth established a new record for the girls' intermediate running broad jump Monday at the Queen Mary School annual field day held on the Bonnerworth grounds. Her jump of 12 feet bettered the mark set by Jean Ann Green in 1950. The O. M. Steer Trophy went to Mr. Watson's room with a percentage of 45.4. Senior champions were Donna Webb and Bill Hendry, as Gaynel Morgan led intermediate girls, and Paul Cromie and Jim Goodfellow shared boys' intermediate honors. Art Hoar and Ben Cromie led juniors. O. M. Steer acted as master of ceremonies for the events, the various teachers acting as starters, judges and recorders. The results:

RACES

Senior boys—1 Brian Clarke, 2 Bill Hendry, 3 Ron Wilson, 4 Gary Drury.

Senior Girls—Donna Webb, Shirley Maudsley, Patsy Hughey, Sylvia Graham.

STANDING BROAD JUMP

Senior boys—Brian Clarke, Bill Hendry, Wayne Haig, Ron Wilson.

Senior girls — Donna Webb, Patsy Hughey, Shirley Maudsley, Jean Ann Green.

Plan To Restore Chamber To Old Splendor

LONDON (CP)—Historic Great Chamber in Gilling Castle, near Helmsley in Yorkshire, stripped of its celebrated 16th-Century panelling, stained glass and heraldic frieze 22 years ago, will shortly be restored to its original splendor.

The panelling was purchased in 1930 for some $100,000 by publisher William Randolph Hearst, who died last year. Since then it has been gathering dust in storehouse crates.

It was Hearst's intention to adapt the panelling to St. Donat's Castle in South Wales, which he owned. The plan was abandoned when no room in St. Donat's was large enough to hold the panelling.

BOUGHT FROM ESTATE

The treasure was bought from the Hearst estate for about $15,000 by a London fine arts firm. Despite more attractive offers from abroad the new owners disposed of the panelling at slightly more than they paid, to Ampleforth College, which now occupies Gilling Castle. Funds for the purchase were raised by public subscriptions and a grant from the Pilgrim's Trust.

The Great Chamber, 39 feet long and 22 feet wide, was regarded as one of the finest specimens in Britain of Elizabethan decorative work. Installed on the orders of Sir William Fairfax around 1585, the panelling is in three tiers, surmounted by a frieze embodying 443 separate coats of arms.

Barons Discontinue Hamilton Puck Help

CLEVELAND — (CP).—Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League announced Monday they are discontinuing their sponsorship of Aerovox junior bees and minor hockey in Hamilton.

The Barons said they were pulling out because of statements made by Art Child, former amateur goalie and now Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Wentworth.

Child has criticized professional hockey in general for "obnoxious" regulations in connection with a club's hold on players and in particular with the Barons' dealings with junior Raymond Ross, last year with Guelph Biltmores. Child said Ross had reported "unwillingly" to the Barons' training base at Stratford, this fall and probably would have been suspended if he didn't.

"During the last five seasons the Barons spent over $20,000 in helping to foster amateur hockey in Hamilton," Jim Hendy, Barons' general manager said. "We had planned on spending another $5,000 this season....but in view of Hamilton's duly-elected M.L.A. Arthur Child, I could not justify our continuation...."

June Moore Leads

June Moore rolled 328 to lead in singles in the Girls' City Bowling League at Duffus' this week, and her 770 was tops in triples. Black's took high team pinnage with 2963 and leading single by 1053. Wins by 2-1 went to Aces over Sevenaires, Black's over Marines, Arcos against Austin's, and Bassel's over Collis. Blind score went to Florence Kokesh with 629.

Good singles also included: F. Kokesh 315, Thelma Grierson 266, Helen Hunt 265, Marg Barringer 258, Leona Vincent 251, and Aggie Anderson 250; neat triples were: Helen Hunt 737, Marg Barringer 687, and Lenore Miller 656.

Hawker Says Prayer Dodgers Deliver

BROOKLYN (AP)—Phil Mizzy is what you might call a small businessman with a big faith.

In Monday's lengthening shadows outside Ebbets Field, Mizzy was hawking souvenir pennants. Emblazoned on them in premature glory was "Dodgers—World Champions Of 1952."

It was to have been Mizzy's night, for who in Brooklyn figured the Bums to lose to the Yankees Monday?

"They weren't forced on me," said Mizzy of his optimistic pennants. "I ordered them made up that way. I had a hunch."

To Release Films

LONDON (Reuters) — Documentary films taken during the Second World War by the Admiralty and War Office, which have never been shown publicly, will soon be seen by U.S. television audiences. About 50,000 feet of film have been made available to an American network for a 26-episode documentary called "Victory at Sea," beginning Oct. 26. The Canadian and Australian governments also provided material for the documentary.

SOMEONE'S WRONG!—Yankee Johnny Sain arrives at first base as Dodger first sacker Gil Hodges awaits throw from Jackie Robinson in tenth inning of Sunday's game at Yankee Stadium. Believe it or not, Umpire Art Passarella called Sain out on the play, which started when Johnny bounced to Robinson. However, the umpire is always right and despite a vehement protest by Coach Bill Dickey, the decision stood.

By TED SMITS

BROOKLYN (AP)—The dignified New York Yankees unbent like kids Monday after coming from behind to win the sixth game of the World Series and square the count at three games each.

Manager Casey Stengel took the supreme gamble by sending in his ace of aces, Allie Reynolds, to protect his 3-2 lead in the eighth.

"I talked with Reynolds before the game, and we decided if we used him some today we could maybe use him for two or three innings tomorrow," said Stengel.

"It was another hard game today. They played like hell. We had to play like hell to catch 'em. . ."

When Reynolds went in for Vic Raschi, Duke Snider had just hit his second homer of the game to make it 3-2, and George Shuba had doubled. There were two out but Roy Campanella was at bat, a dangerous man during the season although weak in the Series. Reynolds struck him out to end the eighth inning.

HEDGES ON ANSWER

"If you had been managing the Dodgers, would you have left Billy Loes in as long as Charlie Dressen did?" someone asked Stengel.

"I don't know what I would have done with Loes," Stengel replied. "Dressen did pretty good leaving that fella in there yesterday."

After John Mize's big homer, Carl Erskine of the Dodgers retired the next 19 men in order Sunday and the Dodgers went on to win 6-5 in the 11th.

Raschi, who now has received credit for two Series victories, defended Stengel's decision in sending in Reynolds to relieve him.

"You gotta protect your leads," he said. "I wasn't tired. But they were just hitting the ball, that's all."

HOMECOMING—Big Jawn Mize comes home after his fifth inning homer which scored McDougald and Rizzuto ahead of him to lead the Dodgers 5-4. Mize's third homer of the 1952 World Series, however, was lost in the Brooklyn victory of the fifth game, 6-5.

Christmas Bonus

LONDON (AP)—Some 54,000 Britons who were held by the Japanese as prisoners of war were told yesterday to expect a tax-free £15 bonus at Christmas time. Brig. J.G. Smyth, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of pensions, announced at a press conference that the bonus funds would come from a liquidation of Japanese assets seized here during the Second World War.

The Argentine syndicate of plastic artists yesterday asked President Peron to set aside the appointment of Leon Tommasi. The artists said the Italian's selection had caused "surprise and regrettable anxiety."

Detroit Red Wings Planning Few Changes In Team Lineup

By HARRY STAPLER

DETROIT (AP)—The cast will be much the same when Detroit Red Wings skate out after their fifth straight National Hockey League title this season. Only two familiar faces are missing.

The big change is in the Production Line with the departure of centre Sid Abel for coaching duties with Chicago Black Hawks. And that's where it could hurt Red Wings the most but the Stanley Cup champions are banking on former New York Ranger Reggie Sinclair to fill the gap.

The other absentee when the Wings open at home Thursday night against the Rangers is defenceman Leo Reise who went to Rangers in return for the 27-year-old Sinclair from Lachine, Que., who learned his hockey at McGill University and in the Quebec Senior League.

Sinclair, who scored 30 points with Rangers last year, is the lone new face.

So Detroit's famed production line will no longer read Abel, Lindsay and Howe. It will be Sinclair, Lindsay and Howe in Thursday's opener.

KEEP WALLS INTACT

Manager Jack Adams and Coach Tommy Ivan could have done some shuffling with their No. 2 and No. 3 lines. But they decided to keep those forward walls intact and move newcomer Sinclair in between right wing Gordie Howe and left wing Ted Lindsay.

Both Howe and Lindsay say they believe that Sinclair, in his third pro season, will fill the bill.

With the Rangers Sinclair played both right and left wing, but he originally was a centre in his amateur days and that's where Ivan believes he belongs.

The others in the Production Line are not question marks. Howe, winner of the Hart Trophy last year, led the league in scoring for the last two seasons with 86 each time. Lindsay was second in the 1951-52 season with 69.

And, of course, the goalkeeper will be Terry Sawchuk. No 1 in the league last year. He gave up only 138 goals in 70 games for a 1.90 average and had 12 shutouts.

Sixteen of the 17 on the roster were with the club last year. However, Delvecchio, Larry Wilson, Stasiuk and Zeidel played only part of the season with the Wings.

LEAPIN' DODGER — Brooklyn fielder Andy Pafko makes a leaping one-handed catch of Gene Woodling's whistling bid for a home run into the right field stands in the second inning of the fifth game in the 1952 Series.

Harvest Festival Held In Havelock

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The annual harvest festival service was held in St. John's Anglican church on Sunday morning, the theme of which was "The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof."

The rector, the Rev. H. E. Peasgood, based his discourse on the text from Proverbs: "Honor the Lord with thy substance and with the first fruits of all thine increase, so shall thy barns be filled with plenty and thy presses shall burst with new wine."

Mr. Peasgood spoke about the many gifts bestowed on people during the year and especially about the bountiful harvest which far exceeded requirements. He stressed the necessity of returning thanks and making a return of a portion of our substance to Almighty God for all these blessings, not in a spirit of expectation of receiving more but in a true spirit of gratitude in compliance with Christ's exhortation to seek first the Kingdom, then would the gift be blessed.

The church was attractively decorated by the Sunday school children and their teachers with grain, fruits and vegetables. Special hymns of thanksgiving were sung with Mrs. Donald Kirk at the organ. The service was combined with Holy Communion. A splendid thank offering was received.

PAY OFF TWICE ON RACE

Not long after—but long enough to allow payment on some tickets—someone informed the judges Good Travel was the winner and Single Way had run sixth.

The judges and the track owner went into a huddle. The decision: To pay holders of both tickets. The price on Good Traveler: $32.60 on a win ticket. The track said it cost an extra $10,000.

The judges said numbers on the horses and jockeys were covered with mud, adding:

Saskatchewan Roughriders Bow To Stampeders 30-27

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Now its official. Saskatchewan Roughriders, who rode to glory with a Western Canada football title in 1951, giving the wheat province fans a tremendous lift, are out of the running this season.

The Roughriders had their faint play-off chances smothered last night as they went out in rousing fashion with a heart-breaking 30-27 loss to Calgary Stampeders. The victory opened the gates for the Stamps to enter the three-team post-season playoffs for the first time in two years.

And while the crippled Roughriders were making their last gallant stand before a big crowd in Calgary, Edmonton Eskimos tickled 15,000 Clarke Stadium fans with a tense 18-12 victory over the front-running Winnipeg Blue Bombers. If nothing else, it proved that Indian Jack Jacobs, 32-year-old Winnipeg quarter, is an essential cog in the Bomber machine.

JACOBS TOSSED OUT

Jacob,s who has sparked the Bombers to the No. 1 spot in the union and who is counted on heavily to lead the Bombers to a western title and a Grey Cup berth for the second time in three years, was tossed out of the game nine minutes after the opening kickoff for using abusive language.

He was replaced by Joe Zaleski but the Bombers never did recover from the loss of their temperamental forward passer who has pulled many games out of the fire this season with his superb passing.

The triumph sent the Eskimos to within two points of the Bombers and it appears now that the 16-game schedule will go right down to the wire before first place is decided.

Roughriders, playing without the services of halfback Nellie Greene and quarter Doug Belden who were injured in Saturday's game at Edmonton, played like champions for 30 minutes but they wilted under the Calgary power in the last half. It was the educated toe and sparkling all-round play of import Bob Shaw that spelled the difference.

He accounted for 20 points, three of them on a crucial placement in the final minutes that broke a 27-27 deadlock.

Altogether, the lanky outside scored two touchdowns, four converts and two placements.

Playing-coach Glenn Dobbs fired three touchdown passes for the Riders—two to Harry Lampman and another to Butch Avinger—but the Stamps ate away at the Saskatchewan lead and caught up to the cellar-dwellers late in the final quarter.

PRATHER STARS

The game at Edmonton saw Eskimos' bruising Rollin Prather score two touchdowns and generally make life miserable for the Winnipeg backs by his rushing tactics.

There was no scoring until the second quarter, when each team registered converted touchdowns. Eskimos got the first when quarterback Claude Arnold passed from Joe Zaleski to outside Keith Pearce.

Edmonton went ahead early in the third quarter when Prather took a pass in the end zone from Arnold and Prather broke up the ball game minutes later when he bulled through Winnipeg's defence and caused a fumble recovered by his own team.

A few plays later Prather caught a pass from Arnold and carried it over for his second major. That was the game.

Waggoner, Bruno Closing On Scoring Lead

TORONTO (CP)—Hal Waggoner, fancy-dangling Hamilton Tiger-Cat and Al Bruno, Toronto Argonaut glue-fingered outside, closed the gap on Ulysses Curtis, the Big Four Football Union leading scorer, during the week-end. Curtis, Argonaut back, was kept out of the scoring for the first time this season.

Bruno romped over for two touchdowns as Argonauts lost a 25-21 thriller to Ottawa Rough Riders and Waggoner went over for one major in Tiger-Cats' sweeping 26-0 triumph over the hapless Montreal Alouettes.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Curtis with 45 points, all made on touchdowns, and Bruno and Waggoner each with 30. Tip Logan of Tiger-Cats, former Queen's University kicking star, moved into fourth place with a 10-point week-end to bring his total to 27, seven up on Montreal's Virgil Wagner.

RUNAWAY LEADER

Runaway leader in the east is Sarnia Imperials' Corky Duchene, hard-running back who scored two weeknd touchdowns to bring his season's total to 60 points. He leads the Ontario Rugby Football Union with 19 points to spare over teammate Archie McAffer.

But the Huzzahs are being saved for five-foot-seven 170-pound John Pont of Toronto Beaches who has scored eight touchdowns in only four games. The 24-year-old galloper, cut loose by Green Bay Packers, moved to Toronto three weeks ago and is setting the league on fire with his sensational running.

Another indication that winter is not afar off is noise emanating from the camp of our O.H.A. junior "B" Oddfellows. An open drill has been called for Civic Arena on Wednesday p.m. from 6:30 to 8:00, everyone welcome but bring your own equipment for a tryout. Herb Youngs is president of the club, Ken Mowrey vice-prexy, and Bob McCuaig secretary-treasurer. Manager is Glen Edwards, and something definite on the coach shortly—Johnny Godfrey handling the job at present and he can continue to do so if his job permits. About a dozen on the executive committee. This I.O.O.F. puck club is a going concern, training many local boys in proper puck play. It has a working agreement with Boston Bruins.

Nip O'Hearn has decided to remain in Peterborough and has so informed Eddie Shore in a peaceable get-together recently in Lindsay. Eddie offered him more dough to stay with his pro organization but Nip assured him that he had decided to quit pro play, having a family and home here, as well as a good job. He wants to be waived out and return to amateur hockey. While Shore hasn't committed himself, it is quite possible that he will agree to let O'Hearn drop out and play goal for the Petes. A good break for the local club since Ray Harding has said he was through with O.H.A. competition. Bob Thorpe may be available shortly, too, but we doubt if Don Ashbee will quit the pro game. Deotch Vitarelli and Curly Mason are other local lacrossers who play good senior "B" hockey.

They'll Be Tough Yet

Confident but not cocky, the Timbermen trek to Toronto tomorrow for the second game of their best-of-seven Mann Cup senior lacrosse finals. They're not over-confident because of that 9-1 opening win, feeling that Vancouver can and will play a much better brand ere this series is over. But the Thorpe team feels that it can retain the Canadian crown this year. If they play as they did on Sunday they can do it. The big, hard floor in the Gardens presents the same problem to each club, and the angle rebounds off those walls are the same for both. Eastern refs let more go than do the Western Brotherhood of Arbiters, and the B.C. champs seemed to sense this in the last half of the first game—plenty of hard checking and slashing resulting. Ducats for this game may be had at Clapper's.

From the grape belt around St. Catharines comes a bunch of sour grapes. The St. Kitt's lacrosse writer, while pointing with pride to the various ex-Athletics on both Petes and Yorks' rosters, remarks that the rained-out game last Wednesday was all that beat Toronto. Says they were two goals up at halftime when rain halted the tilt. He conveniently forgot to mention the fact that Yorks were three goals up going into the fourth frame here next night, but the Petes roared back in the final 15 minutes to score seven goals and win by four. The sixth-place St. Catharines' club has already been after O'Hearn and Wipper to return. "Come back and all will be forgiven" seems to be the wail Not a chance, chum!

As Others See Them

Bunny Morganson of the Telegram remarked of the Sunday game: "Although the game was listless to watch, because of its one-sided score, Moon Wootton in the Peterborough net was the main reason for the western crew drawing a blank, except for Jim Swanson's single goal. Wootton proved their undoing with his sensational clearing." John Macdonald said in the Star: "If the Vancouverites retain the confused form displayed Sunday they're going to be heading for home empty-handed. Though leg-weary from their gruelling seven-and-a-half-game series with Toronto Yorks, the Petes looked like a band of frisky colts as they ran rings around the Vancouver visitors." Both coaches today predicted a tight tilt tonight.

Footballs fill the air these fine fall days and nights. October is the hectic month for the big-shouldered boys as the schedules grind along. Lots of activity here this week. The Orfuns play Raiders in Oshawa tomorrow, with Kingston coming here next Monday on the holiday. We hear that when Coach Art West told Bruce Richardson that he was through with the Cobourg Ghosts recently, Bruce (who is quite a boxer) bounced a fist off the Westian jaw. A double-header on tap for Morrow Park tomorrow, P.C.V.S. vs. St. Peter's juniors in group play at four, with Lindsay vs. St. Peter's seniors in a 6.15 p.m. exhibition. Belleville heads this way Friday night for an eight o'clock game with P.C.V.S. senior footballers.

Hodges Proves Mystery Man In Series Work

The husky Brooklyn first baseman hasn't been able to "buy" a base hit in the Series to date, yet during the regular season he topped the Dodgers in runs batted in with 102, home runs with 32, doubles with 27 and bases on balls with 107.

Hodges' sad tale is simply told: At bat 17 times; hits, none; strike-outs, six.

HAS WORST DAY

The Brooklyn slugger had his worst day yesterday as the Yankees evened the series by winning 3-2. Hodges struck out three consecutive times, each time swinging futilely at a curve for the third strike. He looked so bad that in the ninth inning, when he was due to lead off, Manager Chuck Dressen sent in Rocky Nelson to pinch-hit for him.

Did big Gil feel bitter about being taken out?

"No, I didn't feel hurt," he said later in the clubhouse. "How far can a manager go? I really sympathize with Dressen."

World Series Notes

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP)—It's a good thing for Charlie Dressen he didn't sign his next year's contract as Brooklyn manager before the World Series.

Walter O'Malley, the Dodgers' president, said he had chatted with Dressen about the matter, but there had been no definite terms. It's understood Walter said he'd like to have Charlie back and that was fine with Charlie.

Win or lose today, the diminutive Dodger pilot has gained in stature both with his bosses and his critics by carrying New York Yankees to seven games. Furthermore, he has helped put close to $200,000 in the Brooklyn coffers, the club share of the receipts of the last three games.

If Dressen had signed at the end of the season, chances are he would have been retained at his present $30,000 salary.

One published report is that Casey is being tempted with a two-year offer at $100,000 per, a presidential salary.

You'd figure the Dodgers would have a slight advantage, playing the decisive games of the World Series in their home park. But it's not so in Brooklyn's case.

"Look at the records," said Dressen. "You'll find we're a terrible home club. We'd probably be better off in Yankee Stadium."

Billy Loes' fantastic balk and the subsequent hit off his leg by Vic Raschi to bring in what proved the winning run brought back memories of similar incidents in past World Series.

John Miljus of Pittsburgh wild-pitched Earl Combs home with the deciding run of the deciding game in 1927 when the Yanks won.

Fred Fitzsimmons, now a New York Giant coach, was pitching scoreless ball for the Dodgers against the Yanks in the third game of the 1941 series when the Yanks' pitcher, Marius Russo, lined a drive off Fitz' leg. The knuckleballer was carried from the field. The Yanks won 2-1.

The Dodgers' policy to give the little man a break on Series tickets backfired, with the result that some 2,000 seats were empty at yesterday's game.

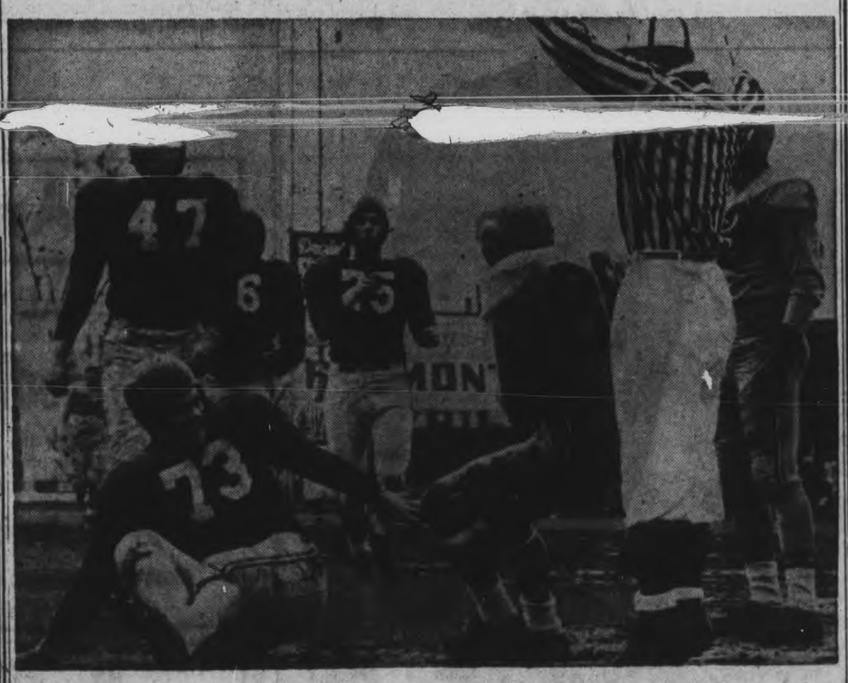
The Dodgers refused to take mail orders except from season ticket holders, but sold the tickets at their windows on a first-come, first served basis. Some folks apparently felt there was no use trying.

CAPTURES ROOKIE AWARD—Jim Heffernan has returned to Peterborough after a highly successful senior lacrosse season with Nanaimo Native Sons in the British Columbia League. He won the rookie award in West Coast lacrosse—the trophy is shown above—and led his club in scoring during the season. It was Jim's first time up in senior ranks, as he had shone with Lou Vitarelli's Junior Petes here the previous season. Had the B.C. champs taken any replacements with them into Mann Cup finals, Heffernan was considered one of their top choices.

Boston Bruins Have Good Rookies

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League will break training camp here tomorrow and return to home base.

Hockey followers still cling to the belief that the Bruins will quit camp loaded with offensive power but weak on the defence. But the big brass in the high command appeared pretty confident after seeing a string of eager youngsters work out against Hershey Bears Saturday night.



Coach Lynn Patrick shifted his strategy and is grooming Fleming Mackell and Joe Klukay as his chief penalty killers. In reserve for the killing job will be Red Sullivan and Jerry Toppazzini. The latter has been converted into a defence man but in the training season appeared to shy away from body contact.

One thing is certain. The Bruins brought into camp this year the best string of rookies fans have seen since the war days.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This agent is not going to extend his his neck by stating any one Canadian athlete was the best, or most durable. But if any one can inform us of an athlete who combined greatness of performance and durability to a greater degree than skater Norval Baptie, we'd like to hear about him.

Howie Morenz and I were seated in Madison Square Garden, the morning of the day it opened. Canadiens were playing there that night. Out on the ice surface, a slim figure was pirouetting dizzily, or whirling around the circuit at blinding pace.

Howie Morenz was proud of his own blazing speed, and he was a great competitor. So I asked him: "Would you like to race him once around?"

The skater out on the ice was the amazing Norval Baptie, one of the truly great skaters, ranking with the late Charlie Gorman, Canada has even sent to the speed jousts on ice.

It was a November morning in 1925 that we watched Baptie spinning around, getting ready for his fancy skating show between periods that night with Gladys Lamb, now his wife. 27 years before he had set a professional mile record of 2 minutes 8 seconds. He's still skating, coaching others in the art of figure-skating at the North Carolina State College Coliseum in Raleigh, N. C., even though he has lost all the toes of his right foot.

Canada has probably never produced an athlete of such durability. Baptie was born at Bethany, Ont., March 18, 1879, of Scottish parents. The family moved to Bathgate, Minn., when he was young. He started skating at 10, won titles at 15. He won approximately 5,000 races the quarter-century he was in competition from 220 yards to 5 miles. In 1898 he beat the famous John S. Johnson, the next year he out-skated Johnny Nilsson, until then regarded as the best skater of his day. He won the world speed title at Montreal on Feb. 4, 1905 from Nilsson, Harley Davidson and Sinnirud.

He holds ten world professional speed records, his straight-away mile at 2.08 on Lake Minnetonka being perhaps the most amazing. He ruled the speed skating world, unbeatable, for 16 years. When he ran out of opponents, he skated on stilts, skated backwards, did fancy skating, actually introduced what are today known as "ice shows" in 1914.

And skating still at 73. Can you beat that for durability?

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Brooks Lose 3-2 Drop Even Games

By GAYLE TALBOT

BROOKLYN (AP)—Two beautifully matched and equally gifted ball clubs come down to the wire in the seventh game of the World Series at Ebbets Field today.

For six games Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees have fought on even terms. The Yankees, almost prohibitive favorites to win their fourth straight world championship within five or six games, finally found their match in Manager Charlie Dressen's comeback kids.

If there is any clue to today's probable winner, it possibly lies in the fact that the Dodgers have won the odd game all the way. They had led the series 1-0, 2-1, and 3-2 before succumbing for the second time to smoke-baller Vic Raschi with help from Allie Reynolds by a 3-2 score in yesterday's thriller. Today the odd game comes up again.

BLACK IS READY

Also, there is the pleasant circumstance for the embattled National Leaguers that their great Negro rookie, Joe Black, is ready and anxious to get at the Yanks again after two days of rest. The Bombers can not say quite the same for their ace, Reynolds, who came in to fire 22 pitches and save yesterday's game for Raschi.

Except for a brief warmup in Sunday's fifth game, when it looked as though his stablemate, Carl Erskine, might require some help, Black has not thrown a ball since losing his duel with Reynolds Saturday, when the Chief choked the Dodgers with a four-hitter.

Yesterday, Duke Snider, Dodgers outfielder, again took on the Yankees single-handed. The Duke didn't beat the World Champions again, largely because the Brooks didn't arrange to have anyone on base ahead of him either time he unloaded over the high rightfield wall. But he made it close.

When, at the top of the sixth inning, Spider drew first blood in the tense turkey-shoot between Billy Loes and Raschi with his skyscraper into the parking lot across the street, this observer, for one, expected to see Black vault from the Dodger dugout and race to warm up.

LOES BLOWS UP

It was going into the seventh inning. The Brooks were ahead 1-0. They needed to retire only nine more Yankee batters to win the first world title in Dodged history. What pitcher more suited to the task than Black, who during the regular season had virtually proved that no ball club could score on him in three innings?

But Black did not stick his noggin out. Loes, the 22-year-old who on some occasions during the regular season had shown himself allergic to pressure, continued to pitch. It had to happen, and it did.

Dressen, whom we hesitate to second-guess, said later that you couldn't take out a brilliant kid such as Loes under the circumstances. For six innings he had held the Yanks to two singles, one of them by Irv Noren which had bounced off Billy Cox's glove at third base.

Additionally, there was the fact that Charlie wanted to save Black for today's big decider in the event it proved necessary. But it happened. Yogi Berra tied it up with a homer over the same inviting rightfield barrier to open the seventh. Then it was too late to bring in Black. Within a matter of minutes Loes had surrendered a single to Gene Woodling, he had committed a balk, and Raschi had bounced a single off his leg to put the Yanks out in front 2-1.

MANTLE HOMERS

Mickey Mantle made it 3-1 with his tremendous blow into the centrefield seats to begin the eighth and by the time crafty Preacher Roe came in to pitch to Mantle with one out and two Yankees on base in the top of the ninth, it was too late for the Dodgers to retrieve the victory.

In the meantime, the indomitable Snider had knocked his second homer a mile to pull the Nationals Leaguers up to 2-3 in the eighth and put some heart into the sparse Brooklyn crowd of only 30,037. With two down, George Shuba doubled to left centre and that was when Casey Stengel decided Raschi should retire and make room for Reynolds.

Stengel almost certainly would have preferred to hold out Reynolds for today, too, as Dressen did in the case of Black. But the master mind of the American Leaguers refused to look to the future, which was very short at that point, in any case, and he hauled in his man. He was rewarded, no matter what happens today.

Reynolds faced five men and struck out two of them. They were Roy Campanella and Rocky Nelson, who pinch-hit for Gil Hodges to open the Brooklyn ninth.

The stocky Indian did what Black might well have done for the Dodgers if Manager Dressen had gambled and brought him forward in the seventh. Stengel, the old form player, gambled. Dressen, the gambler, played it cozy, and he may be sorry before the sun sets over Ebbets Field tonight.

WHO WILL PITCH?

Yesterday, possibly, he could have finished it with Black without having to look at Reynolds again. Looking at Reynolds is not an even money proposition, as the Dodgers have found out. When Wahoo was at his magnificent best Saturday, they learned that they couldn't even see him, much less hit him.

It is not certain, of course, that Reynolds will be on the firing line again today. A rumor floated around that Stengel may decide to gamble with young Tom Gorman.

Loes Gloomy Over Accident That Helped Yanks Win

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP)—"I was trying to grip the ball for a curve and it just squirted out of my hands," young Billy Loes said of the weird seventh-inning balk that helped the Yankees knot the World Series yesterday.

"I tied Ruth and Gehrig—for gosh sakes, I didn't know that," exclaimed Duke Snider, who poled his third and fourth home runs of the Series in the Dodgers' losing 3-2 effort.

"I would have put Joe Black in to protect a one-run lead late in the game but I never had a reason to give up on Loes," said Manager Charley Dressen, getting in the first punch at would-be second guessers.

SILENCE PREVAILS

Brooklyn's dressing room was so quiet the 22-year-old Loes was heard mumbling to himself.

"It never happened to me before—nothing like it," he said.

The catastrophic play occurred in the seventh inning after Yogi Berra's home run, tying the game 1-1 and after Gene Woodling had reached first on a single.

Winding up to pitch to Irv Noren, Loes let the ball slip from his hand and it squirted crazily toward second base. Woodling took second on a balk.

WINNING RUN SCORES

Snider, who struck out eight times in the 1949 World Series to tie Rogers Hornsby's mark, didn't know until he reached the dressing room that his four home runs had put him in the bracket with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

Ruth hit four homers in the 1926 series and Gehrig did it in 1928.

"I'm happy to tie the record of two such great hitters as Ruth and Gehrig but I was in good company when I tied Hornsby's strikeouts."

ZATOPEK SETS RECORD

LONDON (AP)—Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's amazing triple Olympic winner, ran the fastest 5,000 metres of the year Saturday, Prague Radio reported yesterday.

Zatopek, a Czech army major who won the 5,000, 10,000 and marathon at Helsinki, covered the 5,000 in 14:06.4, 2-10 of a second under his winning time in the Olympics.

The only faster times for the distance are Gunder Haegg's world record of 13:58.2 in 1942 and Zatopek's 14:03 winning the European championships in 1950.

Remember When—

Christy Mathewson, the immortal pitcher of New York Giants, died at Saranac Lake, N.Y., 27 years ago today. Mathewson tied Camnitz of Pittsburgh for the National League pitching championship in 1909 with 25 wins and six losses, and won it by himself in 1910 with a 27-9 record.

Coal Industry Developed In African Bush

By HUMPHREY ELLISON

WANKIE, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters)—The waters of Africa's 1,600-mile Zambesi River are being tapped for the first time just above the famous Victoria Falls to serve a flourishing coal-mining industry in the heart of the continent.

Through a $2,000,000 pipeline, 2,500,000 gallons a day will be taken to the arid town of Wankie, centre of the coal industry.

Eighteen degrees south of the equator, 2,000 feet above sea level, surrounded by African bush country, Wankie is situated in one of the wildest parts of Africa.

The roar of lions and the trumpeting of elephants can still be heard only a few miles from this town of some 18,000 persons.

MODERN INDUSTRY

But in Wankie itself, those noises are dulled by the rumble and clatter of modern industry as men labor to extract coal from one of the continent's richest deposits.

Since the discovery of the coal seam here in the late 1890s the output of coal has steadily increased. From 51,599 tons in 1940—the first full year of production—it rose last year to 2,401,596 tons and is expected to reach 5,000,000 tons in 1955.

At present, two collieries are being worked at Wankie, but syrveyors and engineers are already making plans for a third.

ONLY 200 FEET DOWN

The coal is mined at a depth of only about 200 feet. Miners descend to work down a gentle incline and the coal is raised to the surface either by small trucks or a conveyor belt.

The colliery company is building houses for its employees at the rate of four or five a month. British workers here write such glowing letters home that hundreds of applications from Britain for jobs at Wankie are being received.

Ripple Rock Claimed Scores Of Ships

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rock 100 feet in diameter, lying just below the surface, rules the north-south marine traffic on the British Columbia coast with an iron hand.

Ripple Rock in the Seymour Narrows between Vancouver Island and the mainland, 100 miles north of here, is dreaded by mariners just as European seamen fear the Goodwin Sands in the Straits of Dover.

First recorded by Captain George Vancouver on his voyage of discovery of the B.C. coast in 1792, the rock has destroyed or damaged scores of vessels and hundreds of small boats, with the death of more than 100 men.

SWIFT-RUNNING TIDES

Thousands of ships and small craft bound to and from northern B.C. and the Alaskan ports must pass through the Seymour Narrows. Tides of 10 or 12 knots race through the channel, churning the water into a cauldron of whirlpools that can suck small boats under or dash big ships against the rock.

It is only during brief periods of slack water that ships can pass through.

The rock sits just below the surface. Between 1934 and 1945 the Canadian government spent large sums in an attempt to blast 30 feet off the top. It was heartbreaking and dangerous work. In 1945 nine men working on the project lost their lives when a whirlpool overturned their work boat.

Despite heavy anchors and lines made fast to the shores on both sides of the channel, barges stationed over the rock would not remain stationary long enough for proper drilling work.

UNCONQUERED ROCK

They never made any real impression on the rock, and last June the project was abandoned.

Some prominent engineering authorities in both the United States and Canada agree it is possible to blast the rock out. Mariners are waiting hopefully.

May Decide Power Project By November

TORONTO (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier said last night the International Joint Commission may announce its decision on the St. Lawrence River power project and seaway by the end of the month.

He told the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards:

"The vast majority of the submissions received by the commission have favored the project. It is expected, however, that some opposing witnesses will be heard in Washington."

FINAL HURDLE

Should the I.J.C. approve the application now before it from both the Canadian and U.S. governments, it would mean that one of the final hurdles to the project has been taken.

Nevertheless, he said, the biggest hurdle will still remain, one which could take many years to settle. The Ontario Hydro would have to name an American partner to the power development of the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River. When final agreement is reached with this unnamed partner, the work can proceed.

Demand Farouk Tried For Officer's Death

The Wafdist paper El Misri said evidence indicates that Farouk instigated the assassination of Lieut. Abdel Kader Taha and other murders as well.

Investigations into Taha's slaying were reopened with Gen. Mohammed Naguib's military coup and "the culprits confessed one after another that it was Farouk who instigated the killing," Al Misri said.

Fall Kills Man

STRATHROY (CP)—John Wesley King, 78-year-old Brooke township farmer, was killed yesterday when he fell from the roof of his house, His wife said King had climbed a ladder to throw water on to a minor fire around the chimney.

Charged With Theft

Joseph Leo Feeley, 40, 261 Lake St., was arraigned in police court on a theft charge Monday.

He was remanded until October 10 on $500 bail.

Feeley is charged with stealing a quantity of frozen foods, valued at more than $25, belonging to Delnor Frozen Foods on September 14.

New Man Plans To Be Married

ABERDEEN (AP)—Dr. Ewan Forbes-Sempill, whose change of sex from female to male was announced last month, posted official notice in his parish church Sunday that he will marry his housekeeper, Miss Isobel Mitchell.

The 40-year-old doctor's intention to wed was announced in Kildrummy parish church by Rev. Peter J. MacEwen. The announcement is a formality required for all church weddings. Date of the wedding was not specified.

The doctor used to be known as Elizabeth Frobes-Sempill. On Sept 12 a newspaper advertisement announced that she now was a male and would be known as Ewan instead of Elizabeth.

The doctor's brother is Baron Sempill. The change of sex, which the doctor explained as a gradual process over a period of years and not the result of surgery, put him in line for his brother's title.

Warsaw W.A. Plans For Turkey Dinner

WARSAW (ENS)—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held with a good attendance. Mrs. Harold Ray, president, presided, opening with a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Mrs. T. Cooper was in charge of the devotional service, Mrs. Sherwood Payne read the scripture passages and prayer was offered by Mrs. Cooper. Mrs. Stanley Payne conducted a contest. Mrs. Cooper read a short reading on courage.

The roll call was answered by the word neighbor.

Plans were completed for the turkey dinner on October 15 and anniversary services on October 12. Lunch was served by Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Gordon Payne and Mrs. S. Clysdale.

The W.M.S. met on Thursday afternoon, opening with the theme song and Lord's Prayer repeated in unison. Mrs. Dyson presided, and took for her theme "Thanksgiving." The roll call was answered by a thanksgiving parcel. [illegible] Clare McC[illegible] temperance readi[illegible] made for the W.M.S. sectional rally to be held in Warsaw on October 9.

Mrs. Wm. Darling's group had charge of the program. Mrs. James Hawthorne and Mrs. Dyson sang two solos, and Mrs. Darling gave a reading. Lunch was served by Mrs. Edwards and Miss Anna Dewart.

Believe Hot Pipes Started Blaze In Detlor House

BANCROFT (ENS)—A family of five was unharmed when their frame home in Detlor, 10 miles east of here, burned to the ground Sunday night.

Overheated stove pipes are believed to have caused the fire, which swept through the house before a bucket brigade could be organized from neighbours. Mr. and Mrs. Basil Ruttan and their three young children moved to the north Hastings hamlet only three weeks ago.

The fire started about 10:30 p.m. Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ruttan woke to find the roof above them in flames, centering around the hole in the roof that the stovepipe goes through.

They and their children managed to escape the fire, but could save only their bedding from the burning home. At present they are staying with neighbors until they find another place to live.

No damage estimate on the loss is available, and it is not known whether the house was insured.

Time Yet?

Showers that were supposed to plague the district today failed to appear during the day and Peterborough had a fine, cool autumn day with temperatures reaching 50. Citizens have been carefully watching the city's trees as they begin to show signs of turning. The people are trying to gauge how far along are the leaves of trees farther north. No one wants to miss the annual spectacle.

598 Petition For Cinder Path On Park St.

A petition for a cinder path on the west side of Park Street from Brioux Avenue to Cameron Street, subscribed by 589 signatures, was presented to the council Monday night by Mrs. F. W. Williams, O'Connell Road.

The voluminous appeal was enclosed in a large envelope and was said to represent complete support by the residents in the area south of Lansdowne Street, west of Park Street, and east of Monaghan Road. It was amplified by a written address to the council which Mrs. Williams read on behalf of the residents and also of the numerous deputaiton accompanying her.

The council is being asked to lay the cinder path largely for the protection of the children of the area who have to cross Park St. easterly going to Confederation School, and St. John's Separate School.

The petition, in part, affirmed that "with the school safety patrol system, all school children living west of Park St. could be safely escorted across this main traffic artery at one street intersection, and then proceed north or south on the west side to their respective streets, if there were a cinder path, instead of crossing at ten different intersections as at present."

GLAD DRAIN FILLED

In her presentment to the council, Mrs. Williams said that the residents were grateful for the filling of the old Park St. drain by the city two years ago. Lacking a path to walk on, the children have alternative of walking ing on the edge of the Park St. roadway. Traffic is heavy today on that street, and the alternative to the children is dangerous. Parents are worried, and it is suggested that a temporary cinder path would contribute safety for the children. There is no concrete sidewalk on either side of Park St., and where the trees were cut down on the west side, and the ditch filled, pedestrians, including school children, have to wallow home in wet weather.

Claraday Ward, it was said, is now the largest in the city containing 50 per cent of the children. A copy of the statement is being submitted to the Board of Education.

Mrs. Williams asked whether the council could give a tentative reply for the meeting of the parents this evening.

NEED INFORMATION

Ald. Gillespie said the council required some information from City Engineer Chalmers as to the cinder path project, including cost of the work. He moved that the petition be referred to a committee of the whole council two weeks hence. The motion was seconded by Ald. H. S. Longhurst.

The cinder path was mentioned as a temporary improvement in safety for the chool children. In practice, the council has been reluctant to lay cinder paths in these days. On the other hand, no petition for concrete walks on either or both sides of Park St, south has been forthcoming. That type of walk is laid under the Local Improvement Act with part of the expenditure chargeable to the property owners.

Presumably, a cinder path, entailing comparatively small cost, would be a charge out of the general treasury.

Request for paths on O'Connell Road, Rose Ave. and Arndon Ave. from the present end of sidewalks to Park St. was in effect added to the petition by a member of the deputation.

Start First 6 Of 48 Houses In North End

New Subdivision Of Sands, Bateman $450,000 Project

Sands and Bateman are breaking ground on a housing development of approximately. $450,000 in a wide area of the Queen Elizabeth subdivision at the north end of the city Friday morning at nine o'clock.

Mayor Waddell is being invited to turn up the first shovel of earth for the first basement of the 48 dwellings in this project. The contractor is Phil Seifried who has already done considerable work for the firm. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will be represented, and the beginning of building operations will be set in a little ceremony.

"These houses are being built for sale at around $9,000 to $9,800" Adam Sands told the Examiner today. "The general type comprises living room, kitchen, three bedrooms and bath, similar in most respects of construction to houses we built in the Parkdale subdivision east of Nicholls Oval. We expect to excavate for six units and have them under way during the winter, and to proceed with others of the 48-house area early next year."

Train Hits Truck Grain Handler Killed

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Emil Yarema, Fort William grain handler, was killed early today when a three-ton truck in which he was riding was struck by a passenger train at a level crossing between Port Arthur and Fort William.

Cedar Boughs Give Aroma To Police Court

As the pungent aroma of cedar boughs spread through the police court today a controversy developed between the magistrate, crown attorney and defence counsel over a theft charge laid by Mrs. Joseph Hamilton, Stony Lake.

Before court opened, Mrs. Hamilton trudged in with two lengthy cedar saplings and an armful of cedar boughs.

Mrs. Hamilton has charged Kenneth McClure of Lakefield with stealing a quantity of cedar trees belonging to herself and her husband.

WORTH AT LEAST $25

The charge alleges that the trees were at least worth $25 and that the offence occurred in Dummer township September 25.

W. J. Arthur Fair informed Magistrate W. R. Philp he was defending McClure and asked for particulars about the offence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said the charge had been laid privately and he would only be assisting in the prosecution.

Noting that the charge was an indictable offence, Magistrate Philp asked Mr. Bradshaw "Aren't you in the position of prosecuting this?"

Mr. Bradshaw answered that he was, but was not required to furnish details about the charge.

Mr. Fair then argued he could not defend a charge when he did not know where the offence occurred.

MOTION DISMISSED

Magistrate Philp dismissed Mr. Fair's motion with the comment that particulars were not required, but added that Mr. Fair was entitled to know the lot and concession number of the Hamilton property.

"No doubt Mr. Bradshaw will let you know if the trees were taken from the premises or some other point," Magistrate Philp said.

O.C.E. Students Observe Sewing At Collegiate

During the next two weeks, two students from the Ontario College of Education, Miss Jean Paterson of Agincourt and Miss Joan Howes of Toronto, will be observing and making reports on sewing lessons at P.C.V.S.

This is the first time that P.C.V.S. has been chosen as a practice school by the college. The girls will only be in the sewing classes under Mrs. June Collins and were sent to the school for practice teaching in sewing by Professor Darrell Phillips of the College.

Other schools in Ontario have been used from time to time by the college, especially St. Catharines, Hamilton and Toronto high schools.

C. S. Browne, principal, said today, "The girls are sent only to schools where department officials recommend teachers for this type of work; we consider it a compliment to be chosen as a practice teaching school by the College of Education."

The student-teachers started their two weeks of observing and making reports on Mrs. Collins' sewing lessons on Monday. They will return to the college for a short time then return to P.C.V.S. for another two weeks.

During their second period at P.C.V.S. the student-teachers will take over the full instruction of classes under the direction of Mrs. Collins. At first they will teach only a few classes a day, then full time later.

South Africa Heading For Racial Strife—Pollock

"I don't know what the result will be," the Rev. I. G. Pollock admitted frankly Monday night, "but the plainest characteristic of South Africa's discriminatory legislation at present is a feeling among the colored peoples of bitterness and frustration . . . of disillusionment."

Mr. Pollock, now pastor of Grace United Church, was guest speaker at the Optimist Club meeting Monday night. He came to Canada this summer after serving seven years as a minister in South Africa.

Mr. Pollock summed up South Africa as a beautiful country, slightly larger than Ontario and whose attractiveness lies in its diversity of peoples.

There are about 2,000,000 of European stock—half of them speaking English, the other half Afrikaans, a form of high Dutch. In Cape Province there are 250,000 "Cape Coloreds," that is people of mixed blood; in Natal there are 500,000 Indians who have been in the country about 50 years; and finally there is the bulk of the population—10,000,000 natives.

RIGID COLOR BAR

"From a race point of view there is a highly complex and rigid color bar," he said. And he went on to debunk what he believed to be a few Canadian misconceptions about South Africa:

1. Among the white or European population there are few who, like the speaker, oppose the racial laws. Practically nobody advocates complete equality among the races.

2. There is no parallel with "Jim Crowism" in the southern United States. In the U.S. racial discrimination is contrary to the expressed opinion of the majority of the population and contrary to statute; it is observed locally and runs contrary to the democratic sentiments of most Americans.

But in South Africa the color bar is "not simply a tradition and custom but the way the people of South Africa choose to deal with this problem at this particular time." It is the law of the country.

3. The Christian Church has no united front on the subject of the color bar. And the Dutch Reformed Church considers the white [illegible]

Because of the scope of racial relations in South Africa Mr. Pollock singled out the position of the "coloreds."

MIXED BLOOD

They are people of mixed blood who live mainly in Cape Province. Many of them are intelligent, highly cultured people, superior to many of the whites, said Mr. Pollock.

Three years ago the Mixed Marriages Act forbade the colored to intermarry with the whites. In fact, said the speaker, both groups had agreed tacitly long before that intermarriage was a bad thing and a clergyman of his acquaintance had come across only 28 mixed out of 14,000 marriages he had performed.

Both whites and coloreds recognized this as a custom of the land. There was no intermarriage at all between natives and whites.

Another piece of discriminatory legislation was the Immorality

Will Face Trial On Motor Thefts

After a speedy preliminary hearing, Halstead was committed for trial and bail was fixed at $3,000.

Lawrence Howell has already been committed for trial in connection with the thefts of outboard motors and Joseph Larocque has pleaded guilty to retaining one of the motors in his possession, knowing it was stolen.

For the purposes of the preliminary, Halstead's counsel, John W. Brooke of Toronto, did not question the admission of oral statements made to police in connection with the thefts.

O.P.P. Constable John Cawood, who was in charge of the investigation which resulted in the arrest of the trio, told Mr. Brooke that all the motors had been recovered. He said Halstead had approached the provincial police since his arrest and volunteered information which had been useful in recovering the motors.

Boys At Normal Outnumber Girls 10-1 In Council

Enrolment at the Peterborough Normal Schol shows the girls outnumbering the boys four to one. However in student council elections 10 boys were elected and only one girl. This is the first time that the school masters can recall the boys dominating the council seats.

The boys started off by splitting the vote for chairmen of the three standing committees. With several girls running for each position, dividing their votes, the boys strongly backed the boys' candidates, electing two chairmen, Wally Gregorik of Fort William of the athletic committee and Ben Whitney of Kingston of the Red Cross committee.

ONLY GIRL

The only girl elected so far is a Peterborough girl, Ann Lewis, who is chairman of the drama committee.

But in the other elections, for form representatives and for the council executive, the girls and boys both backed the boy candidates, sweeping in eight boys for the eight positions. Decisions were based largely on speeches given by candidates prior to election day.

Form representatives for the various classes are Bob Darling of Kingston, Jim Hill of Kingston, Jack Langdon of Lindsay and a tie for the fourth class between Carl Reid of Stirling and James Wagg of Belleville. The tie will be broken with another vote.

The council executive includes John Deck of Lakefield as president, Doug Darling of Lakefield as vice-president, Ron Davidson of Kingston as treasurer and Eugene McDonald also of Kingston as secretary. They hold the distinction of the first all-boy council in the school's history.

Realizing that the girls wouldn't have too much voice in the council with the boys' majority ruling, the suggestion has been made to also have four girl form representatives. The boys agree with the suggestion and plans are under way for the elections.

Council At Work

City To Rent Market Hall For Badminton

Peterborough [illegible] their playing season from Oct. 18 to April 30, 1953, at $200, was approved by the council Monday night in accepting the report of the property committee presented by the chairman, Ald. H. S. Longhurst. The rental charge is the same as that of last winter.

Council let to J. E. A. Fitzgerald Fuels Ltd. a contract for supplying No. 5 fuel oil for the city hall at their tender of 15c a gallon, for the 1952-53 heating season.

Council endorsed the recommendation of the property committee that the offer of Frank Ephgrave of $400 for the vacant lot at the northeast corner of Chamberlain and Ford Streets be referred to Ald. Longhurst and Mayor Waddell to consult further with Assessment Commissioner J. E. Davis about the value of that property.

"That existing lease between the city and Thomas Anthony for his store premises at George and Charlotte Streets be adhered to."

That the Family Court be informed that the rental of the office provided for their officer in the City Hall be $305.50 a year, payable quarterly.

From the manufacturers' committee report by Ald. J. A. Dewart, chairman:

That City Engineer Chalmers and W. L. Burnie, Industrial Commissioner, prepare a plan of the industrial area, west of Erskine Ave. and south of Lansdowne St.

That exclusive rights be bought from F. R. Oakman on two aerial photographs of the city at $35 each.

That two pages of advertising space in the Industrial Review, published by the Review Printing Co., at a total cost of $200, be purchased, "it being understood that the city is to receive 1,000 copies, and more if required without charge."

From the parks committee, reported by chairman Ald. P. J. Anglesey: That permission be granted Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School football teams to use Riverside Park for practising and also for the season's games.

It was recommended to the council of 1953 that items be included in the parks budget for placing two additional rows of seats at Ashburnham Bowl, and a steel mesh fence around the outfield.

Some of the recommendations in the board of works report, read by Ald. J. E. Gillespie, chairman, were adopted as follows:

That City Engineer Chalmers be authorized to have removed any unauthorized traffic and parking signs about the city, having first given notice by advertisement or otherwise that it is not the policy of the council to permit erection of such signs or their continued use.

That the City Clerk be authorized to secure an option from Joseph P. Asta for the property he owns on the north side of Sherbrooke St., 100 ft. frontage by 226 ft. in depth, since it is required by the city for a proposed by-pass highway. Mr. Asta bought the property for the erection of a garage for fruit trucks.

From the sanitation committee report by Ald. Harold Rehill, that Mayor Waddell, Ald. Rehill and Elmo Pierce, sanitation superintendent, meet representatives of the Independent Civic Employees Union "to discuss matters of mutual concern relating to the op-

Nazi Frame-up Helped Start 2nd World War

COLOGNE, Germany (Reuters) A Nazi "frame-up" which helped start the Second World War was described in a German court today by former Nazi S. S. general, Emanuel Schaefer.

He said the Nazis set fire to a German customs border police shed on Aug. 31, 1939, and then made it look as though "Polish border troops" had violated the German territory. German troops invaded Poland the next day.

Schaefer, who was commander of the S. S. security service in Serbia, Yugoslavia, during the war is on trial charged with having played a leading role in the killing of at least 6,000 Jews in Serbia. The Jews, all women and children, were murdered between 1942 and 1944. Schaefer has pleaded innocent, claiming he had acted on an order of Hitler.

NEEDED REASON

Schaefer testified that Gen. Reinhard Heydrich had come to Upper Silesia and told Schaefer, then head of the state police there, "we need a reason to start war."

On the evening of Aug. 31, he continued S. S. (Nazi Elite) men set fire to the border police shed, then started "shooting wildly."

Several murdered concentration camp inmates were dressed in Polish uniforms and laid around the shed, Schaefer said. The bodies then were photographed to "prove" that the Poles had violated the border.

ESCAPE AT 2,000 M.P.H.—This is an artist's conception of a device to enable pilots to escape safely from planes going at 2,000 miles a nhour, recently proposed by the Douglas Aircraft Company. The entire forward part of a fighter plane operating in outer atmosphere would be shot clear by rockets, similar to the conventional jet-assisted takeoff. A parachute would open to stabilize the fall to earth. The capsule, with the pilot safely sealed inside, would float if a water landing were necessary.

Railways, Steamship Lines To Cut Freight Rate On Oil

OTTAWA (CP) — The railways and a group of inland steamship companies are proposing to slash freight rates between 20 and 25 per cent on lubricating oil shipped from eastern refineries to points in Ontario and the Prairie provinces.

The rail and water carriers have filed application with the Board of Transport Commissioners for approval of an "agreed charge" contract under which they would get, in return for the lowered rates, all the lubricating oil shipments from refineries of four big oil companies to a long list of destinations in the four provinces.

Joining with the two trans-continental railways in the proposal are Canada Steamship Lines, Northern Navigation Company, Northwest Steamships, Ltd., Ontario Northland Railway and the Northern Alberta Railway.

The oil companies are British-American, Canadian, Imperial and McColl-Frontenac.

Railway officials said yesterday the proposed contract involves a fairly heavy volume of oil going mainly to western points from Montreal, Toronto, Sarnia and Clarkson.

Purpose of the reductions, they said, is to meet competition from lake and river tankers—whose cargo rates are not regulated—and potential competition from highway tank trucks west of the Lakehead. The tankers particularly have been cutting into the rail business.

Wild Horse Bands Damaging Alta. Crops

EDMONTON (CP)—Some 1,500 wild horses are reported roaming northern Alberta in four main bands and damaging crops.

One large herd was reported last week playing havoc with crops in the Clear Hills country 250 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Livestock Commissioner W.H.T. Mead reported he is also investigating reports of three more large bands in widely-separated parts of northern Alberta.

B.C. Government Faces Test In November

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia's new Social Credit government under Premier W. A. C. Bennett will face its first test late in November.

Premier Bennett yesterday announced by-elections will be held Nov. 24, "if necessary," in the ridings of Similkameen and Columbia. Nomination day will be Nov. 12.

The two seats were opened last week to allow Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Attorney-General R. A. Bonner to seek a seat in the Legislature. They were appointed after the June 12 provincial election.

A minority government, Social Credit has 19 seats in the 48-member Legislature. The C. C. F. forms the Opposition with 18.

HOPES FOR ACCLAMATION

Premier Bennett hopes other parties will allow his two candidates to be elected by acclamation.

"I still think we won't be opposed," he said.

But this view was not shared by spokesmen for the other parties.

C. C. F. leader Harold Winch termed Mr. Bennett's proposal for uncontested elections "fantastic."

He said in a speech last week that the C.C.F. would contest all seats both in by-elections and provincial general elections.

Spokesman for the Liberal and Progressive Conservative parties have also announced determination to place candidates in the by-elections.

In the June 12 general election the Liberals elected six members, the Progressive Conservatives four and Labor one.

The Social Credit government took office in August. The Minister of Finance and the Attorney-General were chosen from outside government ranks because none of the elected members had the qualifications for the two important posts.

Boy 3½, Wins Amateur Contest

BETHANY (ENS) — At the amateur contest sponsored by the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church and held in the town hall Friday night, first prize in the junior group was awarded to Garry Bristow, singing "Dance Me Loose." Garry is only 3½ years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bristow, of Yelverton. Second prize went to Dianne Mulligan, 6, for her tap dancing number, and third prize to Sharon Bigelow and Jane Fallis for their duet "Jesus Loves Me."

In the under 12 years class, Leone Smith, with a tap dancing number in costume, and Eleanor Crowley, of Millbrook, reciting "Driving the Auto," were tied for first prize; second and third prizes were divided among Leora Smith, reciting "The Highwayman"; Phyllis Bristow and Joan Morton singing "Mocking Bird Hill"; Mary Syer and Margaret Syer, of Cavan, both with piano instrumentals. The prize in the comedy class was awarded to a group, Muriel Sheckleton and June Wright doing a burlesque tramp dance accompanied by Ingrid Raiski on the accordion.

Others in competition, and all giving excellent performances, were Miss Gladys Bigelow singing "In the Garden of Tomorrow"; duet by Gayle Bristow and Catharine Reynolds, "Auf Wiedersehn"; duet by Miss Marie Carr and Miss Helen Fallis, of Millbrook, "Matrimonial Sweets"; accordion selection by Miss Ingrid Rajski; Mrs. Gerald Bristow, piano instrumental, "Down Yonder"; duet with guitar accompaniment by Miss Jean Bowles and Miss Muriel Hensby; recitation by Elaine Syer, "Getting Clothes Second Hand."

Feature numbers (not in competition) while the judges were making their decision were given by Miss June Wright, dancing the Highland Fling in Scotch costume; Ralph Preston singing "I Belong to Glasgow" and "It's Nice To Get Up In the Morning"; Miss Eleanor Crowley reciting "Hold Out Your Hand"; Miss Marie Carr and Miss Helen Fallis singing "Love Somebody."

Cheque Casher Jailed 2 Years

NORTH BAY (CP)—A man responsible for the cashing of more than 40 fraudulent cheques throughout Ontario was sentenced today to two years.

James Pierce Carleton, 36, of Prince Albert, Sask., pleaded guilty to 22 charges. His wife Helene, 26, pleaded guilty to eight charges and her sister, Miss Freda Sawatzky, 23, also pleaded guilty to eight charges. Mrs. Carleton received eight months and the other woman three months.

The cheques varied in value from $13.13 to $500 and totalled about $3,800.

Merchants accepted cheques from one or other of the trio and gave in return cash or merchandise or both in Port Arthur, Bracebridge, Smoothrock Falls, Nipigon, Cochrane, Gravenhurst, Belleville, Kenora, Kapuskasing, Niagara Falls, Geraldton, Toronto, Newcastle, Orillia, Sudbury, Copper Cliff, Welland, Trenton, St. Catharines and Brantford.

Bengough Says Union Given Unfair Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—Percy Bengough president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said Monday members of the International Association of Boilermakers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) have been "forced into a very unfair and difficult position," in a strike at the Montreal plant of Canadian Vickers, Ltd.

In a statement, Mr. Bengough said members of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor on strike at the Vickers shipyard were not within their rights in trying to prevent A.F.L. boilermakers from going to work in Vickers' boiler shop.

He called for punishment of those who beat up Sam Finlay, Canadian chief of the Boilermakers, about two weeks ago in a clash between members of the two groups outside the Vickers plant.

He said the "unwarranted, cowardly and brutal attack" was a "most despicable act" that should not be allowed to go unpunished.

President Bengough said the Boilermakers have been entirely within their rights in continuing works at Vickers despite the C.C.C.L. strike. They had an agreement with Vickers covering an entirely different operation from the shipyard, and T.L.C. policies required them to live up to it.

Judge Gives Approval In Peaceful Agreement

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice W.F. Schroeder, in dismissing an action by the Sunshine Waterloo Company against five strikers accused of illegal picketing, said Monday that people who make peace without resorting to the courts have his full support.

The action arose after the company obtained an injunction to restrain illegal picketing. A motion was filed by the company to commit five persons to jail for violation of the injunction.

The strike having been settled, the motion was withdrawn on the joint application of both parties in the dispute.

Raising House Plants Discussed At Keene

KEENE — The regular monthly meeting of the Keene Women's Institute was held in the club room with 23 present.

Mrs. Belfry was appointed to look after the sale of Christmas cards, the samples of which were on display.

Mrs. Anderson gave a report on the Garden Club Achievement Day, and announced that two Keene girls had been chosen to put on a display at the W.I. convention in Toronto.

It was decided that the Institute should provide judges and three prizes totalling $10 for the oratorical contest to be held in the township hall on or about Oct. 17.

Britons Lose Wrong Hour

LONDON (CP)—The BBC and a series of north London district newspapers issued separate apologies yesterday for accidentally slicing an hour off the British Sunday.

The mixup caused thousands of Britons to be late for church, dinners and other engagements.

The trouble started when the north London newspapers instructed readers to set their clocks back one hour to mark the end of British summer time.

The instructions were correct but slightly premature. British summer time ends Oct. 26.

To make the matters even more confusing, a BBC announcer reported the time at 11 a.m. yesterday as 10 a.m.

Greedy Bear Has Bad End

WATERTON PARK, Alta. (CP)—This is the story of a big black bear that made a pig of himself—and maybe a rug.

The bear broke into the walk-in refrigerator of a cafe in the Waterton Lakes National Park in southwestern Alberta.

The next evening he was back for another feast and then he decided to take a nap before leaving.

Meanwhile park warden Bert Pittaway was summoned and he shot and killed the bear.

120 Honor Couples At Donegal

NOWOOD (ENS) — About 120 members of the Donegal Community met for a farewell party on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Starke, before they leave for a new home in Cobourg.

It was also the occasion for a shower for Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Starke (nee Dorothy Leslie), who were married recently.

During the evening, George Humphries led in a sing-song, with Miss Shirley Starke at the piano. This was followed by a contest, including the names of the four guests of honor.

Then Mrs. Arthur McKay read an address and Mrs. Harold Van Volkenburg presented Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Starke with a sum of money with the best wishes of the community.

Arthur McKay read an address to Mr. and Mrs. David Starke, and Mr. Roy Leeper gave a purse of money, a gift from their neighbors in appreciation of the many years of service to the community.

This was followed by refreshments provided by the ladies of the community.

Also on Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. David Starke received an oil painting by Miss Miss M. A. Carter, of Norwood, from the Norwood United Church Sunday School, where they have been valued workers for many years.

Don't Blame Stork

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Joan Mallenson, noted obstetrician, called yesterday for an end to all "boring" stories about storks and birds and bees told to children. Deputy Provincial Treasurer In Saskatchewan 28 Years Old

Albert W. Johnson, 28, has just been appointed deputy provincial treasurer. His boss in the C.C.F. government called him "the most brilliant young man I know."

Mr. Johnson is a Saskatchewan native, the son of a United Church minister. He has degrees from the University of Saskatchewan, the University of Toronto and Harvard University.

Mr. Johnson enlisted in the wartime army at 18 but was discharged for medical reasons. He later worked in an aircraft factory, then won degrees in public administration at Toronto and Harvard.

He entered the Saskatchewan government service six years ago when the C. C. F. administration created a budget bureau. One of his more important jobs was to set up a money-saving administrative system for the government's hospital services.

As deputy provincial treasurer, he succeeds T.H. McLeod, appointed Dean of Commerce at the University of Saskatchewan.

NEW DEPUTY — Albert W. Johnson, 28, of Regina, is believed the youngest deputy cabinet minister in Canada. Appointed deputy treasurer of Saskatchewan by the C.C.F. government, he has degrees from the University of Saskatchewan, the University of Toronto and Harvard. — (CP Photo)

Lewis Switching Vote Allegiance

CINCINNATI (AP)—John L. Lewis, fresh from victory in his periodic wars with the coal industry, today appeared close to switching allegiance from the Republican to the Democratic parties.

Lewis, 72-year-old president of the United Mine Workers, an avowed Republican, has labelled Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, as a leader of the "especially privileged group of oppressive exploiters."

Lewis keynotes his quadrennial convention today and it seemed likely, in view of his expressed opposition to Eisenhower, he will either endorse Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, or declare a neutral position in the U.S. presidential election campaign.

Both the A.F.L. and C.I.O have come out for Stevenson.

Fears Chemicals Harm Wildlife

QUEBEC (CP)—Tons of chemicals sprayed by man in his fight against insects may have "exceedingly serious" effect on wildlife, a United States government expert said yesterday.

Clarence Cottam, assistant director of the Wildlife Management Institute, Washington, made the statement when he addressed the 20th annual meeting of l'Association Canadienne-Francaise Pour l'Avancement des Sciences, a French-speaking Canadian association of scientists.

Experts from many countries are meeting for a three-day symposium on the conservation of renewable natural resources.

"Since the Second World War, production and use of miracle compounds to control insects and other similar pests and obnoxious vegetation have increased so rapidly that reliable know-how or avoidance of harm to wildlife has not been able to keep pace," Mr. Cottam said.

Without Food 72 Days Hypnotist Claims Record

BRIGHTON, England (Reuters)—Jack Wafer, 30, Irish-born stage hypnotist, claimed the world's fasting record last night after going without food for 72 days, three hours, four minutes.

"I shall try and stick it out without eating until the end of the week," he said. "I want to establish a record that will last for years."

He had beaten by one minute the record set in Palermo, Sicily, earlier this year. He also claimed £10,000 from three persons who bet him he couldn't do it.

A sealed glass cage in a small store which he rented has been his home for 2½ months.

More than 10,000 curiosity seekers have paid a shilling each to look at him.

He has gone through more than 2,000 cigarets and cases of soda water since his last meal. On this diet he lost 28 pounds and yesterday he stood up shakily to show off a 22-inch waist—10 inches less than when he started.

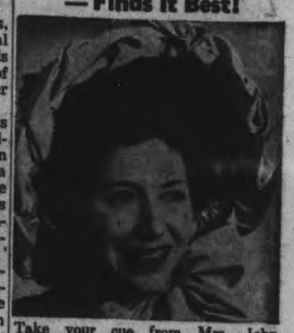
Real Estate Delegates Told To Reject Rent Controls

TORONTO (CP)—An American realtor yesterday urged delegates to the ninth annual conference of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards to reject rent controls and socialized housing.

Jack W. Galbreath of Columbus, O., past president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards said that this is one method of combatting the world-wide danger of "stateism."

"We must reject the sly class appeals of rent control and socialized housing which are so often used as the opening wedge for a great program of socialism," he said. "We must support the rights and the powers of local government, as against over-centralization."



Ernest J. Oliver of Ottawa, association president, said in his report to the conference that the great bulwark against communism is to build a Canada of happy home owners.

The government should encourage home ownership by allowing mortgage interest and municipal taxes to be deducted from personal income taxes, he said.

VancouverOpens Cancer Bomb Centre

For the distinguished guests an spectators the centre of attraction was the "bomb," housed in a lea lined shield weighing 3,500 pounds.

It is the third of its kind in us in Canada, making the B.C. cance institute's centre one of the mos modern in the world.

Dr. G. F. Strong of Vancouv president of the B.C. Cancer Foun dation, described the Elorad beam therapy unit, better known as the cobalt "bomb." It was provided by funds from the federal and provincial governments.

The unit, the source of whose radiation is equal to 2,400 grams of radium having a value of about $50,000,000, is designed for he treatment of deep-seated cancers.

GRAIN STOCKPILED — More than 125,000 bushels of wheat and barley lie on the ground before the elevators at Hussar, Alta., 60 miles northeast of Calgary, because of lack of storage space. The district expects to harvest a 2,000,000-bushel crop and elevator capacity totals only 490,000 bushels.

Cassel's Hunch Have Armistice In Nine Months

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj.-Gen. James Cassels, first commander of the Commonwealth Division in Korea, said Monday he has a personal hunch that there will be an armistice in Korea within six to nine months and that the days of major fighting there are over.

Gen. Cassels arrived in Ottawa today for talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent, Defence Minister Claxton, and others. He told reporters at a press conference conference he is informing Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Claxton of his view about an armistice but stressed that it is strictly a personal view.

He praised the Canadians in Korea and said the present brigade is equal of the original 25th brigade, whose members came back to Canada on rotation this year.

TIRED OF WAR

Gen. Cassels told reporters the Chinese would have nothing to gain by trying a major offensive because they could not drive the United Nations out of Korea. The main reason for his feeling that an armistice may come is his belief that the Chinese have been tired of the war for some time and that the war must "be a pain in the neck to them."

He thought the Chinese would accept an armistice if they were offered terms which would not make them lose too much face. The western powers had to find a formula on the key prisoners-of-war issue which would also not let U. N. lose too much face.

Gen. Cassels was told about Gen. Eisenhower's recent statement about turning the Korean front over to the South Korean troops.

Gen. Cassels said the South Korean forces have improved tremendously and now hold down a large part of the front.

If there were an armistice it might be possible to leave them on guard over the entire front.

Woman Admits Stealing $276

A 24-year-old Indian River woman who pleaded guilty to stealing $276 was placed on suspended sentence for two years Monday.

Mrs. Margaret Manett, admitted stealing the money from the wallet of James Jeffrey Ashton September 30. In giving the evidence, Detective Sergeant William A. Clarke, said Mrs. Manett also admitted being implicated in the theft of two other sums of $60 each.

The thefts occurred in a house, where Mrs. Manett had been employed as a domestic.

The woman was arrested and taken off a bus at Kingston, Detective Clarke said, and brought back to Peterborough. She had a seven-month-old baby with her at the time which is being cared for by the Children's Aid Society here.

HUSBAND SOUGHT

Detective Clarke said the woman had taken part in the theft of the money and knew about it, but that her common-law husband had taken all except a few dollars of it and a warrant was now out for his arrest. He said the man had participated in the theft.

Crown counsel Alexander Fleming said that in view of the evidence, he was consenting to suspended sentence.

W.M.S. Plans To Ship Overseas Relief Bale

BETHANY — (ENS). — The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Otto Spencer for their October meeting. The president, Mrs. T. J. Jackson, conducted the worship service following the theme of "The Means of Grace." Worship is a means of grace, a service of strength. Christian worship is an offering to God of our thanks and a giving of our substance.

Mrs. Mervyn Porteous read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Spencer gave the topic from the year's study book, telling of life in African villages.

Plans were made for shipping a bale of clothing for overseas relief, and contributions were received from the members for the shipping expenses. The bale is being packed at the home of Mrs. George Waddell.

The president announced a missionary rally to be held in Trinity United Church in Peterborough, and all the members planned to attend.

Foreign Policy Issues Bitterly Debated In U.S.

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP)—The history and future of United States action in Korea has become the centre of the slam-bang debate on foreign policy in the U. S. election campaign.

The campaign's increasing tempo made more hectic by President Truman's attacks on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during his current tour, has brought out the bitterness over the issue which lay somewhat dormant in the early stages.

Now Republican candidate Eisenhower has put forward what is apparently at least part of his plan for solving the Korean problem. He charged that the Democrats have no plan to end the list of U.S. casualties in Korea and then said:

"We must make certain that those South Koreans. . . can be prepared to defend their own front lines.

"If there must be war (in Korea) let it be Asians against Asians with our support on the side of freedom."

TIMES CAUTIONS IKE

Eisenhower, however, did not make clear when the South Koreans should "defend their own front lines." The New York Times, which supports Eisenhower, said editorially he should make it clear that there would be no withdrawal of U.S. troops from Korea until the South Koreans are able to defend themselves.

Governor Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, has emphasized that [illegible] out in Korea and that "we can keep it up as long as we have to and we will."

Stevenson argues that Communist aggression has been stopped in Korea and that United Nations action there when the North Koreans invaded South Korea might well be the turning point in world collective security against aggression.

On the Democratic administration's foreign policy as a whole, Stevenson says it has been essentially sound, although some situations have been misjudged and mistakes have been made.

Eisenhower has grown tougher in recent weeks in his condemnation of the administration's handling of world affairs. He says the administration has lost China, allowed millions in Eastern Europe to fall under the domain of Russia, has "bungled" the U.S. close to a third world war, and now is satisfied with a "negative" policy of containment.

LIKES SOME THINGS

The Republican candidate, however, approved some of the administration's policies in Europe—with which he himself had been associated as head of the armies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Truman has lashed out at Eisenhower for the Republicans' attack on administration policies. The President, who had been reported as offering to help Eisenhower get the Presidency as Democratic candidate, now urges all who hear him to send Eisenhower back to the army.

French Pastry Not Included Food Courses

By MARY MOORE.

A pretty girl by the name of Bunny was in a cooking class I attended in my 'teens and on our last day when we were about to receive our diplomas she exclaimed:

This was intended to be amusing and it was—for it was while she was having some delicious chocolate eclairs for dinner that she had decided, with the counsel of her parents, to take this particular course in cooking, so that she would know how to bake such delectable morsels.

Of course, diploma courses in cookery are not designed for would-be French pastry artists. To learn to make such things in Canada most of us have to learn by the trial and error method.

Would you like me to give you a few recipes for authentic French dishes today? The "choux" paste for eclairs is the same as is used for cream puffs.

CHOCOLATE ECLAIRS

Choux paste: One-half cup of butter or margarine, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 eggs unbeaten Add the butter to the boiling water and heat gently until butter melts. Add the flour and salt all at once, stirring fast. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture leaves sides of pan. Remove from heat and let cool 2 minutes. Add eggs unbeaten, 1 at a time, beating until incorporated into paste before adding another. Wet a dessertspoon and drop paste from it 3 inches apart on greased cookie sheet, shaping them in 4-inch lengths about ¾-inch wire. Bakers do this with pastry bag and tube or wet fingers.

To bake eclairs start in oven of 450 degrees Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 400 degrees Fahr. 10 or 15 minutes. They should be high and golden brown. It is advisable to remove one from oven at end of baking time to test it. It will not fall at all if it is baked sufficiently.

When cool slit eclairs at the side and fill with sweetened whipped cream or Cream Puff Filling: In top of donuble boiler mix one cup sugar, ½ cup flour, shake of salt, then add 3 beaten eggs. Add 3 cups hot milk, stirring, and put over boiling water and stir until thick, then let cook, stirring for 5 minutes. Cool. When cold fold into this 1 cup heavy cream, whipped and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

When eclairs are filled, frost with Glossy Chocolate Frosting: Mix 1½ cups white sugar with ½ teaspoon salt, then add 1½ cups boiling water and 4 squares unsweetened chocolate. Cook, stirring, over very low heat until sugar and chocolate melt, and cook 5 minutes longer. Mix 6 tablespoons cornstarch with 4 tablespoons cold water, then stir this into the hot mixture until thick. Cook 10 minutes over boiling water stirring occasionally. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat smooth. Cool a little before glazing eclairs. This is perfect topping for layer cake with date filling.

CHEF'S MARGUERY SAUCE

My brother says this is the best fish sauce ever. (It ought to be, I wonder how the French would survive without eggs.) In top of double boiler melt ½ cup butter, add ¼ cup flour, stir, then add 2-3 cup milk and 1½ cups light cream and stir until thick. Add 2 teaspoons each lemon juice and grated old cheese (preferably Parmesan), shake of salt and pepper. Just before serving pour over 3 beaten yolks, stir, reheat, and serve on almost any fish. This sauce is used for a sort of a la king mix for lobsters too.

Green-Blake Wedding At St. John's

Yellow chrysanthemums provided the setting in St. John's Anglican Church Saturday for the marriage of Marion Josephine Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Blake, and William Ross Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Ottawa.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson conducted the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mr. F. G. Mann. During the signing of the register, Master Lawrence Gedge sang O Perfect Love.

Given in marriage by her brother, John Blake, the bride wore a white satin gown with while nylon overskirt. It was fashioned with fitted bodice trimmed with lace applique, pleated net collar ending in points at the shoulder and net sleeves. Her fingertip veil of net tulle was caught with a white satin tiara and she carried a bouquet of white shasta 'mums.

The bridal attendants were Mrs. John Blake, matron of honor, of Montreal; Mrs. Lawrence Finn of Galt; Mrs. Nelson Campbell of Niagara-on-the-Lake, and Miss Elizabeth Steeves of Montreal. Their gowns were identically styled with full skirts, fitted bodices, low necklines and collars extending into cap sleeves. They wort matching short gloves and headdresses and carried bouquets of white and yellow shasta 'mums. The matron of honor was in rusty wine velveteen and the bridesmaids in moss green velveteen.

The groomsman was Mr. Harrison Grieves of Ottawa, and the ushers were Mr. Ralph Maddock and Mr. Clayton Turner, both of Ottawa.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a blue grey crepe and lace dress and a geranium felt hat and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy crepe dress, navy velvet hat trimmed with feathers and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Nova Scotia. For travelling the bride chose a two-piece dress of navy faille with matching full length velvet coat, powder blue accessories and a gardenia corsage.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Green will live iln Ottawa.

"My son has chosen banking"

When a bank manager retired last year, he wrote his General Manager to tell why he was proud his son also had chosen a banking career:

"I shall always recall my banking days with pleasure and I cannot think of any other occupation that gives one a greater opportunity to meet people and form lasting friendships. I have been privileged to serve in many provinces ... That my son has chosen banking is also a great satisfaction to me. He is most anxious to make good on his own account."

Any young man on the lookout for an interesting and worthwhile career—for opportunities to grow and get ahead—should take a look at banking. Have a talk with the bank manager in your neighborhood branch. It may well prove an important turning point in your life.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD FRANCIS WALSH, after their marriage Saturday in St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Keene. The bride is the former Anna Marie Houle, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Houle and the late Mr. George Houle.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Double Ring Ceremony

A double ring ceremony took place in St. John's Roman Catholic Church, Keene, Saturday, when Anne Marie, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Houle and the late Mr. George Houle, was united in marriage with Gerald Francis son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walsh, Indian River.

The Rev. Joseph Walsh, cousin of the groom, performed the ceremony, with the Rev. Father McCarney and the Rev. Father McCarthy in the sanctuary.

The altar and sanctuary were decorated with multi-colored gladioli. Mr. James Doris played the wedding music and Mrs. D. Campanaro sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" during the ceremony and nuptial mass.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Wallace Houle. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace in bouffant style with Queen Anne collar and accordion pleated tiers of nylon net inserted in the yoke and full skirt. Her fingertip veil was of nylon net and lace and was caught by a pearl-studded headdress and she carried a white prayer book with white gardenias and streamers of white baby 'mums.

The maid of honor, Miss Catherine Houle, sister of the bride, was gowned in copper rust velvet with matching jacket in bouffant style. Her headdress was of matching velvet and feathers. Miss Aileen Butler, of Toronto, was bridesmaid, identically gowned in Nile green velvet. Both attendants carried cascades of yellow 'mums and cream roses.

Mr. Howard Walsh, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. James Houle and Mr. Thomas Barrow.

The wedding breakfast and reception were held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received in a gown of cinnamon brown crepe with black velvet accessories and wore a corsage of yellow 'mums. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a grey ottoman corded suit and a corsage of white 'mums.

Girl Guides Hold Rally

A very successful rally of 125 Girl Guides and Brownies of the various Peterborough troops, who had as their guests a troop of Girl Guides from Bobcaygeon, was held in Nichols Oval on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. MacDonald of the Local Council visited the Girl Guides and Brownies and expressed the good wishes of the ladies for a successful rally.

Following the brief address of Mrs. MacDonald all in attendance took part in a program of games which was concluded with a supper and sing song around the camp fire.

This most enjoyable day was brought to a close by the singing of "Taps" by the assembly.

Those in charge of the program were— for the Girl Guide Troops —Captain Smith and Lieutenant McCausland of Salvation Army; Lieut. Fontaine of Sacred Heart; Lieut. Foster of St. Alban's and Lieut. Anthony of St. Peter's.

The only sad feature of the entire program was that Guide Commissioner, Mrs. Epping, was unable to attend due to illness, but all present joined in the wish that she would soon be fully recovered and able to take her place as head of the District of Guides and Brownies.

Mary Jane Fitzgerald Weds William George Huntley

The marriage took place Saturday in St. Peter's rectory of Mary Jane Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fitzgerald, and William George Huntley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huntley of Toronto.

The bride wore a floor length bouffant gown of white nylon net over taffeta, fashioned with a bodice of French lace, Peter Pan collar, short sleeves and a ruffle of net at the waist. Her tulle illusion fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap edged with seed pearls and her only ornament was a gold keepsake locket. She carried a cascade bouquet of white shasts 'mums and ivy.

The bridal attendant was Miss Mary Cauley of Montreal, who wore a ballerina length mist grey nylon net gown styled with a shirred bodice, decollette neckline and tiny cap sleeves. Her headdress was an original model of gold velvet and she wore matching velvet mitts and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and yellow 'mums and green ivy.

Mr. Thomas Huntley, brother of the groom, was groomsman.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother received in a navy shot taffeta dress, navy velour hat and a corsage of white shasta 'mums. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a dove grey crepe and lace dress, a grey velvet hat and a corsage of white baby 'mums.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Huntley will live at 299 Pearl Ave.

Dorothy May Nichols Wed

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday in Murray St. Baptist Church between Dorothy May Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Nichols of Peterborough, and Edward John Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Bush of Colborne.

The church was decorated with gladioli and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan. Mr. Stanley Northrop played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of powder blue with navy accessories and carried a bouquet of bettertime roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Maureen Hunsdale was bridesmaid. She wore a street-length dress of navy blue trimmed with rhinestones, navy blue hat and carried a bouquet of white carnations and lavender 'mums.

Mr. Ron Mahood was groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received in a seachest brown dress, brown velvet hat and a corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a wine crepe dress, wine felt hat and a corsage of lavender and white 'mums.

In their return Mr. and Mrs. Bush will live at 238 Dublin St.

Phipson-Pringle Wedding

ROSENEATH (ENS) —A very pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at Roseneath United Church on Saturday when Patricia Leona Pringle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pringle, of Roseneath, was united in marriage to William Arthur Phipson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Phipson, Mount Dennis.

The Rev. R. C. White, of Bobcaygeon, a former pastor, officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. R. Wheeler, pastor of Roseneath United Church.

The church was decorated with early autumn flowers, multi-colored gladioli, asters, cosmos and daisies. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Edgar Carew. Mr. and Mrs. William Pletz, Peterborough, sang. Preceding the ceremony they sang "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in her wedding gown of ivory Chantilly lace over taffeta. The skirt was designed on Empire lines featuring scalloped lace ridingote and train over taffeta, a strapless bodice with matching jackets of lace featured by long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists, and demure collared neckline.

A crown of seed pearls held her chapel veil of nylon net in place. She carried a cascade bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white 'mums. Her only ornament was a gold necklace, worn by her mother on her wedding day 33 years ago.

The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Brown, Peterborough; Miss Kay Badame, New Toronto, and Miss Donna Pringle, sister of the bride, gowned alike in ice-blue taffeta with bouffant skirts, matching jackets with silver sequin trimming in scroll design.

The flower girls were nieces of the bride, Patricia Bull, Mount Dennis, and Marion Pringle, Kitchener, wearing identical dresses as the bridesmaids. Each of the attendants wore matching taffeta hats and carried nosegays of assorted 'mums.

A reception which followed the ceremony was held at Maple Lodge, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a gown of lilac crepe with grey accessories and a corsage of mauve asters. The groom's mother who assisted wore a gown of navy crepe with black accessories and a corsage of variegated asters. At the reception, Mrs. R. C. White sang "I'll Walk Beside You."

Upwards of 50 guests sat down at the long dinner table with a three-tier wedding cake with pink and white candles in silver candelabra at either end. Helping to serve were: Misses Valerie West, Doris Robins, June Linton and Shirley Rosebush.

On their return they will reside in Mount Dennis.

Guests who attended the wedding were from North Bay, Sudbury, Bobcaygeon, Peterborough, Mount Dennis, Toronto, Kitchener and Grafton.

Gladioli Wedding Scene

Pink and white gladioli and fern provided the setting in George St. United Church Saturday for the marriage of Carol Margaret Partridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Partridge, to James Dauncey, son of Mrs. James Dauncey and the late Mr. Dauncey.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United Church performed the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mr. Charles Allen.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a traditional gown of imported ivory bridal satin and Chantilly lace fashioned with a high neckline and short train and an over-jacket. Her French illusion veil was caught with a beaded tiara, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centred with an orchid.

Misses Beverley Partridge, Miss Dorothy Partridge and Miss Kathryn Partridge, all sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Miss Karen Anne Cable was flower girl. They were gowned in blue, green, pink and yellow net over taffeta. They wore flowered headdresses and carried bouquets of roses and 'mums.

Mr. Reg. Carl was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Larry Shearer and Mr. Edward Collins.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the church board room. The bride's mother received in a purple crepe dress, pink feathered hat, pink accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy metaliff satin dress, wine hat and accessories and a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Later the bride and groom left by motor for a wedding trip north. For travelling, the bride chose a plaid suit, rust accessories and an orchid corsage.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Dauncey will live at 76 St. Mary's St.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Who Doubts Lover Really Lacks Faith In Self

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I decide if the boy I am about to describe is in love with me, as he contends?

Andy is now 30, I am 28. We met about six years ago and have more or less been going steady ever since. He has never forgotten my birthday, holidays, or anniversaries of things important to us. I, however, have been somewhat remiss in these things. He is helpful around the house when I have things to do, would be a good provider, and, as far as I know, has never even fibbed to me. Yet the feeling persists that I cannot wholly believe in him. He readily tells others how much he loves me and what a fine person I am. I occasionally date others and, while I know he doesn't like it, he doesn't object. I feel that I love him, but am afraid to show it as I can't believe he loves me as much as he claims. He has proposed marriage, but I fear to accept him. He has offered to prove his love in any way I ask. How can I have him prove it?

ANSWER: You are more uncertain of yourself than you are of Andy. In many small ways, your character is inferior to his, and it is this gap that bothers you. It is also doubtful if you love him at all. You are not above small fibs, apparently are too appreciative of attention from other men, and lack Andy's thoughtfulness in remembering special occasions. Surely, if you really loved the man, you could overcome these weaknesses in your character.

TOO-LONG FRIENDSHIP

Another factor in your uncertain relationship is that you have been going together for too long a period. A six-year friendship, at your respective ages, certainly indicates marriage, and the fact that it has been postponed is indicative of emotional instability on the part of at least one of you. Andy sounds like a fine fellow and is much too good to be hurt by you. If you can't convince yourself that he deserves fairer treatment, you had better end the friendship now before more complications develop.

If you squarely face the fact of what your life will be without Andy around, you might be helped to a decision. From your letter, I can see absolutely no grounds for your lack of faith in him. In all things, he is almost a model sweetheart, and would make just as fine a husband. Stop analyzing Andy, and get busy on yourself.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 15 years old, a junior in high school, and very much in love with a boy I would like to marry this fall. Both my sisters married at 16 and neither one is happy. Do you think I could be? FLORA S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Experience, they say, is a hard school, but fools will learn in no other. You certainly have been shown enough examples of the heartaches that follow most too-early marriages. Why not profit from your sisters' experiences and wait?

DEAR MISS DIX: My friend, Tommy, is going into service for three years. I am 17 and he is 20. I think a lot of him and am eagerly waiting his leave. My problem is that my girl friend Dora wants to meet him and in the past she has succeeded in taking several boy friends away from me. How can I be sure of not losing him? H. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Dora sounds like undiluted poison. She certainly is unworthy of your friendship, and should be summarily crossed off your list of pals. You'll just have to take your chances on Tommy. If he really likes you, Dora won't be able to sway him. To be on the safe side, try to keep them apart.

HERE'S A CRANBERRY BANANA SALAD MOLD ready for a Thanksgiving dinner! The bananas are crushed and added to the sparkling red cranberry-gelatin mixture. Cranberry cut-outs top banana slices for an effective garnish.

Cranberry Salads Picked As Fixings For Thanksgiving

It's time to be planning the fixings for your Thanksgiving dinner. Since cranberries are one of the most important of the Thanksgiving Day traditions, today's recipes are a selection of some of the best cranberry recipes.

In the early days, women gathered the wild red cranberries in their skirts and stewed them into sauce over a big open fire for the festive meal. Now the sparkling red sauce comes ready-to-serve and ready for the recipes that follow.

Here are some cranberry relish and cranberry salad suggestions for your holiday meal. The first's a cranberry banana mold. The fresh fruity flavor of tart cranberry blends itself right in with that of the banana to give a salad worthy of the occasion. . . . a cranberry banana mold. Serve it in a large mold . . . in individual molds . . . . or let it gel in a square cake pan, then cut into squares for the salad plate.

CRANBERRY BANANA MOLD

One 1-pound can jellied cranberry sauce; 1 envelope plain gelatin; ¼ cup cold water; 2 bananas.

Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Soak gelatin in ¼ cup water 5 minutes. Place cup in a pan of hot water and heat until gelatin mixture melts (becomes transparent). Stir into crushed cranberry sauce. Mash one banana with a fork and stir into cranberry gelatin mixture. Pour into desired mold that has been rinsed in cold water and chill until firm. Unmold onto lettuce leaves. Cut second banana into slices and use to garnish cranberry - banana salad mold. Serves 6.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD

Two oranges (1 for garnish); 1 1-pound can jellied cranberry sauce; 1 envelope plain gelatin; ¼ cup cold water.

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes and dissolve over hot water. Grind one orange (rind and all) in food chopper. Add crushed cranberry sauce. Add dissolved gelatin to cranberry orange mixture. Spoon into 6 individual salad molds and chill in refrigerator until firm.

When firm, unmold. With a knife cut 3 grooves into mold, being careful not to cut through to centre of mold. Cut ¼-inch orange slice into thirds and insert in grooves of cranberry mold—spoke fashion. Top with bit of cranberry sauce and serve in lettuce cups with mayonnaise.

CRANBERRY FRUIT SALAD MOLD

One package orange gelatin, 1 cup boiling water; 1½ oranges; 1 cup celery, diced; one 1-pound can jellied cranberry sauce.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill until it begins to thicken. Peel oranges, cut in eighths; remove seeds and pith. Put orange skins through a food grinder and cut pulp in small pieces. Add orange and celery to crushed cranberry sauce. Mix thoroughly and fold into thickened gelatin. Turn mixture into large rinsed mold or individual molds to set. Turn out on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Serves 6 to 8.

Experimenting With Pastry Most Delightful Pastime

During the past week I have been doing some experiments with pastry.

I was commissioned to do this for a firm that is planning to make sausage rolls for the wholesale trade.

I thought I knew quite a bit about pastry but I have learned more faster, than I though there was to know in a lifetime of cooking.

I tried flaky-thick, flaky-thin, flaky with lard and butter, flaky with lard and shortening.

I tried tender pastry, thick and thin; then with bread and pastry flours, and three different kinds of shortening. The best pastries, if cost is disregarded, are the two which follow.

I have a tendency to get into a rut with some of my standard recipes, even with all of the experimenting that I do. Do you do that too?

When I queried my friends—Barb and Eleanor and my sister —they agreed that these pastries were a welcome change from their regular procedures.

If you would like a sure-fire hit try the Tender Pastry with Gravenstein apples and old cheese for your next apple pie. Invite a guest, for this is a honey.

TENDER PASTRY

(This is so good and keeps so well, I have made this up into a six-cup-flour batch.) Six cups bread flour, 1 lb. best quality shortening or lard, 2 teaspoons each baking powder and salt, one with whole milk.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Mix in the shortening with the finger tips until it resembles oatmeal in size. Put egg in measuring cup filled full with whole milk, and add to the dough and mix in with a knife or pastry blender. This amount makes six pie crusts of generous size. If to be kept in refrigerator for use during the week, wrap in double thicknesses of wax paper then in tea towel OR keep in covered honey pail in refrigerator.

FLAKY PASTRY NO. 1

Six cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons each baking powder and salt, 1 cup butter, 1 cup lard, 1 cup ice cold water. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Work the lard into them with finger tips. Add the water by sprinkling it over the dough, and cutting it in with a knife. Roll out. Spread sheet of dough with one-third of the butter, roll up like a jelly roll, roll out. Repeat this spreading of butter and rolling up and rolling out twice. Chill overnight before using for pies or pastries.

This is based on flaky pastry No. 1, but bread flour, and a good quality shortening is used in place of butter for the spreading and rolling. The chilling is important. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr.

My lemon pie filling is as follows: In top of double boiler mix 1 cup sugar, ½ cup flour and 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon salt; when mixed stir in 2¼ cups boiling water, and stir over heat until thick, then cook, covered, over boiling water for 20 minutes, stirring occassionally. Beat 3 egg yolks with ¼ cup sugar, and pour hot mixture over them, stirring and return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat, add 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons grated lemon rind. Cool. Pour into baked shell cover with meringue made of 3 stiffly beaten whites and 6 tablespoon sugar. Bake meringue in slow oven.

HYDRO ADVANTAGE

The chief advantage of the aluminum industry in Canada is abundant and low-cost hydro-electric power at points near necessary raw materials.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Chicken Stew Served With Dumplings

Doris A. asked me, when I had time, "to write some recipes for boiling chicken — chicken with dumplings, etc."

What a perfect excuse to buy a boiling fowl and have dumplings with it, and to invite someone for dinner. Which is exactly what I did and four of us demolished the works.

(As I type this it is just noon and I'm so hungry it takes all of my will power to stick at this tyrant of a typewriter. Wish I had one of those chicken legs to gnaw on right now.)

CHICKEN STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

After dressing, cleaning and scrubbing cut a 4½ to 6-lb. fowl in pieces for serving. Cover with boiling water, boil 5 minutes, reduce heat to simmering point, and simmer covered until chicken is tender. Add ½ tablespoon salt ½ an hour after it starts to cook. When chicken is tender drain off stock and bring to boiling in another pot. Have ready

Dumplings: 2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons butter, about 2/3 cup milk or water. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut the butter into them until fine. Quickly add the milk or water to make a soft dough. Dip a dessertspoon in the hot chicken broth and use it to drop the dumplings into the boiling broth. Cover and gently boil about 12 minutes without peeking. Remove chicken to hot platter and surround with hot dumplings. Cover chicken with Chicken Gravy: If you do not have 3 cups of stock left make it up to 3 cups by adding milk or water. Stir together ⅓ cup of to a smooth paste and add slowly to stock stirring until thick. Add salt and pepper to taste. Beat 2 egg yolks until thick and stir them into the stock for 1 minute. Add 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley. Pour over chicken on platter. This sauce must be made quickly because dumplings should be served as soon after they are cooked as possible.

QUESTION: . . . I am in a difficult position to be a . . . lady who has (an obstruction near her stomach) . . . taste for food has disappeared . . . could you give me just one menu at a time for about a month and I will clip them out. I mean breakfast one day, lunch another and supper another, as I don't want to interfere with the other inquiries. Maybe you would have different seasonings. The foods have to be of a soft nature.—E. M.

ANSWER: With this type of ailment the attractiveness of the patient's tray is of paramount importance — also the element of surprise. Anything that will tempt your patient's appetite is worthwhile doing. Put one dainty flower, in a different small squat vase that will not tip, on the tray every meal.

BREAKASTS

(1) Orange juice; creamy egg (see below); white bread toast (preferably homemade); lemon marmalade; cafe aut lait (see below).

(2) Fruit cup of tiny imported seedless white grapes halved, and fresh or canned grapefruit sections (membraneless); soft boiled egg in reversible egg cup; toasted light rye bread, black currant jelly; tea with hot milk.

CREAMY EGG

In top of small double boiler melt 1 tablespoon butter, then beat into it 1 very fresh egg, then add ¼ cup whole milk, and add ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir constantly over boiling water until it is softly thickened. Serve at once on tiny points of buttered toast garnished with cress and shake of paprika or curry powder.

CAFE AU LAIT

This is ideal for a patient with a digestive ailment. Make double strength coffee and serve it with an equal quantity of boiling hot whole milk.

6—In Memoriam

GARDNER—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, W. Henry Gardner, who passed away October 7, 1942.
Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
He lives in the land of glory,
Mid the blue and the gold of the skies.
To us he has not gone away,
Nor has he travelled far,
He has entered God's lovely garden
—Lovingly remembered by wife and daughters.

GRAHAM—In loving memory of Margaret Ann Louise Graham, died Oct. 6, 1939.
Sweet little flower of heavenly birth
She was too fair to bloom on earth.
—Ever remembered by Mommy, Daddy, five sisters, Dot, Arlene, Frances, Sheila, Joanne, one brother Teddy.

KELLY—In loving memory of Wm. Henry Kelly, who passed away October 7, 1950.
No pen can write, no tongue can tell
My sad and bitter loss,
But God alone has helped so well
To bear our heavy cross.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

KELLY—In loving memory of a dear father, William Kelly, who passed away, October 7, 1950.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
—Always remembered by Everett, Mary and grandchildren.

KELLY—In loving memory of Wm. Henry Kelly, who passed away October 7, 1950.
His dear bright eyes and cheerful face,
Are so pleasant to recall;
He had a loving word for each,
And died beloved by all.
—Lovingly remembered by son Jack and daughter-in-law Marg.

KELLY—In loving memory of our dear father, William Kelly, who passed away October 7, 1950.
Time changes many things,
But love and memory ever clings.
—Lovingly remembered by son Walter, Mabel and family.

LAWS—In loving memory of my dear wife, Bessie, who departed this life October 7, 1946.
Her memory is my keepsake,
With which I'll never part,
God has her in His keeping,
I have her in my heart.
Though out of sight she is ever near,
Still missed, still loved, still mine,
She will live with me in memory
Until the end of time.
—Sadly missed and remembered by her husband, Arthur.

MASTERS—Treasured memories of a dear husband and father, Ora Masters, who passed away October 6, 1945.
"Too dearly loved to be forgotten."
—Wife Georgina and family.

7—Card of Thanks

In the midst of our sorrow, we wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for kindness and sympathy shown us in the loss of our beloved husband and father, Thomas I. Hill. We especially wish to thank the Rev. Mr. E. W. Rowland and Rev. B. Morwood for their consoling words.—Mrs. Hill and family.

Forced Feeding To Keep Man Alive For Chair

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) Forced feedings will be used in an attempt to keep Luther Musselwhite alive until his date with the electric chair Oct. 31. The 32-year-old former Marine's move to "beat the chair" by starving to death was ended by a court order yesterday —10 days after it began.

Union Charges "Inquisition"

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The International Union of Mine, mill and Smelter Workers contended today that it is the victim of "a vicious inquisition" intended to destroy it.

John Clark of Butte, Mont., president of the independent union which was expelled from the Congress of Industrial Organizations, said the union is not afraid of the Senate hearing now in progress here.

McCarran said the hearing is aimed at determining the truth of charges that the Mine-Mill union has been Communist-dominated. That is the reason the C. I. O. gave in expelling it.

H. and S. News

The Rev. A. A. Methews of George St. United Church conducted the devotional period. He spoke on the parents and teachers responsibility to the child and closed with prayer.

President, Mrs. Arthur Black, expressed a sincere welcome to all present with a special welcome to many new parents. She announced that the November meeting would take the form of an open house at the school and reminded the parents of the rummage sale to take place Thursday afternoon.

Radio convener, Mrs. E. Dawson, gave a short talk on suitable radio programs for parents and children, and pointed out that the radio program questionnaire will be presented early in 1953. She advised parents to look for certain qualifications in these programs.

Mr. William Peltz sang two solos, "Without A Song", and, "For You Alone", accompanied by Miss Lorene Linton.

Mrs. D. Snelgrove, health convener, gave an interesting talk on Immunization of Young Lives in Your Charge.

The president thanked all who had participated in the program.

Grade mothers, Mrs. L. Welsh and Mrs. J. Wilson greeted mothers at the door. Miss I. Connolly's room won the attendance prize.

Mrs. G. Norris, social convener, assisted by Grade 1 parents, served dainty refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Waterloo Council Asks Rent Controls Off

WATERLOO (CP) — Waterloo city council last night voted 5-3 to ask the Ontario government for permission to remove rent controls.

Meanwhile the city council of neighboring Kitchener passed a motion to amend rent controls to allow a landlord to give a tenant one month's notice to vacate.

Mayor Donald Roberts of Waterloo said rent controls have no place in a free economy.

Two Men Drowned In Small Pond

BLIND RIVER (CP)—Two men are reported to have drowned this morning in a small pond at the Begin Lumber camp, about 75 miles north of Blind River on the White River road.

The victims have not yet been identified.

Provincial Police of the Blind River detachment were notified of the drowning and are on their way to the lumber camp to investigate.

Early reports indicate the two were out on the pond in a small boat when the craft tipped.

Mother Gets Remand In Son's Death

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Rockwood, 36, charged with murder in connection with the May 6 death of her 11-year-old son, today was remanded to Oct. 20 for trial.

She pleaded innocent when arraigned in Supreme Court today.

Former Nfld. Premier Dies At St. John's

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—(CP)—W. S. Monroe, Conservative Premier of Newfoundland from 1924 to 1928, died at his home here last night. He was 81.

Born in Dublin, he came here early in life and established the Monroe Export Co., Ltd. He was a member of the legislative council when Newfoundland was a Dominion.

2nd Volunteer Dies In Tests

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — The second of 200 volunteer "human guinea pigs" has died at McNeil Island federal prison, a victim of army experiments seeking a cure for a liver disease prevalent in Korea.

The death Sunday night of Walter Harvey Wood, 39, was reported by Warden Fred Wilkinson, who said that of the 200 convicts inoculated with hepaititis, a form of yellow jaundice, only 15 per cent had come down with the disease.

The man offered to help the army find a method of combatting the sometimes fatal ailment, which struck many servicemen in the Second World War and also in Korea.

Wood, sentenced for interstate transportation of forged securities, would have been eligible for parole next April.

Expect Iran To Delay Action

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A highly-placed government source predicted today that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh will not reject the new British and American notes on the British-Iranian oil dispute, but said he will insist again on payment of £49,000,000 in disputed oil royalties as a preliminary condition to a settlement.

The source said Mossadegh talked over the oil question for three hours today with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and that the ruler had urged the Premier against any "drastic" action at this time.

Two Charges Laid In Head-on Crash

Charges of dangerous and careless driving have been laid against John D. McDonald, 32, of Toronto, one of the drivers in a fatal head-on collision on Springville hill, July 25.

McDonald's 21-year-old wife was killed in the accident and Marion Clark, 22, of Port Perry, died shortly afterward as a result of injuries received in the crash.

McDonald and three others, Ross Clarke, 19, of Woodville, driver of the other car, Clare Keown, 23, of Woodville and Miss Gertrude Hogan, 22, 186 Lansdowne St., were seriously injured.

When he appeared on the charges for the first time today, McDonald was represented by J. D. Bell of Toronto. Both charges were adjourned until November 4, because Keown is still in Civic Hospital recovering from his injuries and unable to testify for the crown.

Ask Provincial Police Be Withdrawn

DURHAM (CP) — A citizens' committee, named to find a solution to the strike by 150 employees of Durham Furniture Company, last night asked town council to have Provincial Police withdrawn from the strike scene. Council took no action.

The strikers, members of local 152, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), have been on strike since July 21 over wages and holiday pay.

The committee has asked Labor Minister Daley to call a settlement meeting.

Lumber Office Moves After 52 Years

Peterborough Lumber Company closed its Hunter St. office Saturday after occupation there since the turn of the century.

Transfer to the new main office building on Monaghan Road with its display and accounting departments has been by degrees. The first shift from uptown indicated public appreciation of the off-street parking space at the new headquarters, and public acceptance of the change of business location was so convincing that the company decided the old Hunter St. office was dispensible and no longer necessary.

NEED PARKING

Off-street parking is today an essential convenience to the public, and even in the merchandising of groceries and hardware the trend is away from the congested centres of traffic to marginal sites. Peterborough Lumber has ample space for customers at their Monaghan Road property, and the business is now completely established there.

From the turn of the century, the company looks back to its founding in 1840 by Samuel Dickson, who developed a big lumbering industry at the foot of London St. That dam has for years carried the Quaker Oats label, but to earlier generations it was known as the Dickson dam. It was for a long time a landmark along the river; above it was the Black Bridge at Smith St.; the Red Mills were at Nassau, and so on in the local lore of Peterborough.

The office at the Dickson mill was only a minor part of the establishment, and was occupied later by M. Young. The stables for the teams used in the hauling of lumber were said to be a big building on the north side of London St., for year a residential neighborhood overlooking the river.

Pleasure Ship Makes Last Trip

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (AP) —The city of Grand Rapids, pleasure ship familiar to Lake Michigan ports for 20 years, begins her last voyage tomorrow. She'll leave Benton Harbor in tow of a tug.

The ship will arrive in Hamilton, Ont., early next week to be cut up for scrap.

Built in Cleveland in 1912 at a cost of $400,000, the vessel began excursion service about 20 years ago.

A Chicago corporation then bought her for $56,250, and finally sold her to a Canadian scrap firm.

South Africa

Amendment Act in which it became illegal for any form of intercourse between black and white.

"The coloreds felt bitterly about it. They reasoned that if the government were concerned about immorality they should make it illegal for 'immorality' between people of the same race.

"The colored people in South Africa feel that they have been demeaned by the mere suggestion that they are dragging white people into this form of immorality."

FORCED TO MOVE

Then under the Group Areas Act—the most controversial piece of legislation—the South African government ordered municipalities to sort out their towns and villages on a race basis. Whites would live in one area; colored in another.

Many of the colored people had good homes in better class areas and they were forced to sell "at a song" because the prospective buyers knew they had no alternative.

"The utmost hardship is being experienced in Cape Province by the policy of apartheid," said Mr. Pollock.

"The government feels they are establishing the superiority of white civilization. But they are actually storing up a feeling of resentment and bitterness . . . storing up the fruits of internal strife."

In 1951 the coloreds were removed from the common voters' schools were being built up and culture flourishing, they were pushed back more than 100 years.

Mr. Pollock said their reaction was not a desire for strife or to throw the white people out of South Africa. But they were bitter, frustrated and disillusioned.

John Pierce intrduced Mr. Pollock to the Optimist Club and he was thanked by Dean Reid. President Gerald Royds was in the chair.

Report U.S. Bomber Crashed Off Kuriles

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Asahi tonight quoted Japanese police as saying a four-engined plane, believed to be American, crashed in Russian territorial waters off the Soviet-held Kuriles.

The U.S. Far East Air Forces said a B-29 based in Japan was on a "routine training flight over northern Hokkaido." It did not say the missing plane was the one reported down.

Asahi said police saw the plane, spurting black smoke, crash into the sea about 2:20 p.m. today (12:20 a.m. EST).

No Sign Of Wild Speculation Preceding 1929, Rotary Told

Will there be another 1929?

There are no signs at present of the wild speculation that went on in the twenties ending in the gigantic market crash of Black Friday in October of 1929, said C. A. Jerry, a Toronto trust company official.

Mr. Jerry was speaking to the Rotary Club on Monday, discussing the general economic picture of the nation and in particular the work of trust companies.

But, he added, his honest answer had to be that "your guess is as good as mine."

Evidence was against it, though. Economic conditions are not really comparable to those of 1929; there is not "the same public participation in a wild speculative spree."

BETTER INFORMED

The average investor was better informed, and was presumably better able to withstand any onslaught of adversity." As well, margin and stock listing requirements are more severe.

Canada's economy was a healthy one, and backed by more Canadian funds than U.S. capital. Although total U.S. investment in Canada is more than seven billion dollars, and annual flow of capital from the U.S. amounts to a billion and a half, in 1951 Canadian investment totalled $4,500,000,000.

That amount is equal to one-quarter of the national gross income, said Mr. Jerry.

Mr. Jerry's talk centred in detail on the work of trust companies, their duties and responsibilities and policies. The job they were often given was to maintain a real income for a widow from property which will be divided upon her death.

If the trust company is given reasonably wide powers, he said, an account would be set up of (roughly) 50 per cent bonds and/or debentures, 40 per cent equities and 10 per cent mortgages.

The company tries to ensure that the maturity dates of the bonds correspond with the expected date of distribution of the income. Assets left that have no guaranteed values are sometimes a plague to the benficiary. One answer to this problem lay in purchasing life insurance payable to the estate, plus a backlog of good bonds and cash.

Mr. Jerry was introduced by Harley Keefer and thanked by Harold Deeth. Chairman was Bob Maybee.

Privy Council Hears Appeal Involving Oil Rights

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Hearing of an appeal involving oil rights in Alberta, described as a test case of great importance for Canada, opened today before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Argument is expected to last several days.

At issue is the question of whether the Alberta government has the right to levy royalties on certain oil lands in the Athabasca tar sands area.

The appeal was brought, with special leave, by the Attorney-General of Alberta and the province's minister of Lands and Forests. Respondents are Huggard Assets, Ltd., owners of an area of about two square miles.

INVOLVED CASE

H. J. Wilson, Alberta's Deputy Attorney-General, told the Judicial Committee today on behalf of the appellants that the question was whether the company held the land on terms which permitted the province to exact royalties. The facts were not in dispute but were somewhat involved and required examination of dominion and provincial legislation.

"The decision in this appeal will apply to a vast tract of land in Western Canada held on similar terms," Wilson said, adding that the Attorney-General of Canada was also supporting the appeal because "as the case has developed the validity of dominion grants, or some of their provisions, has been called into question."

The trial judge held that the province had no right to demand any royalty, a decision which was upheld in the Alberta Appeal Court. A further appeal was dismissed by the Supreme Court in February, 1951.

Owen Sound Mill Destroyed By Fire

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Fire early today destroyed McVeigh's stave mill here. Cause of the fire was not known and Leo McVeigh, owner of the mill, made no immediate estimate of the loss.

The mill comprised a cement block building and a frame storage shed. About 12 men were employed in the mill.

Cedar Boughs

At this point, Mr. Bradshaw returned from a [illegible] rear of the courtroom. She did not see fit to answer where the lot and concession number were," Mr. Bradshaw said.

As Mr. Fair was protesting that he must know where the alleged offence was supposed to have occurred, the Magistrate adjourned the charge until October 28, and Mrs. Hamilton started talking aloud.

"He called me like that," said Mrs. Hamilton, glaring in the direction of the crown attorney and indicating a beckoning motion with her index finger.

Mrs. Hamilton declared that she had a name and that the crown attorney should have summoned her properly.

"I will give that information to my special attorney and not the crown," Mrs. Hamilton declared emphatically.

She continued talking, but Magistrate Philp warned her sternly, "I don't wish to listen to it any longer."

By this time, Mr. Fair and his client, the accused who had stood quietly throughout the discussion, were leaving.

Mrs. Hamilton gathered up her boughs and saplings and with the aid of a constable carted them out of the court room.

Agreement Reached On Strike Agenda

MONTREAL (CP) — Officials of Canadian Vickers Ltd., and the National Syndicate of Vickers Employees (C.C.C.L.) last night reached agreement on an agenda for negotiations to end a seven-week strike of 2,000 of the company's employees.

Negotiations, which resumed yesterday after a lengthy stalemate, will continue today.

Province-Wide Alarm

WINCHESTER (CP) — Ontario Provincial Police spread a province-wide alarm today for Allan Fleming, 29-year-old auto painter believed to be an amnesia victim who has been missing since Oct. 2.

Police said the six-foot 150-pound Fleming left his work here Oct. 2 driving a car and has not been seen since. About a year ago he also went missing and later was found heading for New Brunswick, suffering loss of memory.

80 M.P.H. Police Chase

TORONTO (CP)—An 80-mile-an-hour chase along downtown streets during which a shot was fired ended last night in the arrest of James Sanderson, 24, and Russell Baird, 26, on the roof of a garage. They were charged with car theft, having burglar's tools and shopbreaking.

Two Admit Charge

Two men entered written guilty pleas in police court today on liquor charges.

Richard D. McConkey, R.R. 1, Lakefield and Joseph E. McKee, 123 James St., were each fined $15 and $2.50 costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Plane Crashes In Woods, Three Killed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A C-47 United States Air Force plane crashed early today in a wooded area, killing the three-man crew and injuring three servicemen hitchhikers, one of them critically.

An air force spokesman said the plane was en route from Niagara Falls, N.Y., to Mitchell Field, N.Y. He said the pilot, unable to land at Mitchell Field because of weather conditions, "made a pass" at nearby La Guardia Field and "missed his approach."

The pilot then was told to proceed to International Airport, Philadelphia.

Two of the survivors stumbled for a mile through the brush to the farm house of John Mooney, who called police. Police searched in the thick fog for some time before hearing a whistle which led them to the scene.

There they found the third survivor, most seriously injured of the trio, with an army whistle in his mouth. He suffered fractures of the skull and right leg.

Say Boy's Condition Slightly Improved

NORTH BAY (CP) — The condition of Grant Ross, 11, shot with a blank cartridge during army-air force manoeuvres here Sunday, was slightly improved today.

The boy was struck by the muzzle blast of a .303-calibre service rifle held by an airman.

Air Lines Find New Market For Man With Small Purse

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

By trimming the frills from trans-Atlantic travel, the air lines have found a new market in the man with a small pocketbook and a yen for travel.

Last May 1, air lines in Canada, the United States and Europe inaugurated a plan called "tourist class" air travel.

Since then there has been a substantial increase in the number of persons travelling to the continent, and most of the air lines give the credit to tourist-class fares.

Previously, most air travel was first class with such things as meals—and drinks at the aircraft's bar—included in the list price of the flight.

Tourist class eliminates such frills from the ticket price and makes them extras to be purchased at the traveller's request. Anyone travelling on a limited budget can, by sacrificing some of the "extras," make substantial savings.

For instance, British Overseas Airways Corporation provides round-trip flights from Montreal to London by tourist class for $477 during the tourist season — April 1 to Oct. 31 — while first class is $685.

An insight into the increase in travel was given recently by Sir William P. Hildred, director-general of the International Air Transport Association at the eighth annual meeting of I.A.T.A. in Geneva.

He said that during May, June and July approximately 150,000 persons crossed the North Atlantic by air — an increase of 50 per cent over the corresponding period of 1951.

TRAVEL-HUNGRY YANKS

He said the gain was brought about with only a 10-per-cent increase in the number of flights and despite curtailment of many schedules due to the oil-industry strike in the United States.

Whether the new method of travel will prove equally successful in the "off" months — from November to April — remains an important factor in the continuation of the service on a year-round basis.

Present indications are that the airlines have hit "pay-dirt" in providing cheaper trans-Atlantic service to travel-hungry north Americans.

Research Centre Built In Switzerland

AMSTERDAM (AP) — A European centre for nuclear research will be built in Switzerland near Geneva, representatives of 10 European countries decided yesterday.

The decision, taken by the European Council for Nuclear Research, came after Denmark, France and The Netherlands had withdrawn their bids for a site for the $25,000,000 laboratory.

Others represented on the council are Italy, West Germany, Sweden, Belgium, Yugoslavia, Norway and Switzerland.

Camborne Church Holds Fall Anniversary

CAMBORNE (ENS)—Huge baskets of gladioli, fruit, vegetables and bunches of grain, decorated Camborne United Church for their anniversary services on Sunday.

The Rev. V. M. Gilbert, pastor, was speaker at the morning service, he chose for his subject, "A Vision Without Bounds" and in the evening "Paul's Witness and Ours."

Special music was rendered by the choir under the direction of Mrs. O. McClelland, with Mrs. Wm. Jibb organist. At the morning service a junior choir composed of twelve voices sang "Beautiful Garden."

Miss Margaret Palmateer took the solo part in the anthem "I Will Feed My Flock."

A quartet composed of Mrs. A. Bowman, Mrs. W. Jibb, Luther Davey and Orra Cole, sang "Somebody's Praying For You."

At the evening service, the choir number was "Evening and Morning." Mrs. A. Willis sang a solo "Thanks Be To God."

President Of Canadian Bank Honored By Scottish Town

"Jimmy" Muir, as his old classmates still call him, was born 60 years ago in a roadside cottage near Peebles, Scotland. Tomorrow, as president of Canada's largest bank, he goes back to the scenes of his boyhood to receive the freedom of Peebles.

Peebles is one of Scotland's most ancient Royal burghs. Its honors, sparingly given have gone in the past to such famous men as William Ewart Gladstone, 19th-century Liberal Prime Minister, Field Marshal Earl Haig and the first Lord Tweedsmuir, who died in office while Governor-General of Canada.

STRANGE COINCIDENCE

A younger brother of the late Lord Tweedsmuir, J.W. Buchan, now is town clerk of Peebles. By a coincidence, Buchan was an agent at the commercial Bank there when Muir started his career.

But the long arm of coincidence has an even greater reach, historically speaking. The rural cottage where Muir was born, and where his two brothers still live, stands next door to a house owned by Capt. George Wolfe-Murray, direct male descendant of the first Governor-General of Canada.

When Gen. James Wolfe was mortally wounded at the battle of the Plains of Abraham in 1759, Gen. Murray took his place and later became Governor-General The Murray family changed its name to Wolfe-Murray by deed poll.

Adequate Supply Of Fuels Available For Canadians

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians will find adequate supplies of most fuels this year when they stock up for winter. And chances are the prices will be about the same as last year.

A Canadian Press survey of coal, wood, fuel oil and natural gas stocks across Canada showed only isolated wood scarcities. Coal prices showed increases ranging from a few cents a ton in Saskatchewan to about $2 a ton in Nova Scotia. Quebec, however, reported a slight drop. Gas and fuel oil prices were about the same or slightly lower.

Some dealers anticipate a slight rise in coal and wood prices. Fewer householders have bought their supplies early this year and a rush of orders in the first cold spell may force prices up, they said.

SAWDUST SHORTAGE

British Columbia faces an acute fir wood and sawdust shortage due to summer strikes by lumbermen. However, coal supplies are adequate with prices about 30 cents a ton higher. Gas and electricity are plentiful.

Coal prices in Alberta have increased about $1.15 a ton but natural gas, supplied to all cities, is plentiful. Oil or propane gas is also inexpensive and plentiful. Farmers busy with the harvest, have had little time to stock up.

Saskatchewan fuel oil prices decreased to 14.8 cents a gallon from 15.1 cents. Coal prices increased only a few cents and wood prices showed little change. All supplies are adequate.

Manitoba oil prices also slipped while coal and wood prices were mostly unchanged. Dealers reported a heavy switch to oil burners and Winnipeg residents expect to get cheaper Alberta gas.

Ontario oil burner sales were reported about 10 per cent higher than last year. Oil prices remain at last year's level, but coal dealers predicted a rise for that fuel shortly. Wood supplies are adequate with prices unchanged.

Pioneer Church

Presbyterian Church celebrated its 101st anniversary with special services. It was the first Presbyterian church of the Selkirk settlers, and its original pastor, Rev. John Black, was the first Presbyterian minister in the West.

"WHAT NOW?"—Jack Kostier, of Thamesville, ponders the problem of the spilled tomatoes on Highway 21 near London. Fifty bushels of them, intended for a processing plant, got an early squeezing when the truck was sideswiped.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

ANNUAL BANQUET

Trinity Sunday School Hall will be the location for the annual get-together this year, breaking away from the hotel feeds we have enjoyed over the past few years. Let us all back the association up with our full attendance, officers, wives, group committees, and their wives, mothers' auxiliaries and their husbands, and why not the minister of every church in the affiliation.

GOOD NEWS

Received word from St. Paul's and George Street that good men have been found to take up the reins of Scouting in those units. We understand Mr. Reynolds, formerly with Parkhill Group is to lead Scouting at George Street, and we are sure Don Metheral, the past Scouter, will help where he can.

Also from St. Paul's we have Archibald Ballantyne, a former Scottish Scout, who may take up the work from that angle. We wish them both good Scouting.

ALL SAINTS' ROVER CREW

The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite Crew concentrated on preparing the cash boxes for Apple Day for the local association. Most of the boxes are ready, thanks to "assembly line operation" instituted. This work went unrewarded in the refreshment line as Mrs. Kelvin Murphy was not presenta at the meeting. Rover Mate Gerry Hatton "filled" on Saturday morning of the "ring disease," leaving his bachelor days behind him, but the Crew all join in wishing Gerry and Mert all the best.

2ND ARMOUR ROVER CREW

Thanks to a former Rover Scout Frank Montgomery, the St. Luke's boys have a meeting place for their Crew meetings in the cold storage plant on Robinson Street. The rooms were visited on Wednesday by Rover Leader Don Walker, Rover Citizen Fred Simmons, Rover Squire Dan Barclay and Candidate Carl Butcher.

Some discussion took place on plans for the future, and it is the hope of the Crew to get in full working trim within the next few weeks.

ST. JOHN'S CUB PACK

Once again an evening of progress and fun was enjoyed by all with special visitors being Mr. and Mrs. Boucher, who were present to witness the investiture of their son George as Sixer of the Brown Six.

The new set of regulations about competition and points was explained to each Six by Scouters Trueman and Purser as these two gentlemen inspected the Sixers. A chat was given by Skipper G. on fire prevention.

The following boys were invested as Sixers: Bob Wagster to the Blues, George Boucher to the Browns, David Gunn to the Greens, Brian Dunford to the Greys, and Bob Cumpsty to the Reds.

Many strides were made toward First Star badges as Henry Langley, David Irwin, Ken McLaren, Ed. Zinser, Bob Wagster, Tom Lewis and Bob Dawson passed knots, Gary Hamilton, skipping; David Irwin and Tom Lewis union flag; Ken McLaren, Bob Wagster, Brian Dunford, David Irwin and Henry Langley, ball throwing; David Irwin, Henry Langley, Bob Wagster, Ken Collins, Tom Lewis, Ken McLaren, Les Crump, and Ed. Zinser, book balancing; Ed. Zinser and Les Crump, leapfrog; Brian Dunford, growing things.

Intersix competition started with the following points each Six given 20 points, deductions being as follows: One point off for every part of uniform owned but not worn, one off for non-attendance at church or Sunday school, one off for non-payment of dues, and two off for non-attendance without proper reason.

Extra points will be awarded for each star or proficiency badge earned and for Six competition in games. The results of the first evening found the Browns and Reds tied with 21 points each.

During the evening Cub Bruce Cotton was found to be running a temperature and taken home. We trust that he is fully recovered by this time.

ST. PAUL'S CUB PACK

Following the opening ceremonies at the last meeting Terry Higgins, Stanley McBride and David Wilson were presented with their first star awards, also the following proficiency badges were given out: Bob Law homecraft, Billy Oliphant collector, Tommy Caldwell gardener badge.

The happiest lads of the evening, and most popular, turned out to be Larry Grieg, Jack Cuffe, Frank Montgomery and Bill Waters as they were made officers in charge of refreshments at a short social period. The Rev. Charles G. Boyd visited the Pack and introduced a new friend of Scouting, Archibald Ballantyne, recently from Scotland, who may take over the formation of a troop. Cubs now will have somewhere to go when they reach the age of 12.

GEORGE STREET UNITED

Your scribe was pleased to learn from the Rev. A. A. Mathews that Mr. Reynolds, formerly of Parkhill, will be taking over the vacancy as Scouter in the retirement of Don Metheral.

ON GENERAL STAFF—Lt.-Col. Patrick S. Cooper, 37, of Edmonton, has been appointed military assistant to the Chief of the General Staff. He succeeds Lt.-Col. G. M. C. Sprung, named to command the 1st Canadian Infantry Battalion in Germany.

Daily Life Of Birds Caught By Camera In Bonaventure

A color film, Bonaventure Diary was shown by Robert C. Hermes who took the moving pictures of bird life on the 300-foot cliffs of Bonaventure Island.

Fourteen years ago there were no birds on the island's high bluffs, Mr. Hermes told the audience.

Today, as his films taken recently show, tens of thousands of seabirds—gannets, murres, kittiwake, gulls and puffins—nest and raise their young on ledges of Bonaventure's red sandstone cliffs, overlooking the Atlantic.

From the time Bonaventure was first discovered by Europeans, Jacques Cartier landed there in 1542, it has been the home of fisherfolk.

WIDE SANCTUARY

Now, only a few families remain on Bonaventure, but Mr. Hermes said, conservation measures, sponsored by the federal government have turned it into a bird sanctuary that is one of North America's top tourist attractions.

Located off the farthest eastern tip of the Gaspe Peninsula, Bonaventure is easily reached from the mainland by boat. The island is a virtual paradise for bird fanciers, as the birds can be seen and observed in their natural habits of daily living.

Birds raising and feeding their young, gannets diving for fish, then feeding the young birds by regurgitating the fish, were caught by Mr. Hermes' camera. The birds soon became accustomed to humans and ignored the camera Mr. Hermes said. The birds shown in the closeups appeared to be unaware of anything unusual going on nearby.

A series of five programs of which Bonaventure Diary was the first are being sponsored by the Peterborough Nature Club. They are being held at Queen Mary Auditorium and tickets for all five lectures have been sold out. The series ends April 24. Matinees held at P.C.V.S. auditorium differ from the evening lectures.

Eisenhower Urges More Local Control

SEATTLE (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last night lashed out at the "idea of a whole hog federal government" and called for more local control of western reclamation and power projects.

In a major capaign speech here after travelling across Washington State, the Republican presidential candidate renewed his attacks on President Truman.

He rediculed Democratic claims they are responsible for western development. He said Republicans instituted the program 50 years ago.

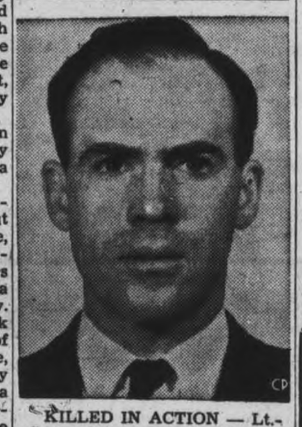
Eisenhower referred to Truman as "an expert in political demagoguery" giving the people "a course in nonsense fiction." And he called the Truman regime a "whole-hog" government operating on the theory that "the federal goernment must do everything for us and to us."

Eisenhower said of Truman's attacks against him and the Republicans:

"You have been conducted through an underworld of imaginary devils."

He outlined his ideas about the development of western resources which he said would mean "the full use of private resources plus a local-state-federal partnership" in reclamation programs.

NO C.V.A.



Eisenhower turned down proposals for a federally-controlled Columbia Valley Authority, similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

President Truman has called Eisenhower the "front man" for special-interest lobbyists. In reply to this, Eisenhower said;

"But you folks know that the greatest special privilege, the greatest lobby, the greatest concentration of power ever known is now operating, full speed ahead, right down on the Potomac to perpetuate itself in power."

Fatal Skid

BATH, England (CP)—A detective investigating the death of a motor-cyclist who skidded on a Bath highway reported: "This road has the very latest type of non-skid surface."

KILLED IN ACTION — Lt.-Cmdr. John L. Quinn, 29-year-old veteran of North Atlantic naval action during the Second World War, has been reported killed in action in Korea. A native of Prince Rupert, B.C., he was killed when the Canadian destroyer Iroquois was hit by a Communist shore battery while on patrol duty off the Korean coast. His widow and four-year-old son live in Halifax.

40,875 Fires In Canada Bring Property Loss $21,317,651

Written for The Canadian Press
By D. KEMP EDWARDS
President Dominion Fire Prevention Association

OTTAWA (CP)—Exercise of a little care by Canadians last year could have prevented 40,875 fires and property loss of $21,317,651.

During Fire Prevention Week it is well to impress upon Canadian people the serious consequences that result from fire in the loss of life and property.

In the last 10 years, 534,735 fires in Canada have claimed 4,085 lives, seriously injured 15,000 persons and destroyed property valued at $540,000,000.

In 1951 alone, there were 60,000 fires. They claimed 493 lives and caused property damage of $76,000,000. Most of the fires—45,000—were in the home.

SHOCKING RECORD

Just think, careless smoking caused 21,395 fires and damage of $3,509,294. Defective chimneys flues, stoves, furnaces, boilers, pipes, hot ashes, coals and open fires were responsible for another 11,437 fires and loss of $8,813,413.

On the human side, 15 persons died in fires as a result of smoking in bed. Sixteen children left alone were lost in fires. Children playing with matches were responsible for 12 deaths. The careless use of gasoline and kerosene was responsible for more than 60 deaths.

The fire causes in the home require your attention and this loss of life can be prevented with the application of your care and knowledge of how to protect your property against fire.

NEED FOR INSPECTION

During Fire Prevention Week it is recommended that:

1. All dwellings, public buildings, stores, warehouses, factories, farms, mines and forests be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fire be removed.
2. All theatres, hotels, hospitals and other institutional buildings be inspected and provision made for all changes necessary to protect the occupants in case of fire.
3. Fire drills be held for the children in all schools, for the inmates of all institutions and for the employees in all factories.
4. Special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teachers and by municipal officials in the schools and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.
5. Federal, provincial and municipal authorities endeavor by means of public meetings, the press, radio broadcasts, specially prepared motion pictures or otherwise to impress upon citizens the national importance of protecting life, property and natural resources from loss by fire.

PRISONERS RIOT — Preparing to attack rioters at Oakalla Prison, near Vancouver, are prison guards and R.C.M.P. officers. One guard is carrying a tear gas pellet holder while the rest are getting a fire hose ready. The biggest jail riot in British Columbia's history came to a soggy finish when rioters were subdued by water and tear gas. The riot, which caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars, started when prisoners protested alleged overcrowding.

Believe Fewer Soldiers Now Wounding Themselves

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the Korean war, as in all others, some soldiers deliberately wound themselves to get out of battle or out of the army.

But the U. S. army believes, although it can't prove it, that the number in this war is comparatively small—seven cases established definitely as self-inflicted wounding.

However, army officers point out that it is difficult to detect and prove an actual case of self-inflicted wound.

Old timers of the army say they have noticed that most cases are among men who have not yet seen much action. The soldier who goes through his first engagement and finds that he and most of the men in his outfit are alive and unhurt, has passed his most desperate anxiety and fear.

DIFFERENT REACTION

Veterans of the Second World War say, in connection with this point, that there was a comparatively high incidence of self-inflicted wounds just before the Normandy invasion because some soldiers thought the highly touted Nazi Storm troopers would mow them down. The rate dropped off sharply after that.

There is a difference in the Korean war which may explain the apparent low incidence of self-inflicted wounded cases. In the Second World War there was no rotation system. The rotation system in Korea, under which the average man can figure he will start home after anywhere from 11 to about 14 months, makes a difference in soldier thinking, say the experts.

He has a known, definite time when he can expect to get through with his job and he doesn't need to puncture himself with a bullet to get out.

Canadian Market Has Scope—Mackenson

OTTAWA (CP) — Brig. H. R. Mackeson, Britain's secretary for overseas trade, yesterday neared the end of a whirlwind Canadian tour and said he is impressed with the "great room and scope" for boosting United Kingdom exports to this country.

He paid courtesy calls on Prime Minister St. Laurent and Trade Minister Howe following a two-week flying tour of Western Canada.

Canada is a big market, he said, for such U.K. goods as heavy and light machinery, textiles, footwear and automobiles. The big problem in Britain was to make sufficient steel available to the exporters to increase shipments to Canada.

United Church Presbytery Reviews Work

WARSAW.—The Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada met for its regular Fall session in the Warsaw United Church. The meetings were well attended, and were held under chairmanship of Rev. N. Cole of Hastings, chairman of Presbytery.

A special feature of the day was the report of the rural life committee presented by Rev. A. E. Larke which included an address by the Agricultural Representative, Frank Patterson, who spoke of the need for more scientific treatment of the soil, in order to avert food shortages in the future. Mr. Larke laid stress upon the relationship of the church to the rural community. As members of the Church of God, we must never forget that the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof, while we are "His husbandmen". While a large number of people in the world are short of food, we in Canada have an abundance, indeed a superfluity, but, unless proper methods were used, we too, in a few decades, may face the prospect of food shortages. As the soil is to the agriculturalist, so the youth of our rural centres is to the Church, and both call for the use of conservation."

At the noon hour, the ladies of Warsaw W.A. served a bountiful and delicious meal following which we were privileged to hear the President of the Conference, Rev. Dr. G. Telford, in an inspired address, call for an intensive effort on the part of all followers of Christ, to make their Christianity more attractive to those outside the church.

At the afternoon session reports were received from the various committees. The Missionary and Maintenance report included specific mention of the United Church of Canada Exposition, a graphic presentation of the church at work across Canada and around the world, which is to be held in Peterborough November 13 to November 19.

E. L. Sackville and Rev. H. G. Douglas reported on their impressions of General Council, which they attended as Commissioners.

Arrangements were made for schools for elders to be held at Peterborough, Millbrook, Lakefield and Norwood in the near future.

Decide To Break Off Settlement Talks

THREE RIVERS, Que. (CP)—Officials of Associated Textiles of Canada announced yesterday they have decided to break off negotiations for settlement of the seven-month strike for higher wages at their nearby Louiseville plant.

No word was received from the Louisville Textile Syndicate (C.C.C.L.), representing the 800 workers on strike since March 10.

The company announcement said the move was made following the last of a number of disturbances which have plagued the strike. Last Friday one man was shot in the leg by police as they broke up a demonstration by strikers and sympathizers. Three persons were arrested.

Windsor Director Dies Suddenly

WINDSOR — (CP) — Jacob Moore, 61, Windsor's budget director and financial advisor, died yesterday of a heart attack. Mr. Moore had been in excellent health and was at his desk as usual Friday.

Born at Parkhill, Mr. Moore came to Windsor as a young man and entered the employ of the Ford Motor Company of Canada.

He began a long career in the city's affairs in 1920 as one of two citizens appointed to audit the accounts of Ford City, a municipality later incorporated into the city of Windsor.

Survivors are two daughters: Betty Louise, Windsor; Mrs. James Mitchener, Hamilton; two sons, Robert, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; James, Dearborn, Mich.; two brothers, Roy, Mooresville, Ont., and Russell, Toronto.

Ban On Water Lifted In Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—An order that residents of this port city boil all drinking water was lifted yesterday.

Dr. A. R. Morton, city health commissioner, said contamination in the water supply has been overcome and boiling is no longer necessary.

5 New Licences Granted By Board

TORONTO (CP) —Five new liquor licences have been granted by the Ontario Liquor Licence Board.

The Canadian Legion branch at Prescott received a public house licence following an application heard at Brockville March 28. The Delhi District German Home Ltd. was granted a public house licence for men and women under the "social club" classification.

The Canadian Westinghouse War Veterans Association, Hamilton, has been issued a public house licence under the classification of a "veterans club."

An additional tavern will make its appearance in Ottawa with the granting of a louozpno-icence to Lapaloma tavern.

82 Killed As 3 Trains Collide Near London

CEDAR TREES TOOK A BEATING on the farm of Mrs. Emma Pomeroy, R.R. 3, Peterborough. Believing they were on a neighbouring farm where they had permission to cut branches from cedars, two men had slashed boughs off about 100 of Mrs. Pomeroy's trees when she discovered they were on her property. Mrs. Pomeroy is seen (above) standing behind a pile of boughs bundled into bunches, with a group of stripped cedar trunks in the background.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Report Algae Makes Water Dangerous

Government Survey Indicates Scum May Be Poisonous

OTTAWA (CP)—Algae—the green scum formed by seaweed on the surface of sluggish lakes and streams—may make water dangerous for drinking purposes, according to a study completed at Sturgeon Lake in Ontario's Kawartha Lakes district.

Results of the study, expected to be useful to public health engineers and others responsible for maintaining pure water supplies, have not yet been published.

However, a statement issued by the federal Health Department, which supported the $15,000 study by a national health grant, said today that a number of animals have died from drinking water contaminated by algae. Concern has been expressed about the effects on humans who drink or swim in water containing this pollution.

CAN BECOME DANGEROUS

In their original state, algae do not seem to be harmful, the statement said. However, "under certain conditions, they become overgrown and tend to decompose. During this process, one species of algae appears to release a poisonous substance."

The algae study was conducted under the direction of Dr. A.E. Berry, head of the Ontario Health Department's division of public health engineering.

Slapped By Police?

TORONTO —(CP)— Norman Boyd said in court today that he was "slapped" by a Toronto police officer at police headquarters and strapped to a table after his arrest Oct. 20, 1951. Norman Boyd said Det.-Sgt. Adolphus Payne took him to a room, slapped his face and said, "you're the one we want." Then, he said, the officer put him on a table, tied a belt around his legs and pounded the table. He said Sgt. Payne kept him nine hours before letting him go.

Some Cut Down On Platform Others Die In Coaches; Fear Death Toll May Be 120

HARROW, England (CP)—At least 82 persons were killed here today in two collisions involving three trains that piled wooden coaches 50 feet high in a mass of wreckage. Some of the dead were mowed down as they waited on the station platform at the morning commuting hour; others died in the coaches. Railway officials said the death toll may top 120. More than 130 persons were treated at hospitals and hundreds received first aid. The wreck came just after 8 a.m.

Rescue workers still were digging through the debris eight hours after the crash, searching for additional victims. Volunteers, doctors and firemen poked in the smoking wreckage, listening for signs of life.

SHEARS COACHES

First an express running 95 minutes late from Perth, Scotland, to London rocketed into the rear of a stationary suburban train. The express locomotive sheared through the wooden coaches, jammed with 600 passengers seated and standing, and blocked from both main lines.

Seconds later another express, bound from London to Manchester, plowed into the wreckage. Its two locomotives leaped from the tracks and skittered along a platform full of commuters waiting for other trains, mowing them down like a giant scythe.

Derailed coaches rode up on each other until the topmost smashed into a crosswalk 45 feet above the tracks, knocking a huge segment out of it and plummeting pedestrians into the wreckage.

The terrific double impact threw chunks of debris clear through one wall of the Harrow station and into a shopping centre 150 feet away.

FEAR 40 MORE DEAD

When the known dead passed 80, about eight hours after the wreck, a railways official said:

"If our worst fears prove right there will be about another 40 dead in the wreckage we haven't been able to reach yet."

WORST IN 37 YEARS

It was Britain's worst train wreck in 37 years. A dozen coaches were in a pile of wreckage in the heart of the Harrow station.

A giant railway crane was brought in to lift the coaches apart. A rescue official said it would be hours before the full extent of the casualties was known.

Two of the three locomotives were flung broadside across the tracks. At one point three splintered carriages were piled on top of one another.

Ambulances and doctors hurried to the wreck scene from all main communities in Middlesex county and from northwest London. All available ambulances were called out and moving vans and other

No Panic, Noise After Wreck, Everyone Helps

Written for the Associated Press By ANTHONY V. GREGORY

HARROW, England (AP)—The people injured in this terrible crash seemed too stunned to make any noise. Many were so motionless it was hard to tell the injured from the dead.

I live 50 yards away from the scene of the three-train pile-up and was one of the first persons to arrive there.

What struck me immediately was how oddly quiet it was. There was a hiss of escaping steam and low moans from people trapped in the cars. But there were no outcries.

Soon the only sound you were aware of was the screech of ambulances arriving in relays to take away the injured and the chopping of firemen, policemen and railworkers working quickly to free people trapped in the cars.

The injured were of all ages. They were brought out to the station platform, and finally a jumble of baggage was lined up there too.

NO PANIC

There was no panic of any kind. Those who escaped injury did what they could for those who were hurt. Rescue workers offered one erect, elderly lady a cup of tea as she climbed out of a car.

"I'm all right, thank you," she said. "There are many others in greater need of that than I am."

There was a great confusion of wreckage. The engine of one train seemed to have jumped the platform and landed on a nearby line used by electric trains. It had disintegrated into just a shell.

I have a particularly vivid memory of the body of one woman, covered with a sheet and placed apart from the others. The rescuers were busy working to save the injured. The dead woman seemed so alone there.

Girl 5, Shoots Self In Head With Pistol

LINDSAY. — A five-year-old girl died Tuesday when a war souvenir pistol she loaded herself discharged accidentally. The bullet passed through her head.

Bonnie Lynn Hulland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulland, R.R. 3, Lindsay, died before a doctor could reach the Hulland home. The gun was a 9 m.m. Luger, brought home from the Second World War by her father.

Mrs. Hulland told provincial police that she left the house about 1 p.m. to get water for the pigs. When she returned, her four-year-old son Darian told her something was wrong with his sister upstairs.

The woman rushed upstairs to her daughter's bedroom, where she found the little girl bleeding profusely from the head. Dr. W. C. Blackwell, called to the home, arrived too late to do anything for the girl.

Provincial Constable Ken Dennis of the Lindsay detachment investigated and found the gun had been unloaded when the child found it. It is believed the girl went to the woodshed where her father kept a box of cartridges for the gun, and took one cartridge with which she loaded the pistol.

The Luger was usually kept in a bureau drawer in Mr. and Mrs. Hulland's bedroom. The child is believed to have climbed on a chair or another drawer to get the gun out. She then went to the woodshed where the ammunition was kept.

Surviving are her parents, and her four-year-old brother. Her father works on a production line at Canadian Arsenals in Lindsay. Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Mackey funeral home, Lindsay.

Royal Family Gives £3,900 To King's Fund

LONDON (Reuters)—The Royal Family has contributed a total of £3,900 to the fund for a memorial to King George VI, Lord Mayor Sir Leslie Boyce, in charge of the fund, announced last night.

The Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Gloucester each gave £250 and Princess Margaret gave £100.

Most of the amount has come in big lumps from industrial concerns. But thousands of individual Britons flooded the Lord Mayor's offices with their private gifts, ranging from shillings upward.

The memorial to King George, who died last February, will take the form of a statue in the city and a charity plan to benefit both young and old.

A fund spokesman said no collection centres will be opened overseas but contributions addressed to the Lord Mayor of London will be welcomed.

In Ottawa a spokesman for the Secretary of State department said the fund is regarded here as a United Kingdom fund.

Expect Thousands Lose Citizenship In Dec.

MONTREAL (CP) — Thousands of United States citizens living in Canada, even though they hold valid passports and other documents, may possibly lose their citizenship overnight Dec. 24 when denationalization clauses of the McCarran Act come into effect, the United States consulate here said today.

The object of the new law, a consular official explained, is to tighten the security of the United States by stricter control over admission of aliens and by withdrawal of citizenship privileges from persons failing to meet its obligations.

The official said that although detailed instructions regarding application of the new law have not yet been received, the consulate is asking U.S. citizens to check with their consulates to determine how they stand.

There was no cut-and-dried rule applying and circumstances could alter any individual case.

Among those expected to be affected are Americans of military age who have failed to register at a U.S. consulate. There was no immediate estimate available of the number in Canada.

South Koreans Retake Vital Peak

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—South Korean infantrymen fighting with bayonets tonight recaptured a vital shell-cratered peak overlooking the ancient invasion route to Seoul in a brutal battle that has raged since Monday night. An officer said the Korean troops cut a Chinese battalion of 700 men down to 150 in recapturing the crest of White Horse Hill on the western front. The peak — main objective of the biggest Communist attack in a year — has changed hands more than a dozen times as both sides threw tanks, artillery and men into the raging battle.

CHARGE THROUGH BARRAGE

A few hours earlier the Chinese recklessly charged through an Allied artillery barrage and captured the crest. Then they hit the Korean defenders on the south slope but the South Koreans held fast.

Fighting was only slightly less bitter elsewhere along the front as the big Red offensive moved into its third day.

Earlier today in Seoul, Gen. James A. Van Fleet said the Eighth army has stopped the greatest Red offensive in a year "without any penetration of the main U. N. battle positions."

Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, said action has been limited to outposts, and the enemy has paid dearly. He said:

"The troops which have participated in the current action are as elated over the good shooting as I am. Morale has never been higher."

Associated Press correspondent Milo Farneti reported from the front that the crest of White Horse Mountain was a shell-shattered no-man's-land. It had changed hands 12 times in 42 hours of almost continuous fighting.

White Horse, and nearby Arrowhead Ridge, guard the Chorwon Valley and the gateway to the south. The peaks have been the main target of the Red offensive.

Farneti said the battered remnants of a Red battalion are dug in on one slope. South Koreans are just off the peak on the other side. The crestline itself is a rubbled mass of log-and-dirt bunkers.

Big guns on both sides pounded the crest ceaselessly.

BATTLE CONTINUES

The hard-fighting South Koreans fell back from the ridgeline shortly after noon. Chinese reached the top and were driven off by artillery. The savage battle still was raging today.

The Chinese were paying a terrible price. Farneti said they may have lost as many as 3,000 men in the White Horse-Arrowhead sector alone. Reports from other battles were incomplete, but they indicated Communist casualties were high.

Allied big guns ripped into one group of 1,000 Chinese reinforcements. Spotters said half the Reds were killed or wounded.

U.N. planes and artillery caught smaller groups of Reds in the open and pounded them with shells, bombs, rockets and machine-gun fire.

KOREANS STAND FAST

The Chinese assault force that smashed up the slopes of White Horse today was powered by a wedge of 300 men who charged with bayonets bared. Another 700 Chinese were right behind. The South Korean troops held their ground.

At the crest the opposing sides closed in hand-to-hand fighting. Grenades, bayonets, gun butts and fists were used.

The South Koreans held off the Red infantry but had to give ground when the big red guns opened up. When the Chinese reached the crest, Allied guns began a withering barrage.

Earlier today the Chinese captured the crest but counter-attack-

U.K. Finances Looking Better

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's financial situation is "a good deal less inflationary than it was a year ago," Treasury chief Richard A. Butler said last night.

He was giving the traditional speech, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, at the annual banquet given by the Lord Mayor of London to bankers and merchants.

In a progress report on Britain's fight for economic recovery since the Conservative government took office in October, 1951, he said:

"In the last half of last year the United Kingdom ran a deficit with the whole of the rest of the world at a rate of £800,000,000—a year. In the first half of this year we have [illegible] current account, [illegible] States defence aid."

Athabaska Begins Third Tour In Korea

OTTAWA (CP) — The destroyer Athabaska will sail from Esquimalt, B.C., Oct. 29 to become the first Canadian destroyer to return to Korean service for a third tour of operations, Defence Headquarters announced today.

The Athabaskan, one of three destroyers which Canada sent across the Pacific shortly after the outbreak of war in Korea, has one of the longest records of Korean service of any United Nations warship.

She completed her first 10-month tour in May, 1951, and after a three-month pause for refitting at Esquimalt returned for another tour lasting almost a year. She returned to her home port July 9 last.

The Athabaskan will have a new commanding officer—Cmdr. John C. Reed of Toronto and Victoria, who succeeds Capt. Dudley King of Vancouver and Victoria.

Conservatives Hold Conference

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) Winston Churchill's Conservatives opened their annual conference here today, the first since the party regained power in the general election a year ago.

Peace and harmony were expected to reign, without any of the family warfare that crackled between moderates and left-wingers at the Labor party's annual conference in Morecambe last week.

Many Conservatives were heartened by the opposing camp's strife between the factions led by former Prime Minister Clmnt Attl and hopd it presaged a Tory upturn from the signs of slumping their party has shown in recent country-wide local elections.

So many delegates were on hand today that the four-day conference spread out over two halls More than 1,800 resolutions,some of them critical of Prime Minister Churchill's government, were listed for discussion.

Today's business was confined to "local government" problems. National issues come up tomorrow.

Unlike Labor, the Conservative conference is mainly a discussion group and does not make party policy. Under the party constitution the Tory platform is formulated by the party leader, Churchill, who is officially described as the "main fountain and interpreter of policy."

Resolutions to be discussed range from a demand for a bigger fighting spirit among party supporters to criticism of the government for failing to reduce taxation.

Mossadegh Makes Britain New Offer

LONDON (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has demanded £20,000,000 from Britain within a week to clear the way for a swift final" settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, it was officially disclosed today.

The demand was made in the Iranian reply to joint Anglo-American proposals for settling the dispute that has plunged Iran to near bankruptcy and left virtually idle the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

The latest recital of the Iranian leader's conditions for settlement, as disclosed in notes delivered in Tehran yesterday and released here today:

1. Britain must pay £20,000,000 within a week.

2. A mission representing the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company can then come to Tehran at once to negotiate a basis for settling each for compensation. A maximum period of three weeks was laid down for these talks.

3. When they end Britain must pay Iran another £20,000,00.

2 Russian Jets Machine-Gun Hospital Plane

BERLIN (AP).—Two Soviet jet fighters today machine-gunned a United States air force hospital plane in the Allied air corridor 60 miles southwest of Berlin, but the American ship escaped into the clouds and reached Berlin unhit.

Maj.-Gen. Lemuel B. Mathewson, U. S. commandant in Berlin, personally interviewed the plane crew after they landed at Tempelhof air base and said an immediate protest would be made to the Soviet high command.

The plane, a twin-engine DC-3, was en route to Berlin with an army nurse aboard to evacuate army patients for special treatment at base hospitals in West Germany.

FIRE SEVERAL BURSTS

The crew reported the two Soviet MiG-15 jets swooped on them in traditional air attack style,one from each flank and from separate altitudes. They fired several machine-gun bursts across the path of the American ship.

The crew said they were cruising at about 7,000 feet, the altitude prescribed by four-power regulations for flying through the corridor across Soviet East Germany to Berlin.

The attack came about 8.30 a.m. at a point where the Russians have concentrated jet fighter fields and also have an air target range. It was nearly the same spot where Red fighters pumped cannon shot into an Air France liner last April, severely wounding two German passengers.

At the firing, the plane crew notified the Tempelhof base that they were under attack. The base brought out all its crash crews including fire engines, expecting a riddled ship.

NO HITS

The DC-3 landed normally, however, and on inspection showed no trace of any bullet hits.

The air force imposed a security blackout around the crew until it completed an inquiry on which to base the American protest to the Russians.

Fear Race Problem Will Wreck U.N.

OTTAWA (CP) — The race problem could wreck the United Nations, Sir Galdwyn Jebb, chief British delegate to the U. N. General Assembly, said today.

Sir Galdwyn said great statesmanship will be needed to prevent racial emotions doing great damage to the U. N. and to the free world, with the Communists cashing in on dissension.

But the British [illegible] address prepared [illegible] the Women's Canadian Club, predicted that the U. N. — despite "many vicissitudes" — will continue to grow in the direction of the original ideal of collective security.

He said the last seven years had shown that the accomplishment of the main ideal of the U. N. was "much further off than most of us imagined." At the moment and for the forthcoming general assembly, the racial problem was one of the toughest before the U. N.

"It is no exaggeration to say that, if we are not careful, this problem may even wreck the whole concept of the United Nations," Sir Gladwyn said.

Canadian Doctor In Train Wreck

LONDON (Reuters)—A Canadian doctor, Dr. Alan Conn, was among the injured in today's train wreck at Harrow. He was detained in hospital with a leg injury.

He qualified in Ontario in 1948, and had recently become anaesthetist at the Ormond street Children's hospital in London.

Mayor Walks Out On Board

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton yesterday climaxed a verbal battle with three controllers by twice walking out of a Board of Control meeting. The second time she stayed out.

The battle developed out of demands by the controllers that the mayor disclose whether she had ordered two city detectives to search the office of a civic official for a reported missing document.

The mayor refused to tell. She said she would discuss the matter only in the privacy of her office. The controllers declined to budge.

"If the only way you can excuse [illegible] is to get [illegible] democratic for a mayor to take such action."

Mayor Whitton later returned and asked the controllers again to join her in her office for private discussions. Controller Coulter said the mayor should explain her actions on the police investigation first.

Forged Cheque Racket In South Ontario

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A widespread epidemic of forged cheques in southern Ontario was revealed today by city detectives in the wake of the arrest of two Sarnia men in downtown London yesterday.

Police said forged cheques totalling thousands of dollars made out [illegible] been cashed in banks from Windsor to Toronto.

In London alone amounts are reported to exceed $2,000. All local banks were alerted by police to watch for suspicious documents and any unusual behavior on the part of customers.

Shortly after 2 p.m. yesterday Tuxis Alfred Beattie, 30, was caught by a posse of police and civilians as he fled from the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Cattle Rustlers Busy In Simcoe

BARRIE (CP) — Cattle rustling has spread to Simcoe county, Provincial Police Inspector Leonard Neill of Toronto said yesterday. He said the cases here have not reached "epidemic proportions."

Most of the cases involve beef cattle from a number of farms in the southern part of the county, he said. Police have difficulty tracing animals because of delay by farmers in reporting them stolen.

"We don't mind false alarms. If the farmer has the slightest reason to believe an animal may have been stolen, he should report to the O. P. P. at once."

Two men from the area south [illegible] appeared in court at Lindsay charged with cattle theft and were remanded until Friday. Police said 12 head of allegedly stolen cattle were loaded on a truck belonging to Glenn Saunders, 25, of Shelburne,when the vehicle bogged down. Saunders at first reported the truck stolen but later pleaded guilty to attempted cattle theft and public mischief. Joseph McDermott, 68, of Beeton, was the other man charged in connection with the incident.

Experiment Successful

Trained Police Dogs Soon May Guard Defence Plants

OTTAWA (CP)—Trained police dogs—alert Dobermann Pinschers and German shepherds like those used in war—may soon help guard some of Canada's major defence and industrial plants against agents and saboteurs.

The R.C.M.P. disclosed yesterday that at the request of industry it has successfully conducted an experimental dog guard at one big eastern plant.

Two trained German shepherds proved themselves by sniffing out men and make-believe sabotage material hidden along the plant's six miles of fencing which they patrolled with the regular guard. The plant was not named.

A senior R.C.M.P. training officer said big plants in Ontario and Quebec and as far west as British Columbia, mostly engaged in defence work, have inquired about the possibility of training dogs to help guard their establishments.

The policy of the R.C.M.P., said the spokesman, is that it will lend its dog-training facilities to those industries which ask to have dogs and masters trained for guard work. Industry would pay the cost.

The R.C.M.P. has a large dog-training kennel at Sydney, N.S., and maintains on strength a corps of between 14 and 16 dogs for police work across the country. They are used almost every day hunting lost persons, trailing wanted men and leading police to caches of stolen goods.

Model of Russia

East Germany Shows Off Armed Might

In cold, drizzly weather, 250,000 men, women and youngsters marched past Shvernik with fists clenched in the air and shouting the praises of Russia.

Scattered through the legions were units of the new Soviet zone armed forces, including an air corps.

The occasion was the third anniversary of the Communists regime, known as the German Democratic Republic, which rules the 18,000,000 Germans living in the area from the Elbe to the Oder.

Shvernik is the highest ranking Russian to visit Berlin since Prime Minister Stalin came here for the Potsdam pact in 1945.

The German Reds used the parade to display for the first time how Russianized their new armed forces have grown.

The people's army, expected to reach 75,000 men next year, was represented by a 4,000-man regiment in new uniforms. There was nothing German about them.

The sea police followed the regiment with 1,000 smartly stepping men and then came the first unveiling of the impending luftwaffe. Five hundred air police, wearing blue lapel tabs with embroidered wings, stepped off their paces and brought a big cheer. Whether the wings mean the force now is airborne is still a Communist secret.

Mayors' Entry Highlight At Carp Match

By KEN KELLY

CARP, Ont. (CP)—The big money goes on the line today at the International Plowing Match here.

Plowmen from Canada and the United States go out for more than $2,500 in prize money in first-day matches of the international classic. They also have the added incentive of a possible crack at the two select classes that carry free trips to Europe as first prizes.

The championship matches, one for tractor and the other for horse, come up Friday.

Graeme Stewart of Plainville, Ill., the United States tractor plowing champion, isn't eligible for the European jaunt, but he is entered in several classes leading to the championship.

George Trethewey of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, is the second U.S. entry and more are expected before the three-day Intrnational ends.

MARITIME MEN ENTER

Maritime plowmen, including the Prince Edward Island champion, made their first appearance on the entry list. Glen Morrissey, the P.E.I. title-holder from Cherry Hill, entered late yesterday and another Islander joined him, Sterling Moore of Charlottetown

Main attraction for the sightseeing public is the Mayors' Class open to mayors of Ontario municipalities. The class is an outgrowth of a challenge issued by Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa to Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto.

The entry list swelled to nine last night, including mayors Whitton and Lamport. Each competitor must plow four rounds on a sod field near where Premier Leslie Frost of Ontario officially opens the competition.

Mayor Lamport is perhaps the least experienced of the nine entrants. A practice round yesterday was only his fourth time on the big tractors used in these matches.

"ONE-HORSE JOB"

"I don't for a moment underestimate the competition," he said. "But I plowed as a lad behind a one-horse job so I'm not a complete greenhorn.

Driver Fined $100

SUDBURY.—John Haupstein, 44, driver of the car that crashed a C.P.R. train here Sept. 27, killing Rose Kotak, 42, was found guilty of careless driving in magistrate's court Tuesday and fined $100 and costs. Haupstein said the woman had suddenly ordered him to turn out of his course at the crossing, that the angle of the road blocked from sight the flasher system and that his partial deafness, incurred underground during 13 years of drilling, prevented his hearing the train.

Mau Mau Kills Kenya Chief

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Members of the dread Mau Mau society yesterday killed Senior Chief Waruhio of the 1,000,000-strong Kikuyu tribe in a daylight attack outside a church mission seven miles from Nairobi

The gunmen fled in a waiting car. The secret society whose members are drawn from fanatics among the Kikuyu tribe, has vowed to drive the white man from this British colony.

The 62-year-old chief had denounced Mau Mau terrorists at a mass meeting of his tribe near Nairobi a few weeks ago. Decorated by the late King George VI last year for his services to the colony, Waruhio has served the Kenya government for more than 30 years.

Some sources here believe the chief was murdered as a challenge to the new colonial governor, Sir Evelyn Baring, who is on a three-day tour of Mau Mau areas north of here.

Plant Explosion Injures Two Men

PELEE ISLAND (CP) — A gas explosion in a power plant at Old Hen Island in Lake Erie injured two Pelee Island men last night. Neither is in serious condition.

Everett Dunn, 36, and Herbert Feltz, 24, are in Good Samaritan hospital in Sandusky, Ohio, where they were taken by a U.S. Coast Guard boat after the explosion. Hospital attendants said the condition of both is good.

Both men are employees of the Quinebog Fishing Club, an American group which owns the island. Dunn is caretaker of the club and Feltz is a laborer.

The explosion was caused by acetylene gas from a generator in the island's power plant while the men were attempting to repair it.

Old Hen Island lies in Canadian waters about five miles west of Pelee Island. Its 30 acres are controlled by the private fishing club.

Brig. Connelly Refuses Comment On Retirement

OTTAWA (CP) — Brig. Alan B. Connelly said today he is "quite prepared to stand on my record as an army officer" but declined further comment on the army's statement that he is being retired because there is no job for him.

The 44-year-old Calgary officer said he was informed Sept. 15—12 days after he returned from Tokyo where he was head of Canada's military mission—that he was being retired. He now is on retirement leave and said he hopes to land a job with a civilian engineering firm.

He had no comment on reports that he was ousted because he didn't tip the government that Canadian troops were being sent to Koje Island to guard riotous Communist prisoners last May.

Brig. Connelly, reached by telephone at the home of Ottawa friends, said he does not wish to comment on the incident other than to say he is prepared to stand on his record.

IN LINE WITH POLICY

The Defence Department said yesterday he was retired in line with a policy of retiring senior officers when there is no further employment for them. The maximum retirement age for a brigadier is 55.

Brig. Connelly has been in Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Kingston and Calgary since his return after nine months as Canada's chief spokesman at the headquarters of the United Nations commander, Gen. Mark Clark.

It is understood he was informed that he was being retired first by Lt.-Gen. G. G. Simonds, chief of the general staff, and later by Defence Minister Claxton.

It also is understood he has been complimented by Gen. Clark for his work in Tokyo.

WON'T RAISE ISSUE

Brig. Connelly's attitude during the telephone chat with a reporter was that he doesn't intend to raise an issue about retirement unless defence headquarters goes beyond its present statement.

Headquarters declined comment on a report, published in the Chicago Tribune, that he was "fired" because he was late in tipping Ottawa last spring when a company of Canadian soldiers in Korea was sent to help guard rioting Communist prisoners on Koje Island.

The Canadian government protested in May to the United States that the soldiers were sent to Koje without prior consultation with Canadian authorities.

LIAISON OFFICER

Brig. Connelly, now on retirement leave, acted as liaison officer with United Nations Headquarters in Japan and as such would be expected to act as Canada's spokesman and keep Canada informed of developments at the headquarters.

He was also senior military adviser to the Canadian Diplomatic Mission in Japan. He did not have charge of any troops in Japan outside his immediate staff.

He was posted home in August, nine months after going to Tokyo. The normal army posting is two years, but in the two years the Tokyo post has been open it has been filled by four brigadiers.

The first report Brig. Connelly was being retired came in the Chicago Tribune, which quoted a Defence spokesman as saying he "did not let Ottawa know soon enough that Canadian troops were to be sent to Koje."

"Brig. Connelly is on retirement leave. The department does not normally give reasons for such retirements except that senior officers are retired when there is no further suitable employment for them in the service."

NO ELABORATION

Defence Minister Claxton refused to add anything to the statement.

Officials said the maximum retirement age for a brigadier is 55 and that they seldom retire at 44. Brig. Connelly will draw a life pension of about $4,000 a year for his 21 years' service since he entered the army at 23 after graduating from Royal Military College in Kingston.

Community Pays Tribute To J. E. Sullivan

Civic, industrial and educational administrations of the city were represented at the funeral this morning of the late John E. Sullivan. Many of the people of the parish of St. Peter's Cathedral, of which he had been a faithful member since his youth, were prominent in the final tribute of respect to his personality and his years of active participation in affairs of the community.

The funeral was from the Anglesey funeral home at 9 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem high mass was celebrated by the Rector, Rev. J. F. McGuire, assisted by Rev. G. J. Welss and Rev. R. J. Garvey. Other members of the diocesan clergy attending in the sanctuary were: Monsignor J. V. McAuley of Lindsay; Monsignor P. P. Butler of Peterborough; the Rev. V. G. McFadden of Downeyville; the Rev. J. V. Gillogly, Port Hope; the Rev. C. J. Carroll, Norwood; the Rev. W. C. McCarney, Otonabee; the Rev. V. J. Corkery, the Rev. Dr. C. H. O'Donoghue, the Rev. L. M. Dubbery.

Representative classes from Separate Schools of the city recalled by their presence the service of Mr. Sullivan as secretary of the board of trustees for quite a number of years. An honor guard of the Knights of Columbus indicated his years of association in the order of which he was at one time Grand Knight.

The presence of Mayor Hugh F. Waddell and other civic associates of Mr. Sullivan was an expression of the city's appreciation of his six years contribution to the municipality as alderman.

The pallbearers were Edward Foley, Fred Meagher, William Roche, W. Clifford Boate, Ernest Wolff and James Dunn. Prayers at St. Peter's cemetery were offered by Father Weiss assisted by Monsignor McAuley and Father Carroll.

Convict Woman Keeping Robber

TORONTO (CP)—Mary Mitchell, 28, yesterday was convicted of harboring bank robber Edwin Alonzo Boyd last December. She will be sentenced later.

The attractive blonde sister of gunman Leonard Jackson earlier described Boyd as a quiet man given to reading the Bible. She said Boyd used to lecture her because she lived with Steve Suchan without benefit of clergy.

Jackson and Suchan have appealed their convictions for murder in the shooting last March of a detective.

Abbott May Cut Taxes If Production Keeps Up

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said last night he will be happy to break even on this year's federal budget, but he held out the possibility of tax cuts if Canada's production or an easing of the cold war could bring major reductions, the Minister told the annual meeting of the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade. He was not optimistic over the early international prospects.

Mr. Abbott said he shares the view of those who question the need of paying taxes under present conditions to provide a substantial budget surplus.

Since the Korean war broke out, he had budgeted three times for a balance. However, each time there had been a surplus, because of greater-than-expected business expansion and lower-than-expected defence expenditure.

AIM AT HIGH LEVEL

Dealing with external trade, Mr. Abbott said Canada's policy has been to achieve the highest possible level of unrestricted trade and he feels this country must do all in its power to keep the channels of world commerce free.

However, he said, "a great many countries, many of them traditional markets for Canadian products, are still attempting to solve their balance-of-payment difficulties by maintaining and increasing import restrictions, exchange controls and the like.

"We believe, and experience has shown, that measures of this kind hold out no hope of a permanent solution of these difficulties."

OBITUARIES

MRS. ROBERT PATTERSON

NORWOOD (ENS).—Life-long resident of Dummer township, Mrs. Robert Patterson, R.R. 1, Warsaw, died at her residence on Tuesday in her 73rd year after a short illness. She was born in Dummer township, Maggie Baker, the daughter of the late George Baker and Sarah Jane McCracken.

Prices Up Slightly On Toronto Exchange

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,256,000 shares.

Western oil issues fluctuated in price as selling, profit-taking on individual issues and supporting buying combined. The section continued to show a wide majority of losses although Cal.- and Ed., Central-Leduc and Federated Pete gained.

Little activity was evident in golds and only Gunnar traded more than 35,000 shares in the first three hours. Seniors weakened and juniors also lost strength as Broulan Reef and Eastern Malartic dropped pennies. Barymin made one of the few gains in prospects. Holding companies continued weak.

A few base metals issues gained in generally weaker list as Dominion Asbestos, Bellekeno and Fenimore advanced.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials up 1.47 at 312.57 golds down .46 at 85.18, base metals down .39 at 177.29 and western oils down 1.14 at 115.89.

World's Worst Train Disaster Kept Secret For Seven Years

By REUTERS

The world's most sensational train disaster — kept a secret for seven years — occurred at Salerno Italy, in 1944.

War censorship kept the news quiet and it did not leak out until 1951.

Canada's worst train wreck occurred June 29, 1864, when 83 were killed, 200 injured, in a derailment on a bridge near St. Hilaire, Que.

In the worst crash in the United States, at Woodbridge, N.J., Feb. 6, 1951, 84 were killed and more than 500 injured.

Other major crashes:

In 1915 at Gretna Green, Scotland, 27 were killed and more than 200 injured when a troop train, a stationary local train and an express piled up.

In 1938 near Kishinev, Romania, about 100 died when two trains collided.

In 1939, more than 125 died in a derailment near Magdeburg, Germany.

In 1949, near Dowy Dwor, Poland, more than 200 were reported dead after the derailment of the Danzig-Warsaw express.

In 1950, South America had its worst crash when a bridge in Brazil collapsed under a train, killing 180 and injuring hundreds.

trucks were pressed into service to help carry the injured to hospitals.

'LIKE AIR RAID'

The bodies of the dead were lined up alongside the tracks. One passenger likened the scene to that of a wartime air raid. Clouds of burning steam rolled through the battered coaches, adding to the panic of passengers trying to grope their way to safety.

Many of those with lesser injuries staggered out of the station to nearby drug stores where they were given first aid.

"It just fell to pieces around us. "The carriage just seemed to float up into the air. Then there was a crash and our coach was on the platform, or what was left of it."

Mrs. Elsie Webber, the tobacco vendor on the station platform, said the double impact almost knocked her little shop down.

"I ran out and saw smoke and steam coming all over the place," she said. "The station was all twisted. There was wreckage piled 15 feet around my stand."

FOLLOWS SAME PATTERN

Today's disaster followed almost the same pattern as the worst train wreck in British history—at Gretna Green, Scotland, in 1915 when 227 persons died and more than 200 were injured. A troop train hit a local and within minutes an express piled into the wreckage.

Passengers on the Scotland express were at breakfast in the diners when their locomotive plowed into the suburban train.

About five coaches of the local were hurled across the track. The locomotive and four coaches of the express tore into them.

Rescue work was just getting under way when the Manchester train loomed out of the smoke.

Rescuers watched it bulldoze into the piled up coaches.

John Bond of Watford, a passenger on the suburban train, said four coaches immediately behind his "simply disappeared" when the London-Manchester express ripped into them.

"All those carriages as well as our own were jam-packed with passengers, many of them standing," he said. "When I and other volunteers tried to assist in rescue work, we seemed to be unable to find any trace of those coaches."

Tatters of clothing and luggage were scattered for hundreds of yards around. A woman's high-heeled shoe poked out of a pile of wood, a broken doll lay twisted nearby.

Station loudspeakers blared for quiet as the men crawled about the wreckage, listening for sounds of life and giving morphine.

Army Announces 3 Appointments

OTTAWA (CP) — The army today announced three appointments involving officers of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers.

Lt.-Col. C. M. R. Elmsley, 38, of Windsor, Ont., on the directorate of electrical and mechanical engineers at army headquarters, is being transferred to the directorate of weapons development as general staff officer, grade one.

He replaces Lt.-Col. R.A. Campbell, 43, of St. Thomas, Ont., who has been posted to Washington as a liaison officer.

Lt.-Col. Albert Mendelsohn, 35, of Montreal, who has been serving in the Washington post, returns to Ottawa as a technical staff officer, grade one, in the directorate of armament development.

Col. Elmsley and Col. Campbell are graduates of Queen's University. The former was a staff officer throughout the Second World War, serving in Ottawa, the United Kingdom and at headquarters of the First Canadian Army in Northwest Europe. Col. Campbell served in the United Kingdom, Italy and Northwest Europe.

Col. Mendelsohn, a graduate of McGill University, served through most of the war with the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division, going to Normandy on D-Day.

Says U.S. Restrictions Hard On Britain

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The United States has made it "about as difficult as humanly possible" for Britain to sell its goods in American markets, a member of the British Parliament said here yesterday.

"High tariff and prohibitive customs have so restricted British exports to the United States that sales of British goods in the States amount to only one-tenth of one per cent of sales of American manufacturers," said Edwin H.C. Leather, a member of Commons. He currently is on a lecture tour.

British exports here are "very little more than they are to New Zealand which has a population 75 times smaller," he added.

Allies Postponing Truce Talks Indefinitely

By STAN CARTER

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Allies today indefinitely postponed Korean armistice negotiations and bluntly told the Reds the next move was up to them.

The action was taken, Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said, on "higher authority." It was not clear whether the higher authority was Clark himself or Washington.

The postponement will remain in effect until the Communists either accept an Allied proposal for settling the stalemate over prisoner-of-war exchange or make "a constructive proposal of their own."

It came while fighting on the war-battered peninsula was at its highest peak in a year. And it plunged the talks as close to total collapse as they have been since their start 15 months ago.

P.O.W. EXCHANGE ISSUE

What may prove to be the final break resulted from a deadlock in the knotty problem of prisoner-of-war exchange, last unsolved item on the agenda.

He said the Allied team would return to the truce site any time the Reds are ready to accept one of three alternate Allied plans, or are willing to make "a constructive proposal" in writing.

This unprecedented stand means the U. N. negotiators will not return to Panmunjom just to be harrassed by bitter Red propaganda blasts.

In Tokyo, Clark said, "we continue ready to conclude an armistice acceptable to the conscience of the free peoples. It is up to the Communists to show whether they too, want such an armistice."

Officers at Clark's headquarters made no effort to mask the seriousness of the situation. But they refused comment on whether the indefinite recess might actually result in a final breakdown of the peacetalks that started July 10, 1951.

BITTER BATTLES

The heaviest fighting was on White Horse, but there were bitter battles on a smaller scale on Arrowhead, Finger Ridge and other isolated points across the 155-mile battlefront.

Wherever the infantry clashed, Allied and Communist artillery joined in. In the 24 hours ended at 6 p.m. yesterday the Communists had fired 93,600 rounds — almost double their previous high for a single day.

REDS USE TANKS

The Communists also brought off about 450 Chinese before dusk last night. More Reds pushed into the valley between White Horse and Arrowhead just before midnight. A French counter-attack drove them off.

Fighting flared for nine hours around Finger Ridge, 7½ miles east of Kumsong on the central front. Allied soldiers attacked positions the Reds seized yesterday. At last reports the opposing sides were dug in within hand grenade range and the position still was in dispute.

J.C. Birmingham Re-appointed Tax Collector

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—One of this year's most lengthy sessions of town council was held on Monday evening. The meeting ended early Tuesday morning. All council members were present and Mayor W. A. Kingston was in the chair.

Councillor George Free read a letter and a sample bylaw he had received from the Community Planning Branch of the Ontario partment of Planning and Devel-Development. Mr. Free had sought information in drawing up a new zoning bylaw.

SUGGESTS MASTER PLAN

Councillor Free showed a master plan, with the proposed restricted residential and industrial areas marked in different colors. He impressed upon council the need for such a plan, and also this was just a tentative plan and would need a great deal more discussion and consideration before the bylaw was drawn up. The bylaw, when drawn, could be altered from time to time if found necessary. He suggested the master plan, and the sample bylaw be left in the council chambers so that council members could study them at their leisure, and that a meeting be held before October 20, at the call of the mayor, at which time the plan would be discussed.

TAX COLLECTOR

Much discussion about the hiring of a tax collector occupied council. The former collector, J. C. Birmingham was suspended, because of being absent from his office for a period of six weeks. The tax collector previously received a salary of $1,200, and a commission on collection of arrears of taxes, boosting his income to about $2,800.

Some members of council felt that the town treasurer, Eldon M. Ibey could handle the job along with his duties as treasurer, and that he should be given an increase in salary. Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason moved that Mr. Ibey be given the job of tax collector at an increase in salary of $1,200 per year, Councillor P. H. Macmillan seconded the motion. Mr. Ibey is also treasurer for the Public Utilities Commission.

Councillor D. R. Maybee moved that the town re-hire Mr. Birmingham at a salary of $2,200 per year, and that he receive no commissions. He failed to get a seconder, but Councillor Free said that if Mr. Maybee would amend his motion to read a salary of $1,800 a year, he would second it. The motion was amended and on being put to a vote the result was a tie. Councillor Macmillan asked that the vote be polled, which resulted as follows:

Opposed to naming Birmingham —Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, Councillors Macmillan, Collette and Ness. 'Yea'—Reeve R. J. Locke, Councillors Free, Tatham and Maybee. Mayor Kingston cast the deciding vote of 'yea.' Mr. Birmingham was contacted immediately by telephone to see if he would accept the job at the decreased salary and he apparently agreed.

The question of remuneration for the treasurer, Mr. Ibey, was discussed. Mr. Ibey had apparently been looking after the duties of tax collector for a couple of months, and some members of council felt that some remuneration was in order. Councillors Tatham and Ness entered into a discussion with the treasurer as to what were his duties, and how much of his time was involved in working for the P.U.C. The question of the duties of the tax collector was also gone into, and the clerk, Mr. McGregor, was kept busy looking up the duties of the various town officials in the various acts outlining them. No agreement was reached as to extra remuneration.

It was brought to the attention of council that a number of bread trucks are delivering bread from door-to-door in the town. These trucks are from companies outside the corporation and they do not pay a local business tax or licence. It was left with the legal committee to see what action could be taken.

Councillor Tatham, who headed a fact-finding committee to compile a questionnaire to be presented to the P.U.C., read a report. Council decided that the question would not be gone into any further at the present time, and that Mrs. Tatham's report be received and filed.

Reeve R. J. Locke and Deputy Reeve Oscar Mason, together with Councillor Maybee, noticed an item of a uniform for Chief George H. Hardy on the paysheet and questioned this item as the chief is sick at the present time and has been granted leave of absence. Councillor Collette, chairman of the Police Committee, explained that the uniform had been ordered several weeks before Mr. Hardy took sick. This appeared to satisfy the three council members, and the pay sheet was passed, after which council adjourned.

Counties Health Unit Chief Quits

COBOURG (ENS).—Resignation of Dr. C. W. MacCharles, senior medical officer of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit, effective on November 30, removes the chief of staff since the health unit was formed in 1945. Dr. MacCharles takes over his new duties with the Defence Research Board in Ottawa on December 1.

The counties health unit was one of the first of the new health units organized after the war. Many problems confronted the unit during the early years of its existence and one of the chief obstacles was the education of the public as to the functions of the unit. So successful became the operation that public health officials came from all over Canada and the United States, including some from Europe, in order to study the unit here.

Before coming to Cobourg, Dr. MacCharles served for 12 years on the staff of the Winnipeg General Hospital and on the medical faculty of the University of Manitoba. Prior to that he did postgraduate work in Britain. During the war he served for six years as medical officer in the Royal Canadian Navy and held appointments in Canada and overseas. In 1950 the Counties Board of Health gave him leave of absence for one year to serve with the United Nations public health staff in Korea and he was there both before and after the outbreak of the Korean War. He resumed his duties here last year.

The nature of Dr. MacCharles work with the Defence Research Board has not been revealed but it is understood that his public health experience will prove valuable to him in his new duties.

WINDSOR, N.S. (CP)—Jack Aylward, harvesting on his farm, found a wallet containing $80 that he lost while plowing two years previously.

Doctor Fined $200 Ability Impaired

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Leaside doctor, Dr. Harvey Brown, was today fined $200 and $19 costs on a charge of having control of a car when his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol.

An additional fine of $15 was levied for having illegal possession of a half-bottle of whiskey. The liquor was found in the doctor's car when he was picked up by provincial police near Gull Lake on Highway 35, just south of Minden.

Provincial Constable Al Hardy of Minden told court the doctor's car was parked at a 45-degree angle across the highway, with the motor running. Constable Hardy testified that the doctor was mumbling to himself, and his words could not be made out.

Arthur Terry Dies

COBOURG (ENS) — Well known throuhgout the riding of Northumberland County where he was active in the Conservative party organization, Arthur Terry, of Cobourg, was buried here in St. Peter's Anglican cemetery. A native of Cobourg, he died in his 53rd year after a brief illness. Deceased is survived by two brothers, Jim of Cobourg, George in Oshawa, and a sister, Carrie, of Cobourg. Pallbearers were Jack Erskine, Jim McDonnell, Jim Miskelly, Gordon Sherwin, Ed Cowin and Roy Dodge. Among those at the funeral were the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare, member in the provincial house for Northumberland, Mayor Jack Burnet, of Cobourg, and Comissioner Bob Love, of the Public Utilities.

Will Need Help For Big Job

CAMPBELLFORD— (ENS).—Richard Hall, assessor for the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, addressed the Campbellford Council at their regular meeting held in the Council Chambers here on Monday evening.

Mr. Hall outlined the work that was necessary to complete the reassessment of the town to conform with the new equalized county assessment. He stated that the services of an additional two men would be needed for about three months during the summer of 1953 to do measuring necessary for the new plan. He advised against working during the winter months.

He stated that the present assessing job in Campbellford was being handled quite capably by R. H. Townsend, and said that a great deal of work would be necessary before the program of equalized assessment for the counties could be completed. Council would be well advised to give Mr. Townsend the authority to begin filling out the appraisal cards which the county will supply, so that the job of reassessisg could begin. The job in Campbellford will not entail as much work as it will in other municipalities where the assessments are lower than they should be. Campbellford assessments are in keeping with the value of the property and were quite in order in almost all cases.

Estate of 50 Million

LOS ANGELES (AP) — William Randolph Hearst's estate has been appraised at $40,499,214 on the basis of assets listed so far, but lawyers indicated today that still other assets to be listed will boost the gross value to $56,500,000. The publisher died Aug. 14, 1951, at the age of 88. He left most of his estate to his widow, their five sons and charitable foundations.

Rubber Cheque Is Tendered For Old Automobile

COBOURG (ENS)—Some fast work in the car selling game was revealed when Roy Bryans of Toronto pleaded guilty Monday to three charges of false pretences on which he was remanded until Friday for sentence. He pleaded guilty to purchase of an old car on May 12 from Walter Carveth of Newcastle, for which he tendered a cheque for $200 made out to the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Port Hope, where no such branch exists. Next day he sold the car for $75 to Bewdley Auto Wreckers.

On August 30 he bought a dollar's worth of gas from George Tanner of Bewdley, plus one package of cigarettes and received the change from a 12 dollar cheque which also bounced.

On Sept. 18 he bought a truck at Ingleby Motor Sales, Cobourg, owned by Alex Pratt, for $160, and gave another rubber cheque. When the truck was recovered the engine was a total loss, said Ron Kirby, salesman for the firm. He estimated its scrap value at $25 to $30.

OUTSMARTED BY WIFE

Patrick O'Brien of Peterborough paid $10 and costs for being drunk but confessed that he had domestic troubles. He said that he had been drinking and his wife called the police. He reminded the police that a man's home was his castle and that they couldn't pick him up while he was in his house. However, he admitted ruefully, his wife got him to step outside the house on a ruse and the police promptly snagged him.

"The wife outsmarted me. She said I was wanted outside and there they were waiting for me in the police car. While I was locked up my wife flew the coop and sold all the furniture," O'Brien told the magistrate.

Chief H. Pearse said that Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien had rented accommodation at a tourist home on the outskirts of Cobourg. The police went to the establishment in response to a call from Mrs. O'Brien who was packing up her things. He had thrown some of her clothes out the door while she was packing and threatened to kick over the television set and destroy the chesterfield. When the police arrived he had a bottle of liquor in his hand and from time to time drank from it.

Cobourg Drama Guild Repaints Opera House

COBOURG (ENS) — The Cobourg Opera and Drama Guild have completed the repainting of the opera house. The dirty walls were cleaned and painted, the floor was resurfaced and the seats all cleaned and painted. Still to be done is the work on the stage curtain and some of the scenery but it will all be finished in plenty of time for the big opening on October 23. Included in the opening program will be the opera-ballet, Le Coq d'Or by the Bluestone Ballet players of Port Hope and Cobourg.

Good Side Roads: No Speeding Heavy Trucks

At this time of year many motorists in search of Fall colour and tang venture off the highways to the country by-ways. They are agreeably surprised to find how good many of these narrow, quiet rural roads are, in comparison with, say, the bumps and holes on Highway 7 between Fowler's Corners and Omemee. One reason that the country roads are good is that the township authorities keep them in good condition; another is that they are easier to recondition and cheaper than highways (a road-builder's axiom is that the more expensive the surface the more costly it is to keep it in repair). A major reason for the good condition of rural gravel roads is that they are neither thoroughfares nor speedways nor commercial avenues.

* * *

Heavy traffic, speeding traffic and heavy vehicles play hob with the most expensive surfaces that road engineers can provide. The worst road-rippers are speeding heavy trucks. They would pulverize adamant. Premier Duplessis of Quebec has been building many new, costly roads, and his Department of Highways, like Ontario's, must view with dismay the result of even two years' traffic on his best roads. The Quebec legislature is to convene shortly, and Premier Duplessis has served notice that the laws affecting motorists will be revised. The Quebec Government made a quick check on the highways last spring. Many trucks were found to be overloaded. One, halted as it was about to cross a bridge, carried a load of 93,000 pounds. The damage these trucks create (damage such as we see on our own Highway 28 and Highway 7) is a road hazard to others and terribly expensive to the provincial public purse. Even Ontario's famed dual Queen Elizabeth Highway is showing the scars of this traffic. A road like that now costs about a million dollars a mile to build. Can the Province afford to have it wrecked by speeding heavy trucks, often overloaded? Is the Province getting enough by way of license and gasoline tax from the truckers to pay for the damage these vehicles cause?—to say nothing of the inconvenience their laboured progress causes to motorists in cars who pay most of the license fees and gasoline taxes which build and maintain the highways.

The U.S. Uses The Big Stick To U.N.

Next Tuesday the General Assembly of the United Nations will convene. The Reverend Michael Scott will not be present. The United States Embassy in London has refused him a visa to enter the U.S.

The Reverend Michael Scott is the spokesman for the Herero tribe of South-West Africa, which has been protesting the incorporation of South-West Africa into the Union of South Africa. The question has been before U.N. since 1947 when the Government of South Africa refused to allow it to be administered under the normal conditions of the Trusteeship Council. When Dr. Malan took power in 1948 he virtually incorporated the territory into South Africa. The Herero tribe is the largest in South-West Africa. Mr. Scott, a brilliant British clergyman and notable missionary of liberal and warm-hearted opinions, has espoused the tribe's cause, but international as well as nationalistic South African power politics have overwhelmed his quiet though passionate campaign for the native rights. Visas have constantly been refused Herero spokesmen; now Mr. Scott is refused entry, because he has been refused an American visa.

We are not here concerned with the right or wrong of the South-West African question, nor even with what course may be practicable. Our concern is with a much broader issue. How international is the United Nations organization, how independent of national authority, if entrance to its headquarters can be denied by one nation because that nation happens to own the gateway? U.N. headquarters must be reached by way of New York.

The United States is denying an accredited representative to U.N. the right to speak to the U.N. Assembly, and without referring to U.N. at all. This makes a mockery of the treaty defining the status of the United Nations headquarters in the United States which provides, or is supposed to provide, free access to people accredited to U.N. The United States seems to be setting itself up as the mentor of U.N., applying its own internal laws and territorial control of U.N. headquarters to suit its own policies.

Mr. Scott asked for a U.S. visa last July, as the accredited correspondent of the International League for the Rights of Man. This has consultative status with the United Nations. He was asked to take the oath prescribed by the United States Internal Security Act of 1950. Mr. Scott refused, saying that if the U.N. representatives were forced to take an oath it would "amount to screening and therefore a limitation on the freedom of the functioning of U.N." Mr. Scott is not a Commuuist, but even if he were, the United States should have no right to prevent his approach to U.N. The U.S. should have no right to require of U.N. representatives that they take an American oath.

When U.N. headquarters were built in New York, the U.S. accepted thereby certain limitations of its national authority. U.N. headquarters in New York are international property, set on land ceded to U.N. If an American oath is to be required of anybody seeking to go to U.N. headquarters then U.N. is at the caprice of the United States, and at its very heart is a prey to shifting American political prejudices. If this is the penalty of having U.N. headquarters in New York, it would have been better to put them in a less nosey, more liberal country like Switzerland, and under the toleration of a city like Geneva.

Mr. St. Laurent And Mr. Pickersgill

When the Prime Minister and President of the Queen's Privy Council for Canada pays an official visit, why should he not take with him the Secretary of the Cabinet and Clerk of the Privy Council? Yet Mr. St. Laurent, head of the Cabinet and of the Privy Council, is being criticized because he took with him on his recent tour of the West Mr. J. W. Pickersgill, Secretary of the Cabinet and Clerk of the Privy Council. If these office names mean anything, surely Mr. Pickersgill's legitimate secretarial duties may include accompanying the head of the organization which he serves.

A very senior civil servant like Mr. Pickersgill is expected to serve, as any other civil servant must, whatever government is in power impartially. If Mr. St. Laurent's tour had been political, a drumming pure and simple for the Liberal Party, it would have been wrong of Mr. St. Laurent to require Mr. Pickersgill's presence, and wrong of Mr. Pickersgill to go. But Mr. St. Laurent's tour was not political, in the narrow sense of electoral campaigning. Mr. St. Laurent visited the West as Prime Minister, not as leader of the Liberal Party.

Some Opposition critics are incapable of allowing the Prime Minister to move anywhere without calling it campaigning. He was not campaigning. No election has been called, there is none in sight, and God forbid that in this country political campaigns start a year or two before polling day. It is one of the decencies of our parliamentary system that our electioneering is conventionally limited to the weeks immediately prior to elections, and that Members of Parliament, the Government in power and the public are left free to go about their own and the country's business most of the time without the din of campaign noise.

It is easy to see why the criticism of Mr. Pickersgill's presence in the West with Mr. St. Laurent has been made. Mr. Pickersgill has been Mr. St. Laurent's chief private secretary and confidential adviser, as he was to Mr. King. In that personal position to two Liberal Prime Ministers he was a shrewd and penetrating person behind the scenes of government and a brilliant strategist for the Liberal Party. He has not lost these abilities upon his removal to the highest reaches of the Civil Service; and undoubtedly he was valuable to Mr. St. Laurent on this trip as a Liberal Party adviser as well as Secretary of the Cabinet. But the criticism of him and Mr. St. Laurent should have been made at the time of Mr. Pickersgill's appointment to his high Civil Service office; an appointment made straight out of a political office.

NOTES AND COMMENT

It is hinted that Mossadegh may seek further negotiations with [illegible] over the Iranian oil question. A feint or another faint?

The Fort Macleod (Alberta) Gazette trenchantly asks: "Without the small town and the farms of Canada where would the cities be?" True, too true.

The Canadian market impressed Brigadier H. R. Mackenson, Britain's secretary for overseas trade with its "great room and scope". Obviously the gentleman has been inspecting Peterborough's Saturday market-place.

The International Plowing Match is being held at Carp Airport. It may be a very good place to hold a plowing match but it just looks strange. We have already had one heading: Juniors Compete in Carp Plowing (incidentally, might the Kawarthas try this method of getting rid of their carp: plow them under?). And we may expect another heading: "Farmers Compete in Airport Plowing."

BIBLIOMANIA:

Rome On The Rocks

THE SINNER OF ST. AMBROSE, by Robert Raynolds (McClelland and Stewart).

THE WRITER OF AN historical novel is confronted with difficulties and problems of a special nature. He must display a familiarity with the customs, beliefs and events of a bygone age and introduce them accurately, though without pedantry, into the telling of his story. He may even go so far as to twist the generally accepted facts to fit the exigencies of the plot of his novel, but he must remain true to the spirit of the period. At the same time his characters must live as individuals, not just museum specimens of outmoded patterns of behaviour. On the other hand he must be careful to avoid giving the impression that his characters are really modern American or British men and women who for reasons best known to themselves are in fancy-dress costume. Human nature in its deepest essentials remains unchanged throughout the ages, but its characteristic manifestations are constantly changing.

Mr. Raynolds has not been altogether successful in effecting a satisfactory fusion of these conflicting problems in his latest book. He has chosen a fascinating and comparatively little-known period in history—the last days of the decaying Roman Empire. He has obviously studied this period diligently and well, and he exposes with devastating clarity the burning issues of the day. The pomp and glitter of the imperial court and its fundamental rottenness are contrasted with the other worldly preoccupations of the Great Christian leaders of the day such as Ambrose and Augustine.

THE MORE PURELY aspect of this book is disappointing. Written in the first person it surveys the life of a Roman of noble birth who is flung into the mad vortex of ambition, treachery and corruption that raged in high places. Deserting the pagans he espouses the Christian party for political motives. After many vicissitudes he finds peace in the doctrine that he upheld at first for selfish reasons. This quest of the soul might have made thrilling reading against the stormy background of intrigue. Yet the character of the protagonist does not spring to life as a recognizable portrait of a real man "warts and all", as was said of Oliver Cromwell, but takes shape as a sort of abstraction. The action moves jerkily and too often it forms a background to the complicated political manoeuverings rather than the core of the action. Julien's numerous marital and extra-marital relations are not sufficiently interesting or significant in themselves or in relation to the theme to justify the stress laid on them. In any case the solemn playfulness with which they are narrated is tedious and artificial.

The best part of this book is undoubtedly the analysis of the conflict between the forces of the various factions which resulted in the downfall of Rome. Here is a vivid panorama of a phase of history that was of the utmost importance in the shaping of the destiny of Europe for centuries to come. Mr. Raynolds, has crowded his canvas with detail while exposing the vital issues, no mean feat for such a confused era. C. G.

THE SUBTITLE of this book is "a novel about infidelity"; that sums it up so well that there is little left for the reviewer to say. The hero, Russell, is a man who loves his wife, but is driven to be unfaithful to her whenever he can find an opportunity to do so. He suffers from some sort of compulsion to prove to himself that he can seduce any woman to whom he takes a fancy, and he is successful in supporting this inconvenient belief. Some people will find this theme shocking, but anyone who has looked closely at his fellow-citizens knows that such men exist, and that their problem is a curious and interesting one. But the exploration of the problem, as Mr. Kauffman undertakes it, does not appear to this reviewer to make a very satisfying novel.

Russell does not appear to grapple with his obsession or try to defeat it; neither does he get much pleasure from the satisfaction of his urge. His predicament therefore seems to be undramatic: he is no Don Juan, who makes a philosophy of libertinage; he is not a man who is the prisoner of a life from which he desires to escape. He is quite real and convincing, but not especially interesting. Once we know what ails him, and what he does about it, we know all that there is in the book.

Mr. Kauffmann writes skillfully, in a manner which many critics have admired, and it is not for me to say that he does not know his business. But his book did not shock me, or surprise me, and I cannot say that it interested me. The seduction of third-rate women by a third-rate man must be served up with more spice than this if we are not to nod in our chairs and wonder whether it would not be fun to go to the movies.

THE FRENCHMAN AND THE LADY, by Elizabeth Cadell. (Hodder & Stoughton).

GAY AND ENTERTAINING reading. Miss Cadell has an engaging and witty way of writing. The story is a pleasant one of two men, a girl and an odd but persistently intrusive old woman, whose unwanted advice and criticisms of all parties concerned rather mix things up for them.

with his three young [illegible] cousins, is not at all pleased when Mrs. Belchamber thrusts herself upon them and insists on accompanying them to the farm of his old friend, in order that she may avoid certain people who are anxious to meet her for various reasons.

The old lady, Mrs. Belchamber, proves the most interesting character in this story, and her acid comments and uncompromising views of Christopher's and his friend Scotty's way of life are extremely amusing. She is an old dragon, but a delightful old dragon and neither of the two doubtful knights succeeds in eliminating her from the scene; she remains unperturbed and immovable right to the end. A happy, entertaining and delightful book. D. A. L.

FOR OUR QUOTATION this week we offer these lines by Thomas Heywood, written in 1635. The thought, quaint in expression, is remarkably modern in spirit:

NO FLOWERS

None with fresh Violets my Ashes grace,
Or strow sweet fragrant Roses in the place.
If any loves me, and intends to give,
I wish to taste his bounty whilest I live.
What care I, when the Fates my Thread have spun,
Though Briers and Thornes my Grave should over run.

NOW?

Ducks Unlimited

(MONTREAL STAR)

IN THESE days of unprecendented prosperity when, to coin a phrase, our natural resources have "not been scratched," it is perhaps well to realize that this prosperity may be only transient and may succumb to forces which in our complacent ignorance we have always ignored.

Take the wild duck, for example. Who ever had anything against a wild duck except that you have to get up so early on cold mornings to shoot it? Now we learn that wild ducks in unparalleled numbers are threatening the economic stability of the west by eating the grain crop. One would have thought that with 650 million bushels of this year's wheat plus a carry-over from last year of some hundreds of millions, plus again 250 or more millions of this year's coarse grains there would be enough to satisfy the most gluttonous of ducks and still leave some over.

But the threatened wheatgrower is nervous. His best protective efforts arouse only ridicule among the ducks. Guns take an inappreciable toll. A two-ton siren driven by a 180 horse-power motor screeched middle C so that it could be heard four miles away and scared the very life out of all humans within that area. Ducks missed a meal but went right back to the stook. What to do?

What to do on Lake Huron where pintail, appropriately named "hell diver" and "pop" ducks have gone into the white fish industry by diving into the fishermen's nets at surprising depths and either getting a fish or becoming entangled and drowned and having to be removed from feather-clogged nets, a time-consuming job. Don't take our word for it. The Goderich Signal Star reports that as many as 300 drowned ducks have had to be removed after a single haul. The indignation of the fishermen is understandable, a fish-eating duck being a poor market substitute for a Lake Huron whitefish.

Perhaps all these years of duck conservation in which we have believed may have been a mistake. Seemingly, if you give a duck an inch, he'll take an ell. And we do grudge him those Lake Huron whitefish.

It is perfectly clear that something should be done about it.

(Calgary Herald)

The little men with the big hatchets are busy again in the United States, which is becoming about as uncomfortable a place for liberal-minded men as Salem was for witches.

Nothing delights these picayune McCarthyites as much as getting their poisonous talons into a big name, and their current prey is Charlie Chaplin, one of the very few individuals produced by filmdom worthy of the name genius.

While the authorities sit in stern silence, the speculation is of course that Chaplin can be barred from re-entering the U.S. because of "moral turpitude or political affiliations." There are a couple of sensational court trials in Chaplin's background, and he has been listed as a supporter of various organizations denounced by Congress as left-wing.

We are not concerned with trying to depict Chaplin's private life as lily-white, but by Hollywood standards it is not especially remarkable. And when it comes to flinging around charges of moral turpitude, we should carefully remember the qualification for those who would cast the first stone.

And if it is so-called left-wing activity which is worrying the U. S. government, surely in 40 years it could have found some other and less sneaky way of taking action against an alien.

Product of Pool

(Windsor Star)

What adequate swimming facilities mean to a community can be judged by the success of Miss Shirley Campbell, a 16-year-old school girl from Fergus who won $1,650 for first place in the three-mile race for women at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Fergus is one of Ontario's finest towns, but it lacked natural facilities for swimming. The biggest industry in the town decided to do something about it, and constructed a fine pool. Within a few years Fergus has developed some of the finest young swimmers in Canada, winning contests at collegiate meets and now having Miss Campbell as the C.N.E. winner.

The pool has proved a great thing for Fergus and, indeed, for youngsters from surrounding communities. For instance, bus loads of children go from Orangeville, more than 20 miles distance, each week in the summer.

Fergus is an example of what adequate swimming facilities mean to a community. And it points up the dearth of them in Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Fisher, former local residents, die within a week of each other in Toronto.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: and she being with child cried, travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.

And there appeared another wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads. And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born. And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne. . . .

And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.

And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ. (Rev. 12:1-5, 7-10.)

Oldest Story

(From Future)

One day Adam told Eve he was going out hunting and would soon return. However, he didn't come back until late, and Eve was really angry. "What have you been doing all day?" she asked. "I'm sure you are hiding something from me. Did you meet anybody?"

"You know quite well that there's no other human being here," replied Adam, shrugged his shoulders and went to sleep.

But as soon as he was asleep, Eve, still full of suspicion, began to count his ribs.

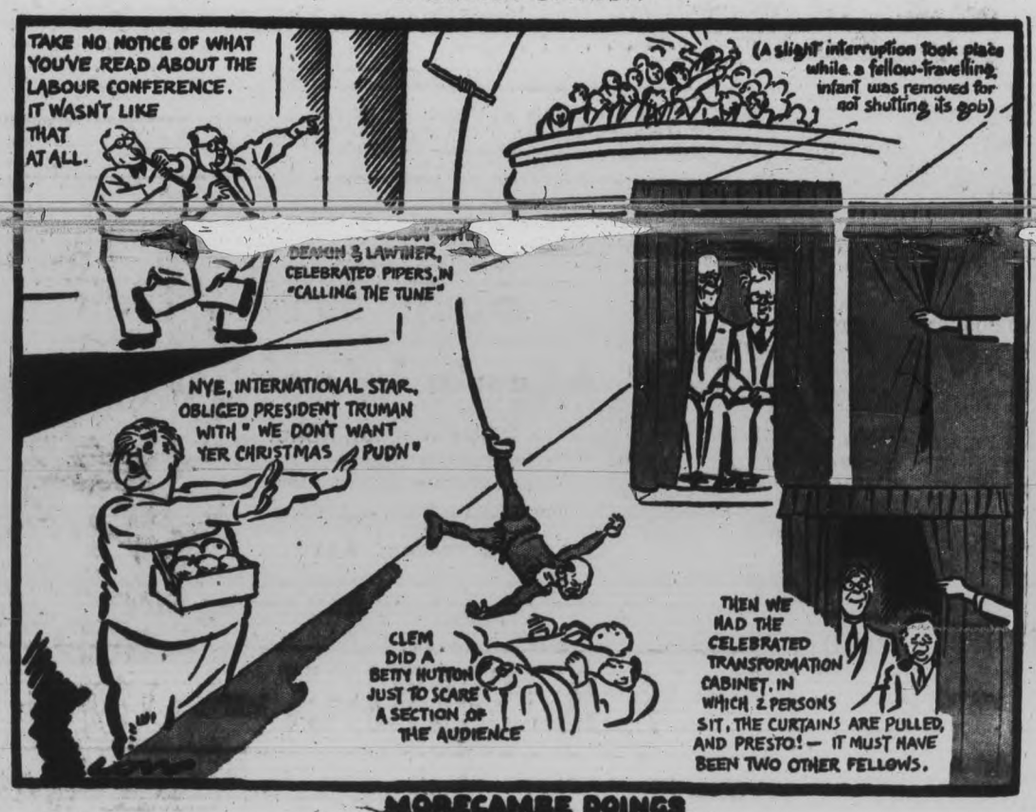
HER WASTED LIFE



As he was under orders to go abroad, the ardent young soldier begged his girl friend to marry him at once.

Rather worried about it, the girl sought advice from the maiden aunt who brought her up.

"Tell me what you'd do, aunty," she asked. "I suppose you think it wouldn't be sense to marry because I'm so young?"

"Well, dear," said her aunt, "I dunno. If I had my time over again, I think I'd get married before I was old enough to have sense not to."

LPP Member Unsuccessful In Having Law Reviewed

OTTAWA (CP)—A member of the Labor-Progressive party tried unsuccessfully yesterday to have the Supreme Court of Canada review a law which forbids him from taking office as Montreal city councillor.

The court unanimously rejected the request of left-winger Harry Binder for leave to appeal from the Montreal law which blocked him from taking the seat on the grounds he had been convicted of a criminal offence and sentenced to prison.

Accompanying the rejection were a few subtle remarks by Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret at lawmakers generally and society and religion in Montreal in particular.

MAY NEED IT

At another point he suggested there may be a reason why Montreal may want its political candidates to be "purer" than elsewhere in Canada. "Perhaps it needs it," he added.

When counsel for Mr. Binder argued that the Montreal law appeared to be given more severe and "more sacred" than that which applied to candidates for the Quebec Legislature, the Chief Justice replied:

"Montreal is the most sacred city in the country."

He declined to change that contention even after a whispered conversation with Mr. Justice Robert Taschereau.

"My friend, Mr. Justice Taschereau, would like me to include Quebec City," the Chief Justice said, "but I don't agree."

The Montreal law forbids a person from taking office as mayor, councillor or alderman, if, among other things, he has been convicted on a criminal offence and sentenced to prison.

Lewis Attacks Taft Policy

CINCINNATI (AP)—John L. Lewis thundered disapproval of Senator Robert Taft yesterday and said he couldn't see how anyone could vote for a man "whom Taft lead around by the collar."

The 3,000 delegates attending the opening session of the 41st union convention of the United Mine Workers took this as an expression from the veteran union leader against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee whom Taft is supporting.

Lewis failed to mention Eisenhower by name, however, and did not express a preference between the General and Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic nominee.

Lewis may follow the A.F.L and C.I.O. in coming out flatly for Stevenson before the end of the 10-day miners convention, the union's first conclave in four years.

Institute Names Leaders Of Girls' Club

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mrs. Fred Bennett and Mrs. William Woodbeck were again appointed the leaders of the Girls' Club at the meeting on Monday afternoon of the Havelock Women's Institute. The project for the coming year will be "Cottons Are Smart" and is sponsored by the Home Economics department of the W.I. under the supervision of Miss Jean Noble.

The president, Mrs. Harry Pollock, presided and announced that the oratorical contest open to grades 7 and 8 of the public schools in Havelock and vicinity would be held in the Havelock town hall on October 17. The winner of this contest will enter the county contest to be held at the new high school at Norwood on October 24. The finals for the district will be held in the Havelock town hall on November 14 at 1:30 p.m.

DELEGATES NAMED

The president, Mrs. Pollock, and Mrs. Grace Brown were appointed as delegates to the provincial convention to be held in the Royal York, Toronto, November 5, 6, and 7.

A short course "Supper Dishes" will be held on the afternoons of October 23 and 24 in the basement of St. John's Anglican Church under the auspices of the Havelock W.I. A committee comprising the following was appointed to assist the instructor, Miss Margaret Myers of Toronto: Mesdames W. Woodbeck, W. Bullied, R. Melville, L. H. Cooke, A. Buckland and W. Rice.

As a means of increasing the funds it was decided to hold a Hallowe'en tea and bake sale on November 1, with the following committees in charge: Bake sale, Mrs. H. W. Roche, Mrs. A. Buckland; serving, Mrs. F. McKenzie, Mrs. B. Jewell, Mrs. J. Wilde, Mrs. H. Revoy; fish pond, Mrs. H. Hoard; pouring tea, Mrs. A. Anderson.

Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. A. Buckland were the program conveners, the former presiding, when a musical contest was won by Mrs. W. Goadsby; three items of current events, two of which were district news were read by Mrs. Buckland, and two solos were sung by Mrs. Goadsby with Mrs. D. Kirk at the piano.

Mrs. A. Anderson was the winner of a draw for a coffee roll donated by Mrs. W. Woodbeck.

Mrs. G. W. Chiles and Mrs. H. Hoard were the conveners for the tea assisted by Mrs. E. Barlow and Mrs. A. Anderson.

Housing Cost Conference Topic

TORONTO (CP)—The high cost of housing and Canada's future population highlighted addresses to yesterday's session of the ninth annual conference of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards.

Harold Fishleigh, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Toronto-Woodbine said town planners are responsible for high housing costs "because the majority are unqualified for their jobs."

He said town planners should be elected on yearly basis.

Mr. Fishleigh, who is in the real estate business, doubted that many planners had studied their jobs seriously.

BECOME WEALTHY

These private individuals, he charged, "became fabulously wealthy acting as expediters for people who come into the U.S. who have a legal right to come. The services of these individuals have been sought out by the immigrant because of his inability to get his case properly processed at the U.S. consulate in Windsor."

Mr. Martin has been publicly critical of his sister's activities. All three are Windsor residents.

Grace Church Marks 118 Years In Millbrook

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Grace Presbyterian Church celebrated its 118th aniversary on Sunday. The congregation was organized by the Rev. James Douglas, who came from New York State in 1834. He was also organizer of Centreville Presbyterian Church congregation in the same year. Mr. Douglas ministered to both churches for more than 30 years. He was buried in the Centreville churchyard and his monument can still be seen there.

The Rev. William Sutherland, of Melville Church, West Hill, an army chaplain in the last war, was the guest speaker for the anniversary services.

In his address in the morning he said that the true meaning of worship was to come to church, not to get something, but to give—to give worship and to give hearts to Christ.

For his evening address he chose as his text "That the name of the Lord Jesus Christ was to be glorified in you, and ye in Him according to the grace of our God and the Lord Jesus Christ."

Mr. Sutherland said that he was proud that of the five great men of the Reformation three were Presbyterian. Martin Luther, the first of these great men, established that the Bible and not the church should be a Christian's final authority. He broke away from the church of Rome on October 31st, 1517. Since that time a Sunday near that date has been celebrated as "Reformation Sunday."

William Tyndall, the second great man, died by strangulation and burning for maintaining the right of every man to have the Bible in his own hands.

Zwingli was the leader to whom was owed the Presbyterian church. John Calvin, Mr. Sutherland said, was the greatest scholar of the Christian church. John Knox the final leader of the Reformation was a fearless man who dared tell the Queen when she sinned. He was a Puritan in a loose age.

The five great principles of the Reformation were: the free mind; the individual's right to form his own conclusions; the sure word of God; the right of all to use the [illegible], the right of every sincere believer to come to God directly; the trusting heart, the right to justification by faith; and finally the witnessing life which is realized by communion with God.

75 More Cases Of Polio In West

REGINA (CP) — Western Canada's 1952 polio toll was increased yesterday by 75 cases and nine deaths but the bulk of the cases and all the deaths were in the weekly Saskatchewan report.

The Saskatchewan Health Department's weekly report showed 62 cases. Alberta and British Columbia had five new cases apiece yesterday and Manitoba three.

Total cases and deaths to date in each province with totals for a week ago in brackets:

British Columbia, 400 cases and 24 deaths (363 and 20); Alberta, 573 cases and 48 deaths (546 and 44); Saskatchewan, 965 cases and 58 deaths (903 and 49); Manitoba 262 confirmed cases and 261 suspected cases and 18 deaths (247 confirmed, 240 suspected and 17 deaths).

PETES MAKE IT TWO STRAIGHT OVER VANCOUVER

B.C. Winners Stage Drive In Second Mann Cup Tilt But Lose Out By 8-7 Score

By CEC. PERDUE

Staving off a furious finish by Vancouver Pilseners in Maple Leaf Gardens last night, the Petes' Timbermen yanked out an 8-7 victory to take a 2-0 lead over the B.C. champions in their best-of-seven Mann Cup finals. The third game will be staged in Toronto Friday night. The midweek senior lacrosse crowd was down to 1,617 paid admissions, but the fans rooting for both clubs made plenty of noise in the keen contest Vancouver made a real comeback in this second scrap after dropping the opener by a 9-1 decision on Sunday. They fought furiously all the way and staged a determined drive in the final frame to come within a goal of sewing it up.

It was 2-2 in the first quarter and 4-3 for Peterborough at the halfway mark. The Thorpe team had a margin on play in the third to toss in two goals without a return, and this saved their bacon, as the losers outscored them 4-2 in the lively last chukker. Vancouver drew five of the eight penalties, some stiff checking being seen in the first half when seven penalties were drawn, mostly for slashing.

GARBUTT OUT

The C.L.A. again declined on Tuesday to permit Al Garbutt to play for the Petes, as he had performed earlier in the season for Fergus Thistles. Don (Scotty) McPhail, scrappy playing coach of Toronto West Yorks, remarked after the fray: "Somebody slipped up on the Garbutt deal, and it looks like the O.L.A." Nip O'Hearn, with a shot of penicillin for flu, gamely played throughout and turned in a good effort for the winners.

This was a different type of game to the first of the finals. Vancouver presented much the same lineup—though not using Jim Kinna—but hustled all the way, checked hard and closely and did plenty of running. They made it real close in the first half, faded a bit in the third, but finished somewhat stronger than the Petes, and their goaltending was improved considerably. At that, Jack Green didn't shine in the net as much as Moon Wootton, who again was brilliant in every quarter. The Petes lagged a little in spots and missed many scoring opportunities on wide shots.

RUGGED PLAY

Play was fairly fast, and quite speedy in the last chukker as the B. C. crew sought to open it up. The Petes slowed it down when they could as the margin narrowed. It was rugged enough, too, with a lot of slashing let go by the referees, and Vancouver took full advantage of this, as witness their five penalties to the Petes' three.

Russ Slater was the big sparkplug for the victors with four fine goals, singles going to Bob Thorpe, Ross Powless, Harry Wipper and Roger Smith. Nip O'Hearn not only checked well but aided on three markers, despite running a temperature. An assist each was marked to Lou Nickle, Powless, Slater, Wipper and Curly Mason.

Denny Huddleston shone for the losers and he was good for two goals and an assist, besides a lot of close calls. Ernie Smith, Dave Redline, Jim Anderson, Ken Webb and Jimmy Swanson lit the lamp once apiece, with single assists going to Bus Byford, Harry Buchanan, Jack Green, Webb, Swanson, Bob Marsh and Ed Hanson.

TOOK THE LEAD

Hanson hit the post early in the first frame and then Huddleston put Vancouver up one with a hot side shot. Thorpe got it back shortly on Nickle's rebound at the edge of the crease. O'Hearn and E. Smith went off for roughing and both sides changed lines often. Nickle hit the post and Moon had to hop to make a save. Smith slapped in Huddleston's pass from an angle just before Anderson was gated for slashing. Slater whistled a hot low one by Green on Powless' pass to sew it up once more. O'Hearn and Redline were gated together for some fancy slashing near the close of the period.

Slater started the second stanza with a quick run up the side and a drive from a sharp angle, the ball being partly stopped by Green but trickling in. Powless also came close but Huddleston broke fast with Hanson's pass to cuff it home on the dead run and tie it at 3-all. Vitarelli was off for slashing when Powless scored on a long rush and low corner shot after passes down the floor from O'Hearn and Slater. Huddleston was waved over next for slashing and play was quite fast in the final minute of the heat.

OUTPLAYED THEM

The Thorpe line pressed to begin the third quarter and later a rush by Smith and Powless almost paid off. Slater increased their lead on a smart play with Mason and Wipper, Russ taking the ball on the fly and shooting in the same motion as he broke in on the goalie. Wipper added one on a fine solo, getting his high hard shot away at close range while lassooed by his check. Mason came close on a sizzling backhander as the Petes kept pressing. Swanson was penalized for slashing but Vancouver gave Wootton a few hot ones to handle in his absence.

Rog Smith scored a beauty to open the fourth with a whistling backhander of O'Hearn's passup while being checked hard at an angle out from the goal. Redline raced in on a forward pass with no one to beat but Moon and he caught a net corner, Marsh and Swanson fashioning the play up the floor. Anderson added another from Webb and the Petes argued over it hotly, but it was allowed. The goal judge ruled it was in and out of the net fast. Vancouver kept boring in but Slater scored another on O'Hearn's passup with a hot low shot that eluded the goalie. That one was needed for Swanson got in fast from the side to bang home the ball after a long pass down the pitch from Green. Wipper and Mason made a neat try and Huddleston was robbed by Moon. Then Thorpe almost tallied, but the B. C. boys kept ganging in there to make Wootton jump, and they finally notched another with less than a minute to play, Webb scoring on a forward pass at close range, Buchanan and Byford building up the rush. They ran out of time then. Teams:

Vancouver — Goal, Green; defence, Byford and E. Smith; centre, Webb; wings Hanson and Huddleston; rover, Anderson; alternates, Redline, Tice-hurst, Swanson, Marsh, Whittaker, H. Buchanan and Sakich.

Referees—J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

The summary:

No penalties.

TIMBERMEN GO TWO UP — Bob Thorpe's Peterborough Timbermen grabbed a 2-0 lead in their Mann Cup series with Vancouver when they edged out an 8-7 victory Tuesday at the Gardens. Vancouver's goalie Jack Green was a busy man; he robbed Don Ashbee once of a goal (top photo). Not satisfied, Ashbee broke between the defence, nudging Marsh (at right) out of position, and tried for the rebound, going into Green's stick. Green came through with another stop (middle photo); this time Roger Smith blazed a shot after rounding his check, Denny Huddleston (at right). Green juggled a shot by Curly Mason (lower photo) in the second half. Mason came in for the rebound, but Green hung on.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

RUSTY GETS FOUR — Though still nursing a knee injury, Russ Slater was the individual scoring star for the Petes in their 8-7 Mann Cup win on Tuesday over Vancouver. He scored four goals and aided on another in a nifty showing.

Hal B., who conducts a harness racing column, comments on the Oct. 16 sale of standard-breds at the Hilltop Farm of Hugh Stewart just out of Peterborough: "Looking over the list one cannot but be impressed with the high-class breeding of this stock. There are descendants of Grattan Royal, Merry Direct, Guy Abbey and other outstanding sires. When it comes to the progeny of race hoses it is hardly necessary to go any further than the three mentioned. It is not necessary to dwell on the Grattan Royal blood lines, and the same may be said of Merry Direct, 2.06¾, sire of the great pacing gelding Winnipeg, 1.57¾, for years the world's champion gelding."

As mentioned before, football has the shortest season of any of the major sports, and especially high school football. They don't get playing till out in September and they wind it up in November. Losing clubs often have less than two months of play. On top of that, the sport is crowded on both sides as seasons overlaps, summer games lasting halfway through the grid term and winter sports commencing ere football playoffs start. So fans should cash in on what home games there are in this lively autumn sport. P.C.V.S. and St. Peter's juniors play late this aft in a group game at Morrow Park, with Lindsay and S.P.S. seniors following there at 6:15 in an exhibition tilt. Our Orfuns go to Oshawa tonight. Belleville meets P.C.V.S. seniors here Friday night. That's the week's program up thisaway.

That Prized Mann Cup

What is this Mann Cup the senior lacrossers play for each October in Canadian finals? It is a fine big trophy, of gold, and worth $2,500 donated back in 1910 by Sir Donald Mann, builder of the Canadian Northern Railway. Originally a challenge cup in senior amateur lacrosse, it was turned over in 1925 to the C.L.A. for the east-west championship series. Petes' Timbermen won it last year and 'twas shipped here through the C.L.A. from Owen Sound, 1950 winners, and kept in a local bank vault. It is now back in the hands of the C.L.A. to be presented to Vancouver or Peterborough at the end of the present series. Incidentally, Moon Wootton, Curly Mason and Russ Slater, of the local club, (they were with Owen Sound in '50) are after their third straight Mann Cup series victory.

* * * * * *

Nearly bugged the old eyes out at Maple Leaf Gardens last night in the final five minutes of play—trying to put the double whammy on the Vancouver lacrossers. It must have helped as the B. C. champs ran out of time while still trailing 8-7, and that puts the Petes' Timbermen up 2-0 in the best-of-seven set. Third of the Mann Cup finals is there Friday, with a special train being run from here. A hundred or so local minor lacrossers and the C.G.E. Pipe Band will go up as guests of P.M.L.A. officials. The fourth fray is Monday. Not that we're looking for the Thorpe team to wrap it up in four straight—every game is likely to be a toughie from here in. Last night's number was.

B. C. Boys Back In Form

Petes had a slight margin the first half, looked better in the third quarter but were outplayed by the running Westerners in the final frame. Vancouver snapped back to form in this encounter and made it a real battle. While the Timbermen may have lagged in spots, they turned in a solid effort, too. An exciting scrap and rugged enough at times. Both goalies were brilliant in this one and the Moon had to shine in the late stages as the other side staged its determined bid. Not too many saw the struggle. Nip O'Hearn doctored for the flu yester aft but played a good game, and Russ Slater—still on the limp—turned in a terrific effort with four goals and an assist. Rog Smith scored a beauty once, and the whole crew worked hard throughout. Denny Huddleston was tops for the losers.

* * * * * *

George Johnston, classy netminder for Toronto Yorks (ousted by Peterborough in Eastern Canada finals), has been named by the C.L.A. as stand-in goalie for the Mann Cup series. Recently judged by the O.L.A. as most valuable 1952 player to his team, Johnston is ready to step in and goaltend for either Vancouver or the Timbermen if Green or Wootton is injured. Annual C.L.A. meeting is always held just before the Mann Cup series concludes. Daily meetings are being held in Toronto to deal with each game as it comes up. Petes again were refused permission to use Al Garbutt, and that appears to be that. They'll have to go with what they have, and so far haven't done too badly. Jim Kinna sat it out last p.m., the B. C. coach figuring he hadn't strutted his best stuff in the opener.

Dealing 'Em Off The Cuff

A fair turnout of senior "B" puck prospects last e'en; next open drill is at eight tonight....Junior Oddfellows have an open workout at 6.30 tonight....N.H.L. schedule commences at Montreal and Detroit tomorrow eve; Hawks are at Toronto this Saturday....Confederation yanked out a 1-0 school intermediate soccer win o'er Queen Mary yester aft....Tickets for Friday's lacrosse playoff may be had at the C.P.R. ticket office or Clapper's....Vancouver got one disputed goal crossed the goal-line—but the goal judge ruled it in....Local fans (a lot of 'em femmes) whooped it up for the Thorpe crew while many Toronto fans cheered for the Westerners....Ross Powless' shoulder still bothers him during games but he's hustling all the time....Damyankees!....Oodles of ball followers were disappointed when the Dodgers dropped that 4-2 final game and the World Series yesterday, but the New Yorkers earned their fourth straight pennant....So, they'll still be calling the Brooklyn team "the Bums"....Take it away.

5 Thoroughbreds Fly To US

LONDON — (CP). — Nine novice thoroughbreds, including five purchased on behalf of Calgary sportsman Max Bell, will be shipped to Los Angeles October 26 for racing in the United States, it was learned Tuesday.

It is believed this will be the first time British-bred yearlings have been flown across the Atlantic to be broken and trained in North America.

The yearlings owned by Bell have been purchased during the last few months. The latest to join the stable are a bay colt by Nasrullah-Merry Game, purchased for 1,450 guineas, and a 300-guinea chestnut filly by Rising Light-Brave Bird. Both were picked up at last week's Newmarket yearling sales.

Included in the shipment will be a yearling by Panorama-Tillage, bought two weeks ago by visiting American Johnny Longden for his son Vance, and three yearlings owned by British aviation executive Ronald Barnett.

N.H.L. Almost Forgotten Sport; Starts Thursday

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The 70-game National Hockey League schedule opens on two fronts Thursday night but the usual pre-season tub thumping has been drowned out by World Series and Canadian football hysteria. At this early date the ice fellows are the forgotten men of sport.

They've been going about their own business the last month or so pruning here and there in efforts to mould big-league clubs and generally behaving like orderly big business corporations. Somehow or other, the wild predictions and dire threats of "we'll be right up there this year" are missing.

The usually voluble club coaches and managers have refused to go out on a limb. Only Sid Abel, newly-appointed coach of Chicago Black Hawks, has been willing to do some public star-gazing.

"All I can say is we'll be trying to get out of the cellar and into the playoffs," said the former centre of the Stanley Cup Champion Detroit Red Wings. The Hawks have had nowhere to go but up in the six-team circuit the last few years and capable Sid, fifth Hawk coach in seven years, may provide the spark to boost them a notch in the final standings.

LONE PLAYING COACH

The veteran of more than 10 years in the big leagues will be the only playing-coach in the big time. He plans to go in "wherever and whenever I think I can help the club" and it is possible he will be stick-handling around the Montreal Forum ice Thursday night when the Hawks open against the stand-pat Canadiens.

The closest to any outright prediction has come from Art Ross of Boston Bruins. He considers this 1952-53 edition of the Bruins as the strongest since the mauling, red-hot club of 1940-41. That year Boston won the Stanley Cup.

The Bruins haven't made great changes from the club that lost out to Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup playoffs last spring and at this date there's no particular reason to believe that they'll topple the ranking Red Wings.

Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens is banking on practically the same 1951-52 club to carry the Canadien colors this season and predicts only that Maurice (The Rocket) Richard will break the league scoring record of 50 goals he set in 1944-45 "if he plays the full 70-game schedule."

One thing is almost certain The Rocket will eclipse the 324-goal lifetime record of Nels (Old Poison) Stewart this season. Richard has 319 so far and he should add another chapter to the record books before the season is very old.

LEAFS SHAKE WELL

Toronto Maple Leafs, who ignominiously bowed out of contention in four straight to Detroit in the Stanley Cup semi-finals last year, have made the biggest changes of any club in the circuit. They have only eight veterans of the 1951-52 squad and the experts aren't too enthusiastic of their chances.

Leafs figured in the biggest pre-season trade when they disposed of goalkeper Al Rollins, defenceman Gus Mortson and centres Cal Gardner and Ray Hannigan from their Pittsburgh farm club, for Chicago goalkeeper Harry Lumley. Other regulars missing are Joe Klukay, sold to Boston, defenceman Bill Juzda and forwards Ray Timgren and Danny Lewicki.

New York Rangers, who missed a play-off berth last season, open the campaign at Detroit Thursday. They've lost centre Don (Bones) Raleigh, out with a broken wrist in an exhibition game, traded centre Reg Sinclair and picked up defenceman Leo Reise from the Wings in a pre-season trade.

Manager Frank Boucher isn't predicting big things for his Blueshirts. He's taking one game at a time and about Thursday's opener at Detroit, the one-time fancy-dan Centre says: "In my opinion, the Red Wings are the only club in the league who haven't bettered themselves."

But the Wings, runaway leaders over the regular schedule the last couple of years, probably aren't worrying too much.

Confederation Wins

Confederation edged out a 1-0 triumph over Queen Mary yesterday in a public school intermediate soccer game on the former's grounds. Ruttan scored the only marker of the contest after five minutes of play. Some fine defensive work and goaltending was seen in the close tussle. Teams:

Confed.: Weaver, Davidson, Carl, Stephenson, Outwater, Kinneburgh, Pulkinghorn, Ruttan, Nichols, Parry, Kimball, Henwood, Kokesh, Kiff, MacArthur.

Q. M.: Trude, Routley, Reader, Rishor, Dunham, Matthews, Ratz, Foy, Gatfield, Cromie, Dorrington, Stickle, J. Dorrington.

Referee: Mr. Druery.

MARCIANO TO REIGN LONG

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Dempsey said yesterday that Rocky Marciano, heavyweight boxing champion, doesn't know too much about fighting.

But, the former heavyweight king said, "I can't see anyone licking him for two or three years."

Dempsey said the three most important factors to a fighter are the ability to take it, to give it, and to have a fighting heart. Marciano has a good punch, can take it and "can knock you out with one blow."

Blind Anglers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Clem Jolly of Vancouver with a salmon weighing 27 pounds won the fifth annual salmon derby of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind here. About 80 blind fishermen took part.

YANKS WIN WORLD SERIES IN SEVENTH GAME

Mickey Mantle Hero Of Series, Called Great Star

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Two main conclusions may be drawn from the World Series which ended yesterday with Brooklyn again in mourning, for the sixth time. The first is that 20-year-old Mickey Mantle is destined to become recognized within a few seasons as the greatest baseball player in the history of the game. The kid can't miss. There's no defence against him.

The second, equally inescapable, is that Casey Stengel, the bemused manager of the New York Yankees, gets advance information from the elves before he makes each move. It would be difficult to prove that he isn't the smartest pilot the game has seen.

Mantle's contributions to his club's 4-2 series clincher yesterday at Ebbets Field were more spectacular than Stengel's. Everyone in the arena saw him clout the home run and the single in successive innings—the first lefthanded, the second righthanded—to put victory beyond reach of the Dodgers.

NOBODY SAW IT

Nobody saw the wheels whirring in Casey's head when he waved in Bob Kuzava to pitch to Duke Snider, the hottest of the Dodgers, with the bases filled and only one out in the seventh inning. But they were whirring all right and it is almost certain that Stengel knew that Kuzava would stop the National Leaguers from there on.

Of course, the Yankee sage might only have reasoned that in Kuzava he had the only pitcher on either club whose arm wasn't about to drop off, and that the introduction of such a hurler at that stage would prove a paralyzing shock to the Brooks, as it did. But we prefer to think that Stengel knew precisely what Kuzava would do. That is the way he operates, and it is possible that he is breaking some rules.

THIRD CONCLUSION

If it is necessary to squeeze out still a third conclusion from the last seven days of great baseball, it must be that the National League missed a splendid opportunity to get back on the winning side. This is not one of the finest Yankee teams. It was a team not deep in good pitching, and it was ripe to be taken. The Dodgers flubbed it, and such an opening might not come again soon.

Providing he does not go into the service, Mantle will be still better next year, and a team which has such a tremendous performer seems to draw fire from him. In only his second season the kid has done everything for the Yanks that Joe DiMaggio did, in an inspirational way. He and pitcher Allie Reynolds proved once again that it takes only one or two really fine players to win a world championship. That is, if a team has a manager who doesn't have to guess what is going to happen, but knows.

There was some debate last night whether Mantle or Johnny Mize, the old codger, was the outstanding Yankee in the Series. In this spectator's opinion, it was no contest. Mize, it is true, came in when things were not looking too good midway of the Series and made a number of tremendous contributions to the Yankee cause. In fact, he put them back in the contention when they appeared to be licked.

BUT IT WAS MANTLE

But Mantle was in there all the way, scaring Brooklyn pitchers to death and fielding like an angel. He led the assault which enabled the Yanks to tie it at 1-1 behind Vic Raschi Thursday. He proved the insurance second run in Reynolds' Saturday shutout by tripling in the ninth and scoring on Peewee Reese's error.

His home run Monday proved the winning run in the 3-2 Yankee victory which sent the playoff to the seventh game, and he killed the Dodgers with his two big ones yesterday.

In all, the Mick propelled 10 hits in 29 appearances for an average of .345. By an amazing coincidence, this was exactly what Reese and Duke Snider did for the Brooklyn cause. Snyder, for a time, looked like the hero of the series. In fact, the big swinger from California battled the Yanks right down to the wire while others on his company failed to last. But in the end he had to yield the honors to Mantle.

NEW DAILY HERO

It turned out to be one of those Series where there was a new hero every day, and where at the end of each game it appeared that the winning club had the big prize well in hand. This observer personally counted the Yankees out of it at least twice.

The most unfortunate figure was Joe Black, the big Negro rookie who rocketed the Dodgers in front with a beautifully pitched triumph over Reynolds in the opening game, but was turned back by Allie's shutout in the fourth. Manager Charlie Dressen obstinately held Black out of Monday's Yankee equalizer in order to have him well rested for yesterday's big one—and then Joe didn't have it!

The opinion here, offered timidly in opposition to some of the finest baseball brains around—Dressen's—was that the Dodger manager should have rushed Black in there when Snider's homer gave Brooklyn a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning of the sixth game.

Well, Charlie didn't and that was the last time the Dodgers ever led in the Series. Black set the Yanks down smartly for the first three innings yesterday, and we like to feel, as an expert second-guesser, that he would have done the same thing the previous day if Dressen had only heeded the thought waves.

After yesterday's third inning, it may be conceded, Black was tired and wavering. So was Ed Lopat, who started for the Yanks. So was Reynolds, who succeeded Lopat, and Vic Raschi, who tried to take Reynolds off the hook. Preacher Roe, who came in after Black had given up, hadn't a thing except a long time between pitches. Everybody was terribly tired out there on the mound and you felt, in all humanity, that their respective managers should relent and give each of them a long rest.

SECRET WEAPON

And that was the point at which Stengel wheeled out his secret weapon, Kuzava, the only pitcher in the park who wasn't about to collapse. Casey used the same tactics against New York Giants a year ago. It was Kuzava, perhaps the most obscure southpaw in modern history, who snuffed out the final three Giants in the '51 World Series.

He did it again. The Dodgers popped up or struck out or sent harmless flies into the stiff breeze blowing into the plate. When Reese flied to Gene Woodling for the final out in short left field, the Yanks climbed all over Kuzava and gave him a wonderful drubbing he will treasure.

And Stengel went around thanking each of the little men whom nobody else could see, he told each of them, personally, that he had done a whale of a job all year, and that he would see him next spring at the same old stand.

Can Win On Road—Stengel

By TED SMITS

BROOKLYN (AP)—"We can always win on the road," shouted Casey Stengel and cheers and laughter swept the hilarious Yankee dressing room yesterday.

The American League champions had just won their fourth straight World Series championship. For drama, thrills, and fine plays, the Series must go down as one of the best.

"That boy had been pitching hardly any all season, but he really went in there and threw hard."

PRAISED MANTLE

"That boy really hit," Casey shouted.

This time he meant Mickey Mantle, who homered for the third Yankee run and singled for the fourth in the 4-2 victory.

"I'm glad for you to get what you got," said Dressen.

"I want you to hear what I've just been saying about you and your team," Stengel barked.

ADMITS WAS CLOSE

"I can't say anything against the club that we beat. You could execute your plays and you mixed 'em up. We won by just that," said Casey and held his forefinger and thumb up a half inch apart.

Said Stengel: "You're wonderful."

Baseball notables jammed into the cramped dressing room under the stands of Ebbets Field, dingy by contrast with the quarters in Yankee Stadium that look like a luxurious golf club.

POSE FOR CAMERAS

Stengel and Dressen embraced each other frequently for the benefit of photographers.

There have been world championships won by the Yankees that they took in stride, such as the 1950 victory over Philadelphia Phillies in four straight, but not this one. They won it the hard way from a fighting team in games where the lead changed with nerve-tingling surprise.

Mickey Mantle, the youngster, and John Mize, the veteran, both of whose home runs contributed to victory in the Series, were the centre of admiring circles. So was Allie Reynolds, the tireless and superb pitcher.

Mize heard the last few innings by radio, sitting on a bench and massaging his feet.

A BID FOR VICTORY—Duke Snider blasts his second homer of the day in the Brooklyn half of the eighth inning in the 1952 World Series. Although Snider tied Lou Gehrig's record for Series homers, this blast left the Dodgers one run short. They lost the sixth game 3-2 to hit a flat-footed tie with the Yanks at three games each. Behind the plate are catcher Yogi Berra and umpire Art Passarella. Dodgers lost game and series Tuesday.

THE WINNING RUN—Mickey Mantle (7) trots into the dugout after his eighth inning homer which gave the Yankees an even tie with the Dodgers 3-3 in the 1952 World Series. The Yankees won it 3-2. Left to right are Gil McDougald, manager Casey Stengel, Bill Miller (23) and Loren Babe (38). The Yanks repeated Tuesday to win the series.

Colorful Stengel Wins 4 Straight World Series

BROOKLYN (AP)—When Casey Stengel, the millionaire manager of New York Yankees, decides to call it a career he will be best remembered for:

1. His zany antics during his carer.

2. The fact that he became the second manager in big league history to win four straight World Series.

After the Yankees defeated Brooklyn 4-2 in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series yesterday, Stengel assured all that he would be back at Yankee Stadium in 1953.

ONLY TWO OTHERS

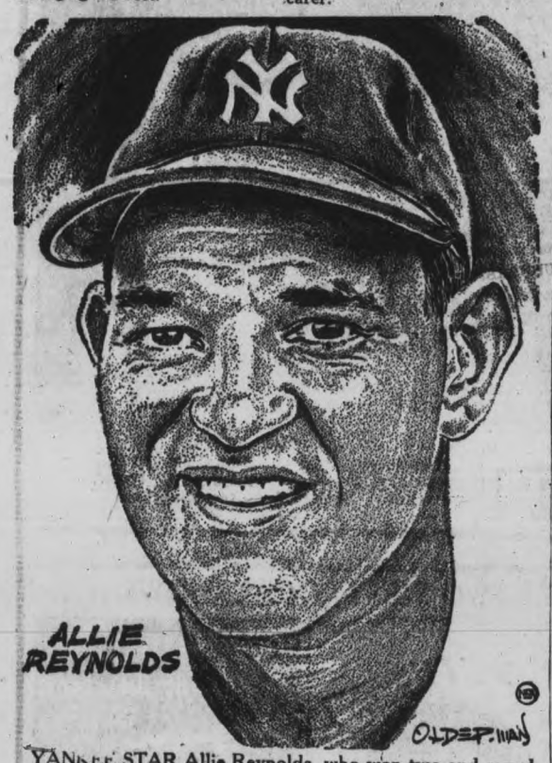
The only other manager to win four straight World Series is Joe McCarthy, pilot of the great Yankee teams of 1936-39. McCarthy and the fiery John McGraw are the only other leaders to capture four consecutive pennants. McGraw's New York Giants won the National League flag from 1921 through 1924.

Stories about Stengel are legion. They say he once doffed his cap and a sparrow flew out from underneath it. Another tale has it that he once stepped into a manhole cover in the outfield and pulled the lid over his head. A fly ball came his way and he stepped out just in time to catch it.

STRUCK IT RICH

Somewhere along the line of a career that began in 1910, Stengel invested in oil and struck it rich.

The fact that he was well off financially made it difficult to lure him back to the big leagues after he managed his home town Oakland club of the Pacific Coast League from 1946 to 1948.



Casey decided to come back and prove that he could manage in the big leagues and win provided he was given something to work with. He had spent terms with Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Braves without spectacular success.

PROVED HIS POINT

No one doubts now that he has proved his point.

Despite his reputation for clowning, Stengel was a pretty good ball player. He wound up his major league career that included stops at Brooklyn, New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Boston with a lifetime .284 batting average. He played in the 1916 World Series with Brooklyn and the 1922 and 1923 fall classics, with the Giants and finished with a series 393 average.

Stengel accounted for the only two Giant victories against the Yanks in 1923, breaking up both games with home runs.

Dodgers Say Reynolds Difference Between Defeat And Victory

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BROOKLYN (AP)—"They didn't miss Joe DiMaggio," said Jackie Robinson. "It was that Mantle. That Mickey Mantle killed us."

The Brooklyn second baseman sat in a corner of the funereal Brooklyn dressing room, a picture of frustration that seemed to envelop the players who had knocked on the door of baseball's world championship and had seen it rudely shut in their faces.

Beaten 4-2 in the seventh and final game yesterday, the Dodgers kept their unenviable record of never having won a World Series. This was their sixth try.

BITTERLY DISAPPOINTED

Robinson didn't try to hide his disappointment.

"We came so close," he said. "We had so many opportunities. But Mantle was the difference."

Joe Black, the giant Negro rookie who went to the mound three times against the Yankees and who beat them the first time but failed in the other two, said:

"It gnaws at you. It tears you inside. We got so many men on base. We kept saying to ourselves 'This is it' and then there was that let down.

"It would have been better if we had had our brains knocked out, lost 10-0. We would have felt better about it."

Manager Charlie Dressen was late making his appearance. He and Brooklyn President Walter O'Malley went first to the Yankee dressing room to pay their respects to the seemingly perennial champions.

"We felt every minute we would get back in the ball game," Dressen said.

PRAISE KUZAVA

Dressen, Robinson and Duke Snider paid tribute to Bob Kuzava, the Yankee reliever who rescued Vic Raschi in the seventh with one out and the bases loaded.

He made Snider and Robinson pop up weakly.

"That Kuzava was burning his fast ball in there," Dressen said. "He was very quick. But both Reynolds and Raschi were far below their effectiveness of previous games.

"We knew we would get them if they stayed in."

REYNOLDS DIFFERENCE

Dressen said he thought the Yankees' Allie Reynolds was the difference in the Series.

"Mantle and Mize (Johnny Mize, who hit three home runs) hurt us but in the long run it was Reynolds who gave us the most trouble. He's big and strong, a great pitcher."

First baseman Gil Hodges, Brooklyn's heaviest slugger, became the only man in World Series history to go through seven games without a hit. He had 21 appearances and not a single safety.

"I'm snake-bit, I guess," he said.

HARRINGTON SIGNS

KITCHENER (CP)—Goalie Bill Harrington, voted most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A circuit last season, has signed his playing certificate, Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts said yesterday. Another player to sign yesterday was defenceman Jack Evans.

Left winger Orv Tessier has left for Cornwall after rejecting a compromise offer by the Greenshirts. He rejected terms of $85 a week and a chance to win $200 in bonuses depending on his performances and where the team finished. He asked a flat $100 weekly.

CHAMBERS, BRIGHT STAR

REGINA (CP)—Jim Chambers, 25-year-old halfback with Edmonton Eskimos, and Johnny Bright, the high-classed Calgary Stampeder import, rate as the most dangerous ball carriers in the Western Football Conference.

League statistics show Chambers Rookie of the Year in 1951, has a 7.2 yards average for his ground-gaining feats with Eskimos. He carried the ball 49 times and has a net gain of 352 yards.

Bright is lose on Chambers' heels with a 6.6 average, with 691 yards gained on 105 tries. Bright has been the circuit's busiest backfielder.

MITCHELL STEPS UP

DETROIT (AP) — Johnny Mitchell, former Toronto Maple Leafs scout and minor league manager, will succeed Carson Cooper as head scout of the Detroit Red Wings hockey club.

Manager Jack Adams announced yesterday that Carson, almost inactive because of poor health in recent years, has been placed on a pension. Cooper discovered Len Kelly, Ted Lindsay, Harry Lumley and countless other Red Wing stars.

Mitchell, 48, a native of Hamilton Ont., has been in hockey as a referee, scout and manager for 18 years.

B.E.G. FUND STARTED

VICTORIA (CP)—A British Empire Games committee, which asked the provincial cabinet for $500,000, received a good start on the public fund-raising phase of its campaign yesterday.

After the delegation finished presenting its case for a government grant, Premier W. A. C. Bennett said:

"I will start things rolling by making a personal donation of $1,000."

No sooner had the delegation caught its breath than Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver, leader of the delegation, replied:

The delegation asked the government for the $500,000 to aid in bringing the games to Vancouver in 1954.

The cabinet reserved decision on the request but assured the delegation it is "100 per cent. behind the effort."

TO RETURN FORWARDS

GUELPH (CP)—Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers yesterday assured Guelph Biltmores he will return the four junior players who have been working out with the National Hockey League team.

But he would not guarantee they would not be called later in the season.

The four are forwards Andy Bathgate, Dean Prentice and Ron Murphy and defenceman Harry Howell. All were instrumental in leading Biltmores to the Memorial Cup and all have another year left in junior hockey.

Existing regulations permit Rangers to call any amateur until Nov. 15, after which they must obtain permission from the amateur club concerned.

Board Sets Date For Opening Norwood High

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Official opening date of the Norwood District High School was set Monday night by the school board for the evening of October 29. The new school, one of the most modern in the district, will be opened to the public that night.

Principal J. H. Caskey reported that enrolment at the school was 274 in September, and average attendance was 261.4 (97.9 per cent).

The board voted to ask the Ontario Milk Board for a ruling to permit Hastings, Norwood and Havelock to supply milk to the new school; cancelled a contract with E. Clarke who had been transporting pupils to the school; granted permission to school inspector K. O. Birkin to use the auditorium for the county oratorical contest October 24; and asked for tenders on the sale and removal of the old high school buildings.

Net profit on the cafeteria during September amounted to $157.76, although the statement given did not include the costs of management. Sales were $571, inventory was $133 and purchases were $543.46.

The financial statement for the first nine months of the year was presented by the secretary-treasurer, H. W. Roche. It showed total receipts of $86,686.63. Major items in the receipts were: the Ontario grant of $54,025.34, bank loans of $18.000, levy from Havelock village $505.80; and a $1,412.73 grant from the city of Peterborough.

Expenditures totalled $57,140.05 and larger items in this list included: $19,447.55 instructional costs, $3,977.30 for plant operation, $15,356.40 for transportation and $10,109.22 for loans and charges. Balance in bank was $29,546.58.

Owing to the school board by the county on the building fund was approximately $16,000, with the same amount owing by the school board to the Eastwood Construction Company.

Insurance on the school totals $340,000: $275,000 for the building, $40,000 for contents, $25,000 for heating equipment. Accounts of $3,280 were recommended for payment.

3 Children Burned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Three small children burned to death yesterday as their 22-year-old mother tried to rescue them. Mrs. Dora Lee Gant was blocked in her attempt to save her children, trapped in the second-storey blaze, by the heat, smoke and flames. A fourth child, Robert, 3, somehow toddled out of the blazing room and into his mother's arms as she rushed up the stairs. He was not hurt.

Teeth Held Brush To Paint Oils In New Library Show

Art exhibitions at the Public Library begin anew for the 1952-53 season with an interesting display of the work of six Nova Scotian painters. This Maritime show has already attracted favorable comment in Toronto.

The six painters, mostly young, are concerned, as may be expected, with the sea, coves and fishing villages, although there is one portrait and a couple of abstracts and still lifes.

It is interesting to see the work of Early Bailly, who as a child was so badly crippled with polio that he has the use of neither his hands nor his feet, and paints with brush held in his teeth. His best painting on exhibit at the Library is of Lunenbur Harbour; it and his other canvases have brilliancy in hue, and buoyancy, and it goes without saying of an artist who sells as well as he does, that the work is skilled. I find them rather ordinary—conventionally derivative.

VARIETY

The work of Ruth Wainwright and Leroy J. Zwicker catch my fancy. Both painters show variety in technique, subject and mood, and notable accomplishment. Ruth Wainwright's cliffs of Belle Island, Newfoundland, and her styled, green waterfront of tall buildings ('River At Night') have strength and subtlety. Her watercolour interpretation of Cornish and Devon fishing villages are in interesting moodal and tonal contrast with her similar Nova Scotian subjects; mode delicate, refined by the south England air and tradition.

Mr. Zwicker varies from a still life (stand well back from it if you do not want to be nauseated by his colour), and a portrait, to most remarkable spire, building and water combinations, flashed by an imaginative style of lighting. His painting of Notre Dame and the Seine ('French Gray') and the abtracted design of Canadian spires and roofs by the water are notable.

DRAMATIC SEA

William E. de Garthe, who was raised in Finland but has been in Canada since 1926, shows some dramatic seascapes, characteristic of himself but also suggesting an eighteenth century style, with the yellow of years wiped off the canvas. There is an eye-taking luminosity in his work, especially effective in his quiet painting of small boats in harbour. The largest canvas in the show—a seascape—shows his mastery of the subject.

The young Haligonian Joseph Purcell's series of maritime scenes is attractive and his greens are particularly fresh and effective. His oils are bright, giving, however, with his bold technique, a modern posterish effect, something like a good silk screen print of an original painting.

Marion Bond, a native of Antigonish, has some pleasant good, competent oils but to my eye, they lack inspiration.

JAP PRINTS

In the anteroom of the Library gallery is a selection of exquisite original Japanese prints, which Librarian William Graff got for this display direct from Coste House, the Calgary mansion which has become an art and crafts centre. These prints are quite wonderful, have grace, and delicate definition.—T. J. A.

South Koreans Criticize Ike's Attitude

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Two prominent members of the Korean National Assembly yesterday criticized Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for saying the Korean battle line "should be manned primarily by South Koreans."

Vice-chairman Yoon Chi Yung demanded the recall of South Korea's observer at the United Nations, B. C. Limb, saying that Limb made a speech welcoming the Republican presidential candidate's policy on Korea.

UP TO U.S.

Yoon in a statement said American policy was "directly responsible for the Korean War." He said U. S. troops should remain until the Korean Army is strong enough to repulse any aggression.

Chairman Kim Chong Hoi of the Assembly's defence committee in another statement said U. S. troops should remain until the Communists have been defeated.

Eisenhower's speech last Thursday said nothing about pulling U.S. troops from Korea. He proposed training the South Koreans so they would hold the front lines, with other United Nations troops remaining in reserve.

Play Returns To Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — After almost 25 years, "The Sacred Flame" returned to Broadway last night. It now seems to have the fuse to light it that it lacked when it first appeared here in 1928.

This W. Somerset Maugham play is as modern today as it was in 1928. In fact, the audience cannot detect if the story distinguishes between the First and Second World Wars. Maugham refused permission for the play to be revived for many years after its 1928 production and no one, including Maugham, has even given a satisfactory answer for that reticence. The general opinion among those who know Maugham is that he wasn't happy about the cast of the first production.

Maugham can have nothing to complain about in the current cast of "The Sacred Flame" at the President Theatre. And he needs a good cast because "The Sacred Flame" is a story of emotional players who could easily be on the ham side.

The story is that of an invalid who is dominated all his family life. Maurice Tabret became a half-dead man, lost the use of all his virility when he was shot down in the war when he was a pilot. The irony of his tragedy is that he became married to a most beautiful and passionate girl just before he became incapacitated. The girl falls in love with his brother, and a suicide seems to be the only solution to the problem. The mother, who loves both boys, takes the solution into her own hands.

Escapes Jail Pleads Guilty

WHITBY—Gordon A. Reid, 17, of Toronto, Tuesday pleaded guilty to charges of escaping custody and car theft before Magistrate Frank S. Ebbs and was remanded one week for sentence. Nicholas Marchuk, 37, of Brantford, who escaped from the Ontario County jail in Whitby at the same time, is still at large.

Defence counsel Gilbert Murdoch, of Oshawa, maintained there was some laxity on the part of officials by having Reid locked up in a cell with a hardened criminal who had already served five separate terms in the penitentiary.

He said he had been informed Marchuk ordered Reid out of the stolen getaway car at the lake front following the break and that Reid walked to Toronto where he consulted friends who advised him to give himself up. The prisoner surrendered to Toronto police the next day.

Jail governor James Sutherland told of the roof-top escape from the jail and said Reid would not have been locked up with Marchuk had he known the missing man had a record.

City Sends Message Of Congratulations

QUEBEC (CP)—The city administrative committee yesterday unanimously voted a message of congratulations to The Canadian Press which inaugurated last Friday a service in French for French-language members of the co-operative news agency. Alderman Ulderic Bedard, who moved the vote of thanks, said:

"It is an historical gesture which once more gives justice to our French-Canadian compatriots and which sanctions bilingualism in our country."

"COOL CONTROL"

CARRYING A FOOTBALL

One-Arm Carry: Extend fingers over one end of ball. Rest other end of ball in armpit, high up and tight against the body. Avoid carrying ball low, on ribs. Prevent fumbling by placing free arm on ball when tackled. Carry ball in arm away from play.

Two-Arm Carry: When plunging, hold both forearms horizontally in front of body; spread each hand over one end of ball. Keep forearms extended along length of ball. If break-through is successful ball can then be placed under either arm.

Shifting the Ball: Place free hand across point of ball so that ball is now supported by both hands on lower end. Draw upper end from armpit; move it across chest and place securely in other armpit. Perfect control is a must here.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

Rules Both Vessels Equally At Fault

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. Justice A.I. Smith in a decision yesterday ruled that both the passenger ship Scythia and the cargo vessel Wabana were equally at fault in a collision June 5 last in a dense fog in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. He found proper use was not made of radar.

The 10,992-ton Scythia is owned by the Cunard Steamship Co. Ltd., and the 7,178-ton Wabana by the Dominion Shipping Co. of Montreal.

Dance To Raise Funds Planned At Harwood

HARWOOD (ENS)—The Harwood Women's Institute held their meeting in the Community Centre on Thursday, when the district president, Mrs. Barton Thackeray, of Roseneath, was the guest speaker, and gave an excellent address on agriculture and gardening.

During the business session, Mrs. H. Graham and Mrs. George U. Isaac were appointed delegates to the Belleville convention. Mrs. Garnet Isaac and Mrs. William Baker were appointed a committee with the Park Committee to purchase an electric stove for the community centre.

Plans were made to hold a dance on October 14 when donations of household articles will be accepted for Thomas Callahan and family, who lost their home and contents last week by fire.

Mrs. A. Sandercock was convener of the programme, who read a Thanksgiving poem. Mrs. J. Minifie played a solo, a Thanksgiving contest was won by Mrs. F. Stephens, and Mrs. Graham won the birthday prize. Mrs. G. Isaac and Mrs. J. Minifie were hostesses and with the group served dainty refreshments.

Canadians Spend $96,000,000 At Movies

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian movie theatre cash registered jingled a $96,000,000 tune in 1951.

The Bureau of Statistics said yesterday advance figures indicate Canadians spent $96,319,583 in 252,159,125 paid admissions to the movies last year, more than they ever spent before.

Girls Gone; School's In

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—Reassured parents agreed yesterday to send their children back to school after city authorities chased off prostitutes operating near the school. More than 500 boys and girls were withdrawn from the elementary school last week. An estimated 100 prostitutes and their procurers have been forced out of the area.

Find Charcoal From 2000 B.C.

STONEHENGE, Wilts, England (CP)—Excavation on local site by two archaeologists from Edinburgh University have revealed pieces of charcoal, said to date back to 2,000 B.C.

The discovery was made by Professor Stuart Piggott, professor of prehistoric archaeology, and J. C. Atkinson, lecturer in prehistory. They sent the charcoal to the Chicago Institute of Nuclear Studies. There, Professor W. F. Libby established by radio-active carbon methods, that the wood was burnt some time between 2123 and 1573 B.C.

Although the margin is very large, Professor Libby said it would be impossible, with the present state of technique, to get closer than this.

However, said Professor Piggott, "the history of Stonehenge is very complicated, and this was filled in another detail. Human cremated bones were scattered in with them. We do not know the nature of the ritual involved, but it had no utilitarian function.

"It dates to the earliest phase of construction on the site when there were no stones standing."

65,215 Students Deposit $1,412,975

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's adults can take a lesson from the pupils of the Montreal Catholic School Commission when it comes to saving.

Three years ago, the school commission started a savings bank for its 106,000 pupils. Since then 61 per cent of the pupils—65,215 to be exact—have deposited a total of $1,412,975. There have been withdrawals, of course, but the balance still stands at $836,211.

In a message to the children's parents, chairman Eugene Doucet of the commission said it takes "will-power to save, almost heroism at times.

"The child who deposits regularly at his school savings bank is learning self-control and is gradually training himself to impose sacrifices necessary to save money for a good start in life."

The bank is operated by the pupils under the jurisdiction of an executive committee which audits and completes all entries. The teachers exercise close supervision.

Daily Entertainment Stopped For Children

BRIDLINGTON, Yorks, England (CP)—A daily entertainment for children has been stopped—because the R.A.F. doesn't like balloons.

Until recently, dozens of toy balloons were released daily bearing children's names. The balloon which landed farthest away brought a prize to the boy or girl whose name was attached.

But the R.A.F. has a jet fighter station at nearby Carnaby and fears were expressed that the balloons might be sucked into the intake of jets.

Some aviation opinion suggests that the balloons wouldn't do any harm. But the pilots don't like the idea so the daily contest has been banned.

Roseneath United Anniversary Services

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Capacity congregations filled Roseneath United Church on Sunday for their anniversary services. The chancel was banked with early autumn flowers. Services were conducted by the Rev. J. R. Wheeler, choosing for his subject at the morning service "Our Hope for the Kingdom of God." His topic for the evening service was "Christ, the Centre of the Universe.

A mixed choir with Miss Lois Arthur at the organ were in charge of the music. Mrs. Sam Black of Bowmanville was the guest soloist. Mrs. C. W. Wescoe was piano accompanist.

At the evening service the Roseneath choir again led in the service of song. Misses Joyce and Linda Arthur sang a duet, the members of Ballieboro male quartet Arthur Beebee, Harland Seens, Harold Buckham and Eldridge White were the guest artists and sang two numbers, Mrs. Harland Seens playing the accompaniment for the quartet.

Mexican Proposal Approved By U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — (Reuters) — The United States Tuesday approved a Mexican proposal to resettle all prisoners of war taken in Korea, pending an eventual settlement of their fate.

The Mexican proposal was: Prisoners held by either party who have voluntarily expressed their wish to be repatriated would be exchanged without delay.

Others would be sent to UN member countries under an agreed ratio. The authorities of each country would pledge that once in a country of temporary asylum, the prisoners would be on an immigration status allowing them to work.

When normality was restored in their own respective countries, the governments of those countries would grant the prisoners facilities for immediate repatriation.

DETROIT (CP)—Operations returned to normal yesterday at the Chrysler Corporation's body stamping plant after a strike forced layoffs at four other Chrysler plants because of parts shortages

Chrysler spokesmen said 8,000 employees at the company's Jefferson and Kercheval plants were recalled yesterday but 1,500 still were idle at the Plymouth motor division as a result of the shortages. A like number were laid off yesterday at the Windsor, Ont., Chrysler plant for the same reason.

Dr. Jordan Says

Unhappy Childhood Often Cause Of Anxiety Neurosis

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

A reader has requested a column on nervous tension — a subject which is most difficult to write about, and yet one in which I suppose nearly all of us are interested.

There are probably few, if any, human beings who do not go through periods of inner turmoil or nervous tension which sometimes do, but more often do not, appear outwardly.

Since nearly everyone has experiences of this sort, they must be considered normal, and merely something with which human beings have to contend because they are human beings.

But there is a fairly well recognized condition known as anxiety or anxiety neurosis which goes beyond the normal tension of human life, and it is perhaps this to which the correspondent refers.

Certainly there are many persons who are more nervous and more anxious than most of us, and who become excessively disturbed by things which happen to them. They show an inability to overcome the blows of providence which to other people bring only temporary distress.

In the victim of a true anxiety over and beyond that which should be expected, a great number of mental and physical symptoms can be produced.

Some fear they are losing their minds when they are not, many are unduly depressed; pounding of the heart, smothering sensations, feelings of tightness of the throat, dizziness, and a host of other physical complaints may develop merely because the individual is over-anxious, and cannot overcome the inward tension.

There is believed to be one type of person particularly likely to get into this state. One who has been brought up in a home in which there were unhappy childhood experiences is vulnerable.

SEEK PHYSICIAN'S AID

Often one hears from an over-anxious patient a history of illness in the father and of a worrying mother during childhood. Many anxious people are always worried about losing their jobs, or have deep-seated feelings of inferiority, usually quite unrelated to their intelligence or real ability.

Undue anxiety is a real and painful experience, but the victim, by his or her own efforts—or with the aid of a sympathetic and understanding physician, and often a psychiatrist — may be able to conquer the difficulty to a surprising degree.

9-Year-Old Lad Competes At Plowing Match

CARP (CP)—Nine-year-old Alan Bradley lined up a stake with a serious face and a man-sized squint. Behind the North Gower youngster stood a tractor and a plow that dwarfed him.

For Alan and scores of other junior farmers the preliminaries to the international plowing matches which started yesterday were as serious as the big events of the next three days which carry an expense trip overseas as first prize.

Alan wasn't typical of most youngsters plowing in matches, open to residents of nine eastern Ontario counties and western Quebec. For one thing, he was the youngest competitor. But what Alan is learning in plowing will pay off for him as it will with other youngsters when they have farms of their own.

ONLY COMPETITOR

A chubby youngster with a self-possessed air, Alan was the only competitor in his class. But he didn't let lack of competition affect the care with which he lined up his stakes as plowing guides. And he spent a couple of hours making sure each furrow was up to the high standards of judging.

Coached by his uncle, Clifford Wallace, Alan is an "old" hand at plowing competition. He has been plowing in local matches for the last two years.

Movie Column

Anne Baxter Enjoys Smoking Cigars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anne Baxter considered one of the more conservative of the younger actresses, started busting loose in her last picture. She played Cleopatra in one sequence and wore a rhinestone in her navel. That did it.

Now she has dyed her hair blonde and is smoking cigars!

"They're short and thin, like a cigarette," she said, "but they're the same makings as the cigars men smoke."

HEAVENLY SMELL

"We were on location in Quebec," she said. "After dinner, Hitch took out a cigar. It smelled heavenly, light and fragrant. Not the foul, heavy kind of smoke that clings to men's clothes. I tried it and was delighted. So Hitch sent to Cuba for the short, thin cigars, which are more suitable for women. I've been smoking them with coffee after dinner, and they're wonderful."

Miss Baxter said cigar-smoking by women is prevalent in Europe. She sees no reason why American women shouldn't follow suit."

"Of course, the men will raise a fuss," she remarked. "They always complain when they think their domain is being invaded. It was the same way with cigarettes and cocktails. Women might as well get some pleasure out of smoking, too. Cigarettes have become so pure, they're nothing but a nervous habit now."

SHOP TALK

The actress also has a campaign to cure what she calls the dearth of good conversation in Hollywood.

"Most conversation in Hollywood has a boring sameness," she said. "It's all shop talk. Nobody talks about anything but the movie business."

She plans to do something about it. Screenwriter Helen Deutsch has offered her home as the locale for some Sunday brunches aimed at producing stimulating conversation.

Topics of conversation? She suggested morality in the United States, politics, food, and architecture, among others.

Predicts Population To Reach 35 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday Canada will have a population of 35,000,000 or 40,000,000 at the end of this century if the current rate of increase continues.

In a brief address at the 17th annual meeting of the Quebec Chambers of Commerce, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"In all the trips I have undertaken in this country, I have seen that there is still plenty of room."

But, he added, Canada's natural resources must be preserved so that a population of 35,000,000 will find itself in a position "as interesting as the one we are in today."

493 Lives Lost In Canada In 1951 Through Fires

Written for The Canadian Press
By C.A. THOMSON
Dominion Fire Commissioner

OTTAWA (CP) — Some 60,000 firest, most of them caused by carelessness, took 493 lives in Canada last year and caused property loss of $76,000,000.

All this could have been prevented if Canadians understood that the main causes of fires are their carelessness and their lack of knowledge of simple fire prevention.

Fire Prevention Week, this year from Oct. 5 to Oct. 11, was designed to advise, teach and inspire Canadians to take their responsibility in respect to fire seriously and to apply the knowledge they have gained to the reduction of this dreaded scourge.

CALL FOR INSPECTION

A thorough inspection should be made of homes, factories, stores, institutions, assembly buildings and transportation facilities for improperly designed, constructed and installed heating and electrical appliances. Protection should be provided in cases where they are close to combustible materials.

This particularly concerns chimneys, flues, stoves, furnaces, boilers, pipes, oil burners, electric light and power appliances and devices. It applies to handling of hot ashes, coals, open fires, smoking, matches, lights—other than electric—and rubbish.

HOME LOSSES HIGH

Responsible citizens know that fire prevention and the protection of natural resources are essential to our living and the prosperity of our people and our country.

It is in our homes that 75 per cent of the fires and 20 per cent of the loss occur. It is here that we must observe our responsibility by taking action to correct the deficiency that tends to destroy our lives and property.

In 1951, fire attacked 5,000 homes and caused damages of $16,958,702; 6,200 stores with a loss of $22,443,129; 1,800 factories with a loss of $17,045,215; 3,500 farms with a loss of $5,549,354; and 800 institutional and assembly buildings with a loss of $5,892,516.

An analysis of the 1951 fires show that many Canadian structures contain weaknesses which help the spread of fire — ineffective fire walls, poor or no cut-off of vertical and horizontal openings, insufficient water supplies, insufficient fire fighting equipment and manpower in fire departments and insufficient fire protection and prevention training.

If you have fire problems, discuss them with your fire chief. He'll give you the kind of advice you need.

Millbrook CYUC Hear Talk On John Wesley

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The inter-church young people's group, Christian Youth Under Christ, met in the parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican church on Sunday evening for their opening meeting of the season. Bruce Ingham of the high school staff was the special speaker. He chose as his subject "The Greatest Englishman Who Ever Lived—John Wesley."

The worship service was in charge of Miss Irene Trick who read the scripture lesson.

Paul Sanders, the president, was in the chair for the business meeting. Plans were completed for an evening to be put on in the town hall by the Peterborough Junior Band of the Salvation Army under the sponsorship of the C.Y.U.C on October 30.

Miss Jean Smith led in a singsong and games were played under the direction of Paul Sanders, after which refreshments were served.

The next C.Y.U.C. meeting is to be held in the Sunday school room of Grace Presbyterian Church on October 19 when films on the Reformation will be shown.

Alberta Development Creating Interest

EDMONTON (CP) — Allan Holmes, publisher of the Galt Evening Reporter and president of the Canadian Newspapers Association, said yesterday Alberta's spectacular development is creating great interest in Eastern Canada.

Mr. Holmes, in Edmonton on a trip with his wife, said the west's potentialities gained little attention from easterners years ago. Now, with oil and gas discoveries continuing at a rapid rate in Alberta and Saskatchewan, the east is anxious for news of western development.

He said Ontario will be happy to obtain gas from Alberta if it is available. "I would rather see it go to Ontario than to the U.S.," he said.

Plan Apartments To Cost $4,000,0000

TORONTO (CP)—A 10-storey apartment building to cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 is planned for north-central Toronto.

Designed to accommodate 380 families, the apartment will be started if the city amends a by-law that restricts buildings in the area to three storeys.

Commonwealth Convertibility Urged By Drew

LONDON (CP)—George Drew, leader of the Opposition in the Canadian House of Commons, called last night for a determined effort to make the dollar and the pound sterling interchangeable, at least within the Commonwealth.

Drew said he offers "no precise formula" as to how convertibility should be contrived. But he urgently appealed for an Anglo-Canadian solution to what he called the "dollar-pound roadblock."

In an address at a dinner organized by the Empire Industries Association, the Progressive Conservative leader said:

"Must we wait for an exact balance of buying and selling before normal trade can be restored? What we need above everything else is to find some way in which our producers can come here and sell what you want to buy, and you can continue to increase your sales of your own products in Canada."

HOPES ACTION TAKEN

Drew expressed hope that when the Commonwealth Prime Ministers meet in London next month to discuss economic problems, "there will be a determined and successful effort to make the dollar and pound interchangeable, at least within the Commonwealth."

Drew also spoke of the "explosion" of development in Canada and urged British firms to take a bigger part.

Drew lunched with Prime Minister Churchill at 10 Downing Street. He returns to Canada by air tomorrow.

Rev. Sisco Inducted To Warkworth Charge

WARKWORTH — (ENS) — The congregation of the Warkworth United Church charge, comprising St. Paul's in Warkworth, Dartford and Oak Heights, assembled Friday evening at St. Paul's United Church for the induction service of their new minister, the Rev. A. L. Sisco, formerly of Tweed.

Dr. D. M. Smith of St. John's United Church in Campbellford presided. The Rev. J. E. Griffith of Castleton gave the scripture readings and also gave the address which was of a three-fold nature, he said, comprising the sermon, address to the congregation and the charge to the incoming minister.

Dr. Smith presented the facts leading up to the induction caused by the Rev. H. G. Lester accepting a call to Shawville, Que., and the Presbytery had appointed him (Dr. Smith) to look after a replacement. The Official Board met and appointed a Pastoral Relations committee who later contacted the Rev. A. L. Sisco and a meeting was arranged for him with members of the congregations with the result of an agreement being made for Mr. Sisco to become the new pastor.

Dr. Smith then introduced the Rev. G. J. A. Whitehorn of the Seymour pastoral charge who is the chairman of the Cobourg Presbytery, who conducted the induction.

After the service the members were introduced to the Rev. A. L. and Mrs. Sisco by a committee appointed for that purpose. William Bowen representing St. Paul's, Fred Denike for Dartford and A. P. Sayles for Oak Heights; and all gathered in the church parlors for lunch and a social period.

Hold McCarthy Funeral

TORONTO (CP) — Leighton G. McCarthy, 82, Canada's first ambassador to the United States, was buried yesterday after a funeral service attended by only a few friends and relatives. He died Saturday. At the request of his family, friends who wished to send flowers contributed to the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis instead.

Beach Light Scatters Koreans

The Walker fired its five-inch guns. The workmen fled at the first flash. Soon they were back. Again the Walker's guns flashed and the workers scattered.

An officer suggested flashing the searchlight on the beach, five miles away. It worked. Time and again the Reds ran for cover at the quick flick of the 24-inch searchlight beam.

The destroyer's skipper messaged the nearby Canadian destroyer Iroquois:

"Have discovered that searchlight flashes shoreward scatter workmen very effectively. Am conserving ammunition and possibly running them to deathe. Request services of two Indians and a blanket to furnish smoke to go with searchlight flashes."

Apartment Blocks Named After Toronto

For five British communities—Birmingham, Cardiff, Liverpool, Southampton and Exeter — have built or are building apartment blocks named after Toronto.

The homes are being built for older persons who lost their quarters in air raids. Building is largely financed by the Lord Mayor of London's Air Raid Distress Fund which was built up partly by Canadian contributions, including a large sum raised by the Toronto Telegram.

Two Bears Surprised As Man Moves In VANCOUVER (CP)—It was a surprise for the two black bears at Stanley Park Zoo.

A big man climbed into their cage Monday and chased them into their cement cave.

Drives Car With Feet Wrestler Goes To Jail

Floral Tributes Wasted Vicar Declares

LONDON (CP)—Sending floral tributes to the funeral of a friend or relative is just so much waste of money, says Rev. John Stone, vicar of St. John's Anglican Church, in the London suburb of Seven King's.

"Nobody appreciates more than I do that people should show their respects to the dead," he writes in the October issue of his parish magazine. "But the time to spend money on friends and relatives is not when they are dead."

The Vicar tells of seeing a widow weeping grievously while watching her husband's body being buried in a grave with three strangers because she could not afford an individual grave.

MUST BREAK RITUAL

Yet, he says, nearly £25 worth of flowers were laid over the grave afterward, "just to be beaten into the ground by rain and rot a few days later."

When critics took him to task for his remarks, Mr. Stone told reporters: "People ought to wake up and find courage to break this ritual. It is certainly not a religious act. It becomes even more absurd that in these days many people may go without food and essentials just to find funeral flowers."

Coldsprings WA Votes $50 To New Furnace

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — The W. A. of St. Paul's United Church held their October meeting on Monday night in the Sunday school room. There were 16 members and one visitor present.

The vice-president, Mrs. Frank Ritchie, took charge of the business. A total of $49.50 was realized from the silver collection and candy sale last week when Mr. Faulkner presented skiing films.

The "Happy Thought" committee reported four cards and two bouquets of flowers sent to the ill.

It was decided that the Women's Auxiliary give $50 toward the new furnace in the parsonage.

Mrs. M. Dines took charge of the program. The "Devotional" was taken by Mrs. Leslie McIntosh on "thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." She gave two readings, "Back Door Neighbors" and "Christian Brotherhood." Mrs. C. Timlin sang a solo accompanied by the pianist, Mrs. P. Harris. Mrs. M. Dines gave two readings.

FIRE PREVENTION WORK

Led by Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster, a group of six or seven firemen have been carrying on a publicity campaign and safety check during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6-11. Nearly all schools have had fire drills; and factories, hotels, apartment blocks and public buildings are being checked. Posters and safety information have been sent out to schools and factories in the city.

Grove Of Cedars Stripped Of Branches

Standing amid a grove of cedars stripped of branches on her Smith township farm today, Mrs. Emma Pomeroy took a dim view of a mistake which resulted in more than 100 of her trees being damaged last week.

Mrs. Pomeroy said that trespassers are continually using her woodlot for picnics and a dumping ground for everything from empty beer cases to dead animals.

Last Friday she found two Lakefield men busily slashing boughs off young cedars in her cedar woods and bundling them into bunches.

They explained that they had permission from a Miss Susan Dixon who owns property nearby to cut branches from her cedars and they believed they were on her property.

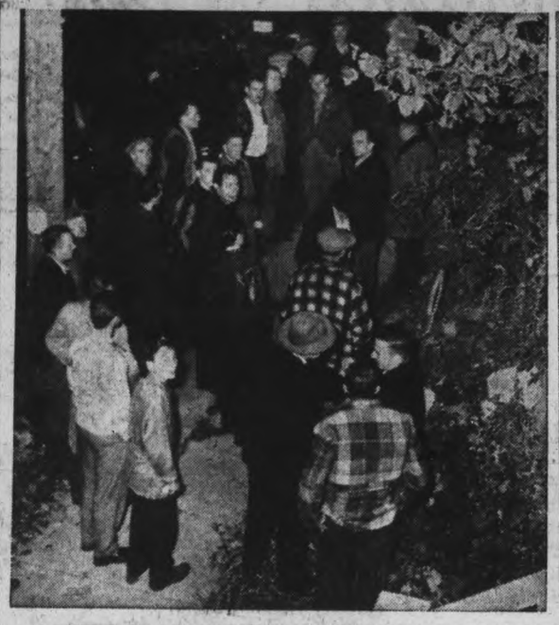
58 BUNDLES

However, the damage had been done. There were 58 bundles of cedar boughs, weighing about 30 pounds each, neatly tied where the men had hacked them off the trunks. Some of the cedars were between 20 and 25 feet high. Every branch was stripped from the trunks, except about two feet at the tops.

The men were cutting the cedars in order to sell them to an Orillia florist supplier H. M. Deyman.

Mr. Deyman called at Mrs. Pomeroy's farm today and paid her for the bunches of cedars at so much a pound. The figure of one and one half cents per pound is said to be the price generally paid for the boughs.

NOT PROPERLY CUT



However, Mr. Deyman said the boughs had not been properly cut and were not of much use as backing for floral wreaths. He said that only the flat ends of branches were useful but that he was paying for the branches cut from Mrs. Pomeroy's trees because of the misunderstanding.

About a ton of branches were taken from the trees and there was a difference of opinion between Mrs. Pomeroy, Mr. Deyman and the pair who cut the boughs as to whether the trees would live or not.

Mr. Deyman said he is accustomed to buying the clipped cedar boughs from "pickers" in the Peterborough district. However, he emphasized that he does not approve of the methods or excuses made by the men who cut Mrs. Pomeroy's trees.

He said the usual procedure is to obtain permission from the farmer who owns the trees. Then if the farmer is willing, the flat tips of branches can be clipped. He admitted however, that it "does make a mess of a woodlot."

A FIVE-DAY-OLD STRIKE and a fight between two trade unions. That's the talk of the town these days in Mormora. About 125 Mine-Mill supporters crammed into the bottom floor of the Orange Hall on Tuesday night to hear speakers —including George Wallace of Peterborough—assail first the Deloro company and then the rival Steelworkers' union. TOP photo shows a section of the audience listening to Mine-Mill speakers. LOWER LEFT, some of the 80 persons or more who listened to union speeches from the sidewalk and lawn. LOWER RIGHT, Albert Jardine, Lackawana, N.Y., Steelworker, is addressing an audience of about 50 in the town hall, just next door to the Orange Hall. Beside him, sitting down, is Murray Cotterill, publicity director for the Steelworkers.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Board Reduces Cost Of School By $20,000

Board of Education reported to the city council Monday night that the debenture issue for the new Public School at Cameron and St. Catherine Sts., would be for $80,000 instead of the $100,000 in the first estimate of cost.

"It is very commendable of the Board," Mayor Waddell said, "that they have been able to reduce the cost of this new school."

Reduction of the amount in the borrowing bylaw to $80,000 was directed in a motion by Ald. T. D. Miller and Ald. S. G. Black.

A resolution by Ald. J. E. Gillespie is an application to the Ontario Department of Highways for the sum of $81,995.89, as the department's grant on board of works expenditure for roads and bridges this year. It was seconded by Ald. H. S. Longhurst.

Rival Union Meetings Quiet

MARMORA (Staff)—Supporters of two rival trade unions—the International Union of Mine Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) and the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.)—filed peaceably into neighboring meeting halls Tuesday night to hear the speakers of their choice. Though the halls were only 30 feet apart and an overflow crowd stood around outside, watching and listening to the loudspeakers, there was no shoving or scuffling and only an occasional boo or cheer. Provincial Police reinforcements were not called to Marmora and Chief Constable Bertram Lounsbury had no trouble keeping order. His biggest job was keeping a traffic lane open in front of the two union halls. Cars were parked and sometimes double-parked on both sides of Hay St.

As idle men throng the streets and rival trade union leaders appear from time to time, this village of 1,200 people faces the fact that it has a serious strike on its hands. It is also the new battleground for two arch enemies in the Canadian trade union movement—Mine-Mile and the Steelworkers.

CITY UNION PPRESENT

A Peterborough delegation — headed by President George Wallace of Local 524, U.E. — were present and pledged their support to the Mine-Mill union.

Some 400 members of Local 889, Mine-Mill, are on strike to back up their demands for a new contract with the Deloro Smelting and Refining Co. The plant, located four miles northeast of Marmora, has had a 24-hour union picket on its five entrances since the strike began last Friday morning.

[illegible] night about [illegible] Mill supporters crowded into the downstairs of the Orange Hall on Hay St. to hear Nels Thibault, Canadian head of Mine-Mill, and a platform of other speakers, exhort the strikers to hang on and get their full contract demands.

At the same time the meeting was billed as a "protest" against the Steelworkers who have moved into the Marmora district to organize the 160 ironworkers employed by Marmora-Bethlehem Mines, a subsidiary of Bethlehem Steel Co.

CHARGE INTIMIDATION

"There's no question of the Steelworkers signing up members," George Herman, Mine-Mill international representative, told the Examiner. "We applied for certification on behalf of the Bethlehem workers and the Steelworkers didn't intervene. Last Tuesday the O.L.R.B. had a hearing and we filed 102 cards on behalf of 157 Bethlehem workers. Steel didn't intervene at the hearing because they couldn't; they didn't file notice of intervention."

(Instead the Steelworkers supported a group of 56 workers who said they didn't want Mine-Mill as their bargaining agency. This group was represented by the Steelworkers legal counsel, David Lewis.

"Since the hearing was adjourned we've got 20 of that group of 56," said Herman.

"RAIDING" THEME

Mine-Mill speakers hammered on the theme that the Steelworkers were only in Marmora as "raiders" and "strikebreakers".

"If Millard and his stooges are not helping the company (i.e. Deloro) then what are they here for?" asked Thibault.

The Steelworkers held a smaller meeting in the town hall, next door. About 50 men filed into the hall.

There are some 90,000 employees in the Bethlehem Steel Co. chain in the Steelworkers' union — 27,000 of them miners. The only exception in either the United States or Canada is the workers at the Marmora-Bethlehem Mines.

"We think it would be the height of folly for the United Steelworkers of America to see [illegible] that the starting rate in the Bethlehem plants in the United States is $1.43½ cents an hour. He argued that by joining the Steelworkers the Bethlehem ironworkers in Marmora would be able to sit in at joint negotiations when the contract talks were renewed two years from now.

"That's better than trying it alone," he said. "You don't want to be treated as second-class North Americans and sign some sort of bargain basement agreement."

Arthur Jardine, chief of the grievance panel in the Bethlehem plant at Lackawana, N.Y., spoke of the benefits of being a Steelworker. And he answered questions on the contracts in the United States.

ORGANIZER THREATENED

Steelworker speakers hit out at what they called "intimidation by the Mine-Mill." They said that organizer Ralph Carlin and others had been threatened and told to get out of town.

Once again Cotterill denied that the Steelworkers wanted to "raid" or "strikebreak" at Deloro. And —in the nearest thing to a sporting gesture in a night of mutual

Refuse $36,000 For Old City Hall

OSHAWA.—City Council rejected here Monday night an offer of $36,000 for their city hall, which is to be replaced in the near future by a city hall of extremely modern design.

Their plans for the city hall site parallel to some degree those of the Peterborough city council, which had that city's old municipal building torn down to make way for an addition to the municipal parking lot.

However, Oshawa has no downtown parking lot, and the Oshawa city council does not intend to pay for the razing of the old city hall. They would like to see a group of Oshawa businessmen buy the site, haze the building, and turn the site into a parking lot owned by the merchants.

One alderman said he thought it was about time the merchants made some suggestion, since it was they who would benefit most from such a parking lot.

Suggested plan for the merchants to purchase was this: that 100 of them band together and contribute $1,000 each toward purchase of the site. City council wants at least $100,000 for it; they need that much to make up the whole cost of their new city hall.

ROSENEATH — (ENS)— Watching the New York Yankees win their fourth straight World Series for the past week was 83-year-old Joseph Down of Roseneath. A baseball player in his youth and after that an ardent fan of the game, Mr. Down, a retired farmer, has spent much of his spare time watching baseball games, in season. With him for the trip was his nephew, L. E. Down, a Roseneath merchant.

Pensioner Dies As Shack Burns At Bowmanville

BOWMANVILLE (Staff) — A 75-year-old pensioner died here Monday night when his isolated shack in the south end of town caught fire and burned to the ground.

He was Harry Clayton, who had lived in the Cobourg home for the aged until a year ago. He moved to Bowmanville, his home town, when he began to receive his old age pension. Since moving there, three shacks he has lived in have burned down.

Cause in all three cases was an overheated wood stove.

The rough-built shack, about eight feet square, contained only a camp cot, a stove, and a table, some wood and a little food. Firemen found the stove red hot when they arrived.

Ralph Stutt, manager of the cannery nearby, saw the fire and broke down the door. He tried to get in to rescue Clayton, but flames drove him back.

Police believe the elderly pensioner was overcome by smoke, and didn't have a chance to escape. Clayton is survived by several brothers and sisters in Bowmanville, and other relatives in Lindsay and Whitby. Burial was today in Bowmanville.

Says Canada Needs People

BRANTFORD (CP)—C.R. Berkinshaw, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, said last night that the only basic resource in which Canada is "far from adequately supplied" is people.

Addressing members of Brantford Board of Trade Mr. Berkinshaw said:

"One of our greatest needs is to direct and absorb immigrants of the right sort to and into this country to help support its economic development.

"Only a pessimist would doubt Canada's ability to support a population of well over 50,000,000 at a higher standard of living than we enjoy today."

Wants Deadline Set For Learning English

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Immigrants should be required to learn the English language within five years of entering this country, T.A. Hulse, president of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion, said yesterday.

In an address to the annual convention of the ladies' auxiliary of the command, he said all immigrants should be made to understand that they must learn to speak English. If they have not learned it within four or five years and are not willing to take citizenship papers in this country, they should be deported, he said.

Mr. Hulse said he would like to see the words "new Canadians" and "foreigners" dropped from everyday use.

Tribute To J. E. Sullivan

Before adjournment of the city council Monday night, Mayor Waddell paid a tribute to the late J. E. Sullivan, as a former alderman for six years.

"I am sure we all read in the Examiner this evening with feelings of sorrow the news of the passing of Mr. John E. Sullivan," His Worship said. "As a member of the council he [illegible] city, and I would like to make reference a minute in the records."

ROLAND TEDFORD

Reeve Of Douro Loses Hand In Corn-Cutter

Roland Tedford, 46-year-old reeve of Douro township, had his right hand severed just above the wrist early today when he got it caught in a corn-cutter.

The accident occurred about 10.15 a.m. today as Mr. Tedford was working on the farm of Sherwood Moore who lives on the 2nd line of Dummer. It is believed he was tightening the belt of the cutter when his hand somehow got caught, it was severed when it was pinched against the pulley.

"Take me to hospital," said Mr. Tedford when he saw his mangled right arm.

Joseph Watts, who was present, rushed him to St. Joseph's by car.

Others present at the time were Mr. Moore, Marvin Kidd, Fred Bolton, Mr. Golloher and Russel Tedford, a brother.

Mr. Tedford is finishing his second year as reeve of Douro. He succeeded Jeremiah Mahoney in 1950.

Oldest Toronto Postie Peterborough Man

A personal story of Charles Kingscott, Toronto mail carrier for 40 years and previously of Peterborough in his youth, was published in a second front page spread of the Toronto Telegram Tuesday. His father had a tent and awning shop on the east side of Water St., opposite the market. He produced other articles of canvas.

In Feb. 1912 Mr. Kingscott began a mail delivery route in the Rosedale section of Toronto, "and has been delivering in that same area ever since".

"At 65 Toronto's number one postman should legally retire. But because of a petition, got up by his Rosedale friends, he is still on the job.

"I didn't know anything about it until it was all over. If I had I am sure the government at Ottawa would never have listened to it. Because of that petition I have another year to go. I don't want to quit until I have to. I like my job.' "

Judge To Hear Series Of Charges

Outboard Thefts, Having Explosive Head Criminal List

Lawrence Howell, one of a pair of Toronto men charged in a series of outboard motor thefts, will appear later today in criminal court. He elected speedy trial before County Judge John deNavarre Kennedy.

Herbert Halstead has also been committed for trial on the theft charge.

William Rudyk, 19-year-old Oshawa youth, faces two charges: breaking and entering Duffus Motors last April 13, and possessing nitro-glycerine under suspicious circumstances.

Rudyk was a crown witness in the trial of his two companions—John F. Meagher, 20, and Joseph Rzamy, 19, both of Oshawa—who were convicted last June of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft. They were sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory.

At the trial of his two companions he told the court that he and Rzamy twice tried to blow the safe in the office of Duffus Motors.

FIVE APPEALS

At the non-jury sittings that began Monday five appeals against the magistrate's decisions were listed. None of them will be heard at the present sittings.

An appeal against a conviction of careless driving by Mrs. Mae Thompson, McDonnel St., has been abandoned.

Judge Kennedy ruled that he did not have jurisdiction to rule in an appeal brought by Arthur R. Boyce against a conviction under the Deserted Wives and Children's Act.

Appeals against drunk driving convictions by Leo J. Feeley and James McAdams will be set over to the general sessions in November. So will an appeal by Thomas Mills against a conviction of driving in the city with faulty brakes.

Three men will take their oaths of allegiance Thursday morning before Judge Kennedy. They are: Thomas Harper Aitken, 68, a florist who lives on King George St.; Francis Sabotka, 34, a shipper who lives on Bethune St.; and Alfred Sturzenegger.

No Profit, Oshawa Decides Not To Buy

OSHAWA.—This city's council has abandoned any intention it might have had of purchasing the Oshawa Railway Company, which provides transportation within the city.

Reason for abandoning the plan was contained in the report of a special committee which has investigated the finances of the company. The report stated that the operation of the transportation company was not the profitable enterprise it appeared.

Newfoundland Geologists Find Underground "Dead Sea"

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Newfoundland geologists have discovered an underground "dead sea" which may blossom into another valuable discovery for Premier Joseph Smallwood's economic development program.

While government officials have been reticent in disclosing details of the find, it is understood that some quarters regard it as one of the most important mineral discoveries in the province since the lead and zinc deposits at Buchans a few decades ago.

The lake of chemical brine was discovered while geologists were drilling for salt on the rocky west coast. Its size is unknown but it contains salts four or five times more briny than the sea. It is whispered that the salt is not the commonly-known sodium chloride but possibly potassium chloride, of greater commercial value.

The discovery came after a drilling crew's persistence in following up a "hunch." When they failed to find salt in the upper layers of strata, they drilled deeper, boring down through the normal salt-bearing depths until their bits broke through into the pool.

NEW INDUSTRY SEEN

It is believed the brine would, if in adequate quantities, provide the raw materials for an important chemical industry.

Potassium chloride was the backbone if the once-great German chemical industry.

The find marked the second discovery of salt deposits in the Atlantic provinces within a year. Earlier, in Nova Scotia, a deposit was found near a bed of high-quality limestone adjacent to Antigonish harbor.

Industry Minister W. T. Dauphinee said the deposits raised "strong possibilities" that the province would shortly become an important producer of basic industrial chemicals.

The size of the deposit has not be determined. But government officials claim that millions of tons of salt are there, and at least 2,000,000 tons of limestone almost on top of it.

The salt was found at 779 feet and exploration is continuing in the area.

PROTECT LANDS—Old works are being reconstructed and new ones being built in the Maritimes to protect 80,000 acres of Canada's most productive lands. Aboiteaux, as shown, will once more hold back tidal waters at many points in Nova Scotia, New Brunskick and Prince Edward Island. A timber structure with timber wings contains a sluice through which water passes. Earth is piled on top forming a dike and a criss-cross of stakes and branches driven at an angle holds it in place, preventing erosion.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower Turns To Quips In Elegant Truman Style

By MEL SUFRIN

NEW YORK (CP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's political oratory has taken a definite turn toward the "give 'em hell" style in the last few days—to the surprise of many political observers.

A far cry from Eisenhower's insistence on serious discussion of United States election issues is the Republican presidential candidate's sudden discovery that his listeners like to hear him tangle with President Truman in the type of roughhouse politicking that doesn't hesitate to slap at personalities.

When Truman started on his whistle-stop campaign trip across the country, few persons expected Eisenhower to take on the President in what appeared to be Truman's favorite style of campaigning.

But apparently the constant attacks made by Truman on his one-time close associate and friend got Eisenhower mad enough to forget his vow that he wouldn't deal in personalities.

Eisenhower stepped into the fight last week when he called Truman the "drum major" of the Administration's band and said it was making a weird clatter. He went on to say that Truman was firing blanks at a man who knew what it meant to be shot at by real artillery. The audience loved it, and Eisenhower obviously enjoyed it too.

The result is that the General now is making a regular practice of trying to reply in kind to such Truman charges as that Eisenhower is a "front man" for lobbyists, that it would be a "damn lie" if Eisenhower tried to dissociate himself from the Administration's foreign policy of recent years.

The Republicans, aware of Truman's ability as a "give 'em hell" campaigner from his success in 1948, had arranged for "truth squads" of Republican senators to follow Truman on his tour, trying to combat statements made in his speeches.

But the effect of Eisenhower's new-found technique is reported to have set the party leaders to thinking that the "truth squad" isn't needed so much as it might have been.

IKE SWINGS HARD

In Seattle he called the President "an expert in political demagoguery," and said the Truman Administration was devoted to "the idea of a whole-hog federal government."

The Truman-Eisenhower feud has taken the political spotlight away from Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate, in the last week, but the Illinois governor has already shown himself a fair hand at turning a quip.

His reference to the Republican party as a two-headed elephant trying to go both ways at once was an early example.

YM Secretary Speaks To Lakefield Lions

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Charles Forsythe of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. was guest speaker when the Lakefield Lions were hosts to the ladies at Theigar Lodge, Young's Point. Jack Ryan is president of the club.

Speaking on the subject "Youth", Mr. Forsythe was introduced by Paul Richer and thanked by Perce Archer.

Following a turkey dinner a sing-song was led by Sam Henderson with James Jones at the piano. The past president, Douglas Davis, was then presented with a gift and lucky draws were won by Chief Leslie Foster, Mrs. Clarence Coons and Mrs. Douglas Davis. It was announced that regardless of who should get the third lucky draw, which was won by Mrs. Davis, it should be presented to the Tailtwister, Dr. R. H. Campbell, which Mrs. Davis did. A toast to the ladies was proposed by Stanley Burger and replied to by Mrs. Davis.

Chinese Company Sells Indian Novelties

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Sitting Bull and Piapot would arise with wildly-waving tomahawks if they could scan the contents of a letter filed in the Moose Jaw Chamber of Commerce office.

Even the officials of that organization, which advocates private enterprise, feel there is a limit. . . because China is trying to sell North America native novelties to Moose Jaw store keepers.

In a letter from Hong Kong, the chamber was advised that K. S. Lau and Company are the manufacturers of all kinds of Indian beaded belts as well as jewelry, moccasins, novelties and such. The company said it had been handling this line for years, establishing a good name in the whole of the United States.

Driver Convicted On Charge, Fined $50, Costs

Jake Titus, 42, 194 Hunter St., east, was convicted of dangerous driving Tuesday and fined $50 and $8 costs in police court.

The charge was laid against Titus as the result of an accident on the Springville Hill on Highway 28 the night of August 22.

Titus was driving toward Port Hope, and was attempting to pass another car going the same direction.

Benjamin Swartz, 443 Manorhill, the driver of the other car involved said he was travelling north. Suddenly he said he was confronted with four headlights in front of him.

Faced with the alternatives of taking the ditch, or having a head-on collision, he said he pulled the steering wheel sharply to the right.

DRIVEWAY HANDY

Fortunately, he said there was a driveway right at the spot where he turned and the oncoming car hit the left rear corner of his car, turning it around.

He claimed the oncoming car was doing about 75 miles an hour. After the accident, he said he went down to the Titus car about 300 feet down the road and Titus' breath "reeked of liquor."

Titus said he had been trying to pass a car for some time, which kept speeding up, then slowing down. He said he saw there was no oncoming traffic and pulled out to pass the car. As he drew even with it, he said it speeded up, then slowed down. He said there was a car behind which prevented him from dropping behind and as they approached the hill, he saw the Swartz car. He said he was not going over 50.

He said the car he was passing speeded up out of the way and he had pulled over to his own side as the impact occurred.

Swartz obtained the licence number and name and address from the driver of a car which stopped ahead of Titus, thought to be the one Titus was passing. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said the investigating officer Douglas Ross had been unable to locate the man as he was not employed where he claimed he was.

Titus said he had three glasses of beer early in the evening.

Gordon Farquharson defended Titus and argued it was more properly a case of careless, rather than reckless driving.

Magistrate W. R. Philp said that the charge was quite properly laid and that the crown had proven its case.

New St. Laurent Soon In Tussaud Wax Works

OTTAWA (CP)—There may be a new Prime Minister St. Laurent in Madame Tussaud's famous London waxworks soon.

A government official said yesterday that the artistry of the Prime Minister's wax image in the London wax museum has been criticized and that the waxworks are planning to scrap it and start all over again.

The wax artists work from photographs. A request has been made of the Prime Minister for a new set of photos and the official said these likely will be shipped.

U.N. Delegates Hope To End Long Deadlock

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—United Nations delegates today looked anew towards the possibility of ending the long deadlock on new memberships in the world organization.

The latest chance of a break which could boost the number of members from 60 into the 80s came in a report from Washington that the State Department is studying the possibility of having almost universal membership in the U.N.

For two years the east-west tangle has stopped the addition of new members, with Russian vetoes knocking out most of the applications and abstentions by western big powers keeping out Soviet satellite states. Latest Soviet veto was Sept. 15 when Russia's Jacob Malik blocked admission of Japan.

GENERAL MEMBERSHIP

Canada, among other countries, has indicated a growing belief that all sovereign states should be admitted to the U.N.

Communist China and North Korea, however, would be ruled out now since they are both fighting the U.N.

The U.N. charter provides for admission of all states willing and able to carry out the obligations under the charter.

Boys Of Poor Physique More Apt To Be Delinquents

LONDON (CP)—Boys of stunted growth and underweight for their age, especially in homes where the father is not regularly employed, are more prone to juvenile delinquency than those of good physique, says Dr. Thomas Ferguson, professor of public health and social medicine at Glasgow University.

In a survey just completed for the Nuffield Foundation, the professor found delinquency particularly common among boys who at the age of 14 were less than 57 inches in height or under 80 pounds in weight. In contrast, he says, the lowest rate of delinquency was found among lads who had attained a height of around 60 inches and ranged in weight from 71 to 89 pounds by the time they were 14 years.

TOO MUCH MONY

Professor Ferguson's survey also produced these findings:

1. The incidence of juvenile crime is high among those in blind-alley or stop-gap jobs as well as what is called the "butterfly boys"—those who flit from job to job.

2. Youngsters earning the most money get into trouble with the law more frequently.

3. Offspring of the better-educated and skilled parents seldom get into difficulties.

4. Although boys are inclined to waywardness when the father is unemployed, mothers at work do not increase the risk of family delinquency.

5. Detention or whipping do not seem to be effective deterrents.

The report shows that probation has produced better results than mere admonition. The best results, however, came when parents were fined or ordered to stand surety for the good behavior of their children.

Urges Ottawa Cut Taxes In November

HALIFAX (CP)—George Nowlan, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, said last night that when Parliament reassembles Nov. 20 the government should announce reductions in taxes.

His speech was broadcast over the trans-Canada network in the CBC's series "The Nation's Business." Later from Montreal, Henri Courtemanche, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for the Quebec constituency of Labelle, made a similar broadcast over the CBC's French network.

The London airport was used by 25,000 planes with 796,000 passengers in 1951.

Civil Service Have 131,646 Employment

Figures issued by the Bureau of Statistics yesterday showed the civil service at a peak of 131,646 on March 31—up 7,066 compared with a year ago, topping the wartime high of 115,908 and almost tripling the pre-war 1939 figure of 46,106.

The chief increases during the year were in departments associated with the defence program, the bureau said.

During the year under review, the number of permanent and temporary personnel working in Ottawa increased to 32,689 from 30,069. Those located outside Ottawa increased to 98,957 from 94,511.

Norwood Church Setting For Jones-Rooney Nuptials

St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, Norwood, decorated with gladioli and roses was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Brigid Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Rooney of Norwood, and Paul Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Jones of Peterborough.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Fitzgerald of Warkworth and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Coughlin. During the signing of the register, the choir sang "Ave Maria".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown, fashioned with a nylon yoke edged with lace. Her train was also edged with lace and caught up at the front with lily-of-the-valley with lace flounces showing. Her fingertip veil of tulle was caught with a halo of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white mums.

Miss Key Rooney was her sister's bridesmaid. She wore a blue dress fashioned with a brocaded nylon bodice and net skirt with a bustle effect and a matching bolero. Her headdress was of bonnet-shaped blue net and she carried a nosegay of yellow and white mums.

Mr. John Jones was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Gerald O'Neill and Mr. Laverne Jones.

After the ceremony a reception for the bride's mother received in a navy blue crepe dress, navy felt hat and a corsage of white baby 'mums. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy blue crepe dress, light blue felt hat and a corsage of white baby 'mums.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Ottawa and the United States. For travelling the bride chose a corded wool beige suit, brown accessories and a corsage of bronze roses.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Jones will live at 765 Brady Ave.

Ask Ladies To Aid In Canvas

The importance of chest X-rays was emphasized by Mr. Ron Balsam, of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Monday night.

Mr. Balaam was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion, held in the Legion Hall.

Mr. Balaam appealed to the members to act as volunteer canvassers for the city-wide mass X-ray which will take place in November.

He explained that X-ray was the only way to discover tuberculosis in its early stages and as a result is a necessity in effecting cures. He urged everyone, regardless of age, to take advantage of this service, which is made possible by sale of Christmas seals.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. L. Stevens, vice-president, in the absence of Mrs. K. Mason, president, who was attending the provincial convention in Cornwall. She was accompanied by Mrs. C. Parrington, zone commander, Mrs. M. Kenahan and Mrs. J. Grace.

A letter of appreciation was received from Jerry Wood, a Peterborough boy on active service in Tokyo, for a parcel sent to him by the auxiliary.

Mrs. Parsons was the winner of the draw prize. The proceeds from the sale of tickets for the draw will be used to send parcels to local boys on active service.

Grills Sisters Married In Pretty Double Ceremony

St. Luke's Anglican Church was decorated with sheaves of wheat, ferns, maple leaves and yellow and bronze 'mums, to give harvest effect, was the setting for the double wedding Monday afternoon of Donna Birdeen and Barbara Lorraine, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Grills and Keith Cameron Atchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Atchison, and Edward Clifford Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapman.

Donna Birdeen was given in marriage by her father and Barbara Lorraine was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. R. K. Grills. The two brides wore identical gowns of imported Alcon nylon lace over white taffeta fashioned with high necklines and short sleeves. The bodices fitted tightly coming to a point and from which fell floor length bell shaped skirts. They wore gloves of matching lace trimmed in tulle. Their fingertip veils were caught with dainty heart-shaped caps also of matching lace. They carried white prayer books from which fell cascades of white ribbons and mums.

Miss Wanda Grills was her sisters' maid of honor wearing a ceafoam green dress of lustre taffeta styled with a full shirred bodice and falling into a skirt similar to those of the brides'. Her jacket was page boy style, with short sleeves. Her headdress was a band of bronze mums and she carried a semi-cascade of bronze pom-pom mums with strands of wheat.

Miss Berdene Atchison and Mrs. Irene Cook, sisters of the grooms, were bridesmaids. They were gowned identically in apricot rust and their dresses were fashioned similarly to that of the maid of honor. Their headdresses were bands of yellow baby mums and they carried cascades of matching yellow mums and strands of wheat.

Mr. A. M. Atchison of Ottawa and Mr. Frank Chapman of Belleville were groomsmen for their brothers. The ushers were Mr. Ralph Goodfellow and Mr. Bruce Cook.

During the signing of the register and before the ceremony, Miss Pamela Humphrey sang, "O Perfect Love," "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden", and, "Love Divine, All Love Excelling." She was accompanied by Mr. Clark Armstrong at the organ.

The reception was held in the Parish Hall, beautifully decorated with miniature sheaves of wheat, maple leaves, ferns and gold and bronze mums, set off by candle light. The decorations and catering was done by the Ladies' Organ Committee.

The mother of the brides received in a navy blue imported two-piece dress, black accessories touched with coral and a corsage of tea roses. The grooms' mothers assisted. Mrs. Atchison wore a light purple tricotina and lace dress, black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Chapman wore a moss green tricotina dress, brown and green accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

For travelling, Mrs. Atchison chose a navy blue suit and powder blue and navy accessories and Mrs. Chapman, a navy suit with red and navy accessories.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Atchison will live at 477 Mark St., and Mr. and Mrs. Chapman at 334 Rogers St.

ST. ANNE'S SCHOOL

A large number of parents attended the first meeting and graduation exercises sponsored by the St. Anne's School Parents' and Teachers' Association held Monday evening.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. J. F. McGuire, and the valedictory address was read by Nelson Hickey.

Father McGuire explained that in the broadest sense education includes all those experiences by which knowledge is acquired. In the narrower or formal sense it is the work done by agencies or institutions, the church, the home, the school.

A child is born with latent capacities and the most complete education consists in the development of all of them. The church's place in education is by virtue of Christ's purpose in establishing a church and His commission to teach. The home's place is where the child acquires his first knowledge, talking, walking and praying. At this stage, the child's mind is most receptive and as a result a good example in the home is very important.

The school is the helper of the home. In this modern age it is not possible for parents to impart all the formal education required.

These agencies are not separate or independent. Co-ordination of the three produces the best results.

Speaking to the students, Father McGuire said that the young students should aim high to become the best priests, teachers, doctors or the best in whatever calling they choose.

The musical entertainment for the evening was provided by Miss Barbara Craig, who played Curious Story by Schumann and Berceuse by Kjerulf.

What's Right?

You have a house guest who will be with you for a week or two.

WRONG: Feel that you must remember to keep offering the guest something to eat or drink between meals.

RIGHT: Keep drink and something for between meal snacks in the ice box—and show your guest where to find whatever he wants when he wants it.

Betty Allen Pilling Wed In All Saints' Chapel

The chapel of All Saints' Anglican Church was the scene of a quiet wedding Friday afternoon when Betty Allen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter James Pilling, was united in marriage to Andreas C. Kjerulff Moller, son of Mrs. Lusse Nielsen of Rudkobing, Denmark.

The bride wore a turquoise gabardine suit with flared skirt, fitted bodice and puff sleeves, matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of red roses and baby mums.

The bridal attendant, Miss Joy Finnie, was in a rust gabardine suit with matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses and baby mums.

The groomsman was Mr. Floyd Taft.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the Kawartha room of the Empress Hotel. Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Toronto.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Moller will live at 576 Homewood Ave.

Fur Coats, Jackets Feature St. Luke's Fashion Show

Near freezing temperatures in Peterborough Tuesday night very suitably met in P.C.V.S. auditorium by an introduction of all types in the latest of Canadian furs for all types of Canadian winter weather.

The furs were one of the feature attractions of the St. Luke's Anglican Church Fashion Parade sponsored by the Women's Committee of St. Luke's Organ Fund.

There were full length, seven-eighths length and three-quarter length coats; jackets, jacket-capes, cape-jackets and capes of fur and even fur trimmed dresses. And there was every type of fur from mouton to mink and Russian squirrel to Chinese kid.

This fur parade pointed out that furs, as always, are an important item in Miss and Mrs. Canada's wardrobe.

This year's furs are highlighting big cuffs, small shoulders, stiffened collars framing the face and full luxurious backs. There is no skimping in furs this season.

Styles for children were also placed in the forefront in this fashion parade. With the opening of the first curtain of the evening, the audience was delighted to see tiny tots and older children charmingly displaying the latest in party dresses, snow outfits and school ensembles. One young gentleman looked quite dashing in grey flannels and a navy blue blazer.

Different shades of grey were highlighted Tuesday evening whether in suits, dresses or filmy evening gowns. This basic color fitted in quite nicely with the colorful hats that completed ensembles. The hats themselves played

Fur Fabric Processed From Nylon

LONDON (CP)—Smart women will welcome the latest thing in British fur fabrics. It looks like the real thing, and costs a lot less.

Nyleen, a fur fabric processed from nylon, can be made to look as like a real skin as the skin itself. It is light-weight, warm, moth-proof, fire-resistant and washable—and it will not wear out.

Short jackets resembling mink, sable, persian lamb, ocelot and ermine will soon be sold for around £20. A factory in Durham has started production of coats, capes, muffs, stoles and hats.

Britain has been the first to develop nylon "fur" for fashion wear. Canada's Defence Research Board The fabric was first developed by for Arctic wear.

5 New Directors Take Seats On Hospital Board

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Civic Hospital's Women's Auxiliary was held in the conference room Monday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Fanning, president, was in charge. Five new board members were introduced and welcomed by the president. They were: Mrs. C. M. Serson of Lakefield, Mrs. Haig Kelly, Mrs. M. F. Clarkson, Mrs. A. Croasdale and Mrs. W. C. Boate.

The highlights of the membership committee reports were given by Mrs. E. Chambers, convener. She said that the membership drive was well underway with canvassers in districts outside the city which includes Lakefield, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, Lily Lake, Bridgenorth and Stewart Hall.

The flower and decorating committee displayed the favors which have been prepared for thanksgiving trays.

The nurses-in-training committee reported that plans were well underway for a square dance party for the student nurses to be held soon.

Mr. John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, spoke briefly. Wool for booties was handed out at the close of the meeting.

2 W.I. Groups Visit Bridgenorth

BRIDGENORTH (ENS) — The October meeting of the Bridgenorth W.A. was largely attended Tuesday evening with several ladies from Selwyn, and Fairview joined with the Bridgenorth ladies in the newly decorated Sunday school room.

Mrs. J. Johnson of Bridgenorth was in charge of the devotional period. She chose the topic, Our Present Day Bible, and briefly outlined the most outstanding portion of each book.

The scripture texts were read by Mrs. E. Kimble of Fairview and Mrs. Harold McIlmoyle of Selwyn.

A short questionnaire on the Bible was held at the close of the devotional period.

Mrs. C. Hartman, president, was in charge of the business meeting and welcomed the visitors.

Approximately 10 calls were reported by Mrs. C. Telford for the visiting committee.

Mrs. Earl Blewett reported on plans for the turkey dinner to be held Oct. 21 in the church basement.

It was decided that the three boats donated to the Bridgenorth W.A. would be advertised for sale in the paper.

A short discusion on repairs to the parsonage was held with possibility of the three Women's Associations working together.

Lovely refreshments were served by the Bridgenorth ladies.

Betty Arlene Jennings Weds

The marriage took place Saturday in St. Luke's Anglican Church of Betty Arlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jennings, and James Robert Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Canon W. J. Gilling performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a powder blue suit, navy hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and white 'mums.

Miss Joan Northey was the bride's attendant. She wore a navy blue suit, white accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Donald Nelson was groomsman.

After the ceremony a reception was held at The Cedars, the cottage of the groom's parents on Clear Lake. The bride's mother received in a navy crepe dress and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a navy sheer dress and corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip east. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will live at 276 Parkhill Road.

Silver Anniversary Marked By Helen Roger Auxiliary

The twenty-fifth birthday of the Helen Roger Evening Auxiliary of Knox United Church was celebrated at a supper meeting on Monday.

Guests were the Rev. William McDonald, the Rev. H. G. Douglas, three honorary presidents and some former members of the auxiliary.

There were 45 present at this happy event.

The tables were decorated with candles in silver holders, red salvia in silver baskets and a large birthday cake with 25 candles on the head table. This birthday cake, made by a former member, Mrs. R. Hanscom, was then cut in a very pretty ceremony by the honorary presidents.

Mrs. Howard Clegg lit the candles while the minutes of the first meeting were read by Miss Mary Morton. Mrs. H. G. Douglas blew out the candles and Mrs. E. Mesley cut the cake.

The guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. D. Richardson and Mr. McDonald, who was the minister of the church when the auxiliary was formed, replied on behalf of the guests.

Mrs. Richardson quoted from a letter from the 4th honorary president, Miss Annie Crocker, which expressed good wishes for the future success of the auxiliary.

Mrs. H. Clegg reminded the members of the appeal for funds for the building of the new training school for young women workers of the church and urged their support.

The worship service was led by Mrs. J. Donaldson, assisted by Mrs. D. Hubbs who read the scripture. Mrs. Clair Grainger sang a solo accompanied by Miss Phyllis Kidd.

Mr. Douglas introduced the speaker, Mrs. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield who told of her experiences in China on the mission field. Mrs. Tonge also showed many beautiful articles brought from China, demonstrating the wonderful craftsmanship of the Chinese. Mrs. Harold Murduff moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for her interesting address.

Mrs. Stan Whitfield was the convener of the committee in charge of the supper. Her assistants were Mrs. A. Pitchford, Mrs. A. Sproats, Mrs. J. Donaldson, Miss Mary Morton and Mrs. Don Hobbs.

Mrs. A. Gertley was in charge of the table decorations and the C.G.I.T. girls who served the supper were Joan Dunn, Shirley Killingbeck, Grace Sarginson, Anne Menzies, Dorothy Drummond and Beverly McDougall.

Isabel Crary Heads Swimmers

Miss Isabel Crary was elected 1952-53 president of the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club at the meeting of the club held at the home of the past president, Mrs. Betty Welch, 282 Prince St. Tuesday night.

The new officers will be installed by the president of the Canadian Synchronized Swimming Association, Mrs. Peg Seller of Montreal, at the annual birthday party of the club, Nov. 8.

The remaining members of the new executive are: Bev Rummary, first vice-president; Elaine Humphreys, second vice-president; Norma Douglas, recording secretary; Donna Bristow, corresponding secretary; Joan Craig, treasurer; Shirley Moldaver, social convener; Connie Hildebrand, telephone convener; Bettly Welch, membership convener; Mrs. Fred Gant, club chaperone; Mrs. James Young, wardrobe mistress.

The social portion of the meeting took the form of a personal shower for Miss June Storey who is moving to Toronto this week. Miss Storey is one of the charter members of the club and one of the first members to take part in national competition.

DOROTHY DIX

Says Woman Is Better Off Without No-Good Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married for sixteen years and have seven children. My husband is very good at times, but he goes on a drunk for days, often staying out of work for weeks at a time. In this condition, he is absolutely brutal, as he has a very bad temper. When he gets over a spell, he expects us to act as if nothing had happened.

Two years ago I left him and went to my family. They rented a house for us, and a few months later my husband came to live with me. My family continued to pay the rent. My husband's bad habits hadn't changed, so I left the house and went back to my family. This time, they built a house for me. However, they will not allow my husband on the property.

He begs me to take him back and makes all sorts of promises. I do still love him, and wish I could believe in him, but my faith is gone. I applied for a divorce, then had the action dropped. My children and I are getting along fairly well, and they don't want me to go back to him. Even though they need a father, do you think it would be wise to try a reconciliation?

ANSWER: Aren't you being rather specious in looking for an excuse to go back to your no-good husband? Your children may need a father, but certainly the brutal, improvident one you gave them will do them no good. In fact, they have more sense than you do. They don't want him back, and would be justified in leaving home should you elect to put them again in the home atmosphere they have escaped.

FAMILY IS JUSTIFIED

You are certainly fortunate in having such a fine family to back you up, and try to protect you. They are absolutely justified in forbidding your husband to set foot on their property, and you should have some of the same spunk. You know perfectly well that, at this state, your husband will almost surely never change.

If he has an honest intention to reform, let him prove himself first, then go back to him. Apparently drink and a bad temper are at the bottom of his trouble. The first can be cured by a co-operative visit to Alcoholics Anonymous. He will receive sympathetic treatment, but he must be willing to have their assistance, and be earnestly determined to follow it through. Having conquered this hazard, he can go to work on his temper. Since his bad outbursts are occasioned chiefly by too much drinking, he will find one cure automatically taking care of the other. Then he would be in a fit condition to take up his responsibilities as a father and husband.

Until your husband really has a purpose in overcoming his bad habits, he won't change. If you meekly go back and shoulder the burden of family life yourself, he'll let you carry it. When he sees that things aren't going to be made that easy for him again, his manhood may assert itself. I sincerely hope so.

DEAR MISS DIX: Although I'm only 16, I'm in love with a girl 19. She thinks I'm older as I have never told my right age.

D. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When you do tell, she probably will break up with you, which will be the best thing that could happen. At your age, the difference in years to too much.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: For the past two years I have had a great liking for a young man six years my senior. However, through my own stupidity I am afraid I have destroyed any feeling he had for me. I used to telephone him, keeping him on the line for a long time with foolish chatter, in which my friends often joined. Then, for over a year, I heard nothing from him. He is now overseas. I have written to him but received no answer. Do you think he hasn't had time to reply, or is he unwilling to write me?

BEVERLY G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps a few friendly letters to a lonesome soldier may atone for your past foolishness. Write another letter or two, then give him a chance to catch up with the mail. If a total of five or six letters elicits no response, give up hope.

Low-priced dish with priceless FLAVOUR

• Those suffocating "heat waves"—alternating with nervous, clammy feelings — and accompanied often by restless irritability and nervousness — are well-known to women suffering the functionally-caused distress of middle life "change"!

You want relief from such suffering. And—chances are—you can get it. Thrilling relief! With the help of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound!

Yes! That is the evidence of tests by doctors! In such tests—Lydia Pinkham's Compound gave complete or striking relief to their own patients...in case after case!

Is this surprising? Not to the thousands of women who know what Lydia Pinkham's can do!

Actually—its action is very modern. It has a scientifically soothing effect.

Try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound! See if you don't gain blessed relief from those "hot flashes" and weakness common in "change of life"!

How Lydia Pinkham's works

It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to give relief from the "hot flashes" and other functionally-caused distresses of "change of life."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound and Tablets are grand, too, for functional pains, cramps, and "dragged-out" feelings of monthly periods. Thousands of younger women and girls take Pinkham's regularly—throughout the month—for this purpose!

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serving Fillet Of Sole Special Menu

Fillet of Sole with Tomato Sauce
Cauliflower
Diced Buttered Turnip
Finger Salad: Cucumber and Celery Sticks, Stuffed Celery
Chunk Pickles
Spiced Applesauce with Honey
Banana Bran Muffins
Coffee

DIRECTIONS

Brush fillets of sole with melted butter, sprinkle with salt and paprika and place on strips of parchment paper or foil to fit them. Place under very hot broiler and broil on one side until flecked with brown. Turn over onto fresh strips of paper, sprinkle with lemon juice and broil second side until just done. Do not overcook fish. Serve with

ALL-PURPOSE TOMATO SAUCE

Brown gently in 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon each chopped onion, celery and parsley for about 5 minutes. Add 2 cups canned or fresh peeled tomatoes, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, shake of pepper, ½ teaspoon celery salt, 1½ teaspoons minute tapioca and simmer gently for about 20 minues. This is good with any fish and makes a nice sauce for poached eggs on toast when served with a vegetable plate.

Make applesauce but sweeten it with honey (not too much) instead of sugar and add ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and fresly ground nutmeg and tiny shake of cloves. Delicious served warm with

BANANA BRAN MUFFINS

One cup flour, ½ teaspoon each salt and baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 2 tablespoons shortening or margarine, ⅓ cup white sugar, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup all-bran, 2 tablespoons milk, 2 cups thinly sliced or chopped ripe banana. Sift the flour and measure it, then sift it with the salt, soda and baking powder. Cream the shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream well. Beat in the egg, then add the bran and milk. Mix this and allow to stand while you slice the bananas. Add bananas quickly and mix in. Quickly stir in the sifted dry ingredients. Bake in greased muffin tins at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes. These amounts make 12 muffins.

QUESTION: . . . some day publish a recipe for Pumpernickel Rye Bread with Caraway seeds.—Mrs. Gerald J. C.

ANSWER: I have sent all other requests by mail. Thanks for your charming letter.

PUMPERNICKEL RYE BREAD WITH CARAWAY

Mix together 1½ cups lukewarm water, ½ cup molasses, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 tablespoons caraway seed. Crumble into this while warm 3 cakes compressed yeast (OR 3 envelopes granular years and 3 teaspoons sugar), and stir until yeast is dissolved. Add 2 tablespoons very soft shortening. Mix in with a spoon and then, when stiff, with the hand 2¾ cups coarse rye mealy flour (or if not available use ordinary rye flour) and 3½ to 4 cups sifted white bread flour. This dough with rye flour will be sticky so add enough white flour to make it handle easily. Knead on floured board for 5 minutes. Let rise in greased bowl, covered, until doubled in bulk. Knead again and let rise again. (Two risings are necessary with rye flour to get a light and fine texture.) Shape into 2 round or oval or long pointed loaves. Place on large flat baking sheet strewed with a little cornmeal. Let rise until fully doubled. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 40 minutes. To make crust hard, brush with cold water at 5 minute intervals, 3 times, 15 minutes before baking time is up—but work quickly so as not to allow oven temperature to fall.

English Nurses Relieve Shortage

TILLSONBURG (CP)—Two English nurses arrived at Tillsonburg District Memorial Hospital last week—vanguard of an experiment to relieve the current nursing shortage in Ontario.

Tillsonburg is the initiator of what may become a trend in Ontario hospitals. Walter Burrard, former hospital superintendant, got the idea of advertising in English papers last July for nurses who might like to come to Canada. The hospital pays the passage of the nurses to Canada and they in return work on contract for one year, paying back from their salary the amount of passage.

The response to the advertisement was termed "staggering"—70 applications have been received at last count, many from England, some from Ireland and Scotland, two from Denmark and one from Germany. Of this number the hospital wants only 12 and two have arrived.

Women Realtors Do Good Job

TORONTO (CP)—Real estate is one business in which women can compete with men with equal success, Mrs. M. A. Bryan a real estate broker and saleswoman, said yesterday.

Mrs. Bryan is one of about a dozen women realtors attending a three-day real estate convention here.

She admits, however, that as in all other businesses and professions a woman must have just a little more up her sleeve than a man to get equal recognition. But a smart real estate woman, willing to study all aspects of the work, can earn up to $30,000 a year, she said.

Havelock News

Mr. William Puffer is a patient in Mrs. Finley's Nursing Home here.

Mr. James Kerr of California spent a week with his mother Mrs. William Stevenson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peacock of Cordova Mines are in Detroit, Mich., attending the bedside of their daughter Mrs. William Miller who has undergone a serious operation.

Mrs. D. Stevenson has received work that her granddaughter, Mrs. Randle Cole (nee Glenore Stevenson) formerly of Havelock, is a patient in the Grader Hospital at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Miss Lois Wilde, Miss Lois McKay, Robert Watson, Albert Smith, James Chase and Kenneth Nobes motored to Hamilton on Sunday to visit Miss Nancy Curtis who is a patient in hospital there.

Mrs. W. Stevenson and granddaughters Evelyn and Margaret Ann Stevenson spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Allison at Peterborough.

Hats This Fall And Winter Dominated By Ancient Past

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—Hats this fall and winter, as far as London designers are concerned, will be dominated by a hearkening back to the past.

Crowns extend almost horizontally, sometimes to be rounded off in a manner reminiscent of the old-time Chignon.

Ribbons making circles around outstanding crowns serve to emphasize the Chignon effect. One sophisticated white poodle pannelled hat was trimmed with a single black velvet ribbon passed around the "chignon" and a very wide mesh eye-brow length veil just across the forehead.

A black velvet jelly bag in the same collection had a drape at the back which could be opened out to do duty as a smart shoulder cape on cold days.

ELIZABETHAN NOTE

The season's Elizabethan note was struck by a black velvet bonnet trimmed with jet which obviously had its origin in the days of "Good Queen Bess."

Another version of this type of bonnet, designed for cocktail and evening wear, was topped by an Elizabethan cornet.

Feathers are used liberally to trim hats destined for day and evening wear. At least one model, in sunset red velvet, suggests its own name—Cockscomb.

With Egypt so much in the news, it is perhaps only natural that milliners should turn to that country for inspiration. One hat, in dusky pink, is inspired by the Spinx, a turban takes its name from Cleopatra's favorite colors for the soft peach bloom felts which make a majority of the winter models, are desert sand an Nile blue.

Pinedew green is a new shade for shoes introduced by Rayne, the Queen's shoemaker, in lizard, suede and calf to tone with the dark greens so popular with London's top dressmakers this season.

NEW MATERIALS

The influence of the dressmakers is seen in the materials used for the latest shoes as well as in the colors used. Smart black velvet bound with gold kid, a new green patent leather, grosgrain, satin and nylon mesh are all used by Rayne for the latest symmetrical evening sandals.

While most of the day models have closed toes, the tendency for evening shoes is towards the more comfortable open toes—and wide open ones at that. Many models show four and even five toes.

• Now's your chance to get Noxzema at a real saving! For a limited time only, you can get the big 6-ounce jar of Noxzema Skin Cream for only 98¢—and save ⅓ over smaller sizes!

You'll realize what a grand opportunity this really is, once you find out how many ways Noxzema can help you and your family. You'll discover dozens of uses for this greaseless, medicated skin cream that's a family stand-by in millions of Canadian homes.

Don't wait! Stock up now! Get your supply of Noxzema today—at any drug or cosmetic counter. Get the big 6-ounce jar for only 98¢—save ⅓ during this Limited Time Offer!

All-purpose beauty cream. For a softer, smoother, lovelier complexion, follow the Noxzema Home Facial. Morning and night, apply Noxzema. Then, with a damp cloth, "cream-wash" your face just as with soap and water. Noxzema's greaseless—actually washes off with water! Use it as a make-up base. Looks so natural! And as your night cream, too!

Chapped skin. Red, rough, chapped skin is just as painful as it is common. But here's quick relief for you and your family in your jar of Noxzema! This medicated cream quickly soothes raw, sore, chapped skin. It helps heal tiny surface cuts and cracks. It supplies a cool, protective film of oil-and-moisture to skin's outer surface. And it's greaseless!

Skin trouble relief. Noxzema is medicated, to help heal blemishes and minor skin irritations. It quickly soothes, relieves and helps heal kitchen burns... and it's grand for skin that's red, rough and painful, due to wind and weather. Women like the way Noxzema softens, smooths rough elbows and knees. See how it helps soothe and heal sore, ragged cuticle, too! Use it for all minor skin irritations.

Baby's skin. Noxzema is ideal for tender, young skin because it's so mild, yet so effective. It quickly and safely soothes and relieves rashes, painful chafing and chapped hands and face. Whenever baby's skin becomes irritated from these causes, gentle Noxzema helps him feel comfortable again—quickly. And Noxzema is greaseless—won't stain clothes. Always keep a jar in the nursery!

Potato Prices May Be Higher

Prices received by growers for the 1951 bumper yield of some 18,000,000 bushels went up to $10 a barrel. They may go even higher for this year's crop. A predicted shortage in the United States and reduced New Brunswick production are expected to improve the market.

Heavy spring rains followed by drought dealt a blow to the yield in this province. Growers estimate the crop will be about 25 per cent less than that of 1951. The quality, however, is reported excellent.

The average yield last year was about 125 barrels an acre. Growers believe it will be nearer 100 barrels this season. Farmers spend close to $3 to grow and harvest each barrel of potatoes.

Fur Coats, Jackets Feature

an important part with all the emphasis on the small styles.

But bright dashing colors were also prominent and especially so as the fussier after-five dresses came on stage. One of the particularly gay dresses styled with a very full skirt, black velvet bodice, narrow shoulder straps and black velvet, striped taffeta, lined bolero. The crowning touch was a large red poppy at the waist.

Another eye-catching ensemble was a black velvet suit with large rounded lame lapels and lame cuffs, peg-top skirt and completed with shining rhinestone buttons.

One of the interesting and unique features of this fashion parade was the inclusion of more matronly styles. Very chic gowns for the little older women for both afternoon and evening wear played a prominent part in this showing of styles. Here too, as was the case all through the evening, attractive jewellery nicely complemented each dress and suit.

The real drama of the evening came with the modelling of the 1952-53 styles in evening gowns. A very charming effect was achieved here by displaying the gowns in a ballet scene with the young models gracefully circling to display their beautiful dresses.

Always very feminine, these gowns emphasized the trend towards filmy net over taffeta with full skirts and taffeta over velvet bodices in contrasting or deeper shades. Here the latest fashion fad of colors sprayed on the hair added to the general effect.

Tuesday evening's bride was gowned in nylon net over shimmering satin, fashioned with a full skirt, fitted satin bodice and heart shaped neckline. Her fingertip veil was caught in a cap-like headdress. The bridesmaids; both gowned in a rich bronze velvet gave a true autumn wedding picture. Their gowns were fashioned with long hiplines and full skirts. Their hats were in matching velvet and they carried bouquets of yellow mums.

The collegiate stage was attractively arranged for this fashion parade with a window backdrop effect of colorful drapes and net. A huge brilliantly colored bouquet of mums centred with a golden horse followed the color theme and modern Swedish furniture blended into the total picture.

The commentary for the evening was extremely well done by Mrs. W. J. Gilling, convener of the fashion parade, who discussed the fashion highlights without the aid of notes. Charming background music was provided by Miss Eleanor Watson at the piano.

Canon W. J. Gilling welcomed the near-capacity audience and explained that the proceeds from the fashion parade were to be added to the fund to purchase a new organ for St. Luke's Church. During intermission, Canon Gilling made the draws for the door prizes. The following were the winners: Mrs. J. Burke, Miss June merritt, Miss Whitsed, Mrs. E. Graham, Mrs. G. Brown, Mrs. M. Fallis, Miss Olive Armstrong, Miss Betty Daley.

This fashion parade is well worth the second showing which will take place at the collegiate tonight.

Miss Alice Curtis is convener of the children's show, Mrs. D. Walker, convener of child models; Mrs. R. Greenley, convener of adult models; Mrs. D. Wyatt, assistant convener; Mrs. C. Hope, ticket convener; Mrs. G. Maniece [illegible] idson, stage furnishings; Mr. R. Krant, stage manager; Mr. Keith Stewart, assistant stage manager.

The fashions for the show came from the following: Lyda Telford, gowns and suits; Ogla Haskill, hats; Hamilton's, furs; Miss Carey, handbags and gloves; Miss Alice Curtis, children's wear; Ostranders, jewellery; Joan's Beauty Salon, hairstyling; Elizabeth Arden, make-up. The stage furnishings were from Comstock's and the flowers from Morrow's.

Adult models were: Mrs. B. Duder; Mrs. W. Merrett; Mrs. J. Rogers, Mrs. A. Dalton Mrs. H. Morrison, Mrs. D. Worboy, Mrs. W. Davies, Mrs. A. Leach; Mrs. F. Batten, Miss Joan Gardiner, Miss Anita Mason, Miss Ola McCauley, Miss Betty Merrit; Miss Beverley Pollock, Miss Norma Bond, Miss Eleanor Biddle, Miss Diane Pearce and Miss Drenna Greenley.

The child models were: Nancy Joyes, Darlene Gates, Linda Hope, Mary Gemmell, Susie and Janie Mason, Jack Groombridge, Frank Perry, Margaret Pulver, Lorraine Pammett, Charlene Hutchings, Robert Hutchings, Harry Willis, David Darwin, Sherianne Greenly, David Trennum, Margaret Stewart, Sally Powell, Helen Hamilton, Linda and Carol Morrison, Phyllis Storey, Patsy Roberts, Jacqueline Galvin, Margaret Vint, Myla Dinesen.

The dressers were: Mrs. F. Watson, Mrs. K. Hamley, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. J. Taylor, Miss Pearl Mitchell, Mrs. Dunford, Mrs. H. Delong, Mrs. H. Starr, Mrs. R. Sanderson and Miss F. Legon.

The assistants for dressing child models were: Mrs. K. Stewart, Mrs. M. Perry, Mrs. L. Groombridge, Mrs. J. Gemmell, Mrs. F. Darwin, Mrs. S. Pammett, Mrs. H. Willis, Mrs. C. Hope, Mrs. S. Vint, Mrs. J. Trennum; Mrs. Pulver, Mrs. C. Joyce, Miss Marilyn Vint, Miss E. Cutmore.

The convener of ushers was Mrs. R. Krant. The ushers were: Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. Muir, Miss Edith Miller, Mrs. C. Hamilton, Mrs. Hardill, Mrs. King, Miss Marlyn Hamilton, Mrs. W. Wiltshire, Mrs. Hutchins, Mrs. White, Mrs. Harrison, Miss R. Wickenden, Mrs. Mapiece, Mrs. Northey, Mrs. A. Long and Mrs. M. Mesley.

Home and School Association News

HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK (ENS).—"Thanksgiving" was the subject of an address by the Rev. R. G. Newman, delivered at the meeting of the Home and School Association on Monday evening. Many people think of the observance of Thanksgiving as connected only with the arrival of the Pilgrim Fathers on the American continent, Mr. Newman said, but before the time of Christ, the Hebrew people had a very large place in their lives for thanksgiving. This is very evident in the Psalms, as so many of them give place to praise and thanksgiving. This praise was taken over by the Christian church. He then dealt with the feasts of the Israelites, especially the Feast of Weeks and the Feast of the Tabernacle. The latter lasted seven days and was kept after the harvest was gathered in. The Israelites dwelt during the seven days in booths made from branches and leaves of trees woven together. This was done in commemoration of their wanderings and deliverance.

Mrs. Walter Nobes, Sr., the health convener, gave a talk on the subject "What does good mental health mean?" Mrs. W. Goadsby was the soloist with Mrs. D. Kirk at the piano. A period of community singing was enjoyed. Mrs. F. McKay, a former program convener, presided.

During the business session the president, Mrs. B. Johnson, announced the appointment of the following officers: Program convener, Mrs. J. Beatty; music convener, Mrs. G. Kennedy; social convener, Mrs. F. Chase.

The attendance shield and prize of $1 was won by Miss E. Clarke's room. After refreshments were served, the parents had the opportunity of going through the school and viewing the children's work and talking with the teaching staff.

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

The November meeting of the Rifle Range Home and School Association was held in the school Monday evening, with the president, Mrs. W. Amos, presiding.

"Thanksgiving" was the theme of the devotional period taken by Mrs. B. Neeley. A Thanksgiving prayer was sung by Ellen Tyndall, Brenda Metcalfe, Gwenyth Hope and Florence Brinson.

The guest speaker, Mrs. W. C. Steinkrauss, president of the Local Council of Women, was introduced by Mrs. W. Muir. Mrs. Steinkrauss' topic was "The English Language, Its Uses and Abuses."

Our language has come down through the ages, starting with the Bible quotation, "In the beginning was the Word." Our basis of living is the Bible and good citizenship result by following the rules and Christian principles found in the Bible. She commended religion being taught in the schools in order that children may be educated in moral and spiritual values.

Our language is the most adaptable, most used and versatile, being spoken the length and breadth of the universe. It has done much to influence and raise the standard of living the world over.

The recording of past history has been invaluable in medical science, scientific endeavors and also penal reforms.

She stressed the oral touch, encouraging children to give verbal expression through story-telling, and urged cultivation of our language by developing good reading habits. One can continue education by reading. Parents should supervise their children's reading, guiding and providing them with the better literature. Cultivating good reading habits while young will provide hours of relaxation in later years. Teachers often notice that a good reader will be a good student. Medical men now encourage reading as an aid to convalescence.

We should show an appreciation of our language by being careful of what we say. We little know how far-reaching our remarks may be. A kind word of encouragement given at the right time has guided many men to do great things.

Mrs. M. Humphries thanked Mrs. Steinkrauss for her most interesting talk.

OMEMEE

OMEMEE (ENS)—The October meeting of [illegible] and School was [illegible] supper. It was held Monday evening in the basement of Trinity United Church, with the president, Mrs. George Stephenson, as mistress of ceremonies. The association was welcomed by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, minister of the church, and a sing-song was led by W. D. Weir, Mrs. Les Casey accompanying.

The president welcomed the non-members and made an appeal for increased membership, reminding them of the slogan "Every parent a member by the end of November." Reports were heard and the following announcements made: The Royal Tour film will be shown in Coronation Hall on October 25; the November meeting of Home and School will be "just for fun"; and some time in the near future—date announced later —the picture "Great Expectations" will be enjoyed for a small fee.

Mrs. [illegible] librarian of the Victoria County Library, who was to have been guest speaker at the supper, but was prevented by illness. To compensate for the lack of a speaker five short National Film Board pictures of varied interests were shown.

Another interesting feature was the presentation of awards to the boys and girls who successfully completed junior, intermediate and senior swimming courses in the past summer, under the instruction of Mrs. Pansy Forbes. The presentations were made by Mrs. Russell Rawlins. Receiving awards were: Juniors — Susan Ross, Joan Dixon, Crystal James, Carolyn Morrison, Darlene Nelson, Hazel McGill, Terry Ruttle, Glen Hyland, Johnnie Parker; intermediates—Sandra McNeil, Marilyn McQuade, Yvonne Parker, Elaine Rawlins, David Ross, George Dixon, Duncan Lennox, Rollin Richmond, Glen Fletcher; seniors—Marilyn Hart, Verna Zufelt, Jean Hyland, Eva Morrison, Bruce Lennox, Roger Lennox, Grant Hart.

A vote of thanks moved by Miss Marion Rea and seconded by Mrs. Ross Rehill was extended to social convener Mrs. George Smith and her committee and to Neil Skuce and his assistant Jerry Nelson for operating the projector.

2 British Papers Criticize 'Miserable' Sum Given POW's

LONDON (AP) — Two Conservative newspapers today criticize the £15 bonus British war prisoners of the Japanese are to get later in the year as "shockingly inadequate" and a "miserable sum."

The Daily Mail and the Express compare the compensation—which works out to about three pence (four cents) a day each British P.O.W. spent as a captive of the Japanese — with what U.S. prisoners got.

Under the U.S. war claims act, American P.O.W.s are paid $1 for each day they spent in prison camps. The payments average about $1,110 for each U.S. prisoner of the Japanese.

The Express describes the payments to Britons, which are to come from Japanese assets frozen in Britain, as a "debt of dishonor" and says:

"The Japanese act as if, with the payment of £15, they have liquidated their obligations to the men they beat and tortured and to the widows of the men they treated as less than cattle.

"Let them (the Japanese) understand they have done no such thing. Let them realize that no matter what the British government says, there will be in the hearts of the British people an anger that will not even begin to subside until the debt is paid in full."

The Mail says the award is "shockingly inadequate" and adds:

The Japanese are living a 'soft' peace. . . They can certainly afford to pay more for their misdeeds than the miserable sum now made available. . ."

Stevenson Turning Fire On McCarthy Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois turned his campaign artillery on Senator Joseph McCarthy in McCarthy's home state today as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower fought back against biting criticism from President Truman on foreign policy.

Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, moved into Wisconsin after telling an overflow audience in Detroit that McCarthy failed to turn up a single Communist with "wild and reckless" charges.

Eisenhower, the Republican standard-bearer, struck back at Truman's accusation he once imperiled U.S. security when the general said Russia wanted peace by recalling that the President in 1948 referred to Joseph Stalin as "good old Joe."

Truman, whistle - stopping through Colorado yesterday, said he used to think Eisenhower was qualified for the presidency but "I am now convinced that I was absolutely wrong."

TRAILS CRISS-CROSS

The campaign trails of four major party leaders criss-cross today as Truman and Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, ride in the same parade at Shenandoah, Iowa, and Eisenhower and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee speak in San Francisco.

Senator Richard Nixon, Republican vice - presidential nominee, charged that Truman and State Secretary Dean Acheson are trying to "destroy the reputation" of a great American—Eisenhower — and Senator John Sparkman, his Democratic counterpart, said he doubted if Eisenhower can ever get his Republican team to work together if he is elected.

Stevenson launched his attack on McCarthy in Detroit last night and continued it today. Saying that McCarthy's attacks had failed to turn up a single Red, the governor added:

JOB FOR PROFESSIONALS

"Catching real Communist agents, like killing poisonous snakes or tigers, is not a job for amateurs or children, especially noisy ones. It is a job for professionals who know their business and their adversaries."

Today, in a speech prepared for delivery in Milwaukee, he said:

"I hope the time will never come in America when charges are taken as the equivalent of facts, when suspicions are confused with certainties and when the voice of the accuser stills every other voice in the land."

He said "pillorying of the innocent has caused the wise to stammer and the timid to retreat."

Stevenson has chided Eisenhower for supporting McCarthy's bid for re - election despite the senator's attack on the patriotism of Gen. George C. Marshall, the Republican nominee's old friend.

Mrs. Ellen Carroll

Solemn requiem mass was sung Tuesday for Mrs. Ellen Carroll, 94, last surviving relative of Matthew Young, one of the founders of Young's Point. Celebrant was her son, the Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood.

Deacon was the Very Rev. J. J. Garvey of Hastings, sub-deacon was the Rev. K. A. Malane of Bowmanville, and the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, performed the rite of absolution.

Service was held in St. Mary's Church, Young's Point, and burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, where Msgr. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay said graveside prayers.

Pallbearers were: Fred Young, Charles Young, Frank Scollard, Ronald MacPherson, L. H. Charbonneau, Vincent Hayes..

Ernest David Fife

Funeral services for Ernest David Fife who died Friday were held Monday from his home in Otonabee Township. The Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church officiated, assisted by the Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene United Church.

Many friends and relatives filled the home and some were forced to wait outside during the service.

Pallbearers were Stewart Lang, Dalton Stewart, James Barrie, Fred Fife, Preston Armstrong and Boyd Renwick.

Burial was in Fife's Cemetery.

Rival Unions

union abuse—he said: "As for the strikers at Deloro, we wish them well. Our union is even willing to assist them if they need the money."

Thibault traced the history of fighting between Mine-Mill and the Steelworkers in recent years.

After a bitter attack on Ralph Carlin, former Mine-Mill organizer in Sudbury, Thibault said: "We finally had to kick Millard, Carlin and his crowd out of town."

"KICK THEM OUT"

"Let's kick them out of here, too," shouted a member of the [illegible]

Shifting his point of attack, Thibault asked the workers to start a petition asking the federal government to step in and try to end the strike. He pointed out that the Deloro plant was partly on defence production and it was in the government's interests to

Rescue 2 Survivors From Wreckage Death Toll Now 94

HARROW, England (CP)—The death toll in Britain's triple train crash rose to at least 94 today as rescue workers searched through two splintered coaches at the bottom of a 50-foot mound of debris. They died in yesterday's fantastic collision of two express trains and a suburban local in the Harrow rail station. Estimates of the injured ranged as high as 200. Fourteen bodies were dug out of the mass of twisted steel and splintered wood today and another victim, one of the many injured, died in hospital. Doctors said the first basket of mangled remains taken from the wreck contained three and possibly five persons.

One man was brought out alive at 7 a.m. today. He had been entombed in steel and wood for nearly 24 hours. Yesterday afternoon a survivor was pulled out after eight hours.

STILL MANY TRAPPED

A fire brigade official, helping to slice through the tons of twisted steel, said this morning: "There are still many people trapped. We do not know how many, may be alive."

British railways announced a private inquiry will be opened tomorrow into the crash, second worst in this country's history. No clue as to the cause has been given. Some newspapers hinted that the "human element" might be at fault.

The wreck occurred yesterday morning at the Harrow and Wealdstone station, just outside London. A sleeper express from Scotland, travelling at a 70-mile-an-hour clip, plunged into the rear coaches of a stationary local train. Seconds later, a business men's express hit the wrecked engines and coaches in its path, slewed across the station platform and overturned.

RESCUE WORKERS MOVE about the wreckage of a train crash at Harrow, England, which occurred on Wednesday morning killing 94 and injuring 200. Two survivors have been found in the wreckage spurring rescuers in the hope others trapped under the debris may still be alive.. Officials fear the death toll may top 100. In this photo smoking wreckage lies piled against the footbridge and buildings in the background, while in the foreground is the twisted wreckage of the locomotive which hurdled across the tracks killing scores of commuters standing on the platform.

Pleads Guilty To 4 Other Charges; Got $93,023 Loot

TORONTO (CP)—Edwin Alonzo Boyd today pleaded guilty to nine charges ranging from car theft to bank robbery. Boyd, 37, to date has been convicted of two holdups and pleaded guilty to a third. Charges to which he pleaded guilty today are five of bank robbery, one of attempted bank robbery, one jail escape and two charges of car theft. Banks which Boyd today admitted robbing: A northeast Toronto branch of the Bank of Commerce, $2,862, Jan. 18, 1950; northeast Toronto branch of the Dominion Bank, $1,954, July 4, 1950; Bank of Montreal, $2,256, Sept. 9, 1949, and $3,021 March 19, 1951; Dominion Bank, $12,234, Oct. 16, 1951.

He also admitted the attempted robbery in October two years ago of a branch of the Imperial Bank when a stolen car was used in the escape.

He already has been convicted of the Leaside bank robbery and has pleaded guilty to robbing the Dominion Bank on Sheppard ave., and the Bank of Montreal at College and Manning.

In addition he has been convicted of breaking and escaping jail in November, 1951, and of automobile theft.

The total amount of cash stolen in the seven bank robberies in which Edwin Boyd has admitted or been convicted of taking part in now stands at $93,023.

Solandt Lauds British Work On Atomic Blast

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Dr. O.M. Solandt, chairman of Canada's Defence Research Board who witnessed last week's atomic weapon test on the Monte Bello islands, today praised British work in "getting so much information (from the explosion) in so short a time."

He said the number of scientists present was only a fraction of the number at the United States Bikini tests. He was particularly impressed by the ingenious methods used by the Britons to measure the effects of last week's explosion.

Solandt said animals on and around Monte Bello were "surprisingly little harmed" by the test. Many birds and sharks were seen near the site of the explosion immediately after the test.

UNOFFICIAL REPORT

Solandt will fly to Canada Sunday to make an unofficial report on the test to the Canadian chiefs of staff.

"I sincerely hope," he said, "that the success of the test will bring about closer co-operation between Britain and the United States on these matters."

His job at Monte Bello was a civil defence survey to determine what effects the explosion would have had on humans in the area.

He said today no observers had been close enough to the blast to require special safety precautions.

39 Men Lost In Plane Crashes

Thirty-nine men were lost in plane crashes reported Wednesday from three continents.

A crash of a four-engined R.A.F. Coastal Command plane in the sea off northern Scotland Wednesday claimed the greatest number of lives. Three men aboard the plane have been officially listed as dead and 11 others are believed to be dead.

Searching parties are still seeking trace of a U. S. Air Force B-29 which disappeared with eight men Tuesday off the northeast coast of Hokkaido. An oil slick has been found.

Another U. S. A. F. plane with 11 persons aboard, was reported by the U. S. Civil Aeronautics Administration to have crashed near Mulloy, Ore., about 20 miles south of Portland.

Also on Wednesday, the U. S. Navy reported that six of 12 occupants of a patrol plane were killed when the plane crashed Monday while attempting to land at the U. S. naval air station at Argentia, Nfld.

Chiang Nearing 66 Confident Of Victory

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek is approaching his 66th birthday still as confident as ever that his forces will one day return to the lost China mainland.

Friends say the Generalissimo gradually is delegating more authority. He is devoting more time to key persons he regards as future administrators of mainland China.

The Chinese Nationalist president will be 66 Oct. 31. The third birthday Chiang will have spent on his island bastion since quitting the mainland.

Close associates say the years have mellowed him. He is considered "more understanding and more philosophical."

As careful a diarist as Boswell ever was, Chiang never goes to bed without making a full record of the day and his reflections on it.

Drive Chinese Off Peak, Shelling Heavy

By STAN CARTER

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean troops early today stormed through a hail of Red fire and drove Chinese forces from atop White Horse Hill, focal point of battle in the big Communist drive north of Seoul.

A front-line officer reported the weary South Koreans seized the summit at 12:30 a.m., with four quick stabs after inching "foot by foot" up the slope, scarred and pitted by violent artillery barrages.

A U.S. officer estimated the Reds had lost 8,000 killed and wounded in three days of fighting around White Horse. A Chinese division usually numbers about 10,000.

Up to 15,000 Reds attacked across the western and central fronts Monday night in the biggest Communist offensive since May, 1951. Heavy fighting has continued in other sectors, but the main Red effort now is directed at White Horse.

NO VITAL POINT LOST

The battered force of South Koreans on White Horse battled an estimated two Chinese regiments.

"The men's morale is very high, which he said were being sent incessantly into Russia.

[illegible] reported Maj.-Gen. Kim Chong Oh, commander of the republic's 9th division. "Their stand has been valiant and exemplary. We will hold our front at all costs."

POSITION CHANGED OFTEN

The South Koreans fought the Chinese with grenades, rifle butts and bayonets in a see-saw battle in which the crest changed hands more than a dozen times.

Decorated For Daring Patrol

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian lieutenant and corporal in Korea have received high military awards for leading a daring daylight patrol into Chinese positions and bringing back the 25th Brigade's first prisoner in several months. Lieut. H. R. Gardner, 25, of Arnprior, the patrol leader, has been awarded the Military Cross and Cpl. Karl E. Fowler, 24, of Kingston, has won the Military Medal. The honors were presented in the field to the two members of the Royal Canadian Regiment. Their citations, released by the army yesterday, tell how they led a six-man patrol to a Communist position as daylight was breaking and carried off a prisoner despite Chinese fire.

Lieut. Gardner and Cpl. Fowler, covered by their four companions, moved to within 75 yards of an enemy kitchen area and water point. They broke a communication wire and waited for someone to come along to check the break.

One Chinese soldier appeared. Lieut. Gardner slugged him with a blackjack while Cpl. Fowler pinned his arms. The captured soldier yelled, despite repeated blows on his head, and bit Lieut. Gardner's finger when the officer tried to choke him.

It took nearly 30 blows to subdue the prisoner and even then he never lost consciousness, Gardner said.

He added:

"As we stood near their water point the Chinese soldier passed us. We noticed wire on the ground and broke it.

"Within five minutes the soldier came down the hill checking the wire. As he turned to examine the break, I hit him over the head with the blackjack. Cpl. Fowler pinned his arms. He was crying out loudly so I struck him again and again. He refused to be silenced or pass out.

"I tried to gag him but each time he spit it out and once bit my finger.

Discover Ambush Attempt Against Duchess Of Kent

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Troops guarding the Duchess of Kent on her visit to Malaya today bared an ambush attempt by the Communist underground. A guerrilla band dug concealed slit trenches overlooking a road to be taken by the Royal party. Army headquarters at Kuala Lumpur said troops discovered the ambush Tuesday just before the party was due to pass.

But the Communists, estimated at about 50 men, had fled, apparently warned of the guards' approach.

The Duchess, 45 - year - old widowed aunt of the Queen, has been touring guerrilla-infested Malaya with her 17-year-old son, the present Duke, since last week.

The jungle was searched 150 yards deep on either side of the 40-mile road from Kuala Lumpur to Kuala Kubu.

The terrorists' camps were found in the heart of Kanching Pass overlooking the winding road.

Firing positions and observation posts were marked in ideal ambush positions.

PLANES STRAFE AREA

In the week before the Duchess arrived, the whole of the terrorist-infested areas betwen Kuala Lumpur and Kuala Kubu had been extensively patrolled, bombed and strafed by planes.

This precautionary barrage may have driven the [illegible]

Though the strictest security precautions were taken, it was obvious that there was every likelihood that the Duchess would travel the route.

Terrorists have been known to wait in ambush as much as a week for a specific target.

The Duchess and her son meanwhile today completed a four-day visit to Malaya and flew back to Singapore from Kuala Lumpur.

The Malayan capital gave the royal visitors a rousing farewell. Thousands of Chinese, Malay and Indian children with flags and banners lined almost the entire four-mile route to the airport.

Bombers Smash Kowon Targets

TOKYO (AP)—Ten U. S. B-29 Superforts teamed up with 132 navy and air force planes in a mass daylight raid Wednesday and left targets in northwest Korea in flaming ruins.

The raid on Kowon was one of the largest of the war for the U.S. navy. It sent in 108 planes from three carriers.

Kowon, Red supply and communications centre, lies near Korea's east coast about 25 miles north of the battered Red port of Wonsan.

Air force and navy releases today said F-86 Sabre jets and navy [illegible] planes swarmed in [illegible] target. The raiders met no enemy fighters or ground fire.

The B-29s flew in a "tight battle formation" and dropped their bombs visually on a supply target area 10,000 by 2,600 feet in size, the Far East Air Forces said.

As the Superforts pulled away, navy planes unleashed their bomb loads on marshalling yards, bridges and rail lines.

Western Unity Forces Reds To Shift-Eden

SCARBOROUGH, England (AP) Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today that western unity has forced Russia to shift its propaganda emphasis.

In a speech to the Conservative party's annual conference, Eden said:

"There has been some progress in the world situation during the past year, and it is now possible to detect a certain shift of emphasis in Communist propaganda. They are now relying on their old belief that the capitalist world will tear itself apart.

"We hope that we are now within measurable distance of having the means to prevent any attack on the west."

The explosion of Britain's new atomic weapon in the Monte Bello islands is "also a deterrent to war," he added.

"The Soviets are perhaps beginning to doubt whether we can be destroyed by direct methods."

DIFFERENCES OF OPINION

Eden said of western unity: "We have no illusions about its difficulties in practise. It is an essential of democratic association that it should spring from a variety of thought. But differences of opinion do loom disproportionately large."

He told the conference that Britain must have financial solvency as well as the military power to repel aggression. "We cannot claim the status of a partner unless we can stand on our own feet. Solvency and industrial peace are both indispensible in the international field."

Eden's warnings that Britain must struggle to remain solvent were echoed by Defence Minister Earl Alexander.

Alexander told the Conservatives: "We cannot afford military security at the expense of national bankruptcy. We must discriminate between those things which are absolutely essential and those which are less important."

Crosses Channel On Motorcycle

Monneret rode the bike from Paris to the port of Calais. There he hopped off, bolted on the pontoons and started off across the 20-mile stretch of water.

About six hours later he chugged up to the beach here, shed the floats, and headed for London.

Trailer Wedged Damage $15,000

PRESCOTT (CP) — A Halifax-bound tractor-trailer wedged itself into an underpass near here early today when the driver was blinded by oncoming headlights.

No one was injured but damage to the tea and margarine laden refrigerator truck, owned by Veterans Produce of Welland, Ont., was estimated at $15,000.

The accident occurred on No. 2 highway about 18 miles east of Brockville.

400 Speeders Bagged In Etobicoke Township

TORONTO (CP) — Some 400 summonses for speeding have been issued in suburban Etobicoke township since Monday, Sgt. Harold Hill [illegible] sion said today.

A drive against speeders began after a tally showed September was the area's blackest accident month of the year. Since school opening five children have been injured and two still are in hospital. Fourteen traffic deaths were recorded in area this year.

Erection Of Wig-Wag Suggested At Crossing

STURGEON FALLS (CP)—Erection of "wig-wag" or some other type of warning signal at a level-crossing at nearby Verner was recommended yesterday by a coroner's jury at an inquiry into the deaths of Henry C. Haskins, 53, and Edward Donald Lapworth, 24. The two were killed Sept. 18 in a level-crossing accident at Verner.

Communists Told 3rd War Will Finish US As Power

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin [illegible] 19th all-union Communist party congress last night that a third world war would finish the United States as a fighting power.

Bulganin and Britain's Communist chief, Harry Pollitt, joined the parade of speakers to the podium of the congress — apparently the largest meeting of Communist leaders in history — after Maxim Z. Saburov, chairman of the state planning commission, outlined objectives of the current five-year plan.

Emphasizing the strength of the Soviet Union, Bulganin predicted that if "American aggressors" kindle the flame of a new world war, it will be their last one. The deputy premier however, appealed for still further strengthening of the Soviet state.

Pollitt stressed principally the significance of the congress for workers of the world. The British Red leader is one of at least 115 delegates here from Communist parties of 45 foreign countries. Observers recall no previous Communist gathering that included so many leaders, or such a number from so many different countries.

CANADIAN DELEGATE

Moscow newspapers disclosed today that Deputy Premier Lavrenty P. Beria (head of the Soviet police organization), has called for vigilance against American spies, today — Beria declared:

"The vigilance of the Soviet people is the keenest weapon in the struggle against enemy infiltrators and there is no doubt that by heightening and sharpening their vigilance, the Soviet people will be able to render harmless agents of the imperialist warmongery, no matter how many they send to us and no matter how they disguise them."

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Beria also confidently predicted the Soviets would triumph in any future war.

"If any enemy dares to come at us with war, then the Soviet people, standing at the head of the camp of peace and democracy, will be able crushingly to repulse any grouping of aggressive imperialist states and be able to defeat and tame the rampant aggressors and warmongers."

The congress has been told that the Soviet Union is a bulwark of peace and, with the Communist world rallied around it, can stave off war. No speaker has made the suggestion that the world actually is on the brink of war.

The impression has been given that the chief task for the Soviet is to proceed with the new five-year plan, which already has been in operation for 18 months. The 1,192 voting delegates also are taking up a proposed reorganization of the party administration.

Poughkeepsie Tremor Felt By Hundreds

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Hundreds of persons reported being shaken here yesterday, and a seismologist later said it was a "ground disturbance."

Police here said callers from all parts of the city reported feeling the shock, and a hospital building was shaken. No injuries were reported.

Rev. Joseph Lynch, seismologist at Fordham University in New York city, said he had recorded a ground disturbance at 28 seconds after 4:41 p.m. EST, about 45 miles north of New York City.

More Equitable Sharing Of Burden In Korea Badly Needed Trygve Lie Informs Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, said yesterday there should be a "more equitable sharing of the burdens" of the Korean war.

Lie did not amplify on this call for unity among U.N. members in seeking Korean war objectives. But it was interpreted as urging military aid in Korea from more U.N. members and more forces from some of those now contributing. At present, 17 of the 60 U.N. members have armed forces in Korea while a total of 45 participate in some way.

The Secretary-General's request came in a statement on the world situation and the U.N. The statement is an introduction to his previously released annual report to the U.N. Assembly which opens next Tuesday with L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, expected to be elected Assembly president.

Pearson told the U.N. Monday in a letter answering a U.N. query on what steps have been taken to implement collective measures against aggressors, that Canada "does not at present contemplate the recruiting and organization of further units of its armed forces for service with the United Nations."

Higher Fund Royalty May Be Asked–Lewis

CINCINNATI (AP) — John L. Lewis has issued a strong hint to coal mine operators that they may be due to be tapped again for an increase in the welfare fund royalty.

The leader of the United Mine Workers, who are meeting in their quadrennial convention here, ran into strong complaints on the convention floor yesterday by delegates who said the miners were not getting enough benefits from the fund.

The miners union recently won a 10-cent-a-ton increase in its welfare royalty, raising the present per tonnage assessment by the coal mine owners to 40 cents. With an estimated 500,000,000 tons expected to be produced this coming year, royalty payments to the welfare fund would total somewhere near $200,000,000 a year.

Lewis in answering delegate complaints about the welfare fund, said:

"I think we want to retain our sense of values on this subject and keep our feet fairly well on the ground. The welfare fund admittedly has not yet achieved perfection.

Scientists Develop Train Claimed Fast As Planes

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—German and foreign scientists yesterday unveiled details of a mono-rail super-speed train claimed to be as fast as some airplanes and "absolutely safe."

Reporters were invited to the secret testing grounds at Fuehlingen Heath near here of the German "Verkehrsbahn - Studien-Gesellschaft" (Railroad Study Company).

Sponsors say construction of the first mono-rail road will begin "somewhere in the world" within the next 12 months with some sources defining the place as British South Rhodesia.

Dr. Joseph Hinsken, German engineer, claims the first full-size train will reach a maximum speed of more than 185 miles an hour.

The cigar-shaped model consists of a coach and an engine which carries the power unit. It runs on ball bearings instead of wheels over a concrete track which has one continuing steel flange on top and two flanges on each side which the train grips from beneath. The foot-wide track is supported by pillars which tilt up to 45 degrees to conform with curves. The model train, scaled at 1:2.5 of the original, draws its power from two small electrical conducting rails at each side of the track. The test model stands about six feet high.

Caught In Arctic Two Men Make Way Out

OTTAWA (CP)—A 19-year-old Ottawa college student is missing the first weeks of the new term this fall because the Arctic cracked down on him and one of the north's most famous figures.

The two are young Andrew MacPherson and 40-year-old Tom Manning, who were spending the summer cruising by canoe studying the coasts of an island 1,300 miles north of Edmonton for the Defence Department. Manning is rated by people in Ottawa who know the north as the greatest present-day Arctic traveller.

An early freeze-up caught them Aug. 31 on the northern rim of Banks Island in the Beaufort Sea and shattered their schedule.

The Defence Department now says it will be some weeks before they are able to fly back to civilization from Port Brabant, the Arctic mainland point they managed to reach after travelling hundreds of miles on foot and by Eskimo boat.

MANNING NOT BOTHERED

Consequently MacPherson, a biology student at Carleton College, has missed the first weeks of his new term and will miss more before a plane can get into Port Brabant to pick them up.

As for Manning, his schedule is flexible and this affair is depicted by friends in Ottawa as a minor adventure to a man who knows the north as do few other white men. They indicate he would be no more excited about walking across an Arctic island than an ordinary city dweller would be about going to a movie.

English-born, Cambridge - educated, well-to-do, Manning lives in Ottawa and acts as a part-time consultant to the Defence Research Board. From the time he was 20 he has gone repeatedly into the Arctic, once lived there for five years, married an English girl on Baffin Island and lived his first two years of married life in the north.

Last year he skippered a small ship into the Arctic Sea for the Research Board. This summer he and MacPherson went back to study the shores and coastal waters of Banks Island by canoe.

TO CONTINUE STUDIES

When the premature freeze-up caught them, they cached their canoe and gear and hiked probably 250 miles to a previously-arranged rendezvous with an Eskimo and his boat on the southwestern shore of the island. They lived on food they had with them and on game they shot en route. They had a small sled.

They meant to go to Aklavik and fly south, but couldn't make it so they put into Port Brabant which is 100 miles to the east—as the Arctic winds blow—on an inlet of the Beaufort Sea.

There they are pinned in a tiny outpost until the freeze-up is such that a plane can get in. But imperturbable Tom Manning has already informed Defence Headquarters he thinks the study of the coasts of Banks Island should go right ahead when summer comes again.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low....35 Noon.....52
Noon barometer.....29.4

Yesterday:
Highest.....54 Lowest...36

One Year Ago:
Highest.....51 Lowest...38

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Although the weather warmed up on Wednesday in southern Ontario this trend will be checked by a fresh cool air-mass pushing southward over the province early today.

Afternoon temperatures in this air-mass are about 50 degrees in the south and 5 to 10 degrees cooler up north. There is considerable cloudiness in the cool air during its first day, but skies will be much clearer Friday. The light showers, drizzle and snowflurries in norther sections is expected to end by evening.

There is a threat of rain for southern regions on Friday from a rain area in Tennessee and the Carolinas. However, the motion of this area is still not sufficiently clear to make a definite forecast.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Thursday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Niagara, Lake Ontario regions: Windsor, London, Toronto and Hamilton cities: Clear, clouding over about noon and clearing again this evening. Cooler. Sunny with little change in temperature Friday. Winds northwest 15 today, light tonight and Friday. Low tonight and high Friday at St. Thomas, London, Wingham and Trenton 30 and 50, Windsor 30 and 55, Toronto 32 and 50, Hamilton and St. Catharines 40 and 50.

Summary for Friday—Sunny and cool.

Georgian Bay, Kirkland Lake, Haliburton regions: North Bay and Sudbury cities. Cloudy with a few scattered showers or snowflurries, clearing this evening. Sunny Friday. Cooler today, little change in temperature Friday. Winds north 20 today, light tonight and Friday. Low tonight and high Friday at Muskoka, Hillaloe, Earlton, North Bay and Sudbury 25 and 45.

Summary for Friday—Sunny and cool.

Lamport Winner Of Plowing Match

CARP (CP)—The competition will be keener today at the international plowing match but there won't be as many laughs. With Mayor Allan Lamport's victory for Toronto yesterday in a match with eight other Ontario mayors, most of the comedy disappeared. The mayors' class drew the biggest crowds and was the best fun, from the spectator standpoint, of the first two days of plowing. From now until dark tomorrow, plowmen in horse and tractor events will be seeking championship titles and perhaps a free trip to Europe.

A stiff test against time in the tractor class today likely will be an indication of those who will enter tomorrow's big tractor event for the championship and European trip. The younger plowmen, under 18 years, also will show their skill.

Two Ontario plowmen, D.S. Reid of Brampton and Eldred King of Markham, are good bets in the tractor plowing. Both won firsts in open tractor classes yesterday.

MAYORS STEAL SHOW

But opening-day events were overshadowed by the hilarious contest among the Ontario mayors which resulted from a challenge by Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa to Mayor Lamport. The two were the centre of attention and both were supported by cheering sections.

Mayor Lamport drew a big laugh by kneeling in front of Mayor Whitton with arms outstretched. But the Ottawa mayor gave him a shove that rolled him on the turf. Photographers' flash-bulbs popped and the crowd of some 15,000 roared.

Despite the high-jinks, all the mayors turned a good furrow to the surprise of the officials and spectators. They worked hard for two hours getting their patch of furrowed sod into shape for the judging.

When it was all over, Mayor Whitton challenged Mayor Lamport to defend his championship next year.

WINS BIG TROPHY

Mayor Lamport's victory brought him a big gold trophy about three feet high, surmounted by a beaver. In addition he was presented with the same memento as the other contestants—a model tractor mounted on a wooden base.

The others competing in the mayors' class were: Mayors Ed Sargent of Owen Sound, Sid Emery of Parkhill, J.T. Moran of Renfrew, Mrs. Bernadtte Smith of Woodstock, A.D. Simpson of Stratford, A.S. Kimmerly of Napanee and Mrs. Helen McKenzie, reeve of Beaverton.

Nobody was more surprised than Mayor Lamport when the judge gave him the first prize for a workman-like job of plowing that took him more than an hour of tough tractor driving.

Mayor Whitton, in challenging him to repeat the performance next year, said:

"Next year if we girls have to wear jeans and slacks, the men should have to wear kilts."

AT LOSS FOR WORDS

Mayor Lamport admitted to being at a loss for words, something he noted was a remarkable situation for a politician. But Mayor Whitton didn't suffer from the same handicap.

Looking across the crowd at the cheering section, Mayor Whitton said she was sure "many of you would rather have seen any other mayor—even the mayor of Hong Kong—win this." She drew the sting from this remark by saying that she was serious in congratulating Mayor Lamport and "glad he won on his merits."

PLUGS TORONTO

Mayor Lamport, flanked by a cheering section led by his daughters, took advantage of the opportunity to get in some publicity for Toronto. Foot-high letters on his white sweater front clamored "TORONTO" while the back blazed out "LAMPORT" with equal lack of restraint.

Mayor Lamport swung his tractor close to Mayor Whitton's furrows at one point.

"Get out of the way you," yelled the Ottawa mayor who was by far the most eye-catching on the field with a yellow windbreaker, knitted plaid cap, overalls and boots.

Mayor Sargent came the least

Anglo-Canadian Trade Set-Up Said Ridiculous

OTTAWA (CP) — A member of the British government today called the Anglo-Canadian trade situation ridiculous and said "we must work out some solution."

Rt. Hon. Derick Heathcoat-Amory, British minister of pensions and a textile manufacturer and banker by background veered into the question of trade at a press conference called primarily to discuss the situation among British pensioners living in Canada.

Despite earlier pleas to him this morning for higher pensions by representatives of 10,500 imperial pensioners and war widows living in Canada, the minister held out little hope that anything more could be done for them beyond seeking a wider distribution of a special hardship allowance introduced at the time of the 1949 devaluation of the pound.

DIFFERENCES TOO GREAT

Britain, he indicated, cannot hope to make up the difference in British and Canadian wage and price levels for British pensioners even though their rates are roughly one-third those of Canadian war pensioners.

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory, a veteran of the wartime Arnhem airborne landing, found himself discussing trade when reporters swung away from the pension discussion.

He said "no one in Britain is happy about the state of Anglo-Canadian trade."

Bible College Official Opening

Eastern Pentecostal Bible College concludes two weeks of activity connected with the opening of the new term with its annual fall convocation Monday night in Brock Street Arena.

Among the visiting speakers will be the Rev. J. H. Blair of Central Gospel Tabernacle, Hamilton, chairman of the board, the Rev. T. G. Mill of Kingston, and the Rev. W. H. Fitch, Windsor. President W. H. Found will be occupying the chair for the first time since his recovery from a heart condition.

Among the 124 students registered at the college are representatives of all the Canadian provinces except Alberta and Prince Edward Island, and also of Latvia, Ireland, South Africa, Argentina, Bermuda and the United States.

Student activities in the last two weeks included the initiation of new students Tuesday night and the Senior Sneak Day Thursday. President Found said the college is pleased to report an increase in enrollment, and that its prospects appear to be excellent.

School books found on the lines indicated there might be children still buried in coaches of the local train.

Red Cross nurses said they thought some children were still underneath the train — "there have been no sounds of life, but perhaps some are unconscious."

The three trains carried more than 1,000 persons—many of them school children. Some 600 were jammed into the local train.

U.S. Air Force medical personnel from nearby bases helped in treating the injured.

BRITISH DON'T CRY

One U.S. airman said it was the worst disaster he ever saw "But the British don't cry," he said. "The wounded were wonderful."

Casualty figures see - sawed throughout the night. At one time, Scotland Yard announced the death toll had reached as high as 116, but later said this was in error.

The wreckage was cleared away with almost surgical delicacy in the remote hope some of the passengers might still be alive despite the passing of more than 24 hours.

BURIED FOR HOURS

Twice before railway officials declared there could be no more survivors and twice were proved wrong.

While the work went on, service was restored. Trains edged between the walls of twisted debris this morning, their passengers leaning out the windows to stare.

Police stood a night watch against looters working under cover of darkness. One man was arrested.

Government Trying Learn Those On Staff

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is trying to find out how many persons it has on its payroll, it was learned today.

A new system, being worked out by the public finance and transportation division of the Bureau of Statistics in co operation with the treasury board, will include "casual" employees, Crown companies and various government agencies and boards which do not fall under normal departmental organization.

The bureau earlier this week placed the number of regular civil servants at 131,646. This figure, however, did not include casual or part-time employees or Crown companies.

It is expected the new figures will be compiled by the end of this year and the first reports will cover the early months of the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Mimico Commuter Injured At Harrow

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Alan William Conn, only Canadian reported injured in the train wreck at Harrow, England, yesterday, used to commute by train from his former home in suburban Mimico to Toronto.

He is married and [illegible] Hart of Woodstock, was not with him at the time of the crash, in which he suffered a broken leg.

Dr. Conn's mother, Mrs. E.P. Kinsman of Bala, said her son went to England about a year ago and has been commuting daily between London and his home in Hemel at Hemstead, Herts.

Drive Chinese

Dead of both sides littered the slopes, the ridgelines and the valleys. The South Koreans said they killed at least 2,000 Reds.

Late yesterday the Chinese hurled their "human sea" of bodies against the slope. Their artillery shells landed on the crest at the rate of one every three seconds.

The South Koreans gave way, but once more stormed back.

At 11:10 a.m. today they were two-thirds of the way up the hill. The South Korean commander promised by radio his men would hold.

On Arrowhead Ridge, just west of White Horse, French troops attached to the U. S. 2nd infantry division last night threw back an assault by 3,000 Chinese. The Reds peppered the French this morning with long-range rifle fire.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The American dollar was at a discount of 3 11-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EST. Wednesday's noon rate was 96 7-16 cents. The pound sterling was $2.69⅝, against $2.69 3-16 Wednesday.

Norman Boyd Not Guilty In Bank Holdup

TORONTO (CP) — Norman Boyd, 31, was found not guilty yesterday of the Sept. 1 armed robbery of the Dominion Bank at Lansing.

He was tried without a jury and Judge Forsyth said there was sufficient doubt to clear the brother of bank-bandit Edwin Alonzo Boyd.

Judge Forsyth remanded Edwin Boyd, who had pleaded guilty to the same charge, to the end of the trial list for sentence.

Four defence witnesses took the stand yesterday to support Norman's story that he visited his brother, Gordon, at Lindsay, over the Labor Day weekend last year; and that the major share of $1,600 he had when arrested came from a mortgage.

Edwin Glover Boyd, a retired Toronto policeman now living in Wiarton, said he borrowed slightly more than $1,000 from his son Norman to help pay for his farm. Later he gave Norman a mortgage on a North York house in payment.

WENT TO LINDSAY

Gordon Boyd said his brother Norman arrived at Lindsay about 11.30 on Saturday, Sept. 1, just before the noonday meal, and helped him in house construction work for the rest of the day and also on Sunday.

Wallace Swinson and Mrs. Margaret Brandon, neighbors of Gordon Boyd, told of seeing Norman about 12:30 on Sept. 1. They were able to fix the day because Swinson was working on the basement of a new home and it flooded the night before.

Norman Boyd said he was questioned for about nine hours by Sgt. of Dets. Adolphus Payne last Oct. 20. He said Sgt. Payne slapped his face and told him: "You're the man we're looking for."

Recalled to the stand, Sgt. Payne denied that he had slapped Norman's face but admitted that he had questioned him for several hours without result.

Norman's acquittal was his second in the Boyd trials.

A jury found him not guilty on a charge of receiving stolen bank money but he was convicted on a charge of harboring, and also on another charge of bank robbery.

Try To Organize MotorSportsClub

A Peterborough group of motor racing enthusiasts are trying to organize a club for competition on land and water. This would include racing with speedboats, motorcycles, stock cars and sports cars.

"We feel that Peterborough is lacking in not having a motor sports club," Arnold Kelbrick told the Examiner. Cities of similar size have weekly events."

Mr. Kelbrick, elected interim president of the Peterborough Motor Sports Club, said that Orillia has a half-mile dirt track. And there is racing for motorcycles, stock cars as well as "hot rod" events. Orillia also has hydroplane racing.

The Peterborough Motor Sports Club had its first meeting Wednesday night and an interim executive was elected: Arnold Kelbrick, president; Ron MacGee, vice-president; Bill MacKinnon, treasurer; and Dennis Williamson, secretary.

MANY ACTIVITIES

"Our purpose is to promote an active interest in various types of motor sports," said Mr. Williamson. "It will teach sensible driving habits and provide the opportunity and technical knowledge for those who like motor racing."

The club would develop such motoring features as economy runs, group tours and endurance tests.

"Our club would provide an outlet for the kids who have a mechanical bent and would like to take part in supervised "hot rod" events. It would take racing off the streets," said Mr. Kelbrick.

This type of club is now common in the United States. Belleville had a "drag strip" near the highway; Kingston has stock car racing; and until this year Lind- [illegible]

Membership is open to anybody over 16 years and the next meeting will be 8 p.m., October 15, at the Town and Country Club.

2 Adults And Child Injured At Crossing

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Two adults and a child were injured last night in a level-crossing accident.

Mrs. Catharine Harrison, 19, suffered facial cuts, leg cuts and a broken right leg, her husband Victor, 20, and the couple's two-year-old daughter Victoria suffered cuts, bruises and possible internal injury.

The accident occurred at a railway crossing on one of the city's main streets when the Harrison car collided with a shunted gondola car and was destroyed.

Useful Frosh

MONTREAL (CP) — "Hazing week" at Sir George Williams College starting Oct. 1 will be turned to good use. Freshmen are scheduled to wield paint brushes, brooms and mops in clean-up operations at many welfare centres operated by various Red Feather agencies.

CurbOnFreedom Allard Says Of New CBC Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — T.J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, today issued the following statement on proposed new CBC regulations:

"The proposed additional controls and restrictions on broadcasting are very like attempts to control and restrict printing when it was younger. The struggle for freedom of thought by making it possible to express new ideas, and comment on them, is never ending. Printed publications fought that battle on behalf of the public from the 16th century to the beginning of our own century; and it is now broadcasting's turn to carry the torch for freedom of expression. . .

"Apart from being an infringement of the basic right to inform and be informed, on which all other institutions depend, such controls invariably hamper the service any institution can provide to its community. Broadcasting will continue to seek the same right to inform and comment, under the law, now held by all other publishers in the general interest of a free community."

$150,000 Fire Damages Village

HARRIETSVILLE (CP)—A $150,000 fire last night burned the business centre out of this village of about 100 persons.

The fire destroyed a 100-year-old landmark, Sandham general store, an adjacent feed store, the Sandham family's frame home, a large barn and a new cold storage plant.

Carl Jackson, 64-year-old owner of all the buildings, said he understood that the fire started in the top storey of the general store.

Prices Continue Climb On Toronto Exchange

Industrials also gained sharply, adding more than two index points.

The upswing was the first general break this month in a five-week downward trend.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,302,000 shares.

Western oils recorded a wide list of gains ranging up to 55 cents. Issues gaining 40 cents or more were Bailey Selburn, Cal and Ed. and Canadian Atlantic. Marigold and New Devon recorded two of the few losses in western oils.

Three refining oils, Imperial, International and McColl, each rose $1 or more.

Two issues traded briskly in the base metals section: Bellekeno with 76,000 shares and a three-cent gain and New Calumet with 66,000 shares and a loss of 12 cents. Higher-priced issues were mixed while others showed a small majority of gains.

Senior golds and holding companies gained while juniors and prospects held firm. Gunnar, a prospect, traded heavily for a gain of 15 cents and Chimo and Nubar also gained in active trading.

The exchange's 1 p.m. indices showed industrials up 231 at 315.11, golds up .63 at 85.59, base metals up 1.62 at 179.27 and western oils up 4.46 at 121.21.

"We got about 50 yards on the way back when a burp gun opened up from 30 yards range. However, we were fairly well concealed in a deep creek bed."

Under protecting fire from others in the patrol, the Canadians got back without casualties.

The four other patrol members were Cpl. E.M. Faulkner, Musquodoboit, N.S.; Pte. Donald B. Moodie, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; Pte. Edward C. Matthews, New Perlican, Trinity Bay, Nfld., and Pte. Edward J. Knight, Sarnia.

Three Children Die In Flames

ST. DENIS, Sask. (CP)—A can of gasoline placed on a hot stove was responsible for a fire yesterday which claimed the lives of three children and razed a farm home near here. St. Denis is about 20 miles east of Saskatoon.

The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Eudore LeBlanc, were Aghes, 3; Louis, 2, and Yvonne, a one-year-old baby, who died later in a Saskatoon hospital. The mother is in hospital suffering from severe cuts and shock.

Oshawa Church Group Criticizes Booklet

OSHAWA (CP) — A United Church group yesterday criticized the Ontario government for telling tourists beer and liquor are available in the province.

At the Oshawa presbytery meeting, a presbytery committee on evangelism and social service passed the resolution about the Ontario government's booklet "Fun in Ontario," intended to attract tourists.

Referred to a committee for further study was a recommendation that the CBC be asked to make sure no drinking scenes appear in its television programs.

The presbytery passed a resolution opposing any move for commercialized Sunday sports in Oshawa.

One Shell Hit Destroyer, Killed 3 Sailors

OTTAWA (CP)—Just one enemy shell hit H.M.C.S. Iroquois last week in an action which resulted in three dead and three injured aboard the Canadian destroyer. The Iroquois silenced the shore battery which made the hit.

This was disclosed yesterday when the navy issued details of the first action in which a Canadian ship has been hit in the Korean war. The casualties were reported Oct. 3.

R.C.N. headquarters said in a statement:

"Last Thursday. . . the Iroquois and the U.S.S. Marsh, a destroyer escort, were bombarding a portion of a North Korean railway skirting the shoreline. . . .

"The Iroquois and the Marsh blasted the target for about an hour. Working parties were dispersed and the rail line was observed to be well saturated by shell fire. As the two ships broke off the bombardment and turned to seaward, shore batteries opened fire on the Iroquois and almost immediately a full salvo bracketed the ship.

"Although taking evasive action and making smoke, the ship was subsequently hit by one shell Lt.-Cmdr. J.L. Quinn of Moose Jaw, Sask., and able seaman Elburne A. Baikie of Hamilton were killed instantly. AB. Wallis M. Burden of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was critically wounded and died a few hours later in the ship's sick bay."

BURIED IN JAPAN

The statement said the three dead were buried yesterday with full naval honors in the British Commonwealth cemetery at Yokohama, Japan.

Three other men were wounded by shrapnel and shell fragments and seven received minor cuts.

"As the two ships withdrew," the statement said, "the Iroquois' main armament poured a steady fire at the shore battery and silenced it.

"The Iroquois received only slight damage and her fighting efficiency was in no way impaired. The Marsh was not fired upon in the action."

Three Charges Follow Accident

Three charges in connection with an accident on Monaghan Road Wednesday night faced Delmar Payne, 25, 654 Stewart Street, when he appeared in police court today.

He is charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol and having liquor in a place other than a residence.

He was represented by John O. Currelly and did not enter a plea. All three charges were adjourned until October 16.

Police followe da trail of fluid on the pavement, from the scene of the accident at Monaghan Road and Bolivar Street, for several blocks, around corners, and along half a dozen tsreets. Payne was apprehended on King Street, and arrested.

Two witnesses saw a car strike the rear end of a car parked on the east side of Monaghan Road, just south of Bolivar Street, at 9:30 p.m.

FOLLOWED CAR

One witness told police he followed the hit-run vehicle which continued after the collision which resulted in $300 damage to the rear end of the parked car.

The owner of the parked car, C. Collins, 599 Bolivar Street, gave investigating officers Sherman Kellele and Grant Gillespie the licence number of the other car involved.

When Payne was arrested on King Street, the car he was driving was damaged on the front end to the extent of about $260.

Home Landscape Bethany Topic At W.I. Meet

BETHANY (ENS)—The Women's Institute held their October meeting in the Orange Hall on Monday evening. Donald Ham of Orono was the guest speaker, introduced and thanked by Mrs. Mansell Finney. His subject was Horticulture and Home Beautification and he gave much information on the different types of shrubs and flowers suitable for the average home owner.

"Planned planting, using shrubs and flowers from reputable nursery stock will add dollars to the value of the home, as well as giving personal pleasure to the owners and neighbors in any community." His lecture was accompanied by moving pictures taken throughout Quebec and Ontario, of homes with attractive landscaping.

Mrs. R. Carr presided for the meeting. Mrs. H. L. Challice was appointed delegate to attend the Women's Institute convention to be held next month in Toronto. Mrs. Challice announced the Girls' Garden Club had received first prize on their exhibit of vegetables and flowers at Port Hope fair. The winter's work will begin next month and their project is "Cottons May Be Smart." Eleven members will take this course under the leadership of Mrs. Clarence Page and Mrs. Mansell Finney. These leaders will attend a Training School in Peterborough on October 14 and 15.

Mrs. R. W. Price expressed the thanks of the members to Mrs. Challice and Mrs. T. Jennings for their successful leadership of the summer garden club and to Mrs. Page and Mrs. Finney for their work with the Junior Homemakers.

The roll call was answered by suggestions for fund raising. To act on the ideas received, Mrs. R. W. Price, Mrs. H. L. Challice, Mrs. C. Reynolds and Mrs. T. Jennings were appointed as a committee. A progressive euchre in the town hall on October 29 will start the fall drive for additional funds.

Arrangements were made to take a tour of two Peterborough industries on October 30 and a chartered bus will provide transportation for the afternoon.

During the social hour, lunch was served by Mrs. M. Finney, Mrs. Clarence Page, Mrs. Gervin Mulligan and Mrs. R. Palmer. A vote of thanks was tendered to the hostess group by Mrs. T. S. Gault.

Bethany Women Decorate Church

BTTHANY (ENS). — Twenty-five members attended the October meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church at the home of Mrs. Clarence Rowan. Mrs. Mansell Finney presided. Mrs. Otto Spencer read the Scripture lesson, the Parable of the Prodigal Son. Miss Lily Thompson, giving thoughts on the lesson explained the parable: "Here, as in all His teaching, we find Jesus denouncing the sin and not the sinner."

Thanks were received from Mrs. J. Jones, who had recently moved to Omemee, for the parting gift of a cup and saucer, and from Mrs. Victor Grandy and Miss Marie Carr for sunshine boxes received during illness. Mrs. H. Sanderson reported for the sick and visiting committee.

Mrs. Wellington Fallis gave the financial report. During the last week the ladies had completed redecorating the church basement at an approximate cost of $150. The work of painting the woodwork and floors was all done by the voluntary labor of the W.A. members, accomplished in several bees. Special donations from some members had added new drapes for the windows and new linoleum for the platform. The Young People's Union had donated the shellac and varnish for the floor, with the W.A. members doing the work of applying it. A special re-dedication service will be held next Sunday afternoon.

Church anniversary services will be held morning and evening on October 19 and plans were completed to hold a fowl supper in the newly decorated basement on the following Wednesday. Oc[illegible]

Mrs. Clarence Rowan [illegible] topic on "Christian Brotherhood," stressing the friendly relations we should employ with strangers in a community and especially the welcoming attitude we should adopt towards displaced persons immigrating here from other countries.

Mrs. Wilfred Bauman, Toronto, who is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Mervyn Porteous, sang a solo.

The Rev. James Hampson spoke on Thanksgiving, quoting poems from Thomas Clarke, Robert Herrick, Norman Gail, and Grace Crowell. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clarence Neals, Mrs. W. Fallis, and Miss L. Thompson.

R. Cuthbertson Wins Fair Crop Competition

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Norwood Fair corn competition was again a success with 30 fields entered in the contest. Allen Curle of Campbellford remarked on the good standing of each field. The following are the prize winners: 1 Ralph Cuthbertson, 92; 2 Austin Sampson, 91; 3 Max Scott, 89; 4 Walter Girven, 88; 5 Ivan Begg, 87; 6 Eric Pulfer, 85; 7 Alfred Elmhirst, 84; 8 Robert Elliott, 83.

New Iron Racks Repair Damage

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Workmen at the Campbellford Public Utilities Commission have completed installing new racks at the town powerhouse, and the plant is again back in operation after being shut down for repairs.

Racks which were damaged by anchor ice during last winter were removed after the forebay had been drained. New racks were ordered and have now been installed. During the time the local plant was out of operation, the town was supplied with power from No. 11 powerhouse of the H.E.P.C.

May Deport Radio Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reuben Ship, who wrote the "Life of Riley" radio show for seven years, may be deported to his native Canada under the McCarran Act.

He was named by two witnesses who testified before the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities here last week. They identified him as a member of a Communist radio workers' cell in Hollywood.

Ship refused to answer questions before the committee here a year ago. He did tell the committee that he came to the United States in 1944 but never became a citizen, but he declined to say whether he had ever been a member of the Communist party.

Immigration officers booked him at the county jail yesterday. He was released later on $5,000 bond. The McCarran Act provides for deportation of aliens who are found to be members of the Communist party.

Ship was born in Montreal.

Thanksgiving Theme At Norwood Y.W.A.

NORWOOD (ENS) — The Y.W.A. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. Rod Webb.

Mrs. Wilson Small had charge of the program. Mrs. Sophie Cassidy and Miss Isabel McMillian read the scripture lessons and Miss McMillian gave a Thanksgiving reading. Mrs. Duncan Sinclair gave a reading on the work in British Guiana. Mrs. Stanley McMillan gave a talk on the things people should be thankful for, most of all the Bible.

Mrs. Cecil Cuthbertson had charge of the business part. There were 12 members present and four visitors. The fall thankoffering will be held on October 28 with Mrs. Robert Bonney of Havelock as guest speaker. Mrs. Webb and her joint hostesses, Mrs. Small and Mrs. Sinclair, served lunch.

Marks Anniversary

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Members of Christ Church Women's Auxiliary celebrated their 60th anniversary in the parish hall this week with Mrs. J. M. Ewing of St. Clements, Toronto, as special speaker.

Mrs. Ewing was introduced by Mrs. H. Laurie. She spoke of her work as a bishop's messenger in diocese of Rupert's Land. The idea of the work, she said, was introduced by Miss E. Hazell of England, who pioneered with the first organization 32 years ago. The 'van' work of the organization consists of equipping vans to take the Gospel to lonely farm families of the Canadian West. Through the work of Mrs. Hazell, there are now a fleet of 30 vans doing this work. Talking to children and telling them stories from the Bible was a wonderful part of the work, said the speaker. "Through them we hope to reach the parents", she said.

The Rev. John McKibbin closed the program with a prayer, and ladies of the W.A. served tea and birthday cake to their many guests before their departure.

Rev. J. M. Ritchie Leaves Warkworth

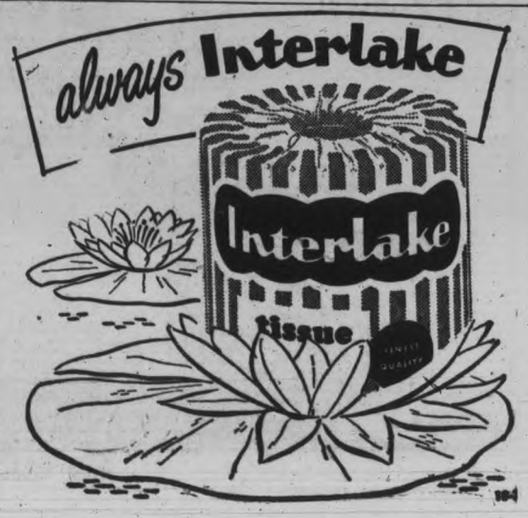
WARKWORTH — (ENS) —The Rev. James M. Ritchie, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Warkworth for the past four years, he accepted a call to Almonte, and will be leaving with his family at the end of this month.

The Rev. Mr. Ritchie was born in Francis, Sask., son of the Rev. and Mrs. David Ritchie and later moved with his parents to Ontario. He graduated from Sarnia Collegiate Institute with several scholarships, and entered University College in Toronto with second highest standing in the province. He graduated from University College with his M.A. in Hebrew and archaeology. He took his theology training at Knox College, Toronto.

He has served the Presbyterian Church in Nelson, B.C.; Hillsdale, Ont.; Ottawa and the Warkworth-Hastings charges. During World War II he served as a Naval Chaplain in Newfoundland.

His wife is the former Evelyn Forsythe of Swift Current, Sask., graduate of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training Home. They have three children, Margaret Ann, Janet and David.

After four years on the Warkworth-Hastings Charge he leaves to take over the work in St. John's Presbyterian Church, Almonte.



Mr. Ritchie has served on the Public School Board, the Agricultural Society, the Library Board and he was chaplain of the Warkworth Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Mrs. Ritchie has also played a prominent part in their church activities, in the Women's Institute, leader of the Girl Guides and a great help in the musical field; and as a family their moving will be deeply regretted by a large circle of friends.

Hong Kong Finds New Markets, Waits Out War

WASHINGTON—Countering Red Chinese moves to isolate it from South China, British Hong Kong is finding new markets in southeast Asia and elsewhere.

Hong Kong has been the West's trade gateway to China's south during an entire century. Recent Crown Colony government statistics disclose that Hong Kong's China trade is still large despite Western embargo and increasing Red reluctance to do business. But her adaptable merchants ship more and more goods to Thailand, Indonesia, Malaya, Australia, rehabilitated Japan, and Chiang Kai-shek's Formosa.

Hong Kong is a 391-square-mile dot on the China coast at the mouth of the Pearl River. Except for the short Japanese occupation in World War II, England has stood there since the Opium War of the mid-19th century.

INDEFENSIBLE

Nearly indefensible militarily against a strong foe, and lacking major industry or adequate agriculture, Hong Kong exisits for and by virtue of acres of godowns, or warehouses, through which goods in transit pass without subjection to customs.

British power and prestige have thus far assured law and order in normal times and in most periods of stress. Abacuses click and adding machines whirl side by side in the counting houses of great business firms whose English and Chinese officials daily prove that East can meet West in business and trade.

Japanese conquest brought a period of depression followed by a postwar boom and new record prosperity, mainly because of trade with China. So rich were cargoes in and out of Hong Kong, including smuggled ones, that pirates of notorious Bias Bay 40 miles to the northeast sallied forth again in their junks. They equipped them with modern cannon and armorplate salvaged from the debris of the Japanese war machine.

POPULATION 2,500,000

Hong Kong's population is currently estimated at 2,500,000. A great many are Chinese refugees.

Wealthy Shanghai merchants seeking passage to Brazil rub shoulders with former Nationalist generals hoping Formosa once again will seek their services. Poor coolies, followers of Chiang in the Civil War, fraternize with anti-Red crews of fishing junks that cannot go back to home ports on the coast.

Intrigue is rife. The British tread warily, permitting freedom of speech and press to all sides and impartially arresting any who seek to break the peace. English eagerness to avoid friction has been matched so far by the Reds just the other side of the border on the Kowloon peninsula.

Unnerved by the proximity of the enigmatic Reds, some Hong Kong firms are reported as planning to move to Africa and Japan. But most Colony businessmen await the end of the Korean conflict and resumption of the China trade, meanwhile drilling a tiny defense force against the half-expected blow from the mainland.

PILED 50 FEET HIGH, the wreckage of three trains, a footbridge and part of the railway station building has so far yielded about 85 dead and 170 injured at Harrow, England. Two people have been found still breathing 24 hours after the crash, and men are desperately trying to reach others who may still be alive.

To Face Trial

CAIRO (Reuters) — The head of former King Farouk's "Iron Guard," Gen. Hussein Sirry Amer, will soon face trial by a high military tribunal, it was announced last night. The charges against him have not yet been published. The army has accused the Iron Guard of being responsible for several political assassinations.

New Houses For Peterborough: No Terraces

Ground is being broken tomorrow for the new housing development north of the city, in the Queen Elizabeth subdivision. All told forty-eight separate houses are planned; the first six will be started immediately. Private firms supported by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation (a Crown company) will develop the wide site, part of the parcel of land being co-opted in the "land assembly" scheme to provide for orderly and economical suburban growth.

* * *

None of this is news to Peterborough and district people, but we mention it again to complement headline news from Toronto of a 380-suite apartment building, ten storeys high planned for a Toronto district. In comparison with this Toronto project, the new development in Peterborough is not a fritter. The Toronto area has thirty times the population of this area. To come up to the scope of the one Peterborough development, Toronto would have to put up not 380 suites, but 1,440. However, the Toronto plan will create the largest apartment building in the country, it is said.

* * *

There is a significant difference between the two, apart from their size. Peterborough is getting single-dwelling houses, Toronto apartments. Certainly Peterborough has no need of a ten-storey apartment building. There is a median type of building which both cities have rejected: terraces, or houses in rows. For some reason or other, the terrace is not looked on with favour in this country—perhaps because people think of terraces as glum, dull, monotonous rows of nineteenth-century factory houses. And yet even those terraces may be preferable to some of the detached, small houses now being built, and to ten-storey apartment blocks.

Some of the old, brick terraces in Peterborough provide more room, more privacy and a more homelike atmosphere than many new little houses built during the last decade and which ten years from now may not be merely miserable but squalid.

* * *

A terrace may be a really fine building, well-proportioned in the mass and in the detail of each dwelling in it. There are several such fine terraces in Peterborough which, with paint, a little alteration and modernizing would be really distinguished homes. In Montreal and in London there are some notable terraces, built for people with the means to live in considerable style, comfort and convenience. One of the most swanky residential quarters in Montreal today includes several terraces built with great charm and distinction, inhabited by people whose incomes command whatever amenities life offers.

* * *

Rows of houses with common walls and a common roof give architects and builders the opportunity to design and build well at less cost than separate houses of similar specifications. A terrace is an economical kind of building, whether it be a terrace of low rental units, or a splendid row of distinguished residences. Each unit may—and really should—have the same outward appearance and much the same internal design. This is monotony on a high tone, very acceptable to any sensitive person because the over-all effect can be so good, and the conveniences which a [illegible] compensate for the same pride some people take in owning a detached house.

The terrace will have a distinctive place in Canadian living, when Canadians give up their false notions about them and realize their value and virtues.

Teachers Without Ties

A local photograph on one of our news pages this week startled us. It showed four clean-looking young men and between them an older man. Two of the young fellows were dressed in dark shirts buttoned to the neck; two were in light-coloured shirts, one of them open at the neck. None wore a tie, none wore a jacket. The dark-shirted were not Bulgarian Communist youth leaders, representing the sweating masses of the Balkan world. The light-shirted were not California soda-jerkers. They were the newly-elected chief officers of the Peterborough Normal School's student council. The gentleman between, in dark suit and conventional tie was the Principal of the Normal School.

Our photographer assures us that this was not a trick photograph, and that he did not ask the young men training to be teachers to put on outlandish clothes just for the picture. We understand that male students at the Normal School deck themselves like this every day for both class and street wear. What is the world coming to, that teachers-in-training dress—tidily, mind you—like children for a garden party or Communist youths for a workers' rally? In our time, the Dean of Women at the Normal School insisted on the young ladies wearing hats and gloves, and the men would never have thought of shedding jackets and ties, although a few daring ones ventured to school without hats.

We take second place to none in urging reform in male attire. Is what the Normal students wear reform or deform? It certainly does not enhance male beauty, which is the chief civilized purpose of putting clothes on. Our notion of reform is to make men's clothing decorative yet decorous, comfortable yet congruous. The young male seems to be shedding convention without gaining ornament, striving for comfort at the cost of appearing comic. Or perhaps he has been seeing too many American pictures and thinks that loose shirts and undecorated necks are what the well-dressed Canadian businessman, executive and professional person wears today. (He doesn't; but of course Normal School students are just finding out some facts of life.)

The trouble with their dress is not that it is unconventional but that it is aping an improper convention, which is rather serious among people who are to become teachers of our society. They are shedding and not improving dress. We need bigger, fancier ties, not no ties. We need more beautiful and original jackets, not no jackets at all. The male neck is usually one of the ugliest features of the human body. It needs to be covered, dressed up with rich and posh ties, to call attention to the beautiful handsome face, and take the eyes off the Adam's apple. The torso needs a jacket, well cut and trimmed and the more gorgeous the better, thus to enhance the male chest and male shoulders. (The farther removed from public view most hairy chests and sloping shoulders can be put, the better for male prestige.) The purpose of dress is not to disclose nature but to conceal it, not to show nature raw but to improve on nature's work. That is what distinguishes man from animal.

Youngsters in public and high schools cannot be expected to know these profound truths of society, but surely we may expect some enlightenment from those who next year are going to issue into the world as its teachers? Why then dress liwe high school pupils? Why strive for nakedness when dress, full dress, is the symbol of highest civilization?

Three Price Tags

France is fighting inflation and making a stab at it from the top level—the retail. The method taken would amuse Canadian shoppers and infuriate Canadian shopkeepers. In Paris it has bewildered the shoppers and angered the merchants.

The scheme may be explained thus: The French Government has ordered all shopkeepers to display not only the price they want from their customers, but also the price they themselves paid their wholesale dealer. The idea is to prevent excess profits. The shopkeepers are so angry about this infringement of their "liberty" that some of them are getting their own back by displaying a third price tag, showing how much cheaper their wares might be without the series of indirect taxes paid to the Government: production tax, transport tax, selling tax.

The "double price-tag" is part of a national campaign to hold the price line. It follows another Government order (equally infuriating to the shopkeepers) banning any increase above prices charged on August 31. For the present conservative Government these extreme and distasteful methods are a dire necessity.

When they came into power last March, they found a wage bill, in process of becoming law which would have tied [illegible] had promised to save the franc and to prevent another devaluation; and he took the poorest possible view of a sliding wage scale, which he felt would have further jeopardized financial stability.

Nevertheless the Bill was too popular with labour to be safely suppressed. Finally, the Government got Parliament to accept a modified version. Minimum wages are tied to the cost of living, but the adjustments only take place when the index rises by five per cent or more; small variations do not count. But since last month, the index has in fact crept perilously close to the five per cent. deadline. Any further increase in food prices would certainly bring the law into operation; wages would automatically rise, and it is a safe guess that the conservative and anti-inflationary Government would automatically fall.

One of five new licences granted by the Ontario Liquor Licence Board was for an additional tavern in Ottawa. According to the Canadian Press, the grant was of a louozpno-icence to Lapaloma tavern. Somebody at CP already been sampling Lapaloma's bill of fare?

THE AMERICAN SCENE:

Barber Poll Of U.S. Voters

By KENNETH HARRIS

AN INTERESTING aspect of this year's election is the extent to which big business firms are using vast amounts of their advertising space to urge the people to get out and vote. Some people say that the big firms, dominated by Republicans, are doing it as part of their plan to throw the Democrats out of office after twenty years of occupation; but, as a matter of fact, all the political statisticians whom I have talked to agree that the bigger the poll in an American election the more likely the Democrats are to win it.

One of the by-products of this election advertising campaign is the publicity that is being given to the superior sense of political responsibility shown by some non-American countries. One of America's biggest insurance companies is taking full-page space in several important magazines and newspapers, the bulk of the advertisement being taken up with voting figures in the latest elections in other countries—in Australia ninety-six per cent, of those eligible voted, in Britain eighty-three per cent., in Sweden eighty per cent., Western Germany seventy-five per cent., Canada seventy-four per cent., and in Israel seventy-two per cent. Bottom of the list comes the United States, with only fifty-one per cent. voting in 1948.

AMONG THE polls of which you have probably not heard is that of Mr. Harry F. Rich, of Washington, D.C. Mr. Rich is a barber. Like all barbers he likes to talk about and listen to political information floating around with the suds and snippets of the barber-shops. Accordingly, he contacted barbers in all forty-nine States of the Union, and got them to submit ballot forms to their clients, which were afterwards sent back to him. In twenty-four years the barbers have been wrong about a national election only once—and even then, Mr. Rich says, it was a close shave. Present opinion: Stevenson leading Eisenhower by a hair's breadth.

✧ ✧ ✧

SEVERAL PROGRESSIVE Republicans can always be heard complaining that Herbert Hoover, the only living ex-President, who was in office for the Republicans when the great slump began in 1929, does harm to the Party's chances whenever he opens his mouth. Mr. Hoover seems to have gone and done it again. At a time when the Republicans are trying desperately to counter the Democrats' attempts to raise the bogey of the slump of the 1930's, Mr. Hoover publishes a third volume of his memoirs. Title: "The Great Depression".

✧ ✧ ✧

MEN, IF you like women with plenty of meat on their bones, from now on its Hips, Hips, Hurray. Competent observers agree that the buxom figure has now established such an eye-taking curve on the graph of fashion that the pencil-slim figure of the 'twenties, 'thirties and 'forties is as good as out.

Leader of the prophets who are sure that a neo-Mae West-ish cult is on the way is Mr. Robert Thomas, fashion designer and veteran dresser and undresser of beautiful women, who has cajoled more Junos in and out of more or less clothes than any other fashion designer in Hollywood.

Mr. Thomas says that the priestess of the new cult will undoubtedly be blonde star Marilyn Monroe. Speaking of her reverently as "Monroe" or even as "The Monroe", he says that her chassis and its popularity are a sign that America is reverting to the Good Old Days when a woman had to open a door properly in order to get through.

"American women are realising that there is nothing wrong with the flesh," he says, "so long as it is in the right places." He adds thoughtfully: "It is certainly in the right places on Monroe."

"Among the screen favourites today," he says, are Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Jane Russell, Shelley Winters, Betty Grable and Elizabeth Taylor. You don't hear men complaining that these girls are too buxom. They like women that way. But by past standards some of them would be considered overweight.

"I remember," he reminisces, "when I was working with Lana Turner on 'The Three Musketeers', that after she returned from her week-ends off, we had to let out the seams of her costumes and keep them together with pins. But you don't hear men complaining that Lana is too buxom."

✧ ✧ ✧

"YOUR POLICEMEN are wonderful." Such is not the opinion of Dr. Douglas M. Kelley (the distinguished American psychiatrist who examined many Nazi leaders at Nuremberg) about American policemen.

Dr. Kelley, now professor of criminology at the University of California, has just told the annual convention of national police chiefs that one in every four American policemen is emotionally unfit to carry a club. Urging that every police recruit should be given a psychiatric test before being accapted, Dr. K lley said: "Far too many sadists become cops. They delight in pushing people around. These would-be Eughrers [illegible] police forces."

Tests are now being used in half-a-dozen or so cities. "It is better to have a vacancy on your staff than an officer who will be a hazafd to the community," said Kelley.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON TO THE MARKET next week comes a portable dictator-dictaphone, about the size of an encyclopaedia, and capable of being carried in one section of a brief case. You talk into it for twenty minutes—then your secretary flips a button and your voice comes back to her as loud or soft, slow or quick, as she pleases.

Also new is a scented germicide for motor cars. Scents are obtainable in ten different choices, including lemon, lavender, vanilla and new-mown hay. I imagine that for people who, like me, suffer from hay-fever, there will be a cylinder of some supplementary scent to counteract hay-fever symptoms.

PROUD

A farmer had a visit from a couple of ministers and, in their honor, killed a couple of chickens to satisfy their appetites. Just before the meal was served, the farmer was called away and on his return he found to his disgust, the clergy had finished off the two birds. In showing them around the farm after, a giant rooster strutted forward, head up, chest out, and drew the comment: "By jove," said one of the ministers, "that's a fine proud bird you have there." "No wonder" said the farmer, "two of his sons went into the ministry not long ago."

THE HIGH-LEVEL CAMPAIGN

U.K. Purging Inefficient Farmers

(THE RURAL SCENE)

THE POLICY of government assistance to agricultural Britain has resulted in a marked deterioration in British farming.

Under the old system of "root hog or die," every farmer had to work out his own salvation. If he could not make his farm pay, he lost it and someone else took it over.

But when the Government took the industry under its wing and guaranteed its prices, the farmers soon discovered that profits no longer depended on good farming, but on generous prices and subsidies.

But prices that assured an adequate return to the producers were totally unable to stimulate them to better farming. They grew careless and wasteful, and in spite of all the government's plans and exhortations they did not increase production in proportion to the assistance they received.

The result has been an enormous increase in farm income and a very modest increase in farm production. The industry has become a burden on the country.

Britain is in no position to carry an incompetent farm industry on its back; and the government has found it necessary to do something about it.

It has undertaken to purge the industry of its inefficient operators, Farm surveys are being made and will be made every three years; and all farms that fail to measure up to government standards will be put in the hands of new operators.

This will probably result in some improvement, but it will not cure the disease.

As long as the British farmer is guaranteed prices based on his production costs he will make no determined effort to reduce those costs, his industry will continue to be a burden on the taxpayers, and he himself will become less and less a farmer and more and more a hanger-on of the government.

Brighter Look at Korea

(Ottawa Journal)

An appraisal of the Korean war by a veteran of that campaign such as Lieutenant-General James Cassels, until recently commander of the Commonwealth division, has particular value for Canadians. Exposed as we are to the echoes of the United States election campaign, in which the war has become a question of debate, the cool assessment of a soldier gives reassurance.

These points are of special interest: General Cassels believes that an armistice will be arranged in time, although he admits this is a personal opinion; he is confident that Chinese Communist assault on the United Nations' lines can be held; the South Koreans, with many well-trained divisions and gaining experience in the use of heavy weapons, will reach the stage where they can protect with little assistance any boundary which may be established under a cease-fire agreement.

If General Cassels' opinions are borne out by events we will avoid the horror of being caught in a quicksand which sucks down men, materials and treasure indefinitely. He declared with modesty in speaking to Canadians in Ottawa that he cannot guarantee the correctness of his forecasts. But we are glad to have them, from a soldier of such experience whose opinions were formed on the field of combat.

HER FORTUNE

"You will marry," said the fortune teller, "a tall, dark man——"

"Oh, dear, how shall I break it to Albert? He's five feet two and ginger."

Letter To The Editor

BY A FRUITED SYCAMORE

Sir: Just read your editorial—"How Offensive is Peace?" which you end by saying, 'but peace is always unrealistic being a Christian tenet', etc.—in other words, peace is not real because Christian? Its leader did say, "think not that I am come to send peace but a sword"—there is then an offensive;—but to cut believers from unbelievers?

You bring in Adam and Eve too, saying, "peace has been lacking since Adam and Eve were driven from the garden"—but that was because of 'original sins'. Yet for that Eve's errors, Christ made everything right, to those who believe—but beliefs differ—and time for the chance of belief grows short. Also you say peace is unnatural, animals and the elements are always warring: But man was meant to be master of such,—does not the new Bible read—that man was made a little lower than God? Certainly he was created in His likeness. But by sin, the serpent or Eve, he became a dry drupe in a waterless Edom, and the tache (sic) continues in sororities, sorosis (sic), and sororicides, the abandonment of homes for work to make money for things—but with his consent, even his help!

The hope for peace is back in the garden of Eden, in a house by a fruited scyamore, its roots deep in the soil watered by a life-giving spring; the home with scented beams of cedar, the rafters of the glowing fire of faith and love, heated by the jewelled coals of understanding, and lighted by the spiritual window.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. (Matt. 7: 7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And, behold, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, look upon my son; for he is mine only child. And, lo, a spirit taketh him, and he suddenly cried out; and it teareth him that he foameth again, and bruising him hardly departeth from him. And I besought thy disciples to cast him out; and they could not.

And Jesus answering said, O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you, and suffer you? Bring thy son hither. And as he was yet a coming, the devil threw him down, and tare him. And Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, and healed the child, and delivered him again to his father.

And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God. (Luke 9: 38-43.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Is any among you afflicted? let him pray. Is any merry? let him sing psalms. Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord: and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up. (James 5:13-15.)

The "Loathsome Destroyer"

(Ottawa Journal)

The Canadian child has become familiar with the picture of the valiant backwoodsman, the father of seven or even eight, stumbling through the bush gaunt and wild-eyed after losing his rifle through the ice, far, far from home. Will he make it back to the log cabin where the fair-haired children wait for venison? Not a chance: see those circling wolves drawing closer and closer as his steps become weaker and weaker.

But wait! There is a movement in the bush close at hand and the backwoodsman lifts his famished head. He reaches for a stout stick. Is it a wolf moving in for the coup de grace? No. It is a porcupine, fat and lazy. It is meat. It is strength. It can't get away.

He kills it, lights a fire with a pinch of powder from his powder horn, eats, licks his greasy chops and strides off home. And from that, dear children, we learn that a porcupine should always be spared so that when Daddy loses his gun again—and Daddy isn't always very careful—he will find something to chew on the way home, and we must be glad to see Daddy even if he's a poor provider.

This basic knowledge having been pumped into the young Canadian, we greet with nothing but dismay a bulletin of the Ontario Lands and Forests Department which says

"Porcupines are always receiving their share of curses, particularly from the farmers who find their buckwheat fields tangled and matted by these loathsome destroyers. Hunters who wish to befriend the owners of the land on which they hunt will render a real service by shooting these pests. Farmers are urging the department to develop a more efficient means of eradicating them, but no good suggestions have yet appeared."

Now we have the task of telling the brats that they better forget about the porcupine being a life saver and adjust their minds to the picture of a "loathsome destroyer."

A BRITISH OPINION

NO LUCK YET

FAMILY REUNITED—Gen. and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower take time out in Tacoma, Wash., to meet two of their younger relatives. Billy and Janice Causin, grandnephew and grandniece of the Republican standard-bearer, came down to hear the General deliver a speech calling for honesty in government.

24 Million Cords Pulpwood Available In Northern Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's dream of a pulpwood industry in its northern forests is a step closer to realization.

A forest inventory has shown that wood suitable for pulp production is in much greater volume than expected.

Resources Minister J.H. Brockelbank says the inventory, now 60 per cent complete and covering 75 per cent of timber volumes in the mixed wood belt, shows there are 16,000,000 cords of black and white spruce available. Earlier estimates of these woods, the most desirable for pulp and paper manufacture, placed readily available supplies at only 2,500,000 cords.

BIG INCREASE

In addition, the survey indicates resources of softwoods available for pulpwood total 24,000,000 cords.

Mr. Brockelbank says inventory work has been done only in areas within economic distance of railway shipping points. One all-weather highway and a number of access roads now reach into pulpwood areas.

"A number of possible sites with adequate water supply for mills exist on the railways adjacent to the forest," he says. "These sites are already served by organized urban communities."

The province also has adequate potential water power and other power sources including bunker fuels, cheap coal and the possibility of natural gas in the near future. Another incentive is the Saskatchewan Timber Board's standing offer to deliver wood to mill sites at agreed prices.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS

"Our pulpwood situation is such that we have one of the last remaining undeveloped pulpwood areas in Canada," the minister says. "We have all kinds of material ready for immediate use and much in the province in young stands which will be ready before the mature material is cut".

Glider Manufacturer Has Eye On Canadian Market

By JACK GOLDRING

KIRBYMOORSIDE, Yorkshire England (CP)—Frederick N. Slingsby, a 58-year-old manufacturer of gliders and sailplanes, has his eyes trained on the Canadian market.

Managing director of Slingsby Sailplanes Limited, this Yorkshireman believes in first-hand opinions of his product. He tests most of his light aircraft personally when they come out of the workshop.

Aircraft first took his fancy when he enlisted in the Royal Flying Corps in 1914. He was a mechanic, but in those days mechanics could fly part-time as gunners, was shot down twice and was awarded the Military Medal for bringing craft home after the pilot was killed but he was not a pilot at the time.

Slingsby claims his plant is the only exclusive manufacturing centre of gliders and sailplanes in the Commonwealth. He is chief designer managing director, test pilot and, he adds casually, "other things."

His pet development, "The Sky," won at the international glider competition in Spain this summer. He entered seven models and they placed among the first 14 in a large field of competitors from many countries.

SHIFTED BUSINESS

After the First World War, Slingsby entered the furniture business, but soon shifted to gliders when they were introduced to Britain by the Germans.

He built his first sailplane in 1931 and orders began to flow in. Today his 100 workmen build 100 craft a year.

The American Soaring Association, he says, is interested in buying his models, but tariffs have proved a serious drawback. He thinks Canada would be the spot to open a subsidiary as he uses mainly Quebec birch and sitka spruce in the manufacture of his craft.

Slingsby's attitude toward business in North America is: "It looks as though Canada is the way in!"

Your Child's Health

Repeat Immunizing Vaccine As Child Becomes Older

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

[illegible] person is going to some part [illegible] diseases may be desirable.

munizations which can now be used against so many of the contagious diseases that formerly brought death to many youngsters.

This column will tell parents what some of these commonly recommended immunizations are and when they are usually given.

Vaccination against smallpox comes first, usually within the first six months after birth.

After this vaccination (which should be and almost always is a "take" at that age), immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus (lockjaw) is usually desirable. These are most often given between six and nine months after birth, usually in four doses.

The inoculation against diphtheria consists of a "toxoid" which protects the child against the disease for several years. Whether or not this protection remains adequate can be checked by a Schick test of the skin at or about the time of entering school.

The injections against whooping cough can be given about the same time and are often combined with the diphtheria and tetanus injections.

These four are probably the most important protective inoculations for children. All of them, including smallpox, should be repeated in the later years of childhood to reinforce the resistence.

Between the ages of one and two the possibility of building up immunity against scarlet fever can well be considered. This is the only one of the inoculations which is rather likely to produce painful reactions.

OTHERS MAY COME UP

Sometimes the question of having other types of inoculations comes up—particularly regarding typhoid fever, which is a disease usually contracted from contaminated water, milk, fruits or vegetables.

The advice of the physician who takes care of the child from birth should be followed when it comes to giving these protective inoculations. Just because two doctors do not give exactly the same inoculations at exactly the same ages does not mean that one is right and one is wrong, since some differences of opinions are justified.

1952 House Building To Show Decline

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications are that the number of new houses completed in Canada this year will fall far below the total for 1951.

The Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday that only 33,055 houses were completed in the first seven months of this year compared with 43,620 in the corresponding period of 1951, a decrease of 10,565.

The report showed that if the 1951 total is to be matched, 48,255 houses will have to be completed in the last five months of this year.

Major Decorated

TORONTO (CP)—The Netherlands government yesterday presented Maj. W. David J. McDowell, 42, of Toronto, with one of the country's highest decorations, the Order of Orange-Nassau. He received the order from Louis G. Ravesloot, Dutch consul, at an informal investiture at the consul's home. Maj. McDowell said he could not reveal the nature of his wartime service.

Orfuns Beat Red Raiders In 24-11 Grid Game To Maintain Win Streak

Peterborough Orfuns, blazing along at a terrific clip in their group, rang up their fourth win of the young football season as they outscored Red Raiders 24-11 in Oshawa Wednesday night, in a thrilling and hard-fought duel that captivated a good crowd of fans. The win was the fourth in a row, incidentally, for Tony Kotowski's speedy and powerful young squad since the drive began late in September; it places the "Big Blues" in a virtual tie with Cobourg Ghosts for first place in the intermediate "A" group standing. The locals hope to stand alone on Monday (Thanksgiving Day) when they meet Kingston at Morrow Park in an afternoon game, a four-pointer. Orfuns have downed Cobourg, Kingston and Oshawa twice thus far.

EVEN IN FIRST

Orfuns and Raiders battled on even terms to the half way mark with the wily and skilful quarter Jim Milligan matching wits with Raiders' Frank Stukus as the two led their respective teams in a desperate bid for advantage. Orfuns scored first after nine minutes of hectic struggle following a great down-field drive from their own 30-yard line, when successive plunges twice moved the yardsticks past midfield and a Milligan to Wilde pass brought the visitors to the Oshawa 30. Jim Wilde skirted right end then to the rival 15 and paved the way for a toss to Bus Jensen; the former scoring across the left side. It was a great play; and Armstrong converted neatly from placement. The entire front wall worked well for Petes, who looked strong at this point, with Hodson kicking well.

Red Raiders, unabashed, roared back late in the second quarter, however, to tie the score when Red Hood, Jim Loreno, Stukus, and Roy Berguson led a drive that brought the home crew close; then on second down a 25-foot forward—Stukus to Berguson — was ruled complete for interference to the visitors' five, and on the next play Loreno carried over with a buck for a major which Moe Shanks converted.

STRUCK FAST

Tony Kotowswki's men struck like lightning in the early seconds of the second half of play to break the deadlock, as Clive Naismith, fleet outside wing, snared a long Milligan [illegible] Oshawa 15 and [illegible] like a deer [illegible] the right touch-line for a major. It was a 30-yard toss preceded by a dropped kickoff by Raiders as Bill Trimm hit the receiver hard and Jensen pounced on the loose pigskin in rival terrain.

Then began a great aerial duel between Milligan and Stukus as both teams opened up in a fine display of wide open football with the former having a good percentage average over his ambitious rival. Long-fingered Jim twirled seven forwards in the final half, six complete and two for majors, while Stuke hurled seven; but four went awry. Don Collins took over pitching duties for Raiders in the final stages of play.

DROVE AGAIN

Another great drive late in the third gave Orfuns one point insurance for their odd major as a Jensen plunge and successive passes to Don McGillis, Naismith and McGillis again (the last for 27 yards) brought Orfuns to the home 20 and culminated in an attempted placement; it dropped low, but Hood was rouged after Loreno tossed to him near the deadline. Meanwhile, Gordon Beatty, Army Armstrong, Rabbit White, Hank Russelle (who played his best game yet), Joe Berthelot, Rock De Carlo, Beaker Barclay, John Conlin, and the entire crew played hard-driving two-way football to make all these gains possible. Oshawa, too, gave it all they had.

Peterborough power and condition told in the final quarter, however, and a converted drive led by Jensen, White and Wilde to the rival 10 was climaxed by a Milligan to Wilde major pass at the three-minute mark; Army converted. Despite Raider threats Hank Russelle and White led the way for Orfuns' fourth major; the former plunging twice to the rival three and Rabbit plunging over. The convert failed. Gord Beatty took his first short rest, having turned in a star effort.

Oshawa scored late in the first [illegible] Orfuns 25 yards for roughing in their own end. Collins carried over from fairly close in; but the convert missed.

Peterborough Orfuns — Flying wing, White; halves, Armstrong, Jensen, Wilde; quarter, Milligan, snap, Newark; insides, Ouellette, Russelle; middles, Beatty, Berthelot; outsides, D. McGillis, Naismith; alternates, Hodson, Berry, Bill Thompson, J. McGillis, De Carlo, Burns, Fraser, McIntyre, Howe, Barclay, John Conlin, Beavis and Trimm.

Oshawa — Flying wing, Peeling; halves, Hood, Mozewsky, Loreno; quarter, F. Stukus; snap, Edwards; insides, Rorabeck, Freeman; middles, Harper, McIlmoyle; outsides, Berguson, Schanks; alternates, Horne, Harrell, Crawick, Lyzon, Reddock, King, Collins, Dabour, Powless, Paton, Johnson, Butler, Barrett, C. Beaton, Sutherland.

Officials—Umpire Jim Fumio, referee Norm Maxwell; head linesman Bill Sheppard.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Little N.H.L., that's what this para is about. Organizer Gordon Alcott of 7 Cypress St., Weston, wants it known that this is for kids in three age brackets, up to nine years for so-called junior "A"—calling themselves Guelph, Marlboros, Generals, etc.—the lads of 10 and 11 called after A.H.L. teams, and then the boys 12 and 13 wearing team names of N.H.L. clubs. Each local loop must have at least six teams and all-star squads may be picked for playdowns in zones. Finals at Maple Leaf Gardens. It's a good idea for kids, though Peterborough doesn't require such a setup as it has a well-organized P.M.H.A. with winners going into the O.M.H.A. playdowns in late winter and early spring.

Timbermen trek to Toronto tomorrow for the third of the Mann Cup finals with Vancouver. A special train going, too. Locals lead 2-0 in the best-of-seven set and hope to add another win Friday. Scribe Jack Gatecliff of St. Catharines suggests that the C.L.A. should allow any games after the fourth in this series to be played in the town of the eastern team, Peterborough in this case. He feels that it would draw well and be a nice gesture by the governing body to let all the fans who supported the club all season sit in on the Canadian windup. "It would certainly make the parent body more popular in Ontario if they granted our champions the right of performing at least once before their home fans," says he.

* * * * * *

They Wouldn't Okay It

That's true enough, and we'd draw bigger crowds than these games are getting in Maple Leaf Gardens. Toronto fans aren't too interested in the gutted-stick game, especially when two outside teams are playing. And many local fans cannot take in every tilt there. However, we don't expect the C.L.A. will consider the question at all. They were panned plenty in B.C. last year for moving the final games around to several arenas, and they won't make that mistake again. Also Toronto Gardens provides a new floor for both clubs, so there's no advantage for either side. Furthermore, fall weather must be considered and we have an open-air bowl here. Too bad—how often have we said this for how many years now?—that our Memorial Centre wasn't built. We'd have a selling point then, eh?

* * * * * *

The Star's Gord Campbell said of the Tuesday tilt: "Vancouver gave notice they'll be tough to beat before the 1952 Mann Cup championship finally is decided. 'I don't see why we can't beat 'em,' insisted Coach Johnny Cavallin, 'a few breaks is all we needed.' But for some super netminding by Moon Wootton, the westerners might have been home free. Friday's third contest should be a humdinger." Bun Morganson of the Tely said: "The Vancouver crew came up with their best game of the series. Working the ball in closer on the Petes' net and pouncing on loose balls, they showed a much better team than in their disappointing display of Sunday. O.L.A. vice-president Sam Tillet along with Dr. Frank Kinney of New Westminster are dreaming up new ideas to sell lacrosse across Canada."

Orfuns Rolling Along

Keeping pace with Cobourg Ghosts in the hot O.R.F.U. grid race, Peterborough Orfuns stepped into Oshawa last p.m. and emerged several hours later with the large side of a 24-11 score at the expense of Red Raiders. Tony Kotowski's hustlers earned the victory in a fine fray, their condition carrying them toward the end of a clean, speedy game. At that, Jerry McGillis came out of it with a twisted knee and Jack McIntyre injured his shoulder. Plenty of passing by Stuke of Oshawa and Orfuns' Jim Milligan—one of the valued imports from Orillia. Jim completed six of seven passes, two for major counts, in the last half. Whole crew clicked like grandpop's store teeth in nifty line and backfield work. Kingston comes here on the holiday.

Johnny Lynch's good St. Peters' football squads came up with a pair of triumphs yester gloaming in Morrow Park. In group play, S.P.S. juniors blanked P.C.V.S. 20-0 to remain unscored upon in two league fixtures. Strong in all departments, their running and passing paid off as they had most of the play throughout the open tussle. In a senior exhibition, the Saints daubed Lindsay Collegiate seniors with a 12-0 whitewash brush, this being quite a keen contest. With both lines solid, the local backfielders made the difference, being sparked by Carl Brioux but with all hands helping. We believe the Saints have a Monday game. Saturday sees P.C.V.S. juniors at Oshawa, while Belleville meets the senior P.C.V.S. crew here Friday eve.

St. Peter's Grid Squads Capture Two Games Using the Shutout Route

St. Peter's High Saints, both juniors and seniors, went on the rampage Wednesday at Morrow Park. Coach Johnny Lynch's junior Saints pounded out a 20-0 victory over the P.C.V.S. Garnet and Greys and remained unscored upon in their two league starts. In the second game the senior Saints, against a little stiffer opposition, blanked the Lindsay Collegiate seniors 12-0. Fumbles and interceptions played an important role in the junior game; these miscues helped the Garnet and Grey cause especially in the first quarter when St. Peter's fumbled three times within the P.C.V.S. 25-yard line. On each occasion P.C.V.S. recovered to hold the Saints off. [illegible] interceptions ca[illegible] fourth quarter, twice by P.C.V.S. and once by the Saints. On each the attacking team was on a probable scoring march.

MOST OF PLAY

But the Saints, with a stronger line and faster backfield, carried most of the play; they should have scored at least three more touchdowns.

The Saints under quarter John Hickey moved up the field on plunges and runs by Ron Board, Bob O'Rourke and little Gary Kearns; Hickey's passes in the late stages were good. Meanwhile P.C.V.S. relied upon Stewart Brook's running and kicking, plunges by Bob McKinney and the odd jaunt by Keating.

The Saints moved into scoring position after the kickoff but Kearns fumbled on the three-yard line, Don Stewart of P.C.V.S. recovering. Minutes later after a poor Brook's kick, Don Chambers fumbled and again P.C.V.S. recovered in time, Don Lang grabbing the ball.

STILL IN TROUBLE

The second quarter started with P.C.V.S. still in trouble. Brooks punted to the 30-yard line where the Garnet and Grey rougned the ball-carrier, receiving a 15-yard penalty; that placed the ball on the 15-yard line. They were penalized a second time for holding, losing 10 yards, and then after two plunges, Ron Board scored the first major.

On the first play after the kickoff, Paul Byrnes intercepted a P.C.V.S. pass at centre to start another scoring march. O'Rourke, Board and Chambers plunged, Hickey passed to Masterson, placing the ball on the one-yard line where Kearns crossed easily, making the score 10-0.

The Saints third scoring parade started from the second half kickoff. O'Rourke, Kearns, Chambers and Hickey all carried on running plays while Hickey mixed a pass to Dave Quinlan as the Saints rolled. Finally Chambers went across easily for the final touchdown.

Hickey, who played and called a good game from quarter, began the fourth from the Saints' 45 with a 23-yard run. He promptly passed then to Paul Buckley before Chambers broke through from the 30-yard line to score.

GOOD BACKFIELD

A determined Lindsay senior team battled against odds with the strong St. Peter's senior Saints' in the second game. The lines were about even on the play, although Lindsay's did lag in the first. But the backfield was the difference.

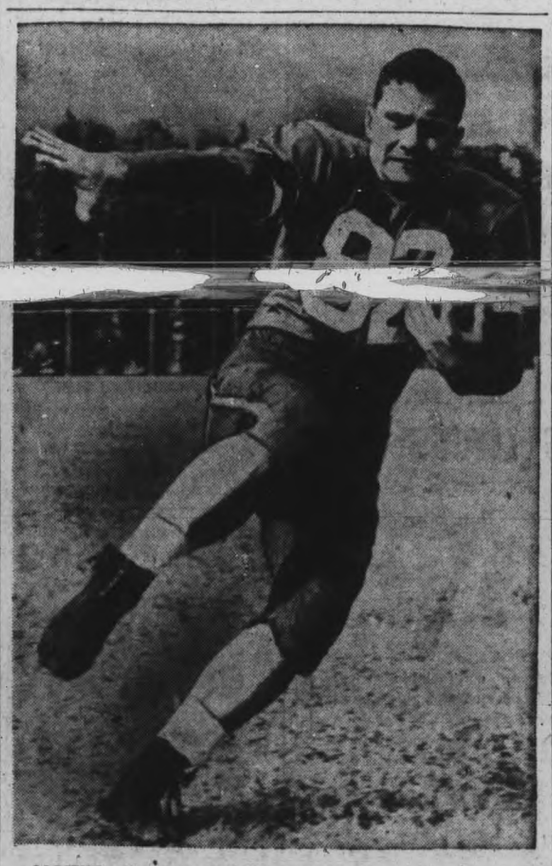
Carl Brioux's plunging spearheaded the Saints' attack and the stocky fellow never let them down. Dick Foley in spite of an injured back tore through the Lindsay line for important gains while Jack Richardson played his usual steady game at quarter.

Several times Lindsay showed bursts of offensive power, usually by Murray Packer, the Lindsay quarter, who plunged and passed well; often he rescued Lindsay with drives through the line.

The Saints lost little time in scoring. Starting at centre the Saints rolled, first with Gord Snape carrying, then with Carl Brioux. On his second drive, Brioux pounded the turf for 22 yards to the Lindsay 10 where he was sent around right end on a passout for the touchdown. Richardson made the convert attempt good for a 6-0 score.

Passes by Packer, twice to Tell, helped Lindsay out of trouble late in the first, but again St. Peter's seniors came back. At the Saints' 35 Gord Snape plunged for 17 yards, followed by another first down plunge by Brioux to end the first quarter on the Lindsay 50.

A LONG DASH



Brioux started the second from there with a 26-yard dash; but the Saints fumbled on the next play on the Lindsay 16. The ball was kicked and pushed around for a half-minute before the Saints' Leo Sullivan recovered it still on the 16. Brioux promptly went around right end again to score.

After the kickoff Packer built up Lindsay fans' hopes with a 37-yard break through the Saints' line. He was in the clear but Frank McGillen pulled him down at the Saints' 45. McGillen then stopped the march by recovering a fumble on the next play.

The Saints rolled again. Richardson passed to McGillen at centre; Brioux and Snape plunged to the Lindsay 15, but there the Saints received a 25-yard roughing penalty. McGillen punted for a point and Graham was tackled behind the line for the 12th point.

The Saints had a chance to score in the fourth quarter after Gord Whatman intercepted a pass deep in Lindsay territory. Foley, Richardson, Brioux carried to the three-yard line where the Lindsay line held firm.

A 15-yard plunge by Packer and a roughing penalty to St. Peter's helped Lindsay edge out of trouble.

Charles KO's Bernie Reynolds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion, last night knocked out Bernie Reynolds of Cliffside, N.J., in one minute and 40 seconds of the second round of a scheduled 12-round bout.

Charles, weighing 189, felt his opponent out carefully in the first round, sized him up, and put the finisher with a series of lefts and rights to the chin in the second. Reynolds weighed 187.

Charles, who told reporters before the fight that he was out to stop Reynolds faster than the present world's heavyweight champion —Rocky Marciano—ripped his opponent with sharp lefts and rights from the beginning of the bout. He seldom missed.

Marciano knocked out Ro[illegible] in one round when [illegible]

"Now I want another crack at the title," said Charles. "I think I can take Marciano."

Name Alf Moore Belleville Coach

BELLEVILLE— Belleville Glen Roys of the O.H.A. Senior B series Wednesday night announced the appointment of former National Hockey League goalie Alfie Moore as coach.

Moore is best remembered by hockey fans as the goalie who replaced injured Mike Karakas in the Chicago Black Hawks net for a Stanley Cup game against Toronto Maple Leafs in 1938. He sparked the Hawks to a 3-1 win.

K. Johnson and H. Meeks Take Senior Titles King George Field Meet

Karen Johnson and Harold Meeks, each with 15 points, won individual senior girls' and senior boys' championships at the annual field day of King George School. Mary Willamet led junior girls with 18 points, and Gary McInroy took the junior boys' title with 17. Pupils of Grades 5 to 8 competed with each room forming teams divided into junior girls and boys, 11 years old and under; and senior girls and boys, 12 and over. Events were running broad jump, standing broad jump, running high jump, softball throw for accuracy, volleyball serve and basketball throw.

For each event a high and low standard of achievement was set [illegible] of the [illegible] scores compiled for [illegible] nt, three points, two points and one. From the scores, the standing of the teams was announced and champion boys and girls of the various divisions decided. Teachers on the King George School grounds were in charge of the events.

No Hint Stengel Intends To Halt Pennant Drive

By JACK HAND

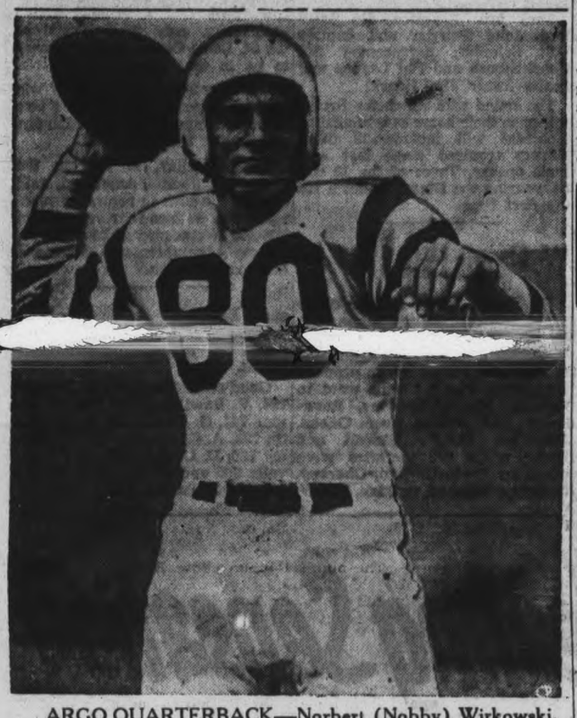
NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel gave it the "old perfesser's" wink when they asked him how it felt to win four straight World Series.

"It's a short record," he said. "Won't stand up. You got to win eight or nine before they pay any attention."

Old Case was kidding, of course. But there is no hint that Stengel or his New York Yankees expect to stop with a record-tying four straight World Series or 19 pennants.

Whitey Ford comes marching home from the army in November. Ford would be a tremendous lift to the pitching staff's "Big Three" of Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Eddie Lopat. The spunky little left-hander stepped right out of the minors to help pitch the Yanks to the pennant in '50 and turned in a fine World Series job before he went into service.

Big prize in the Yank farm system is supposed to be Bill Skowron, an ex-Purdue football player who was voted "Rookie of the Year" in the American Association.



Don Bollweg, ex-St. Louis Cardinal chain first baseman, was named most valuable player in the Association, after his .325 year at Kansas City. He'll be up there pressing Joe Collins for his regular job next spring.

After his Series performance, nobody is going to be pressing big Jawn Mize for his job of pinch hitter and occasional first baseman. But Mize is closing in on 40 with his retirement not too far off.

Bob Cerv, who failed in a trial with the Yanks, hammered home 48 runs after he returned to Kansas City and second baseman Kal Segrist, a bonus youngster, also hit like mad in the Association.

Andy Carey, another bonus player who was a spring training hot shot at St. Pete, shifted over to shortstop at Kansas City for a trial. Both he and Segrist definitely are prospects for the future, possibly even in 1953.

And then there is Mickey Mantle, who seems to have arrived as the man to fill Joe DiMaggio's giant shoes. Unless Mickey goes into the army, he is a sure bet to be the top Yankee for many years to come.

ARGO QUARTERBACK—Norbert (Nobby) Wirkowski, 24-year-old quarterback import, is called "Mr. Clutch" by the Toronto Argonauts, leading team in the Big Four football loop. He works best under pressure and his forward-passes for touchdowns have saved the Argos time and again. He threw seven passes, including the winning touchdown toss, against Montreal Alouettes early this season. Last week against Ottawa he completed 13 out of 27 passes, three of them good for scores. He replaced the popular Al Dekdebrun as quarterback for Argos in 1951, coming from Miami University in Oxford, O., where he also was a noted tosser.

Tommy Holmes Returns To Boston Club

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn-born Tommy Holmes, who got into his second World Series this year as a result of being fired as manager of Boston Braves, returned to the Boston organization and to managing yesterday.

Holmes signed as manager of the Braves' American Association farm club, Milwaukee Brewers, after General Manager Bob Quinn of the Braves obtained Brooklyn's permission to negotiate with him.

At Milwaukee, Holmes succeeds Bucky Walters, who asked to return to Boston as coach after finishing the season as manager and piloting the Brewers to the American Association pennant. They lost out in the playoffs to Kansas City.

WITH DODGERS

Holmes, who spent most of his baseball life with the Boston club, finished out the 1952 season as pinch hitter and utility outfielder with the Dodgers.

Now 34, Holmes played 11 seasons in the majors, 10 of them with the Braves. He appeared in 1,320 games and made 1,507 hits in 4,992 times at bat for a lifetime average of .302.

In 1945, Holmes set a modern National League record by hitting safely in 37 consecutive games.

American Hockey Loop Won't Start Yet

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Emory Jones, president of the American Hockey League, said here yesterday the league's season will not open this weekend.

Jones said he understood that some teams in the league had announced they hoped to open the season Saturday and Sunday. However, he said no official opening date has been set for the league.

"We have a tentative schedule drawn up for the eight teams in the league," Jones said, "and hope to have it adopted shortly."

By The Canadian Press

HAS CONFIDENT

MONTREAL (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks, a changed team in personnel and mental attitude, open the new National Hockey League season here tonight against the stand-pat Montreal Canadiens.

"The team has lost its defeatist complex," General Manager Bill Tobin of the Hawks said yesterday. "I don't want to appear too optimistic but I think the pre-season exhibition series we played against Detroit is significant. We won two, lost two and tied three."

The Hawks have also been successful against minor league clubs.

Off-season deals brought new players to the Hawks, including goalie Al Rollins, defenceman Gus Mortson and centre Cal Gardner [illegible] Maple Leafs.

In addition, Sid Abel, long a veteran centre star with Detroit, is the new coach and will help his club actively on the ice, although he is expected to play only part time.

The Hawks have finished last in the six-team league for three successive seasons.

SELKE FULFILLS PROMISE

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens, announced last night that, acting for Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League, he has purchased Frankie Eddolls from New York Rangers and that Eddolls will join the Bisons immediately as playing coach.

With the placement of Eddolls in a coaching job, Selke said he now has fulfilled a promise he made to Buddy O'Connor and Eddolls when they were traded to New York by Canadiens several seasons ago. At that time he promised them coaching jobs in the Montreal organization when their playing days in the National Hockey League were over.

O'Connor, a forward, signed last week with Cincinnati Mohawks, Canadiens' farm team, and will coach the club in the International Amateur League. Eddolls, a defenceman, served as playing coach with Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada League part of last season when sent there by Rangers. He now moves to Buffalo, a Montreal affiliate.

✦ ✦ ✦

GALT COACH OPTIMISTIC

GALT (CP)—Coach Red Hamill of Galt Black Hawks says his team will give [illegible] Hockey Association junior "A" teams a battle this season.

Hamill has a major rebuilding job with only six of last year's team left. He still has a large squad on hand with a number of husky contenders for all positions.

Galt opens the schedule in Barrie Friday night and plays Guelph Biltmores in Galt Saturday.

✦ ✦ ✦

BRAVES TRIM MOHAWKS

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP)—Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League blanked Cincinnati Mohawks 6-0 last night in an exhibition game.

✦ ✦ ✦

QUAKERS WIN OPENER

SASKATOON (CP)—The champion Saskatoon Quakers, picking up where they left off last spring, last night thumped Calgary Stampeders 6-0 in the opening game of the Western Hockey League.

FAMILIAR SCENE—Mickey Mantle (7) is greeted by teammates outside the Yankee dugout after his sixth inning homer to send the Yankees out in front of the Dodgers. Brooklyn never caught up again, dropping the game and the series to the New York Yankees.

LONG OUT—With the 1952 World Series sparked by long-hit balls and leaping catches, Gene Woodling sticks to the pattern in the first inning of the last game. This time it was Dodger Jackie Robinson's blast to the bleachers.

Sonja Henie, Barbara Ann Stage Box Office Battle With Revues

By DALE BURGESS

They'll appear simultaneously in Indianapolis for eight of the next 10 nights.

Sonja immediately organized her own show. Her management claimed a total attendance of more than 1,000,000 for her 1951-52 tour. The Scott show claimed more than 2,000,000.

BRINGS OWN RINK

The little Norwegian wasn't able to book her show into Indianapolis, and it always has been one of her best audiences. This year she brought a portable rink to the Butler University fieldhouse and opened Oct. 3 after a premiere in Chicago.

The Hollywood Ice Revue management thought it was more than coincidence that the Henie show came to town almost a week ahead of the Scott Premiere, announced last April. Sonja didn't improve relations with an announcement that ticket sales are so good she'll stay an extra week to Oct. 18.

The Hollywood Ice Revue's first stand this year will run through Oct. 26 at the Indiana State Fair Grounds Coliseum. It played a private "pre-opening" show last night.

Barbara Ann and Sonja are both former world and Olympic figure-skating champions, but they never competed against each other. The Canadian girl is 24, Sonja 39.

A reporter asked Barbara Ann what she thought about Sonja. She said she was a long-time admirer of Miss Henie's skating.

"When I was a little girl," she said, "I went to see all her movies."

SCOTT SHOW PRAISED

Critics after last night's private performance called the Hollywood show one of the best of the 18 annual Wirtz productions. They found Miss Scott more sure of herself, "a real pro now."

Sonja stops her own show with her hula number and she has added some new wriggles this year in a "Hilo Hattie" number.

Sonja, lacking such name skaters as the Hollywood Ice Revue's Michael Kirby, Skippy Baxter and Freddie Trenkler, has a group of non-skating vaudeville acts in her show.

Both shows are lavishly costumed.

The Hollywood Ice Revue will go from Indianapolis to St. Louis, Omaha, Denver, Milwaukee, Chicago, New York, Detroit and Cincinnati, and then on a tour of Canada.

The Henie show will go next to Raleigh, N.C., and Washington, with the rest of the itinerary still indefinite.

National Hockey League To Open Its 35th Season

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Hockey League swings into its 35th season tonight with the defending champion Detroit Red Wings playing host to the injury-riddled New York Rangers while the veteran-studded Montreal Canadiens are entertaining the rejuvenated Chicago Black Hawks.

Seeking their fifth straight league title, the Red Wings will take the ice without Sid Abel. The reliable centre, who played for Detroit for 12 years, now is coach of the Black Hawks. Also missing from the Red Wings' line-up is rugged defenceman Leo Reise, traded to the Rangers in a deal which sent Reggie Sinclair to Detroit.

Sinclair will centre Detroit's famed "production line" that has [illegible] Lindsay at the wings.

Red Kelly, Bob Goldham and Marcel Pronovost will bear the brunt of the defensive duties in front of goalie Terry Sawchuck, starting his third season in the nets.

TWO RANGERS OUT

The Rangers, hoping to better last season's fifth-place finish, are plagued by the injury jinx. Goalie Chuck Rayner is shelved with a leg injury and forward Don Raleigh is out with a broken wrist, suffered in a pre-season exhibition game.

Rayner's place as net-minder will be taken by 23-year-old Lorne Worsley, recalled from Saskatoon of the Western Canada League. He had been farmed out last week for further seasoning.

Reise is expected to plug a big defensive gap for the Rangers as he teams with burly Allan Stanley on the backline. Jackie McLeod will replace Raleigh as the front-line pivotman between Ed Slowinski and Gaye Stewart.

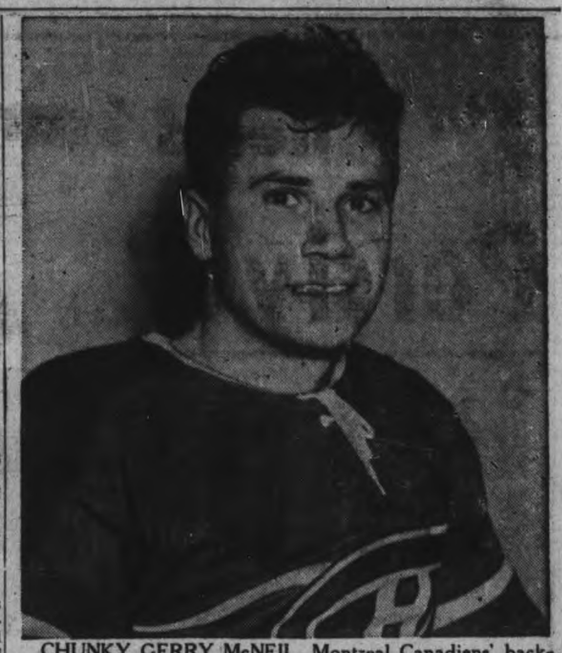
Montreal, second to the Red Wings last season, remain intact and will begin the season with no new faces in the line-up. The only doubtful starter is second-year-an Dickie Moore, out of action with a knee injury.

A trio of seasoned stalwarts, Elmer Lach, Bert Olmstead and Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, comprise the Canadiens' first line. Sophomores Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion, Dick Gamble and Paul Meger, were rookie sensations last season and will be around again to haunt the opposition.

The Black Hawks, after finishing in the cellar for the last three seasons, have undergone several revisions that should bolster them for the coming campaign.

Newcomers to the club include goalie Al Rollins, defenceman Gus Mortson and centre Cal Gardner, all obtained from Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for goaltender Harry Lumley.

Abel, expected to be a playing coach, is impressed with the way Chicago has looked in the pre-sea[illegible] the team seem[illegible]



Toronto inaugurates its season at home Saturday night against Chicago, while Detroit visits Montreal. Boston Bruins take the ice for their lid lifter Sunday night when they play host to Montreal. Other games that night include Toronto at Detroit and New York at Chicago.

Aly Khan Winner Of Paris Horse Race

The moslem prince, wearing his own dark green colors, took the lead from the other six contestants at the outset. He wasn't seriously challenged once over the 3,000-metre turf course. The prize was 400,000 francs, about $1,160.

CHUNKY GERRY McNEIL, Montreal Canadiens' backstop, is looking forward to the N.H.L. opener at the Montreal Forum against Chicago. The affable Canadien netminder says he feels in fine shape, and expects a bangup season.

Boston Bruins End Training

HERSHEY, Pa. (CP)—Boston Bruins ended their National Hockey League training grind yesterday and packed up for the return to home ice and their season's opener Sunday against Montreal Canadiens.

Coach Lynn Patrick announced that only six players who started the season with Boston last year will return home with this year's squad.

They are: Forwards Ed Sandford, John Peirson and captain Milt Schmidt; defencemen Bill Quackenbush and Hal Laycoe, and goalie Sugar Jim Henry.

The squad with which the Bruins will open their home season against Montreal will include 12 other players acquired since last season's opener. Three of the 12 will be wearing the Boston uniform for the first time.

W. Harris Hits 813

W. Harris rolled an 813 triple in the Major Bowling League with [illegible] of 346. Selkirk's hit [illegible] of 1276 and Plazas led in pinnage with 3510. The 7-0 wins went to Burtols, Plazas, Brewers, Revenoors and Studes over Odeon, Sunshine, O.P.P., Bickell and Herb; while 5-2 victories were taken by Irwin-Godson, Cherney, Crowley, McLeod, Selkirk, U.E.W. and Edwards over Clapper's Examiners. Deeth [illegible] worth.

Good scores included: R. Bassett 784, V. Rawlins (306) 759, W. Irvine 741, G. Young 726, D. Coughlin 723, A. Caccavella 730, F. Hurley 720, D. Leether 707, M. Caccavella 705 and singles of C. Clarke 301 and B. Bailey 300.

Stengel To Get $100,000 A Year

NEW YORK (AP) — All thoughts of retirement cast aside, Casey Stengel, who managed the New York Yankees to the fourth straight world championship, is ready to sign a new contract, reputedly for $100,000 per year.

This would make him far and away the highest paid manager in baseball, almost twice the salary reputedly paid Leo Durocher of the New York Giants. Among active ballplayers, only Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals is supposed to be in that class.

The only other manager to win four consecutive world series championships was Joe McCarthy, also of the Yankees.

Hugh Bradley, writing in the New York Journal-American, said Stengel "is sure to return as manager for a two-year period at $100,000 per season if he feels his income tax statement can stand this extra burden."

Russia Eases Rules For Nazis

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—Russia has agreed to let the seven top Nazi war criminals in the four-power prison at Spandau, West Berlin, receive more visitors and more mail, the western allies announced here yesterday.

The prisoners are Rudolf Hess, Admirals Erich Raeder and Karl Doenitz, youth leader Baldur von Schirach, Franz von Neurath, Ribbentrop's predecessor as Foreign Minister, Albert Speer, commissioner for industry, and Walter Funk, president of the Reichsbank.

The prisoners now will be allowed to receive one visit of 30 minutes every month instead of one visit of 15 minutes every two months. They will also be allowed to write and receive one letter every week instead of one every four weeks.

AKIN TO ESKIMO

Central Triumphs

Central defeated Prince of Wales 2-0 in senior school soccer in Morrow Park yesterday. Prince of Wales had a margin of play in the first half, playing nice combination with the wind at their backs, but Hayman in Central's goal was unbeatable. Early in the second half, MacNaughton playing a nice wing carried the ball down, centred it and after a scrimmage banged it in. Late in the half, Lustic got in the clear to take a pass from Armstrong and Ross planted it to wind up the scoring. Sorrie, Barclay and Simpson went well for the winners; and Ketcheson, Bowen and Trotter for the losers.

Prince of Wales: Londerville, Oliver, D. Clark, Ketcheson, Bowen, Trotter, Shaw, Fredericks, Kent, Jay, Nurse, Dunstan, Douglas, Barber, Riel McFadden, McIntosh, Park.

Central: Hayman, Barclay, Aulbrook, Sorrie, Armstrong, Downer, MacNaughton, Tunnicliffe, Simpson, Hum, Mac, Robbins, Mills, Gray, Dinsdale, Lustic, Ross, Grills.

Referees, J. Burns and B. Dawson.

Realtors Urge Ottawa Raise Immigration

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards yesterday urged the federal government to increase immigration to achieve a minimum population of 30,000,000 by 1975.

The resolution was one of five to come before the final session of the association's ninth annual conference. Only 30 of the 500 delegates attended.

An amendment to have special preference given persons from the British Isles gained no support.

The association also decided to petition the government to permit deduction of municipal property taxes from taxable personal incomes.

It also passed a resolution stating that neither labor nor shortages of building materials is responsible for new house production failing to keep pace with the increased rate of family formation. Instead, it blamed the situation on inadequate mortgage finance.

Canadian Soldiers Send Korean Youth To College

OTTAWA (CP) — Sympathetic Canadians, including soldiers in the field in Korea, are smoothing the way to fulfilment of a dream—higher education in Canada—for many young South Korean students.

So far only a few have arrived, most for religious training. But since the 25th brigade went to Korea, Canadian soldiers themselves have taken a hand in providing the necessary backing to open the doors of Canadian universities to others.

An example is Lee Jung Ok, 23-year-old South Korean who fled Seoul during the North Korean invasion of June, 1950. He became attached to the Princess Patricias and spent almost two years with them as interpreter and supply supervisor.

STUDIES IN VANCOUVER

Lee arrived in Canada recently. He is sponsored by a group of former members of the Patricias who served with him. Lee will take a four-year teacher-training course at the University of British Columbia. Then like others, he will return to spread his new-found knowledge in his homeland.

Advices from Tokyo say there are 12 other South Korean students like Lee now being sponsored to take higher education in Canada.

South Korean religious students have been trickling into Canada since 1948. They come under an immigration policy which permits temporary admission to this country providing they can comply with health and character standards and prove the necessary backing to gain admission to a recognized university or religious college.

No time limit is put upon their stay so long as they continue at university or college and do well in their studies.

PROMISING STUDENTS

Most of the students who have come show promise from studies already completed in their own country and most speak English well. Lee, for instance, was a two-year student at Seoul National University.

Pak Kun, 24, a similar student now awaiting sponsorship in Korea, is a graduate in philosophy of the same university and wants to study political science and economy in Canada.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada has been sponsoring South Koreans for higher religious learning in this country for several years.

One of the first to come under this plan was Miss Yung Oon Kim who arrived in 1948 and spent three years in Canada, studying in Toronto at Victoria University and Emmanuel College from which she graduated in 1951.

She has since returned to Korea and now is hard at work as head of the Department of Christian Social Work at Ewha Woman's University. The university, bombed out, now is situated in Pusan, housed in tents and makeshift buildings.

TRAIN AS NURSES

Others sponsored by the Missionary Society include two student nurses, Miss Sung Soon Yu and Miss Keun Pyo Hong, now at Lamont Hospital in Alberta.

At the University of Toronto are Dr. Ki Hyun Kim, a graduate of Seoul Woman's Medical College who is taking pediatrics; Miss Yong Sook Kim, taking social work and Miss Oo Chang Lee, majoring in Greek.

United Church sponsorship also has included two young ministers who trained at Emmanuel College. Rev. David Chung now is on the staff of the Chosun theological seminary, Korea. Rev. Joseph Ohm took post-graduate work and has since returned to become a staff member of the National Christian Council of Korea at Pusan.

Just arrived is Rev. Chung Choon Kim, a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Korea. After two years' post-graduate work at Emmanuel he will return to his native land.

Road Costs Top $1,000 In Cavan Twp. Bills

MILLBROOK (ENS)—Road costs were the major item in the accounts ordered paid at the October meeting of Cavan township council. They were $1,041.98, about three-fourths of the total.

Other large items were: $56 paid for one sheep and three lambs killed, $56.25 for printing, and $50 for relief.

Out-of-township bulldozing accounts owing to the township were requested paid by October 15, otherwise they would be turned over to a collecting agency.

A tender of $1,700 for a tractor with snowplow was left over for the November meeting. Mrs. Zella M. Bentley took office as the new clerk and treasurer of the township.

Selwyn Women Visit Apsley W.I. Group

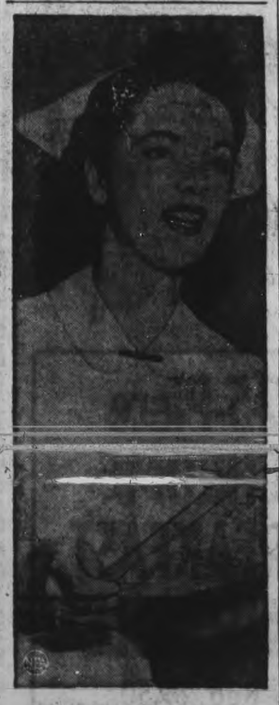
APSLEY (ENS)—The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Library on Thursday evening with the members of Selwyn attending as our guests. 16 Selwyn members with one visitor and 16 local members attended.

President Mrs. S. McCauley welcomed the guests and opened the meeting in the usual way after which two minutes silence was observed in memory of Mrs. David Miller, first president of Peterborough district, who died recently.

The T.B. chest clinic was reported very successful, approximately 300 persons were X-rayed.

Starting October 10, a series of progressive euchre parties will be held in the Public Library.

[illegible] appointed to make arrangements.



The oratorical contest will be held in the school auditorium on Friday, October 17, starting at 1 p.m. sharp.

A committee is selecting prizes and have secured three judges for the events. The Selwyn members then presented a program: community singing, reading "Salute to the Flag", Mrs. C. McIlmoyle; solo by Mrs. Payton; reading and demonstration of combining the crosses of St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick to form the Union Jack, Mrs. W. Elliott. Community singing "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall." Solo, Mrs. Payton. Reading "Colors of the Flag," Mrs. E. Blewett. Contest "Trees" conducted by Mrs. C. Crapp.

A vote of thanks to visitors for their program was moved by Mrs. Wilson, seconded by Mrs. W. Lean. Apsley ladies served lunch.

Music Teaching By Radio Regular In Saskatchewan

SASKATOON (CP)—Music teaching by radio is a popular feature of rural schools in Saskatchewan.

Sponsored by the Education Department, the classes are broadcast each Thursday from six radio stations. The broadcasts are popular, because of the distance between towns in rural Saskatchewan, the isolation of such schools and the shortage of qualified music teachers.

The department finds it has a radio music class of almost 60,000 members, aged from six to 16 in 4,000 classrooms stretching from the U.S. border to the far north settlements.

The experiment of radio music classes here dates back to the depression years of the 1930s when music disappeared from the general classrooms but was kept alive by means of radio. The idea lapsed to some extent with the return of better economic conditions but a revival was undertaken some months ago.

The originator, director, producer and instructor of this radio music class is R.J. Staples, Saskatchewan's supervisor of school music.

Though Mr. Staples emphasizes singing, a feature of his programs is the teaching of classroom musical instruments such as rhythm instruments, tonettes, flutophones and autoharps.

Saskatchewan, of course, is not the only province where music is taught by radio. The pioneer in this field was P.G. Padwick of Winnipeg who nearly 30 years ago conducted music classes on the Manitoba government radio station of that era.

Taft Wins Battle Of Words With Truman At Shenandoah

SHENANDOAH, Ia. (AP)—On a sun-drenched football field rimmed with hot dog stands, President Truman fought an old-fashioned battle of words yesterday with Senator Robert Taft.

Judging from the applause that crackled from the packed wooden bleachers in this staunchly Republican Iowa town, the Ohio Senator was an easy winner in this unusual round of the struggle for the farm vote in the Nov. 4 election.

Taft was applauded at least half a dozen times oftener than the President, and at the end got an ovation far louder than the wave of hand-clapping for Truman.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Tens of thousands crammed the streets of Shenandoah for the speech-making and the free pancakes that are an annual feature of the town's harvest festival.

Truman, waving cheerily, rode at the head of a parade.

Between 7,000 and 10,000 flocked to the high school football field for Truman's speech. About the same number listened to Taft an hour-and-a-half later.

Truman blasted Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's farm views as a hodgepodge of "generalities, platitudes, half truths and plain misrepresentation."

French Cut Down On Cigarettes Get Money For Versailles Repairs

WASHINGTON. — The French are cutting down on cigarettes to help raise money for the Palace of Versailles. A special appeal has been made to every citizen to contribute the price of one pack toward the $14,000,000 needed to restore the palace and gardens to their 18th century grandeur.

Non-smokers are contributing too, for the French love Versailles and flock to see it from all over the country, says the National Geographic Society. On an afternoon jaunt from Paris or a trip from the provinces, they visit the palace and walk in gardens where over 150,000 plants are set out each year. Families spread picnic lunches on the grass, and the children play by the fountains.

Occasionally special attractions are listed among theatre notices in the papers. Some Sundays all the fountains are playing; on certain evenings they are illuminated while the opera ballet performs by the fountain of Neptune. Or there may be fireworks displays reflected in the Grand Canal.

After almost total neglect during the Second World War many repairs are needed in the gardens. The condition of the palace is even more critical. The government plans a long-term rebuilding program on the enormous edifice (27 acres of roofing) which almost miraculously still stands after 300 years.

Built by Louis XIV around his father's hunting lodge on marshland 12 miles from Paris, and with no outside downspouts to mar the beauty of its facades, the palace is crumbling within from dampness —worst enemy of stone buildings.

PART OF FRANCE

The largest building and most visited historic shrine in the country, Versailles has always been very much a part of French life. Louis XIV, who said bluntly, "I am the State," established there the seat of government, luring nobles to his brilliant court. There they stayed, dependent on him financially and politically.

Twenty thousand people were attached to the court in its heyday. A thousand nobles lived in the palace itself with their retinues of at least 4,000; an additional 5,000 servants occupied the annexes, and 9,000 soldiers lived in barracks in the town.

Sightseers were freely admitted along with official visitors. Corridors were thronged with princes and ambassadors, servants and peddlers. Cows and goats were brought daily to the doors of those of the nobility who insisted on fresh milk. The public also was allowed in the gardens and came in such numbers that guards had to clear a path for the kingly constitutionals.

After the revolution of 1789, Versailles became at various times a conservatory of arts and sciences, a veterans' hospital, an exhibition hall, a setting for special royal or republican fetes, and in 1830, a national museum dedicated to all the glories of France, which it remains today, a monument to the arts and crafts of France for two centuries.

Superficial repairs have been made on the palace since Louis XV's time. The major operation now planned will include rebuilding the entire roof and strengthening the walls and ceilings from the inside out. However, the palace will have what many a princess en decolletage would have given her necklace for — a central heating system.

CORONATION STAMP — Britain's colonial territories will issue stamps bearing the above design, to commemorate the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, in June, 1953. Together with the stamp to be issued by Great Britain, there will be some 60 stamps in the coronation series.

Guilty of Death

TORONTO (CP) — George W. Humble, 41, last night was found innocent of murder in the death of Jean Peters, 39, but guilty of manslaughter. He was remanded until Oct. 17 for sentence. Miss Peters, a hand-lotion demonstrator with whom he lived, died July 20 of poisoning from one of two gunshot wounds she received July 9.

Mission Circle Hears Report On Convention

NORWOOD (ENS) — October meeting of the Mission Circle of the Baptist Church was Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Geo. Baptie. Mrs. Robert Baker took charge of the meeting and Mrs. R. Armitage was pianist.

Scripture reading was given by Mrs. George Baptie, followed by a poem by Mrs. Jack Girven. Mrs. Robert Baker gave the highlights of the Link and Visitor, bringing interesting information about the world missionary convention being held in Paris France. A duet was sung by Mrs. Armitage and Mrs. Girven.

Mrs. Robert Baker and Mrs. Baptie were appointed delegates to attend the convention in Belleville this week.

A quiz on Bible mountains and hills was conducted by Mrs. Girven. Mrs. William Sedgwick gave the topic and based her remarks on the words of Hosea, "Grey hairs are here and there upon us, yet we know not."

Ex-Wife On Rampage

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Winifred Wright, 26, admitted in court that she smashed the TV set, radio, dishes, refrigerator, lamps, mirrors and ripped clothing in the home of Vern Wright, from whom she was divorced last Saturday. "I wanted to make sure his new wife doesn't have any of those things," she said. Judge Ralph Dennis sentenced her to 15 days in jail.

Church Union Long Way Off Delegates Told

SEATTLE (AP) — The United Lutheran Church in America opened its 18th biennial convention here last night with solemn liturgical services and a warning from its president that world - wide church union is far off.

"It is wholly hopeless," Rev. Franklin Clark Fry of New York said, "to attempt at present a united church with churches as they are."

He explained to the 2,000 delegates and visitors that Christians and churches must be guided by God's holy spirit in seeking union. They cannot, he emphasized, cling each to their peculiarities in approach to interpretation of the Bible, but must find a common, high-level meeting ground.

He told the delegates that the Church will be effective only if the people in it assume initiative. He laid responsibility for healthy growth directly upon the 4,180 congregations in the United States, its territories and the provinces of Canada.

The U.L.C.A. is Lutherandom's largest body, with more than 2,000,000 members.

New Comedy Proves Delight

NEW YORK (AP)—The new stage comedy, "In Any Language," came on to the stage of the Cort Theatre last night under the skilfull direction of George Abbott.

The comedy proved a delight.

By Edmund Beloin and Henry Garson, "In Any Language" is the story of an American film star who goes to Italy to make a picture.

She is assigned to an Italian director and falls in love with him.

But she has an American husband who is an aviator and she is also torn between her romantic inclinations and her problems as to how she will deal with people of many languages.

In her performance Miss Uta Hagan states all. . .and in any language.

She has humor in many tragic situations, giving a wink to the eye of death.

THEY JUMPED THE POLITICAL FENCE—Feelings run high in one of the hottest presidential campaigns in many a decade. So high, in fact, as to move prominent personalities on both sides to bolt their traditional party and go over to "the enemy." Outstanding among such politicos are those pictured below. Exception is Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, who is careful to point out that he's not bolting—merely "taking a walk."

"I shall not vote for the label. I shall place loyalty to my country above loyalty to a political party and I shall vote for Dwight D. Eisenhower." — Gov. James F. Byrnes (D., S. C.).

"On Nov. 4, the Good Lord willing, I will go to the polling place and cast my ballot for Dwight D. Eisenhower." —Gov. Robert F. Kennon (D., La.).

"I personally will not support the Democratic national candidates and urge all Democrats to reconsider and work for the election of Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon."—Gov. Allan Shivers (D., Tex.).

"The time has come to organize a new party. Not a third party because we must draw upon people of similar beliefs in both parties. We will follow Lincoln and Jefferson while we repudiate Truman and Dewey."—Robert R. McCormick (R.).

"A party bolter is one who campaigns for the opposition, whereas when one takes a walk he simply doesn't campaign for his party's candidates. I am certainly taking a walk as of now."—Senator Wayne Morse (R., Ore.).

"I can't support the candidacy of Dwight Eisenhower even as the lesser of two evils. Eisenhower is a one-worlder out and out. He may know something about war, but he knows nothing about this government if he thinks the U. S. can democratize the world."—Rep. Usher Burdick (R., N. D.).

Failed In High School English Youth's Manuscript Accepted

TORONTO (CP) — A Hamilton youth who failed high school English has just had a manuscript about a world adventure tour accepted by a Toronto publisher.

Donald Green, now a 20-year-old student at the Ryerson Institute of Technology here, decided before he finished high school that one way to get a well-rounded education was to rough it around the world.

He attended a lecture by a United States sailor and world traveller, Captain Irving Johnson of the sailing ship Yankee, and was accepted as a crew member on Johnson's next globe-trotting voyage.

"It was no luxury cruise," Don explains. "The crew shared all expenses and the work and dangers of the trip." The 96-foot windjammer had some rough times during its 48,000-mile voyage.

BATTLE TYPHOON

"The worst part of the trip was the week we spent on the China Sea dodging a typhoon," Don said. "The sky was black even at noon."

When they reached Thailand th learned the storm had been one of the worst in years and had killed hundreds of persons in Japan.

Don, the only Canadian among the crew of 22, has decided the world is a violent place. While travelling in Thailand a man was slain in their coach, and another committed suicide by throwing himself in front of the train.

"In Jakarta, the capital of Indonesia, the traffic cops are armed with sub-machine guns. We met one of the world's richest men, the Sultan of Johore, at his palace near Singapore. But he was afraid to move from his heavily-guarded palace at night. Communist terrorists had marked him as one of their top priority victims."

But in a head-hunters' village in New Guinea Don's party received a friendly greeting. The natives grinned and chucked him under the chin. Don decided they were harmless, but said he was told later that after they had left the natives twisted the heads off a couple of missionaries.

Bad Spelling, Punctuation Among English Test Faults

TORONTO (CP)—Bad spelling and punctuation, wrong use of pronouns and lack of vigor and force in expression were among faults of Ontario grade 13 students who took examinations in English literature and composition last June.

The Department of Education has conducted a post mortem and sent the results to secondary school principals along with some general comments.

Some who took the exam were among the first-year students to try a similar test at University College, University of Toronto, last week. Those who failed will be given remedial instruction.

Among the 82 words frequently misspelled on the June literature paper were: Argument, arouse, author, believe, chief, dagger, ecstasy fierce, ghost, lose and loose, Macbeth, occur, presence, principal, rhyme and rhythm, scene, speech, similar, truly, until, weird and writing.

The department said there were some perfect answers and near-perfect essays; not all the papers were poor. It also said that students were not penalized for writing: "It is me."

Farm Price Support Level Campaign Issue

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

NEW YORK (CP)—The level of price support for farm products is the key issue on farm policy discussions in the United States election campaign.

Both Governor Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have given similar answers to farmers' queries on their plans for keeping the farmer happy. So the issue seems to boil down to which party will give the most satisfaction in fulfilling farm-policy pledges.

However, there has been some backbiting on the recent history of farm legislation, as there has been on the history of other legislation.

The Republicans have charged that President Truman gained many votes in 1948 by telling farmers that the Republican-controlled 80th Congress was to blame for a shortage of grain storage facilities. The Republicans claim there was no shortage in 1948.

TRUMAN'S WHISTLE STOPS

Truman in his current whistle-stop tour reiterates there was a storage shortage and that it was the 80th Congress which blocked measures to increase storage facilities.

Eisenhower and other Republican spokesmen say that the Democrats in 1948 manipulated the grain on the method of achieving parity prices.

market to force prices down and to compel farmers to dump grain at a loss.

But the big issue is the regulation of prices. Since 1933 the U.S. government has taken a hand in regulating farm prices so that farmers' incomes could be good. This was attempted through establishment of a standard for farm prices. The standard, named "parity," aims at giving the farmer a fair return in relation to the things he has to buy.

This level does not fix market prices at the parity level, but uses various devices to push farm prices up to that level. That's where the fight comes. Parity price standard is generally accepted by both major parties, but there have been bitter differences

The most extensively-used method is that under which the government gives the farmer a loan on his crop, a loan based on parity. The farmers' crop is stored under loan and is not available for the market while under loan. Thus a miller must pay a price in line with the government loan rate if he wants the farmer to sell him his crop.

90 PER CENT PARITY

At present, major products are being supported at 90 per cent of parity. In the case of wheat the support rate is $2.20 a bushel, 90 per cent of the parity price.

Some farm leaders argue that supports at 90 per cent of parity are too high, contending that high supports encourage over-production. But other farm leaders say that supports should be set at full parity.

The Republican platform "aims" at a program that will bring "full parity prices" but it does not specify any level of government support. Eisenhower, however, has stated that he backs the 90 per cent of parity now on the government books.

Stevenson, noting that the Democratic platform calls for "mandatory" price supports at 90 per cent of parity, ridicules the use of the word "aim" by the Republican platform. He pointed up the fact that more than half the Republican members of the House of Representatives voted last June against having 90 per cent of parity.

2 Die In Apartment From Gas Fumes

TORONTO (CP)—A middle-aged man and woman died Wednesday from the effects of domestic gas in an east-end apartment.

George Miles Standish, 58, and Mrs. Blanche Richards, 60, a beautician, were found by William Warwick who lives on another floor of the building. Standish was on the chesterfield in the living room while Mrs. Richards, clothed in a nightgown, was in her bedroom.

Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said it appeared the man took his own life and the woman was a victim when the gas spread through the apartment. The oven jet of the stove was turned on.

A budgie, a canary and a kitten survived.

Vaudeville Through On TV-Berle

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The age of vaudeville is over for television, says Milton Berle, whose variety show made him TV's top draw.

Berle has abandoned his slam-bang vaudeo format this season, substituting a story-line program. "I'd say I did about all I could with the vaudeville format," he remarked. "I was the first one in it, and I played it for four years. I milked it."

"The vaudeville format was great. In all modesty, I can say that I introduced to TV such performers as Lucille Ball, Martin and Lewis, Tony Martin, and many many others who now have their own shows. That's one of the troubles now — so many of the big names have their own shows. There isn't good talent left to provide top shows 39 times a year.

"And another thing — people have gotten tired of the vaudeville type of show. You can't go on doing the same skits. The material is bound to get thin."

The comic added that the TV market was flooded with too many vaudeville shows after his initial success. And he predicts that the same thing will happen with situation-comedy shows, which are now the rage.

NEW SHOW

Berle said he was delighted with his new show, which permits him some moments of restraint.

"People get to see a new side of me," he said. "I play myself, Milton Berle, and his troubles of putting a show together.

"Another thing — I am now merely a performer," he added. "With my old show, I did everything — producing, directing, writing. The result was that I was neglecting my own performance. I was spreading myself too thin, and I didn't have enough time to devote to myself as an actor.

"But now I'm happy to sit back and let other people do the work. It's about time. Next year I'll be celebrating my 40th year in show business." He blushingly admitted to being 44 now.

OUT OF COMA—Mrs. Richard Smith smiles happily as she holds hands with her three-year-old son Gary who can hear and speak now after being in a coma since last August 7. The reunion took place in the Convalescent Hospital at Springfield, Vt. Gary was found in a discarded ice box last August, his pet kitten clasped in his arms. The kitten suffered no ill effects but Gary had been in a deep coma until he spoke to his father yesterday.

Royal Navy Hammocks On Way Out In New Ships Now Being Built

LONDON (CP)— "Lash up and stow."

That command, which for generations has aroused British naval ratings from the snug comfort of their sleeping hammocks, is about to disappear from the petty officer's vocabulary.

An Admiralty fleet order announces that hammocks are to be abolished in favor of folding bunks in the latest Hermes class aircraft carriers under construction and the large ships of the line in process of modernization.

The individual bunks of tubular metal, with a canvas bed, will swing upwards and be secured by a chain when not in use, similar to an upper berth in a railway sleeper. The bunk space will be provided with nesting tables and chairs, for use in messes for recreational purposes.

Another innovation is the installation of barber shops on all large naval vessels, where space is available.

Ex-Communist To Stand Trial

OTTAWA (CP)—The Crown yesterday built a web of fingerprint and other evidence around a former officer of the Canadian Communist party sufficient to send him to trial on a charge of passport fraud.

Raymond Arthur Davies, alias Rudolf Shohan, 44-year-old Montreal writer and one-time executive officer of the Labor Progressive party, will be formally committed today for trial in county court.

The Crown claims Davies made false declarations when applying for a passport in 1936.

Magistrate Glenn Strike made the committal decision yesterday after a two-hour preliminary hearing [illegible] that has been [illegible] times delayed. Davies has been at liberty on bail of $1,000 since his arrest in Whitby early in July.

AIR MAIL IN 1939

Magistrate Critical Of Jail Confinement

KITCHENER (CP)—Magistrate J.R.H. Kirkpatrick was critical in court yesterday of a Kitchener man being confined in jail for six days before obtaining bail on a charge for which a fine is the usual penalty.

Theodore Davis was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to failing to produce a driver's permit. A charge of driving while his ability was impaired was dismissed without defence evidence being called. No evidence was offered on a careless-driving charge.

When Magistrate Kirkpatrick asked why Davis had been kept in jail six days before obtaining bail, he was told the accused was a relative newcomer to the city and "without roots."

KITCHENER (CP)—Donald McGeacky of Galt, injured at Preston yesterday in a truck-train crash, died today in hospital here. He was riding in a transport truck driven by Alex Harrison of Ayr when it was in collision with a passenger train bound from Hamilton to Palmerston.

Sees No Reason To Lift Ban

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis said yesterday the Quebec government sees no reason why it should lift its ban on margarine and orders have been issued for increased vigilance against violation of the 1949 law.

Mr. Duplessis made the statement when asked to comment on an announcement earlier by a Union Nationale party member that he would ask the Premier to rescind the ban.

Denis Gerin, member for the eastern townships riding of Stanstead, said margarine "is sold under the counter everywhere in the province." at prices "large families can afford."

"I don't know why we can't accept this butter [illegible] it is of better quality," he said.

The 1949 law bans sale, possession and manufacture of margarine in Quebec province.

Charge Brantford Man With Drunk Driving

HAMILTON (CP) — Eugene O'Doyle, 37, of Brantford, was charged with drunken, careless and dangerous driving yesterday after an accident at nearby Stoney Creek in which three Brantford residents were injured.

Police said O'Doyle was the driver of a car which crashed into a railway overpass injuring three persons. John Bodnar, 22, was kept in hospital but Donna Anderson, 17, and Lorne Homick, 26, returned home.

Minor Plumbing Problems Simple To Solve

By MR. FIX

The plumbing in a new home should give the owner little or no trouble during the "breaking-in" period. Homeowners can readily handle minor plumbing problems that crop up later on.

One such problem is the annoyance of dripping faucets. To remedy this, simply remove the whole valve assembly of the faucet and examine it and the valve seat for minute chips from the cutting of tubing or pipes.

The valve may not be closing properly because of the chips, which should of course be removed. These tiny cuttings get into the water lines of every new home, and are washed into the faucets by the flow of water, naturally.

Another likely cause of the dripping faucet is a worn washer. Washers are fastened at the end of the valve assembly by a small screw—are easily removed and replaced.

Care should be exercised in closing faucets, says the National Association of Home Builders. They should be closed just hard enough to shut off the flow of water. Apply too much pressure in closing a faucet and you weaken valve washers before their time.

From time to time you may find that the toilet tank flusing mechanism has gone awry. Remove the top of the tank to uncover this simple mechanism. A test or two will show you how it works.

The rubber-ball valve plunger—it moves vertically, opening an exit for the water—is subject to deterioration. New plungers can be had at hardware stores, the old one removed by unfastening the screw holding it to the end of the vertical rod, and the new one inserted.

The larger ball float—made of plastic or metal—which maintains the water level in the tank, can also be easily replaced. The float should then be readjusted to the proper water level shown by the markings at the end or rear of the tank.

Hot water heaters normally collect small quantities of scale and sludge. This brown-colored water can be drained off by opening a valve found at the bottom of all water heaters.

Hot water heaters, whether gas, electric or oil operated, have heat control mechanisms — they look something like thermostats — which should normally be set at about 125 degrees, but where automatic washing machines are used may be set for 145 degrees.

The lower setting is preferable in order to avoid possible scalding where children have access to the faucets.

In those areas where the temperature falls below freezing in the winter, exterior water connections should be turned off before cold weather arrives. This prevents freezing and fracture of the pipe and fittings. The shut-off valve is usually to be found in the basement, close to the point where the water supply goes through the exterior wall.

Finally, here are a few hints for owners of new homes:

Don't flush hair, grease, lint and bulkier materials down the toilet drain. They'll surely clog the toilet and sewer lines.

If wood shrinkage occurs in the bathroom, the result is usually a small separation between the tub and wall tile or between the tub and floor. Fix this condition by filling the crack with inexpensive white cement, available at any hardware store.

In houses having linoleum sink tops, years of life can be added to the top by periodic application of a coat of spar varnish.

PLUMBING ADJUSTMENTS illustrated above are commonly done by owners of new homes without calling in expert assistance.

Armored Corps Tank Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—The army announced yesterday it is shifting the responsibility for defence against tanks from the artillery to the armored corps.

The shift means that if and when Canada forms infantry or armored divisions such as she had in the last war, each would include a tank regiment for anti-tank purposes. It also means the armored corps is being assigned a defensive as well as an offensive role.

In the war, infantry divisions had no tank units and armored divisions had them for offensive purposes only. Artillery units looked after tank defence.

The change is in line with United States army organization and with modern armor trends. Both the 25th brigade in Korea and the 27th brigade in Germany include tank squadrons—a fraction of a regiment—for anti-tank purposes.

CLUB IN GERMANY—Club 27, organized and operated by warrant officers and sergeants of Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade Group, has been opened in Kleefeld, one of the residential districts in Hannover, Germany. It contains a bar and meals are served at reasonable prices. It is operated solely by Canadians for Canadians and their guests. The Brigade's badge is over the doorway.

Britain Expresses Disfavor With Open UN Membership

OTTAWA (CP) — Sir Gladwyn Jebb, Britain's chief delegate to the United Nations General Assembly, yesterday expressed disfavor of wide-open membership in the U.N.

In a press conference, he said he was surprised and puzzled at reports that the State Department in Washington is studying the possibility of having almost universal membership.

"To admit everybody," he said, "would be to admit Outer Mongolia and others we do not regard as states at all, thereby paving the way for the conventional demand by Russia for the admission of all her states."

Sir Gladwyn, here to deliver a speech on the U.N., told reporters the membership issue is only one item in a controversy-laden agenda that leaves the outlook for constructive political action by the Assembly "not too good."

He cited specifically the question of racial segregation in South Africa and the Korean war, expressing the view that the Korean debate would undoubtedly be a "sterile" one.

OPOSES U.N. FORCE

He indicated Britain is not enthusiastic about U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie's recent idea for a volunteer reserve made up of part-time trainees in the U.N. countries, who would be ready to fight in any U.N. force mustered against future aggression.

"It is difficult to see how they would be preferable to a country's own trained troops," he observed.

In a speech earlier in the day to the women's Canadian Club, Sir Gladwyn predicted that the U.N. will move towards its original ideal of collective security but warned that mishandling of the race problem could wreck its whole concept.

One of the U.N.'s "greatest dangers," he said, was in "class-conscious, race-conscious emotions."

Presbyterian Young People Plan Rally [illegible]

Some 600 delegates representing the various Presbyterian Young People's Societies in Ontario will meet in St. Paul's Church on Friday night. It will be the first session of a three-day conference of the provincial organization.

The Rev. Mariano di Gangi, minister of St. Enoch's Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, and formerly of the Italian Presbyterian Mission, Montreal, will be the theme speaker. He is an outstanding young minister of the church and will give three addresses on the convention theme, "In all Things Christ Pre-Eminent". Another conference speaker will be the Rev. J. Alan Munro of Toronto who will lead the missionary rally. He plans to interview a group of native and representative young people from Canada and the foreign fields under the theme, "Across Canada and Around the World".

Special discussion groups are planned to meet individual needs and age groups.

OPEN FRIDAY NIGHT

The sessions open on Friday night with registration and the official opening at 8:30 o'clock which will include a song service, greetings and introduction to the theme address. Then at 10:00 o'clock the St. Paul's Young People are serving refreshments. Sessions run through Saturday morning and afternoon with the first theme address by Mr. di Gangi at 11:15 a.m. At 5:30 p.m. a banquet will be held at Club Aragon followed by a program and historical review in St. Paul's.

The conference communion service will be held on Sunday morning at 9:30 followed by the regular church service. In the afternoon will be the missionary rally at 2:45 and Mr. di Gangi will preach at the evening service.

Monday morning will be the final session with worship service at 11:30 and Mr. di Gangi's final address. All sessions of the conference are open to the public.

SECURITY IN FREEDOM — Lt. Lee Dong Yop, North Korean intelligence officer formerly in command of Communist security guards at Panmunjom, prepares to give his first interview to correspondents, after his escape to U.N. territory. Yop, who decided that the only real security lay in freedom, slipped past his own guards and surrendered to U.N. military police at the edge of the neutral zone surrounding the truce site.

"Means Of Grace" Theme Of W.M.S.

LAKEFIELD —(ENS) —"The Means Of Grace" was the topic of an inspirational talk given by Mrs. W. J. Charlton at the October meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. H. Darling. Mrs. Donald Hendren sang a solo accompanied by Mrs. E. Rath at the piano.

The study book, "Along African Trails" by Dr. David Gallagher was capably taken by Mrs. W. H. Tonge, who was assisted by Mrs. A. Steed, who for many years was a missionary in that country.

The president, Mrs. P. H. Darling, was in charge of the business, The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Earl Orr and the treasurer's report by Mrs. J. McKerchar. An invitation was received from the Mission Circle of the Baptist Church asking the ladies of the United Church to their Thank-offering meeting, to be held October 14th.

Suggestions were made for the W.M.S. [illegible] upon the matter was left over.

Mrs. E. J. Millage assisted the hostess in serving tea.

Recluse Found Dead

TORONTO (CP)—The body of Jacob Loewen, 60, was found Tuesday in his bare little room in a downtown rooming house. Nearby was a loaf of bread and a piece of cheese. There also were bankbooks and bond receipts showing that Loewen had $7,400 in cash and more than $2,000 in bonds. A will left his entire estate to a niece, Anna Unrau, believed somewhere in the Soviet Ukraine.

A Symbol of Security

as pictured by little Monique Lavallee

7 years old, Monique is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lavallee, Town of Mount Royal, Que. This sketch is her own version of what security means.

"Security" can mean many things to many people. Adults think in terms of a good job, a home of their own, the material comforts of life ... a child sees it as something direct, simple dan close to home. In the imagination of this youngster, for example, security meant the sturdy, well-loved dog—always ready to defend his youthful friend and playmate against all comers ... Canada Savings Bonds, too, can be a symbol of lasting security and protection for you ... ready to build the kind of future you plan for.

Ohio Man Makes Unusual Buy

LORAIN, O. (AP)—He says he doesn't know just what he will do with it, but Bill le Fever has bought a piece of land 40 feet wide and 13,300 feet long.

The strip runs from Lorain to Avon Lake about a quarter of a mile south of Lake Road which hugs the Lake Erie shoreline. It is part of the right-of-way of the old Lakeshore Electric Line.

He insists he has no immediate plans for the strip. The Lorain Journal "helpfully" suggested he could use it as a testing ground for a pipe or rubber band factory, for tightrope walking exhibitions or for carrier plane landing practice.

Play Too Realistic Pair Stab Villain

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Two men made a knife attack on an actor who portrays the villain in a popular radio soap opera as he left the studio Tuesday night.

They asked the actor, Carlos Egoaguirre, if he was the man "who made Maria Elena suffer so much." Maria Elena is the name of the heroine. Egoaguirre was slashed about the face and neck.

MANHUNT—Provincial police homicide squad chief Det. Lt. Ubald Legault briefs his men and crew of the R.C.M.P. power launch which recently took part in the hunt for two well armed and "highly dangerous" fugitives wanted in connection with the shotgun slaying of a Yamaska East restaurant operator. Uniforms On Display

PARIS (AP)—The job of picking out a uniform for the proposed European army was begun here yesterday by a six-country committee of supply experts. West Germans were among the 60 members of the military supplies committee of the European Defence Conference who studied a United States army quartermaster show of clothing. They will later see similar displays by countries in the E.D.C.—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The number of skating rinks under supervision of the Parks Board in Winnipeg will be reduced from 30 to 24 this winter. But the board will flood other rinks to be supervised by local citizens' groups.

Hear Evidence On Cote Designs

HAMILTON (CP)—Evidence that Louis Cote, 27, claimed to have designed a jet fighter capable of flying "a few thousand miles an hour" was heard yesterday during his trial for attempted murder of a policeman.

Three psychoanalysts called by Crown Attorney Harvey McCulloch had stated that Cote was mentally capable of standing trial.

The accused, a former paratrooper, wore his uniform in court. He is charged with shooting Constable Ray Houlihan April 18.

After his arrest, police found in his belongings a letter addressed to the Crown Attorney describing a supersonic jet fighter and interplanetary rocket ship he thought the R.C.A.F. might be interested in building.

Declares Best Brains Not Going To U.S.

TORONTO (CP)—[illegible] Minister Harris said yesterday charges that Canada's best brains are going to the United States are unfair to the many brilliant men who remain in this country.

In an address Mr. Harris said what at first seems to be an annual loss of 25,000 persons to the U.S. is really only a net loss of 9,000. About 10,000 Americans a year are moving into Canada and about 6,000 former Canadians are moving back every year.

Sewage Plant Gives Trouble, Engineer Blamed

LINDSAY—Charges of negligence and bad management were directed at the consulting engineer who directed the building of Lindsay's sewage plant at a meeting of town council Tuesday night.

Recommendations for preventing future breakdowns in the plant, attached to a bill for $417.33 from a Toronto engineering firm for repairs touched off the criticisms.

Mayor Charles Lamb, reeve Dick Butler and deputy reeve Bert Hick took the stand that breakdowns at the plant were occurring because consulting engineer Redfern had not looked after the town's interests while directing construction of the plant.

SAFETY VALVE FAILED

Last week's breakdown was caused by the boiler heating the digester tank burning out. A safety valve failed to open in time.

An estimated four tons of wool, which slipped through the screens at Horn's Woollen Mills have been taken from the digester tank. Town engineer C. N. Strachan reports there is at least as much more wool still in the tank.

An additional safety valve was recommended by an official of Fairbanks-Morse in the letter to council. It was also suggested that oil might provide more efficient operation than coal. Since an attendant is only on duty eight hours a day, an automatic oil burner was recommended.

Claiming that the bill for pump repairs of $417.33 should be turned over to engineer Redfern and the Fairbanks-Morse Co., Reeve Butler said the two pumps had not been installed properly and were "extras" not in the original contract.

Terming last Friday's breakdown "another Redfern mistake," Reeve Butler said Redfern should have known that an oil burner would be better than coal when there was only one maintenance man.

"Mr. Redfern has been very very lax," Mr. Butler added.

"I do think the engineer was not doing too good a job," commented deputy reeve Hick. "The engineering firm protesting the town's interests has been very negligent."

The town has paid Mr. Redfern $12,000 for his services and owes him about $3,000 more. A suggestion from alderman Lloyd Burrows that council should dispense with his services met with opposition from Mayor Lamb. He suggested that Mr. Redfern should be made to put the plant in first class operating condition.

It was decided to let the special committee appointed to look after the plant, meet with Mr. Redfern and get it "running properly."

Toronto Man Pleads Guilty To Stealing 10 Motors

Lawrence Howell, 43-year-old Toronto painter, Wednesday afternoon pleaded guilty to stealing 10 outboard motors in the Kawartha district this summer. County Judge John de Navarre Kennedy remanded Howell to Oct. 15 for sentence. Provincial Constable John Cawood, whose investigation was primarily responsible for breaking up the series of thefts, estimated that the value of the motors was $1,750.

Two other motors were not recovered.

Three Toronto men, including Howell, were arrested Sept. 3 by Constable Cawood and charged with the series of thefts that took place in June, July and August.

Joseph Lacroque, 39, later pleaded guilty to retaining stolen goods and was fined $200 and costs.

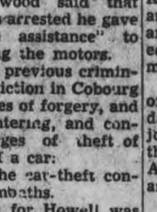
And Herbert Halstead, 38, a painting and decorating partner of Howell, faces trial on theft charges earlier this week. He is free on $3,000 bail.

LIST OF THEFTS

Howell, who is married and has a 13-year-old son, pleaded guilty to stealing two motors from Russell Brooks in Smith township; others from John Shearer, Rolly Montgomery, Clair Maurer, Mary Graham and Ernest Castle, all in Harvey twp.; one from George Davey in Lakefield; one from Harry Nichols in Hamilton township; one from Victor Brown in Burleigh township; and one from John Garrison in Trenton.

Constable Cawood said that after Howell was arrested he gave "every possible assistance" to police in locating the motors.

He admitted a previous criminal record: a conviction in Cobourg in 1939 on charges of forgery, and breaking and entering, and convictions on charges of theft of coal and theft of a car.



Sentence on the car-theft conviction was 12 months.

Legal counsel for Howell was Mannis Frankel of Toronto. Crown Attorney John Bradshaw Q.C., was crown counsel.

Fowler's Sister Resides In City

Cpl. Karl E. Fowler, 24, Kingston, has been awarded the Military Medal for being one of two Canadians who led a six-man patrol into a Chinese position as daylight was breaking in Korea. They came under Chinese fire during the patrol, but they gained their objective—to bring back a live prisoner.

Cpl. Fowler is a brother of Mrs. J. C. Leggitt, 563 Brioux Avenue, and has been serving with the 25th Brigade in Korea. He was also one of a detachment from the Royal Canadian Regiment sent to Koje during the riots of the prisoner of a prisoner who looked suspicious, and on having the man searched discovered he was carrying a home-made bomb.

Cpl. Karl Fowler

Cpl. Fowler was born in Peterborough, son of Herbert Fowler and Grace Sedore and lived here a few years before going to Kingston. He worked for the former Reid Engraving Company for a few months before joining a paratroop regiment and, following subsequent training, arrived in the Korean theatre in February.

Shortly after arrival there he was one of the Canadian security troops to spot Chinese prisoners with weapons inside Compound 66, Koje Island. He is married to the former Gertrude (Trudy) Robertson of Dunsford who now lives in Kingston. They have one daughter, Sandra.

NO BUS TRIP

Response of only 18 farmers interested in a bus trip today to the International Plowing Match at Carp required its cancellation Tuesday.

Public Health Nurses Not Available

The present shortage of qualified public health nurses is reflected in a short staff in the city's department of health, it was reported at a board of health meeting today.

Miss Gene Clark, supervisor of nurses, commented on the shortage to the board, saying it was one of the reasons why she was unable to obtain replacements for the two nurses who have resigned this year.

The other reason was that the salary level in the city's health department is lower than that of other municipal health organizations. Chairman Ald. J. A. Dewart, remarked that present salary levels were maintained after a report from former M.O.H. Dr. R. A. Kelly.

"I understood our salaries were in line with those offered by other departments of health," said Ald. Dewart.

Miss Clark pointed out that Dr. Kelly's report was made in March and that since then starting salaries in other cities has been raised to $2,400. Peterborough's minimum is $1,900.

Most recent resignation was that of Miss Ann O'Leary, received today by the board. She is taking a job as public health nurse with the Federal Department of Indian Affairs, to work at Curve Lake and Hiawatha reserves.

The matter was left over to await the inspection of the new M.O.H., Dr. W. P. Wells, who takes office next week.

Cites Church's Fight Against Eastern Reds

MARMORA—(ENS) — The motion picture, "The King's Man," was shown at St. Andrew's United Church on Tuesday evening before a good attendance. The Rev. K. J. Crawford led in the opening worship and the Rev. Boyd Beckel of Ivanhoe then showed the picture. At its close the Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield spoke on the missionary and maintenance work of the church. He touched upon the larger work of the church outside of its home responsibilities and the struggle it has to make in other lands against Communism.

A collection was taken for the Missionary and Maintenance Funds.

Health Board Member Wm. Tinker Resigns

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — The Young People's Union of Havelock United Church entertained the executive of the Peterborough Presbyterial Y.P.U. on Monday evening, the visitors taking full charge of the meeting.

The meeting opened with a recreational period followed by the worship service which was led by Mrs. Marion Davies of the faith and evangelism department. William Percey of the department of missions and world outreach gave an address on the work in Angola. Prior to the serving of refreshments the executive of the local Y.P.U. were given instructions for carrying on the work in their departments.

Rambling Reporter

WERE THEY SAUCERS?

Two objects were seen in the western sky on Wednesday night a few minutes before midnight. Citizens who reported seeing them said they were of a bright red luminous color, travelling in a southerly direction. A cracking noise was heard as they glided through space. One followed the other and both were shaped like small moons.

Own Cars, TV Sets But Toilets Outside—Dewart

"Some of these south end people who have outside toilets have television sets and automobiles," commented Ald. J. A. Dewart, chairman of the board of health, on Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson's report to the board today.

Mr. MacPherson's report showed there were 238 homes in the south end with outside conveniences. Of these, 149 were on streets without sewers. The other 89 were on streets that have sewers.

Most of these outside toilets were concentrated in the May's School area.

A resolution was passed by the board urging city council to complete work [illegible] that district. The board was asked to prepare a report for council on the situation.

One troublesome case was brought up again. This spring, a south end family who have an outside toilet agreed to instal indoor plumbing. They dug a trench from their house to the road, presumably to connect with the sewer.

Then they stopped work, said Mr. Dewart, and have done nothing since.

"I don't know whether that trench is camouflage or merely represents a change of mind," he said. There had been enough evasion in this instance, he felt. The family apparently owns a car and a number of bicycles.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

When they had been approached about installing indoor plumbing, on the five-year plan offered by the city, they had agreed. The trench was dug, then work stopped.

Board members felt it was an intolerable position, and that Mr. MacPherson should interview City Solicitor Huycke about it.

Dr. H. Wright, acting M.O.H., remarked that there was a clause in the Public Health Act by which the party allegedly at fault could be brought before a magistrate to determine whether the citizen could afford the cost of installation of an indoor toilet.

"If he could prove he couldn't pay the cost," said Dr. Wright, "the magistrate could tell him he didn't have to do it."

Ald. Dewart said he felt there should be more "teeth" in the act over such a situation.

Unsafe Homes Target Of New Bylaw

Amendment Passed By Council; Engineer To Rule On Safety

An amendment to Peterborough's building bylaw was passed by the council Monday night providing a definite element of compulsion for the repair of buildings which are officially declared to be unsafe.

This is clause 2: "Whenever, in the opinion of the building inspector, (City Engineer), any building (fence, scaffolding or erection thereof) is, by reason of its ruinous or dilapidated state, faulty construction or otherwise, in an unsafe condition as regards danger from fire, or risk of accident, the building inspector may pull down, repair or renew any such building, fence, scaffolding or erection, at the expense of the owner, whether or not notice has first been given to such owner or agent, and such expense may be recovered from such owner by action, or may be recovered in like manner as municipal taxes."

Clause 3 says: "All reasonable costs and expenses involved in carrying out said work by the building inspector, shall be deemed to be money paid for the use and at the request of the owner."

PUT ON TAXES

Clause 4 provides that if such expense is not paid by the owner within a month after demand for payment, a statement of such costs and the name of the owner shall be delivered to the municipal clerk, "who shall insert the amount in the (tax) Collector's roll, and the same may be collected in like manner as municipal taxes."

Clause 1 directs that the building inspector, in such cases of dilapidation, faulty construction, etc., "may" give to the owner or his agent "notice in writing" specifying wherein such unsafe condition exists; "and upon receipt of such notice the owner shall forthwith put such building, etc., in a safe condition, or demolish same."

The amendment clarifies the authority of the building inspector, as defined in the existing bylaw. It was introduced by Ald. E. Gillespie as chairman of the board of works.

TARGETS?

Nothing was said of intent or objective, but it may be that action will be taken with this authority for the compulsory renovation of two dwellings, one the McGlynn house on Rutherford Ave., and the other the Percy Dunsford house at the southeast corner of Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets.

They were both mentioned in committee discussions during the last two years or more. Recourse to compulsion has been avoided by councils for several reasons. On the one hand they hoped that renovation would be voluntarily made by owners; there was also question of the scope of the bylaw. On the other hand, residents of both neighborhoods have on occasions urged the council to "do something" to prevent these two houses from becoming neighborhood blemishes with consequent depreciation of values.

The new amendments were prepared by City Solicitor Huycke.

Engineers Draw Up Plan For Airport

CORNWALL (CP) — Engineers from the Department of Transport have completed a survey and have drawn up plans for a proposed airport five miles northwest of here, it was announced today.

The airport when completed would have a 5,000 foot runway capable of accommodating Canada's largest aircraft. There was no indication when the project would be started.

Draft 47,000 Men In U.S. In December

States Army today issued a draft call for 47,000 men in December.

This would bring to 1,154,430 the total draft since inductions were resume in September, 1950.

The December call is the same as for October and November.

MUMPS INCREASE

Mumps continue to be the most common communicable disease in the city, Dr. H. Wright, M.O.H., reported to board of health today. Twenty-four cases were reported in September, against 166 in June, 23 in July and 14 in August.

Dummer Twp. To Hold Court Of Revision

The court of revision for Dummer township will be Thursday, Oct. 30, at 9 a.m. This will be the same time as the regular council meeting.

At the last meeting of council A. B. Wheatley, district forester was present. He explained the duties imposed on townships that are in fire districts, as laid down in the Fire Prevention Act.

Other motions passed at the last meeting:

That the general account of $245.72 and the road account of $1,310.42 be paid.

Former Resident Dies

Wife of a former Y.M.C.A. secretary in Peterborough, Mrs. Hugh M. Gilchrist, 70, died today in Oshawa. Her late husband served as local secretary about 40 years ago. "From memory, I think it was after George Williamson retired," G. H. Roper, retired secretary, said today. "He may have been the immediate successor. Her late husband also served in London, Kitchener, Toronto, Stratford and Quebec City.

Youth Admits Breakin Attempt, Having Explosive

William Rudyk, 19-year-old Oshawa youth, pleaded guilty to two charges when arraigned Wednesday afternoon in county criminal court: breaking and entering Duffus Motors last April 13 with intent to commit theft, and being in possession of nitroglycerine under suspicious circumstances.

Rudyk, a sturdily-built blond youth, was remanded for sentence to Oct. 15.

Two companions in the Duffus breakin—John F. Meagher, 20, and Joseph Rzamy, 19, both of Oshawa—are now serving a sentence of two years less a day. They were convicted of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft.

FAILED TWICE

The youths gained entry through an east window of Duffus Motors and twice tried to blow the safe in an upstairs office. Both times they were unsuccessful; one corner of the door was bent but it held.

The safe contained $400.

Rudyk was captured at gunpoint outside the southwest corner of the shop by Constable Gerald Emmons. Later Rudyk took a two-ounce bottle of nitroglycerine from his left pocket, using his unmanacled hand, and threatened to blow both of them up.

Constable Emmons pointed his revolver at Rudyk and the young would-be safecracker put the bottle of "soup" back into his pocket.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said Rudyk's criminal record but he had been on the suspected safecracker list of the Oshawa police for more than a year.

Liberals May Name Federal Candidate

Arthur H. Lewis, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, said today that recent conversations and group meetings reflected the keenest interest "I have seen since I have been on the executive."

"One thing we have found is that Peterborough's new population includes many Liberals," Mr. Lewis said. "Intention of the executive is to combine the annual meeting this fall and Federal nomination for the riding. Sentiment is decidedly strong for putting a candidate in the field early, although we don't know when the general elections will be called. It is likely to be next year."

"Among those who are generally being mentioned are T. J. Carley, Q.C., Max J. Swanston, Ald. J. A. Dewart, and Ald. J. E. Gillespie. They are all widely known throughout the riding.

"I can't say that any one has been definitely approached yet, so that question is still open. I do know that there is more liveliness and evidence of keener interest than I have seen before."

Woman Shot By Husband Loading Gun

Left Leg Fractured When Shotgun Fired Accidentally

BANCROFT (ENS) —Mrs. Percival Steener, 44, is in Peterborough Civic Hospital today with a fractured left leg and a number of shotgun pellets in both legs.

She was injured when her husband's shotgun accidentally discharged Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Steener, who live in Faraday township, were trying to rid their home of skunks that were underneath it.

LOCATED SKUNK

The couple went out with a flashlight, and located one beneath the house. Mr. Steener went in the house to get his shotgun and load it, leaving his wife outside with the flashlight.

He loaded the gun and it accidentally discharged. The pellets tore through the frame wall of their home and struck Mrs. Steener in the legs just above the ankles. She spent Tuesday night in Bancroft Red Cross Hospital and was brought to Peterborough Wednesday. Dr. O. W. Anderson treated her in Bancroft.

Raids On Red Offices Give Police Evidence

PARIS (AP) — French officials announced today that in raids on Communist offices yesterday police had discovered evidence of a general plan for demoralization of the army.

The officials said the plan, along with detailed instructions for carrying it out, were seized in offices of the Union of Republican Youth of France. They indicated the seized documents would permit them to take action against Communist leaders.

Police announced they were seeking six Communists, including Alain le Leap, secretary-general of the Communist-run Labor Federation.

Urges Stand Taken Against Selling Parts

BRANTFORD (CP) — Gordon Gage, president of the Brant county branch of the Ontario Garage Operators Association, last night called for a stand against the selling of automobile parts and accessories by factories to their employees.

Mr. Gage said would-be service station customers say they can get such products as anti-freeze, tires, gasoline and oil "from the boss" or "from the plant" at reduced prices.

He urged the 100-odd members to eradicate such competition through united strength.

Ice Closes In Soon To Shut Port Of Churchill

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—High on the rim of the Arctic Circle in the Land of the Little Sticks, this busy Hudson Bay grain port prepares to bed down for the winter.

In a few short weeks, ice will close in, cutting off grain shipments overseas which reached record heights this year.

Grain clearances this season scared to 8,500,000 bushels compared with 7,250,000 in 1951 Incoming cargoes totalled about 8,000 tons, considerably greater than in any previous year. Vessels from Britain, Italy, Germany and Chile took wheat to their home ports.

The shipping season at any time is short, limited to three months of the year. High insurance rates before July 26 and after Oct. 10 make the port an unattractive call.

The rest of the time, Churchill is a lonely, windswept port with air and rail its only outside contacts.

BOASTS BITTER CLIMATE

The town, built in 1931, was carved from a peninsula of rock and muskeg. White whales play in its beautiful harbor.

The climate is one of the most bitter in the world. Polar bears have wandered into town and outdoor water pipes have been known to freeze solid in July.

Little grows, mostly moss, and nothing over seven inches in Barren Lands just south of the 57th Parallel.

In spite of ice and rugged terrain, there are some who want the shipping season extended. Sir Clement Jones, chairman of the Commonwealth Shipping Committee, visited Churchill last year and as a result insurance rates were dropped and the opening date moved back.

The Hudson Bay Route Association has said 20,000,000 bushels can be cleared from the port without trouble.

There is little hope for expansion of present facilities. The federal government, which administers the port, has said there are no plans for building.

RADAR AND HELICOPTERS

The port came into existence because of savings in distance and freight rates. Some 1,076 miles are lopped off the route from Calgary and Liverpool compared with the trip through the Great Lakes to the Atlantic.

The single elevator has a capacity of 2,500,000 bushels. Average loading time is about 12 hours, but cars have been backed up for hundreds of miles waiting for ships to come in.

Ice, the great barrier, makes ship captains nervous. Helicopters were used for the first time this year in tracking paths through floes and past treacherous icebergs. Radar is almost a necessity.

Caused Disturbance

Leo Emery, no fixed address, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs Wednesday when he pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a George St. restaurant Tuesday night.

BC Whale Catch Sets Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five killer ships were back at home base here today, boasting a post-war record catch of 451 whales.

The 250-ton vessels, British Columbia's entire whaling fleet, sailed from Vancouver in May on a $2,000,000 gamble. It was either come back with enough whales to put the company, B.C. Packers, in the black or go out of business. The whale oil market had dropped to less than half of last year's.

Unlike European whaling fleets, which set out with half-a-dozen killer boats and a mother, or factory, ship and a helicopter to spot the animals, B.C. whalers tow their kills to Coal Harbor shore station, once an R.C.A.F. base, on the northern tip of Vancouver Island. There the whales are cut and processed into oil, meal and fertilizer.

Flying Saucer Turns Out To Be Map-Reading Balloon

ORILLIA — Thousands of worried, stiff-necked residents of the Orillia to Gravenhurst area went back to cold suppers Wednesday night convinced they had witnessed a flying saucer flashing signals back to another world.

But hours later R.C.A.F. officials at Camp Borden confirmed reports that the mysterious luminous object was only a map-reading balloon released earlier on Wednesday. When first spotted, the balloon appeared as a brilliant spot of light high above Lake Couchiching. A basket swinging beneath the light seemed to flash at infrequent intervals.

Vacant lots in many centres in this district were thronged with men, women and children as word of the object spread. Newspaper, radio and police switchboards were swamped with inquiries. Watchers armed with telescopes and night glasses suggested the object was a balloon, but they were shouted down by the flying-saucer crowd.

One driver craned his neck out his window to watch the saucer and missed a turn. His car rolled over twice and came to rest in a scrap yard, but the occupants escaped unhurt.

Ask Oleo Ban Lifted

QUEBEC (CP) — A Union Nationale member of the Quebec Legislature said today margarine is "sold under the counter everywhere in the province" and added that he will ask Premier Duplessis to lift the Quebec government ban on margarine.

Denis Gerin, member for the Eastern Townships riding of Stanstead, dramatized his stand by placing a package of the butter substitute on the table in the executive council room just before the regular meeting of the Quebec cabinet started.

Sales, possession and manufacture of margarine was banned by the Quebec Legislature in 1949.

Of Interest to Women

Many New Crepes Offer Fluid Softness Of Line

FLUID SOFTNESS OF LINE, having gained a general fashion acceptance, is at its very best in the many new daytime crepes.

As a welcome change from the tailored severity of a suit, these new crepes offer flattering femininity. They take to gentle, ladylike accessories: the soft kid pump; the curving, feathered hat, the longer glove and the pretty suede bag.

They fit into many wardrobes, a fact not true of all fashions. They are right for the dressy days in the life of a housewife. They meet numerous occasions and meet them well for the career girl, the college girl, the woman who combines a job with home-making.

We show (LEFT) a subtly-draped rayon-and-acetate crepe with high surplice neckline and slim sleeves. Cummerbund is in the same satin used to make the buttons and to bind the neck.

A second dress in the same fabric (RIGHT) gains surface interest through its all-over tucking. Velvet is used for small, pointed collar and for ribbon that runs under tucks at the hipline, creating the low-waistline look.

United Church Auxiliaries Hold Sectional Rally

WESTWOOD (ENS) — The sectional rally of the Women's Missionary Societies of this district was held on Tuesday, with morning and afternoon sessions in Trinity United Church, Hastings. Afternoon and Evening Auxiliaries were represented from [illegible] Cottesloe, Hastings and Westwood. Miss Baker was organist for the day.

Miss Helen Tedford of Cottesloe conducted the meetings and Mrs. Aubrey Wood of Westwood was secretary.

Opening worship service was led by Mrs. John Gallagher and Mrs. F. Bolton of Cottesloe. Mrs. R. R. Burnham of Hastings extended a welcome.

Greetings from the Peterborough Presbyterial were brought by Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, who introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Gordon Watts, Christian stewardship secretary of the Dominion board. Mrs. Watts led in a discussion on a questionnaire on missionary work.

New literature was on display and the secretary, Mrs. Arnold Olmstead, reviewed the books and pamphlets.

Havelock auxiliary extended an invitation for the 1953 rally.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe closed the morning session with prayer. Dinner was served in the basement by Hastings ladies, after which Rev. N. Cole, chairman of Presbytery, brought greetings from the Peterborough Presbytery.

Afternoon session opened with Norwood Afternoon Auxiliary taking the worship service, Mrs. R. Ferguson, Mrs. A. Weir and Mrs. H. K. Wright officiating.

Mrs. G. Watts of Toronto in her address outlined the work of the church and its organizations. Mrs. Watts said in 1951 the influx of new Canadians into Canada was tremendous, and the church must be prepared to meet this situation. Preparations were made to learn about the immigrants, port workers met the boats and helped with living accommodation.

Two hundred new churches, she said, are needed, and with the shortage of ministers, lay workers are being trained in different parts of Canada, who go in teams of two to a district for two weeks during the summer months.

Mrs. Watts appealed to her listeners to make an extra effort to help, and closed with the challenge, "What more might I do?"

[illegible] rendered a solo. Mrs. R. C. [illegible] man of Havelock, delegate to the Whitby School for Leaders, brought a splendid report.

The offering taken by Mrs. Cecil Oliver and Mrs. A. Orr was dedicated by Mrs. Agnew of Havelock.

A panorama, "Life of an African Woman," was presented by Hastings Evening Auxiliary. Mrs. R. R. Burnham was commentator and the following took part: Mrs. E. Hess, Mrs. A. Thompson, Mrs. C. Scriver, Mrs. F. Crate and Mrs. J. G. Thompson.

A talk by Mrs. Metcalfe on "Peace" brought out the fact that it was through people's indifferences the League of Nations failed, and there is a part for every one to play before real "peace" can be established on earth.

A hymn and prayer by Miss Tedford brought a successful and [illegible] rally to a close.

Bowling Club Elects Officers

The St. Andrew's Bowling Club commenced activities on Tuesday. After a welcome by the president, Mrs. Ray Morrow, the treasurer, Mrs. Reg. Dyer, reported on finances. The Rev. Henry Cotton took the chair for the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. D. R. Morrow; vice-president, Mrs. M. Edwards; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Reg. Dyer; corresponding secretary, Alice Hardwicke; social committee, Mrs. M. Edwards, Mrs. Cinnamon, Mrs. Fowler; games conveners, Ray Morrow and George Tremain.

A friendly game was played. Schedule games will start next Tuesday. It was decided to have refreshments and social evening once a month.

R.C.A.F. Training 300 Girls In Radar, Communication

CLINTON, Ont. (CP) — Three hundred girls who swapped desks, soda-fountains and even the stage for air force careers are stationed at the R.C.A.F. station here.

The only radar and communications school in the air force, this 260-acre community weekly turns out airwomen trained to plot the movements of hostile planes or to direct the interceptions of friendly fighters.

"These girls are proving a real asset on R.C.A.F. stations," said PO. Helen Turner of Edmonton, assistant to the chief administration officer.

Flt. Sgt. W. R. Edwards said that in some cases they compete with the men.

"We even make mechanics of some," he said. "Communications girls, for instance, learn to check operation of transmitters, receivers and teletype machines."

Among those attending the school are Julie Zigolyk, Blaine Lake, Sask.; Millie Overwater, Winnipeg and Stella Bertram, Mattawa, Ont.

Natural Gas To Be Turned On In Booming Saskatchewan Town

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Natural gas will be turned on this month in the booming west-central Saskatchewan town of Kindersley to signal the provincial government's first venture into the natural gas distribution field.

Kindersley and the village of Brock a few miles east will not be the first Saskatchewan communities to be served by gas. Lloydminster, Lone Rock and Unity have gas, but they are served by private companies.

The significance of Kindersley and Brock is that they are to receive gas from a government organization, the Saskatchewan Power Corporation.

The two communities are also the first to be served by natural gas discovered in the intense oil and gas hunt carried on across Saskatchewan for the last few years.

They will use gas from the Brock field, three miles southwest of the village of Brock and 14 miles southeast of Kindersley. At the outset only two of the eight wells drilled in the field will be used. Others will be added to the distribution system as gas consumption increases.

MAY SERVICE SASKATOON

General Manager J.W. Tomlinson of the power corporation says it is possible that two more centres will be serviced with gas this year and studies are being made of the possibilities of servicing Saskatoon to the northeast of the Brock field.

The corporation is putting $350,000 into the Brock-Kindersley system. That's the cost of collecting gas from the wells, piping it to the two communities and distributing it to consumers.

The Husky-Phillips Company which drilled the wells is expected to receive roughly 10 cents plus a demand charge for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas it uses

The gas distribution business is expected to start paying for itself after the fourth or fifth year of operation when serviced communities take full advantage of the cheap utility after a slow conversion from coal and wood fuel. The period for paying off the debt is 20 years.

REGINA COUNTED OUT

Regina, 275 miles southeast of Kindersley, likely will not be served by Brock gas supplies for a number of years. It is believed more likely that Alberta gas will be piped through the city to the east, or that newer and closer fields will be found.

But what is going on at Kindersley and Brock may be a small-scale model of what is to come in Saskatchewan. It marks the C.C.F. government's inauguration of its first major new public business enterprise since its first term of office.

BLAST PATTERN—A 6½-ton dynamite blast makes an unusual pattern throwing more than 10,000 tons of rock, mud and Rideau River water into the air. The blast, a few miles southeast of Ottawa, made a trench in the river bottom for one of the last sections of the Trans-Northern Pipe Line Company's 440-mile line linking Hamilton, Ottawa, and Montreal. The line will carry gasoline, diesel oil and domestic and fuel oil.

Britain Makes Careful Check On Travel Funds

LONDON (CP)—Financial arrangements which permit some British travellers to enjoy lengthy holidays abroad despite prevailing currency restrictions, are being closely scrutinized by Treasury officials.

Current regulations authorize an individual leaving on a vacation to take a maximum of £25 out of the country. To tighten up the law against possible evasion, treasury authorities have launched an investigation into a number of individual cases. Questionnaires have been sent to those concerned asking how they managed to meet their normal expenditures on extended visits abroad.

Victor Feather, assistant secretary of the powerful Trades Union Congress, said labor generally would welcome the government's action. A lot of people, he said, are "snapping their fingers" at the currency restrictions.

"I hope the Treasury people will not confine themselves to questions about pound notes," he said. "Nearly every high-class jeweler in this country sells second-hand jewelry as well and there is no purchase tax on it. A diamond ring or brooch costing anything up to £500 or more takes up very little space and dealers in France buy second-hand jewelry and pay for it in francs, of course. It is done as easily as that."

U. S. Criticizes Russ Gov't For Ousting Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States rapped Russia last night for ousting Ambassador George F. Kennan and for "systematically" keeping foreign envoys in Moscow from making contact with the Russian people.

A new U.S. note said the imposition of restrictions on foreign diplomats "grossly violates the traditions and customs in international intercourse developed over generations."

It said nothing, however, about retaliation and authorities forecast that the Truman administration will leave it up to the new president to decide whether to expel Soviet Ambassador Georgie N. Zarubin or hit back in any other way.

The note replied to the Oct. 3 Soviet demand for the recall of Kennan on the ground that he voiced "slanderous attacks hostile to the Soviet Union." Kennan said in Berlin Sept. 19 that an American's life in Moscow is not much different from the experiences of U. S. diplomats interned in Germany after the attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

The Soviet demand meant that Kennan, then in Geneva, could not return to the Moscow post he had filled less than five months.

The State Department told Moscow: "Ambassador Kennan's statement accurately and in moderate language described the position of foreign diplomats accredited to the Soviet government."

The latest Soviet restriction on western diplomats was an order preventing them in effect from travelling more than 25 miles from Moscow.

John Roosevelt Backing Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—John Roosevelt, youngest son of the late Democratic president, said yesterday he's for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower for President.

Roosevelt, a distributor of colognes and soaps, said he voted for Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican candidate, in 1948. Before that he backed his father, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Two other sons of the late president, James Roosevelt and Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt (Dem Lib.—N.Y.), are working for Eisenhower's Democratic opponent Governor Adlai E. Stevenson.

A fourth, Elliott, said in July he hopes to vote for Eisenhower.

John Roosevelt said of the family split:

Lakefield IODE Group Plan Bridge, Euchre

LAKEFIELD (ENS) —Mrs. A. W. Newson was hostess to members of the Catherine Parr Traill Chapter, I.O.D.E., at her home on Monday evening and 17 members answered the roll call. During the business period the secretary's report was read by Mrs. W. Croft and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Kenneth Morris. The regent, Mrs. Kenneth Lichty presided. It was decided to hold a bridge and euchre in Memorial Hall in the near future and that a wreath would be purchased to place on the cenotaph on Remembrance Day.

In the absence of Mrs. Thomas Chaplin, educational secretary, a paper "The Passionate Princess, Pauline Johnston" was read by Mrs. J. A. Arnott. Two of her poems were then read, "The Song My Paddle Sings", by Mrs. Hendren and "Reflections", by Mrs. G. Winder-Smith. It is from the latter poem that the motto of the Catherine Parr Traill Chapter is taken.

"Give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

The raffle prize, donated by Mrs. Sam Henderson was won by Mrs. W. W. Leonard. Assisting the hostess in serving refreshments were Mrs. Earl Orr and Mrs. K. Morris.

Lord Rothermere First Chancellor

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Lord Rothermere, British newspaper publisher and a man with a major investment in this province's industrial life, yesterday was installed as the first chancellor of Newfoundland's Memorial University.

President of the Harmsworth group of papers and a principal of the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company which operates a large paper mill at Grand Falls, Nfld., Lord Rothermere accepted the post at Memorial University earlier this year.

Following the ceremony Lord Rothermere said he had received messages of congratulations and well wishes for the university from Prime Minister Churchill, as chancellor of the University of Bristol, and from Earl Halifax, chancellor of Oxford University.

[illegible] Medical People Attend Conference

BRANTFORD (CP)—More than 100 medical men and women from seven counties in this part of Ontario attended the annual meeting here yesterday of No. 2 district of the Ontario Medical Association.

Dr. J. G. McDermott, Stratford, was elected district counsellor, and Dr. W. L. McGill, Brantford, junior vice-counsellor.

Pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology were topics of discussion.

Woodstock was selected as the venue for the annual meeting next year.

Tough For Busters

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Broncho busters will have a harder time of it this year at the Port Stanley Kiwanians' annual rodeo at Union Monday. Last year the Kiwanians were unable to find horses wild and mean enough so this time they bought six from the Indians on Walpole Island. The horses have never been saddled or bridled.

Two University Professors Say Book Not Obscene

OTTAWA (CP)—Two university professors and a Toronto newspaper columnist testified yesterday they could find nothing obscene or objectionable in a book called "Women's Barracks."

The three testified during the hearing of the first of 11 charges against the National News Company. The magazine and book distributing agency is charged with possessing for the purposes of distribution four novels and seven magazines containing obscene printing matter.

Defence witnesses were Alan Seager, English professor at the University of Michigan; J. V. McAree, columnist and book critic for the Toronto Globe and Mail, and Prof. Edward Alexander, head of the English department at Queen's University, Kingston.

WRITTEN WITH DELICACY

All said that in their opinion "Women's Barracks," which concerns life in a women's barracks in London in the Second World War, was written with "delicacy and discretion." They said its account of relationships between some of the characters did nothing to uphold such behavior and actually carried a strong argument against immoral conduct.

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier contended the book contains passages that "would excite passion so as to incite immorality."

The case is being heard by Judge A.G. McDougall without a jury.

Sentenced In Sex Crimes

TORONTO (CP)—Two men were sentenced to jail yesterday following their conviction earlier this week on charges of attempted carnal knowledge. Roy Twitchin, 23, of Weston, a dairy employee with two children, was given six months definite and three months indeterminate. Bruce Malone, 25, of Tillsonburg, a clothing salesman, was sentenced to five months definite and three months indeterminate.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

The October meeting of the Confederation Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. L. Monk presiding.

The treasurer was authorized to pay an account for the purchase of two safety cones for the school. Mrs. C. Porter read the secretary's report.

The attendance prize was won by Miss Carol's morning class.

Mrs. Williams, who presented the petition for the cinder path on the west side of Park St. to the City Council Monday evening, reported that no definite decision was made at the meeting.

Mrs. Warren, health convener, made an appeal for help and material for the Cancer Society. Mrs. D. Melville, membership convener, gave a report.

It was announced that the annual Fun Night would be held Oct. 24 at the school.

Mrs. E. Cochrane and three of her pupils, Miss Ann McConkey, Miss Caroline Reynolds and Miss Donna McDougall played two guitar selections.

Mr. Nichol introduced the guest speaker, Constable Donald Mackay, who explained the work and methods of the safety patrol. He said that this organization not only makes the children and parents safety conscious but results in a better relationship between the children and policemen.

Constable Mackay was thanked by Mrs. R. Shoudice.

Miss Grills, a new member of the staff, was introduced by the principal.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Waldie and her committee.

BRING STUDENT NURSE

The National Executive Committee of the I.O.D.E. voted to raise $4,500 at its session in Toronto recently to bring a student nurse from India to Canada for a post-graduate course.

Miss David will take a two year post graduate course in hospital administration at a Cana-

Mrs. Victor H. Cockshutt, M.B.E., national president presided at the sessions.

The I.O.D.E. Commonwealth and Empire Committee of which Mrs. C. M. Scott of Peterborough is convener, is endeavoring to express a bond of friendship between sister members of the Commonwealth. In the past, financial assistance has been sent to India by the I.O.D.E. for a school, hospital and for the translating and printing of text books for student nurses.

Primary chapters across Canada contribute to this Commonwealth and Empire National Fund.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

Three new members were accepted at the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., meeting held in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. Tuesday evening.

They were Mrs. C. Dobbin, Mrs. D. Irwin and Mrs. O. Price. The regent, Mrs. D. Murray, presided.

Mrs. T. Gaskell, convener of the services home and abroad committee, reported that a sewing meeting would be held Oct. 28 at Mrs. Reg. Reid's home, 310 Ellis St. She explained that good used clothing brought to this meeting would be divided between the chapters' adopted Indian school at Burleigh Falls and overseas.

She also reported that 20 pairs of stockings would be ready for Christmas and sent overseas. Mrs. Hudson Hall volunteered the use of her home for packing. Mrs. J. L. Evans and Mrs. Robert Gibbons were appointed to help buy and pack a Christmas food box to be sent to a widow in England. Knitted and sewn articles made during the past six months by the members will be sent overseas because of the desperate need.

Mrs. D. W. Clark, co-convener of the harvest tea to be held Oct. 18, reported that plans were well under way. Mrs. D. Shields reported that she would be glad to accept any articles for the bazaar table either at Fanning's Laundry or at the Y before the tea. It was decided that a draw would be held

Mrs. Hudson Hall reported that she would have the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., calendars for sale at the tea.

Mrs. Frank Patterson, convener of the tournament bridge, distributed the bridge schedules to the members.

Mrs. George Barns, co-convener of the chapter weiner and corn roast, reported it was a wonderful success.

It was announced that the semi-annual I.O.D.E. meeting will be held Oct. 24 in Kitchener.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Frank Patterson and her committee served lunch.

Roaming N.Z. Grandmother On Hike For Three Years

CALGARY (CP) — A roaming New Zealand grandmother with a taste for adventure visited Calgary recently on the last leg of a hitch-hiking tour around the world.

She's 45-year-old Mrs. Patricia de Cleene of Palmerston North. Mrs. de Cleene left her home in September, 1949, for what was to have been a brief visit to Australia. Since then she's visited 30 countries, and now is headed for Seattle to her waiting husband, children and grandchildren.

While in Australia she decided to see England, and then included Paris. It was in Paris that any plans for returning home immediately were washed out. There she met people from all parts of Europe who urged her to visit their countries.

BRAVE TRAVELLER

Mrs. de Cleene went to Holland first, then moved to Scandinavia where she found herself in demand as a public speaker. Her travels, for the most part on foot, took her through the continent and to the Middle East. She even travelled alone in the Sahara Desert.

Mrs. de Cleene said she found friends everywhere. She has slept in parks, on restaurant tables and even in police stations, although sometimes she paid for a hotel room. But often hotels wouldn't accept payment when they heard her story.

Mrs. de Cleene reached North America last June and has hitch-hiked her way from New York to Los Angeles and back through the middle west. On her way through the redwood forests of California she was given a ride by movie star Kirk Douglas.

Now that it's all over, Mrs. de Cleene is ready to go back to being a housewife, but she hopes to persuade her husband to fly to Alaska before they sail for home Oct. 23. And once back in New Zealand, she plans to write a book which she'll call, "The Vagabond Grandmother."

"I go home broke but happy," she said.

MAPLE SUGAR PRICE

Average farm price of Canadian maple sugar in 1952 reached 43 cents a pound, compared with 40 cents in 1951.

A WEEKLY NEWS-LETTER

MONTREAL, Oct. 9th—My friend Marg is very enthusiastic about saving by buying Canada Savings Bonds. At the drop of a hat, she'll recommend them to all her friends. And she's always among the first in the line-up to buy Canada Savings Bonds when they go on sale at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Small wonder! Imagine getting 3.44% interest on such gilt-edged securities . . . that's the interest rate you earn if you hold Canada Savings Bonds until maturity. And you can always cash them at their full face value—the Government guarantees it! Like many people, Marg and I buy our bonds on the instalment plan—just 5% down and the balance over a year. Fits into our Personal Planning programs perfectly. Why not give a helping hand to yourself and your country—next Tuesday when Canada Savings Bonds go on sale. You can buy them for as little as $2.50 down at any branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL.

You'll Be His Favourite Wife if you succeed in keeping his shirts whiter than white. And success comes easy when you use Blue—for Blue does the best job of all in keeping clothes from turning yellow. Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinsing—that's all there is to it. And Blue is so safe for the fine fabrics in your wash. Those precious sheets you got for your wedding anniversary—the luncheon set that's your pride and joy . . . don't take chances—use Blue to keep them white. Costs just a few pennies a month—and that makes good sense, doesn't it?

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S BLUE.

You're A Wonderful Cook when you know the secret of flavour—flavour to set every taste bud a-tingle—flavour to bring plates back for more. That's why I urge you to use WINDSOR SALT. It makes all the difference between "dull" and "delicious". For instance, when you prepare a whole fish—before cooking it, rub the inside as well as the outside of the fish with Windsor Salt. It does wonders in bringing out the flavour! I always use [illegible] in the kitchen . . . [illegible] like most about it is that it's always free-running . . . no annoying lumps, no matter how damp the weather!

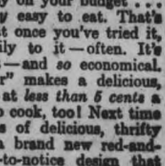
There! All Done! . . . dishes are certainly done in a hurry with those marvelous new chemical soaps. And you needn't worry about their drying effect on your hands, either! Just keep a bottle of JERGENS LOTION handy and use it after every watery job. Because Jergens is liquid, it quickly supplies the softening moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. Yes, you'll find when you use Jergens after dishes and other "wet" housecleaning chores, that your hands will stay soft as petals—smooth as satin—and forever have that lovely "lady-of-leisure" look. And Jergens costs so little . . . just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

Glamorous Maureen O'Hara, star of U-I's "Flame of Araby", is thrilled by miraculous Penaten in WOODBURY COLD CREAM. You see, Penaten is the wonder-agent that allows all the rich, softening oils in Woodbury Cream to penetrate so much deeper, so much more thoroughly. It helps Woodbury Cold Cream soften hidden dirt and remove it, so much more easily! And it leaves skin so soft—so wonderfully supple. Try Woodbury Cold Cream tonight! You can tell—right away—how infinitely smoother your skin will feel after a Woodbury Cold Cream treatment. Woodbury Cold Cream-with-Penaten costs just 23c, 45c, 78c and $1.45.

Some Chilly Evening Soon, give your family this heart-warming taste-treat—HEINZ COOKED MACARONI—m-mmmm! —enriched with the smoothest cream sauce you've ever tasted. Or serve HEINZ COOKED SPAGHETTI, drenched in spicy, tantalising tomato sauce. Just as good as it can be (and easy to make!) served like this . . . Spaghetti and Meat Balls—

Soften 1/2 cup dry bread cubes in 1/4 cup milk. Mix lightly with 1 lb. ground beef, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 egg, beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper. Form into 12 balls. Brown in 1 tablespoon fat. Drain. Mix with tin of Heinz Cooked Spaghetti in casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Everyone's Talking About this delicious instant coffee—and no wonder! For INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE is made by real coffee people . . . it's the flavourful result of almost 100 years of coffee experience. Yes, the flavour's there—and the body—and the real lift. So when friends drop in—serve Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee. It's wink-quick and as easy to make ten cups as one. Takes no longer than boiling the water. And it's wonderfully economical. I save up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. The regular size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn gives as a pound of ground coffee—but what a difference in price!



Did The Youngsters get up grumpy and cross this morning? You have my sympathy, mother . . . and something more helpful, too—a suggestion:—Give them something extra good for breakfast. They'll brighten right up when you give them big bowls of "CREAM OF WHEAT" topped with raisins or bananas. And you can be happy in the thought that 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is good for them, too. In addition to other benefits, it provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Lots of healthful eating for less than a cent a bowl! What's more, 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is quick to prepare . . . satin-smooth digestibility in just 5 minutes of boiling.

Such An EASY Dish . . . easy to prepare—easy on your budget . . . and, m-mmm!—so wonderfully easy to eat. That's KRAFT DINNER. I know that once you've tried it, you'll want to treat the family to it—often. It's macaroni-and-cheese at its best—and so economical. One package of "Kraft Dinner" makes a delicious, nutritious main dish for four—at less than 5 cents a serving! Takes just 7 minutes to cook, too! Next time you shop, get several packages of delicious, thrifty "Kraft Dinner". MR. AND MRS. ALFRED AMMANN after their marriage Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents on the Chemong Rd. The bride is the former Gweneth Aileen Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sanderson.—(Garfield Studio Photo)

Wedding In Bride's Home

Gladioli and mums formed the setting for the marriage Saturday evening of Gweneth Aileen Sanderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sanderson, Chemong Rd., and Alfred Ammann of Zizero, Switzerland, which took place quietly in the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Leaton of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Clayton Telford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of Chantilly lace over baronet satin styled with long pointed sleeves, Queen Anne collar, small covered buttons down the back, and skirt ending in a short train. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was caught in a lace cap trimmed with lily of the valley, and she carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses and mums.

The bride was attended by her three sisters. Miss Thelma Sanderson, maid of honor, was gowned in orchid taffeta with overskirt and bolero. Her bouquet was golden bronze mums and she wore a feather circlet headdress in matching color.

Miss Leila Sanderson, bridesmaid was in a green gown styled identically, with matching headdress and she carried a bouquet of yellow mums. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Donna Sanderson was in yellow net over taffeta and carried a nosegay of sceptre roses and yellow mums.

Mr. Cyril Pogue was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Harlan McCarrel and Mr. Frank Sanderson, cousin and brother of the bride.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Sudbury and other points north. On their return, they will live at their home

Hartnell Opens Hats Salon, Has Designed Queen's Hats

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Norman Hartnell, the Queen's designer, has started a new line. His discreet, crested premises off London's Bond Street now include a hat salon.

It is the first time since he rose to prominence in the 1920s that this designer has seriously turned his attention to hat production.

Few persons regularly visiting his grey and silver salon realized the chic little bonnets so exquisitely matched to his sparkling gowns have always been his own design. Hartnell believes no outfit is complete unless the hat is chosen to match.

PERFECT STYLING

Those who see the Queen, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret at close quarters in a Hartnell-designed outfit with matching hat are instantly aware of the faultless toning.

Millinery has been one of Hartnell's sidelines for many years although he has not previously exploited it. Now, however, he may well compete for West End favor with Aage Thaarup, recognized in fashion circles as the Royal milliner.

Among the more attractive models in the new salon are lavishly-embroidered half-hats for evening wear such as a mauve cap in woven strips curving to the ears behind the hairline. From a crown crest of velvet, a plume of paradise feathers curls softly to the shoulders.

THE "MAYFAIR" LOOK

Evening hats have much of the jewelled splendor of the designer's sequined and beaded ball gowns, but little felt numbers for day wear reflect the simplicity of the classic tailored suits and dresses that are part of every Hartnell collection. Like the suits, the hats have that something special to convey the "Mayfair" look.

Burns-Millard Wedding

Yellow and bronze 'mums were the setting Saturday in Knox United Church when Jean Muir, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Millard, became the bride of Gordon Stewart Burns, eldest son of Mrs. Olive Burns and the late Mr., Ralph Burns, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas officiated at the double ring ceremony. The soloist, Mrs. Herbert Doig, sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "Because" during the signing of the register. She was accompanied by Mr. W. Potter at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of white nylon over satin with an over cape of maching net. The full skirt was caught at the hipline with a ruching of net. Her floor length veil of tulle illusion was caught to a tiara of nylon net trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses centred with a sprig of white heather brought from Scotland by her aunt.

Mrs. Eric Cotton was matron of honor for her cousin and the bridesmaids were Miss Yvonne Millard and Miss Patricia Nixon, cousins of the bride and Mrs. C. A. Goodier. They were gowned alike in taffeta with overskirts of net. The gowns were strapless, with molded bodices covered with boleros of taffeta. Each wore a headdress of net ruching and net mittens. The matron of honor wore emerald green and the bridesmaids, burnished copper, hunter's green, and old gold.

Miss Leslie Millard was flower girl for her cousin and was attired in buttercup yellow fashioned with Peter Pan collar and net overskirt. Her headdress and mittens were of net similar to the bridesmaids. All the bridal attendants carried cascades of contrasting 'mums in fall shades.

Mr. Errol Hanbidge was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Douglas Burns, brother of the groom, Mr. Joe Stewart and Mr. Warren Smith.

The reception was held at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received in a ballerina length gown of cinnamon net over taffeta. The strapless gathered bodice was trimmed with cinnamon seed pearls and covered with a bolero of matching net. Her accessroies were of chocolate brown and she wore a corsage of tawny gold roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a gown of Irisham in peacock blue with a flared skirt and doleman sleeves and trimmed with black taffeta. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Burns will live on Park Street South.

Friends Fe...

BEWDLEY (ENS). Over 100 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCallister Monday evening in honor of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Arleigh Jean, to Peter Brockenshire.

A program was given during the evening consisting of piano solos by Miss Barbara Little and Mr. Warren Buttars; piano duet by Misses Catherine Bamsey and Glenda Benson; solo with guitar accompaniment, Leighton Benson, and a solo by Mrs. Murray Manley accompanied by Mrs. Harry Goss. Mrs. Goss also presided at the piano for a sing-song. The Rev. C. H. Bouldon was master of ceremonies.

As Murray Manley read an address the presentation of a mahogany china cabinet and a sum of money was made by Jack Wilson and Leighton Westington.

Relatives and friends attended from Peterborough, Port Hope and Cobourg as well as the surrounding community.

The party was planned by Mrs. Irwin Whitehead, Mrs. Harry Goss and Mrs. Clifford Manley.

Shower Bride-Elect

LAKEFIELD (ENS) —Prior to her marriage Miss Mary Armstrong was guest of honor at a shower given by members of the Catholic Women's League of St. Paul's Church. The Parish Hall was artistically decorated for the occasion. The address was read by Miss Madeline Allen and Miss Pearl Charlton, on behalf of the members, presented Miss Armstrong with a chenille bedspread and a wool blanket.

A short program of music, recitations and songs was followed by the serving of refreshments. Mrs. Harry Armstrong and Mrs. Timothy Corkery presided at the tastefully arranged tea table and the younger girls of the Parish served.

An enjoyable evening followed with music for dancing provided by Thomas Sullivan, Barbara Leonard, D. J. Armstrong, Mrs. [illegible] Cushlin.

SIGNING THE REGISTER after their marriage in Knox United Church are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Stewart Burns. The bride was the former Jean Muir Millard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Millard.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Marmora Shannon-Black Nuptials Scene

MARMORA (ENS) — Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, was decorated with baskets of giant dahlias and asters Saturday for the marriage of Mary Audrey Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Black, and Clarence Joseph Shannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shannon, all of Marmora.

The ceremony was performed and nuptial mass said by the Rev. J. A. O'Neil. The Rev. G. Seanlan was also present in the sanctuary. The Very Rev. R. J. Farrell, of Perth, sang "Panis Angelicus" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," and Mrs. H. Brady sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported French net with bodice and mittens Alencon lace. The bouffant double net overskirt was worn over a crinoline. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held by a sweetheart bonnet of Alencon lace and she carried a shoulder bouquet of red roses.

Miss Cecile Black was her sister's maid of honor wearing a gown of burnt toast French net over taffeta with velvet jacket and mittens in burnished copper and matching bandeau of velvet and baby 'mums. She carried a bouquet of bronze 'mums with satin streamers caught with baby 'mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Verna Black, sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Lynch. Miss Black was frocked in apple green faille taffeta with laurel green velvet jacket, mittehs and matching bandeau of velvet and baby 'mums. She carried a bouquet of large yellow 'mums. Miss Lynch wore a gown of gold faille taffeta with velvet jacket and mittens and bandeau in intermission shade. She carried a bouquet of mauve 'mums.

Miss Linda Glover was flower girl in a miniature replica of the gown worn by the maid of honor in dusty rose net over taffeta with velvet jacket and bandeau. She carried a basket of sweetheart roses.

Mr. Patrick Shannon, brother of the groom, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Harry Black and Mr Donald Shannon, Jr., brothers of the bride and groom.

The bride's mother received at the wedding breakfast held in the parish hall in a Queen's blue tricotine crepe and Swiss lace wine accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a toupe crepe dress, brown velvet accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a powder blue gabardine suit, pink feather hat, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Guests attended from Edmonton, Alta.; Toronto, Hamilton, Perth, Belleville, Trenton, Campbellford and Peterborough.

John Moore Weds Agnes Brown At Sutton West

Baskets of 'mums, gladioli and ferns decorated St. Andrew's United Church, Sutton West, for the marriage recently of Agnes Jean Brown, daughter of Mrs. S. Brown, of Sutton West, and the late Mr. Brown, and John Wallace Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Moore, of Peterborough.

The Rev. S. Mathers performed the ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Branham. Mr. Richard Holborn sang "Because" and "I'll Walk Beside You" before the ceremony and during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Floyd Corner, of Aurora. She wore a white velvet gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, Queen Anne collar, long pointed sleeves and train, bodice and sleeves finished with small velvet covered buttons. Her fingertip tulle veil was caught with a Juliet cap and she carried a Bible covered with ivory cream rosebuds.

Miss Muriel White, of Cannington, was maid of honor, Miss Margaret Anderson, of Sutton, and Miss Barbara Miller, of Toronto, were bridesmaids, and Miss Sally Corner was junior bridesmaid. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were gowned in moss green velvet with matching Juliet caps and mittens. The junior bridesmaid was in rust velvet and matching cap and mittens. They all carried bouquets of button 'mums of yellow, bronze and white.

Mr. William G. Moore was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Stephen Hemsted, of Peterborough, and Mr. D. Jardine, of Lindsay.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Briars Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother received in a brown crepe dress, matching hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother assisted. She wore a grey embroidered taffeta dress, black velvet hat and a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Lac Tremblant, P.Q. For travelling, the bride chose a suit of blue and brown English tweed, matching hat and black accessories.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will live at 236 Burnham St.

lection is a black cloth theatre suit with straight skirt fringed with jet and unshaped box jacket similarly fringed. This was coupled with a black felt beret worn completely straight, its crown decorated with jet beading.

This unfeminine suit with its 1920 look lacks all the usual glamor of the designer's well-known ball gowns and cocktail wear. It may, however, remind him of the parties for which he was famous in the '20s, when waistless gowns were the fashion of the moment.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Menu For Dinner On Holiday

When we give thanks at Thanksgiving it is supposed to be for the abundant harvest primarily — and I do — but every day of the Canadian year. When I give thanks at Thanksgiving I have to put first things first, and give thanks in this order: For the privilege of worship and our faith in our Heavenly Father; for Marianne and Peter who are now away at school and missed more than I care to admit; for my good health; for the love of relatives and friends — some of them gained through this column; then comes food (even thought it is last on the list does not mean I don't love the stuff a lot).

Apropos of Thanksgiving dinner menus, I was talking turkey to a turkey dealer. He said that turkey would be no more of an extravagance for Thanksgiving dinner than a prime roast of beef, pound for pound, at present beef prices.

At "present beef prices" and "prime" — ay, there's the rub.

So to get myself out of the dilemma of trying to guess what you have planned to have and what you would like me to suggest to you that is different and tested, I will give you two menus.

One of the menus is an all-out high-style dinner with "turkey and trimmin's." The other is more of a family affair where love and flavor reign supreme.

TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING DINNER

Hot Consomme with Almonds
Roast Stuffed Turkey
Cranberry Sauce Giblet Gravy or Spiced Pink Pears
Glazed Sweet Potatoes
Broccoli with Hollandaise
Salad of Head Lettuce, Tomato Wedges, Green Pepper with Roquefort Dressing
Plum Pudding Hard Sauce
(See notes)
Salted Nuts Coffee

FAMILY THANKSGIVING DINNER

(In our house we sing Grace on this grand occasion. Pete presides at the piano and with his resounding first chord we all join in with "Be present at our table, Lord . . . ")

Fruit Salad in Grapefruit Cups
Prime Roast Ribs of Beef
(Yorkshire Pudding would make us extra thankful)
Duchess Potatoes
Brussels Sprouts
Waldorf Salad
Mince or Pumpkin Pie Mints

I think you will be wanting if you are going to prepare either of these feasts.

GLAZED SWEET POTATOES

Wash sweet potatoes, boil in water to cover until nearly but not quite tender. Drain, peel, cut in halves lengthwise. Place in buttered baking dish. For 6 medium-sized sweets make a syrup by boiling together one-half cup sugar and one-quarter cup water for 3 minutes. Add 1 or 4 tablespoons butter. Pour half of this syrup over the potatoes and bake 15 minutes, or until potatoes begin to brown, then baste with remaining syrup and turn them over and bake 15 minutes longer.

PLUM PUDDING PROPER

Bring out your large bowl and mix all together in it 1 cup finely chopped suet, ½ cup brown sugar, ½ cup best quality molasses, 1 cup sour milk, in which you have dissolved 2 teaspoon baking soda, 4 cups sifted flour. Add ½ lb each chopped figs and washed and dried currants, 1 lb. washed and dried raisins. Add the grated rind and juice of 1 lemon, and ⅓ cup finely chopped candied orange peel. The best spices are 1 teaspoon cinnamon and ½teaspoon each ground cloves and freshly grated nutmeg. Mix well. Turn into buttered large mould or 2 smaller ones, cover well or tie down with several thicknesses wax paper and steam 4 hours, keeping water at halfway up mould and steamer covered. Be extra thankful for being a Canadian, too.

Fall Color In Tea Room

The autumn color theme was followed at the very successful tea sponsored by the Mark St. United Church Baby Band Mothers in the Sunday school hall on Wednesday afternoon.

The tea room was decorated with bronze, green and yellow streamers, sheaves of wheat, 'mums and marigolds. The tea table was covered with a cut work cloth and centred with bronze and yellow 'mums flanked by yellow tapers in silver candlesticks.

Mrs. Horace Guppy, president of the Baby Band Mothers, and Mrs. B. S. Morewood, received the guests. The tea conveners were Mrs. D. Toms and Mrs. K. Kidd.

Attractive bazaar tables were also a feature of the tea. There was a bake table, a table of aprons [illegible] display of 10 layettes for distribution to welfare organizations in the city and overseas. Surprise packages were on sale at a post office.

Mrs. A. E. DeNure, Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Mrs. W. R. Philp and Mrs. F. W. Edworthy poured tea. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. K. Armstrong, Mrs. W. Ginger, Mrs. C. McIvor, Mrs. A. Worsencroft, Mrs. S. Craig and Mrs. A. H. Downer.

Making tea and replenishing plates were Mrs. A. Roberts, Mrs. R. Wood, Mrs. L. Rowland, Mrs. H. Green, Mrs. J. McFadden and Mrs. K. Hopcroft.

Mrs. J. Southgate was in charge of the post office; Mrs. W. Parnell and Mrs. H. Hopcroft were in charge of the bazaar table; Mrs. D. Toms and Mrs. K. Kidd, in charge of decorating; Mrs. G. Davis and Mrs. W. Lawson, in charge of the bursery and Mrs. A. Poolman and Mrs. W. Beggs in charge of the display of layettes.

At the bake table were Mrs. R. Russell, Mrs. H. Hamley, Mrs. B. Miller, Mrs. P. Cooper and Mrs. E. Downing.

Mrs. D. Smith took tickets at the door.

Silver Cross Aids Canvass

The speaker for the Silver Cross Chapter meeting Wednesday evening was Mr. Al Doney who explained the organization and purpose of the mass X-ray survey to take place in Peterborough in November.

Mr. Doney stressed the importance of realizing that the health of all the community in general should be the concern of all.

Mrs. A. S. Williams, president, secured a number of volunteers among the ladies to help with the survey.

It was decided to send $135 to Kingston General Hospital for a [illegible] steel wheel chair with [illegible] and yellow [illegible] and tools required. She stressed the importance of accuracy in cutting the leather and that each member learn thoroughly the fundamentals of leathercraft.

From her display of finished [illegible] showed change purses and eyeglass cases, the first project the group will make. Then will come bedroom slippers, lined with fine leather or sheathing, moccasins, key cases, tooled belts, book covers, shoulder strap bags.

Next week Mrs. Stuart plans a class in making button earrings which the members hope to sell at their Hallowe'en tea to be held at the home of their leader, Mrs. W. C. Boate, 171 Antrim St., October 25.

Mrs. Fred Burnham reported that flowers and plants had been sent to the sick and bereaved.

Mrs. J. W. Ebbs and Mrs. Emery had flowers placed in the chapel.

Mrs. B. W. Harvey gave a report of the National Executive meeting held in Brantford. She also attended an interesting tea given by the Brantford Silver Cross Chapter.

In the quarterly news letter from Montreal, Mrs. Charles Duff, chairman of the Pension Board, asked that each president make a general survey of Silver Cross women's pensions and forward the results to her.

It was announced that the 1953 convention will be held at the Laurentide Inn, St. Agathe, P.Q.

A 412 wreath will be placed on Armistice Day, the gift of Mrs. B. D. Hall.

Mrs. Fred Burnham won the draw for a pair of towels donated by Mrs. Gynane.

Mrs. Williams, who presided for the meeting, read news letters from other chapters. An especially interesting one was received from Winnipeg.

Tickets for a dressed doll were distributed. Also birthday names for the 1953 calendar were received at the cost of $1.00 each.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

W.M.S. Rally Held At Trinity

Approximately 130 ladies attended the afternoon and evening sessions of the annual Sectional Rally of the W.M.S. of the United Church held in the new hall of Trinity United Church Wednesday.

Representatives were present from all United Church Women's Missionary Societies of the city, Bethany, Keene, Millbrook, Stewart Hall and Springville.

Mrs. W. R. Young, vice-president of the Peterborough Presbyterial, presided at both sessions assisted in the afternoon by Mrs. Owen Murray of Springville.

In the afternoon, the worship service was in charge of Keene W.M.S. with Mrs. H. MacFarlane and Mrs. Charles Mather and Mrs. David McIntyre taking part.

Mrs. Bert McFadden and Miss Myrtle Sargent welcomed the guests on behalf of the Trinity Society.

Mrs. A. Olmstead gave an informative review of the books in the literature department.

Mrs. A. E. Larke was soloist in the afternoon accompanied by Mrs. H. F. Doig.

A skit, to promote early subscriptions for the magazines, Missionary Monthly, and World Friends was given by Mrs. M. A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Cookson Munro, Mrs. W. Shaw and Miss J. Schaeffer.

The prayer of dedication was given by Mrs. H. Lewis of Knox United Church.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Gordon Watts, Christian Stewardship secretary of the Dominion Board, was introduced by Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe, president of the Peterborough Presbyterial.

Mrs. Watts stressed the importance of each member. "You make the difference between an enthusiastic or mediocre society, a progressive one or one that is satisfied with its status quo," she said.

A buzz session followed with the following questions under discussion: How can we increase our membership? How can we increase our knowledge of the work? How can we increase our prayer?

Following the discussion period, Mrs. Watt discussed the findings of the groups.

Supper was served in Trinity Hall by the Trinity ladies.

The evening devotional was conducted by Mrs. W. H. Frise, Mrs. W. J. Armstrong and Miss B. Hart of George St. United Church Evening Auxiliary.

The African Panorama, was presented by members of the younger groups with Miss Jean Hammond [illegible] and narrator, accompanied by Mrs. Donald Kennedy.

In her evening address, Mrs. Watts stressed the two things we have to face in life, to make adjustments, and to make decisions. She told of the mission work among the Indians of the West Coast, the W.M.S. hospital work, work in schools in Quebec, the need of churches in the new housing areas and the work of the port workers at Montreal and Halifax.

She told stories of a few new Canadians and emphasized how they needed the hand of fellowship.

Mrs. Watts challenged each member to make good use of her time, talents, abilities and possessions, by starting where she was and with what she had as God has a place for her.

The dedication prayer was given by Miss Muriel Hall of St. James United Church Mission Circle.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris thanked all who had helped to make the rally a success.

The Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene United Church closed the session with the benediction.

New Members Welcomed At Tea

Members of the teaching staffs of P.C.V.S. and Kenner Collegiate met in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday afternoon to welcome the new members of both teaching staffs.

The guests were welcomed by Mr. C. S. Browne, principal of P.C.V.S. and Miss Margaret McIntosh. Miss L. Park was tea convener.

During the tea presentations were made to two newlywed couples, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Temesy and Mr. and Mrs. H. Collins, on behalf of the staff by Mr. J. D. McNabb and Miss McIntosh.

The tea table was centred with zinnias in autumn colors and white tapers in silver candlesticks.

Mrs. C. S. Browne and Miss Amelia Thomspon poured tea. The tea assistants were Miss Margaret White, Miss Kay McDougall, Mr. Albert Weanes, Mr. John Rutherford and Mr. Otto Simmers.

LAC. AND MRS. JOHN CHARLES ROGERS following their wedding Saturday in All Saints' Anglican Church. The bride is the former Dorothy May Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Jackson.—(Choate Studio Photo)

Fall Flowers Form Setting For Rogers-Jackson Rites

The marriage took place Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church of Dorothy May Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Jackson of Peterborough, and L.A.C. John Charles Rogers, 6 Repair Depot, R.C.A.F., Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rogers of Lloydminster, Alta.

The church was decorated with fall flowers for the occasion and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. P. Poole. Miss Flowers played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white nylon net over a full tiered bouffant skirt. The bodice of the gown was strapless and had a Chantilly lace jacket with long sleeves, and a Queen Anne collar. Her fingertip veil of nylon net was caught in a Juliet cap of lace and she carried a bouquet of white 'mums centred with a gardenia.

Mrs. Gordon Freeman, sister of the bride and Miss Elaine Bromley, were the bride's attendants. They wore matching gowns of Britanny blue taffeta styled with strapless bodices boned and closely moulded, and full skirts with unpressed pleats. Their matching tiny shrug jackets were fashioned with stand-up collars and they wore matching gloves and hats. They carried bouquets of golden 'mums.

Mr. Thomas Griffin of Belleville was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Eric Jackson and Cpl. Harold See of 6 Repair Depot, R.C.A.F., Trenton.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the ladies' parlor of the church. The bride's mother received in a navy and pink wool crepe dress with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Griffin.

Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Lloydminster, Alta. For travelling the bride chose a grey doeskin suit, red coat and black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will live at 322 Albert St., Belleville.

St. James W.A. Meet In Wesley Hall

The October meeting of the Woman's Association of St. James' United Church, held in Wesley Hall on Tuesday afternoon, was one of achievement and thanksgiving.

Mrs. Henry Turner, president, conducted a devotional period of thaukfulness, with the singing of the Doxology, a scripture reading, a poem "Thankful for What", and other hymns of praise and thanksgiving.

Reports of the project of serving meals in the dining tent at the Peterborough exhibition in August were given with gratifying results, and many humorous incidents were related indicating the good-will and joy of working together in a united effort for the church.

Much sunshine work of cards, fruit and flowers was reported by Mrs. G. E. Church, and many calls on the sick were reported by Mrs. Sawyer White.

Plans were made for the fireside hour, at the close of the evening service on Sunday, for the Fowl Supper on Oct. 28, and for the banquet for the ministers and official board members from four presbyteries, to open the United Church Exposition, to be held in Peterborough Nov. 13 to Nov. 19.

Plan Course In Leatherwork

Twenty-two members were present at the weekly meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, Tuesday, in the parish hall.

Pauline Evans and Judy Reynolds were introduced as new members of the group.

As part of the handicraft badge and chevron work, keen interest was evident as Mrs. Claire Stuart outlined the course in leathercraft that she will conduct for several [illegible]

Quinlan-Gallagher Nuptials

The marriage took place in St. Paul's Church, Norwood, on Saturday morning, September 27th, of Theresa Elizabeth Gallagher, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gallagher of Norwood to William Joseph Quinlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Quinlan of Norwood, the Rev. C. J. Carroll officiating.

The church was decorated with gladioli and fern. Music was played by Mrs. C. Coughlin and the soloist was Mrs. W. L. Johnston, sister of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a bouffant gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta fashioned in long torso style ruffled to give an apron effect with long close fitting sleeves tapering to points over the hands and low cut square neckline. Her veil was finger tip embroidered silk illusion and was held to a band of orange blossoms entwined with pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

She was attended by Miss Mary Riley, wearing a gown of gold burmil satin with matching bolero, bouffant skirt corded to sit out over matching net. Her headdress was a bonnet of matching satin trimmed with a dark green ostrich plume and her bouquet was a nosegay of bronze 'mums and Talisman roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Vincent Quinlan, brother of the groom, and ushers were Ambrose Quinlan and Walter Johnston.

The wedding breakfast was held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel with a reception after at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a gown of glider grey shade with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother also chose a grey dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left on a trip to Montreal and Vermont. Mrs. Quinlan wore a steel gray worsted suit with lighter gray trim, black accessories and a corsage of red roses. On their return, they will reside on the groom's farm near Norwood.

Trinity Church Holds Harvest Service

APSLEY (ENS)—Harvest festival was observed in Trinity United Church Sunday evening.

The church was decorated with fruit, vegetables, autumn leaves, potted plants and cut flowers. Music was supplied by the choir with Miss E. Infurnari at the organ.

Miss D. Baxter sang a solo which was much enjoyed. The Sunday school of Trinity United Church re-opened on Sunday after being closed for the summer months.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Being Exploited By Scoundrel Asks For More

DEAR MISS DIX: Several years ago, when I was 19, I met Roy, who was 22. He wouldn't work, and was constantly getting into trouble, so a few years later I married someone else. My husband was never faithful, and we separated after two years. Then Roy reappeared. I saw him once—and all the old love returned. I went to live with him, then he picked up his old habits again, began drinking heavily and neglected me while he went out with other women. For several years I went on—living with him, leaving him, going back again. As I never had divorced my first husband, marriage was out of the question. The final straw came a few months ago when Roy married someone else.

Now I feel I have wasted my best years on him. I have no one to turn to. All I can do is wait for him to get tired of his wife and come back to me. I see him frequently, and it almost breaks my heart whenever I meet him. I work and try to keep myself occupied, but it is very difficult.

E. N. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In plain language, what you are waiting for is more punishment. Don't you know when you've had enough; don't you know when you're well off? You are free at last of one of the basest scoundrels I ever heard of, and you want him back. The ways of women are indeed beyond belief.

BUILD A FUTURE

You are still a comparatively young woman, with time to build a good future. Get to work on it, win back your own self-respect and the respect of your friends and family. Get yourself straightened out with the Lord. As a starter, take yourself to church in the quiet of a week-day. There, analyze your own feelings for the man you think you mourn so much. Love for him is impossible for you to feel. Infatuation, yes; love no! No, because it is impossible to love someone you can't respect.

For several years you made yourself a virtual slave to a man who had no use for you except in so far as you provided money he needed. He probably is gloating inwardly at the knowledge that he can come back to you any time he wishes and have you lick his boots in gratitude. What would you think of someone else in the same position? Youd think she was a pretty poor specimen of womanhood, wouldn't you? Then why let yourself be so degraded in your own sight?

You've had a pretty shoddy past; don't let the future follow the same pattern. When you meet the man who deserted you, look at him with the scorn he deserves. What you probably do now is gaze at him with abject submission, waiting for a kind word.

Why not spend some of your spare time helping the unfortunates in your city? Hospitals, orphanages, foundling homes need voluntary help desperately. In alleviating someone else's misery, perhaps you'll forget your own. But stop wasting time, and get busy on a new, and good, life.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Frequently in your columns I see mail from lonely women. I also live alone and, while I am not lonely, my trouble is finding someone with whom to go to shows or other places of amusement. Most of my friends are married with families (I am a widow) and are unavailable at the times I am free. If some of your readers are similarly situated, perhaps we could get together to form a group to discuss our plight. I would be glad to put my own home at their disposal for a gathering.

MRS. ROSE M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If other readers would make similar offers, in different cities, perhaps such groups could be formed. There certainly is a tremendous need for some sort of focal gathering point to meet the needs of women, widowed or single, who are seeking congenial companionship among memoers of their own sex. I have always considered that a church or community centre would be the ideal spot for an organization of this type, but little seems to have been done about it. Let's hear from readers with similar suggestions.

Unsightly Pimples —Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic oil that dries right in and brings you fast, effective relief. Not only does MOONE'S EMERALD OIL help promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.

In skin affections the Itching of Eczema is quickly stopped. This is true of Salt Rheum, Skin Rashes, Cracked Itching Toes and Feet and many other skin disorders. Pimples—skin eruptions—dry up and scale off in a few days.

Moone's Emerald Oil is sold satisfaction or money back by all good drug stores.

Says British Workers Won't Fight Russians

LONDON (AP) — Harry Pollitt, Britain's leading Communist told the 19th Soviet Communist party congress that British workers will never participate in war against the Soviet Union, the Moscow radio said today.

The congress greeted with stormy applause this declaration by Pollitt:

"We greet the congress, for it is a political lesson for the workers of the whole world, for British workers who are striving for peace and socialism and who we believe . . .will never participate in war against the Soviet Union which is being organized by America."

Pollitt spoke last night to his Russian colleagues in Communism in the Kremlin palace. Moscow's broadcast of his speech was recorded here.

A BY-LAW REQUIRING THE EARLY CLOSING OF RETAIL GASOLINE SERVICE STATIONS, GASOLINE PUMPS AND OUTLETS IN THE RETAIL GASOLINE SERVICE INDUSTRY IN THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH.

Having received a Petition praying for the Passing of a By-law compelling the Early Closing of Retail Gasoline Service Stations, Gasoline Pumps and Outlets in the Retail Gasoline Service Industry, and this Petition having proved to be properly signed and presented and having more than the proper percentage of signatures of those engaged in the Gasoline Service Industry:

THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH, at a Meeting held on Monday, October 6th, 1952, passed By-law Number 5076, entitled "A BY-LAW TO REQUIRE THE CLOSING OF THAT CLASS OF SHOPS ENGAGED IN THE RETAIL GASOLINE SERVICE INDUSTRY AS DEFINED IN THE INDUSTRIAL STANDARDS ACT DURING CERTAIN HOURS." This By-law provides as follows:

1. Pursuant to the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act and subject to the provisions of Sections 3 and 4 hereof, all Retail Gasoline Service Stations, Gasoline Pumps and Outlets in the Retail Gasoline Service Industry as defined in the Industrial Standards Act within the City of Peterborough shall be Closed and remain Closed:

(a) on each day during the months of June, July, August and September between the hours of Twelve of the clock in the Afternoon and Seven of the clock in the Forenoon of the next following day.

(b) on each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday during the months of October to May, both inclusive, between the hours of Seven of the clock in the Afternoon and Seven of the clock in the Forenoon of the next following day.

(c) on each Friday, during the months of October to May, both inclusive, between the hours of Eleven of the clock in the Afternoon and Seven of the clock in the Forenoon of the following day.

(d) on each Saturday, during the months of October to May, both inclusive, between Seven of the clock in the Afternoon and Seven of the clock in the Forenoon of the next following Monday.

2. Subject to the provisions of Sections 3 and 4 hereof, every occupier or person in charge of a Retail Gasoline Service Station, Gasoline Pumps and Outlets in the Retail Gasoline Service Industry as defined in the Industrial Standards Act, within the City of Peterborough shall Close the same and keep the same Closed as required by the provisions of Section 1.

3. The Council may issue Permits authorizing any such Shop for which a Permit is issued to be and remain Open during the months of October to May, both inclusive, notwithstanding Sections 1 and 2 of this By-law:

(a) on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday between the hours of Seven of the clock in the Afternoon and Eleven of the clock in the Forenoon, and

(b) on Sunday, between the hours of Seven of the clock in the Forenoon and Eleven of the clock in the Afternoon.

4. Such Permits shall be issued by the Corporation or the City of Peterborough upon Listing to be provided by the City Clerk or other appropriate municipal authority, giving the names and addresses of the afore-mentioned Shops in the City of Peterborough to one-third of all occupiers of such Shops each week in rotation and so as to provide reasonable distribution throughout the City of Peterborough.

5. This By-law shall take effect on the 20th Day of October 1952, and shall be subject to the provisions of the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act.

6. For the purpose of giving publicity to this By-law, a synopsis thereof certified by the City Clerk shall be published once in the Peterborough Examiner not later than Five (5) Days after the passing of this By-law.

7. Every person who contravenes any of the provisions of this By-law shall, upon conviction thereof forfeit and pay at the discretion of the convicting Magistrate, a penalty not exceeding (exclusive of costs) the sum of $50.00 for each offence; and any such fine, penalty, and costs shall be recoverable according to the Summary Convictions Act of Ontario.

DATED at Peterborough, this 9th Day of October, 1952.

Say St. Thomas May Help Bear Rail Cost

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Rush raised the possibility today that St. Thomas may be thinking about offering to bear some of the cost of the London and Port Stanley Railway passenger service operation.

He emphasized that he has "no idea at all" what the St. Thomas city council plans to discuss at a special meeting with London city council next Thursday.

But he said:

"If they have some idea of contributing on a pro rata basis as a means of ensuring the passenger service will be retained, it might shed a new light on the whole [illegible]

Board Of Education Protests New Act

WINDSOR (CP) — The Windsor Board of Education has jumped into the United States controversy over the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act which is scheduled to go into effect December 24 and which threatens to bar Students from U.S. schools, except as resident students.

Trustees of the board expressed opposition to the new immigration law for the United States because of the effect it is expected to have on Canadian students.

A committee is to enquire into the ramifications of the act and make a recommendation protesting the effect of the act, to the Department of Education for Ontario and the members of Parliament.

They are Cpl. Joseph Paul Dulude, 30, of St. Martine, Que., and LAC. Joseph Laurent Leblanc of Kirkland Lake, Ont. Stationed with the R. C. A. F. in Britain, the two men were on a holiday in Spain.

Duck Hunter Hurt As Gun Discharges

CHATHAM (CP)—James Behor, 20, of nearby Blenheim was wounded in his right arm yesterday while duck hunting on Rondeau Bay, about 15 miles southeast of here. It was the district's first major hunting accident this season.

Behor said he and two friends were transfering their equipment to a motorboat when his 12-gauge shotgun discharged and the shot struck his right forearm.

CBC Wants Use More Canadian Talent On Radio

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC, in a move to increase use of Canadian talent by Canadian ratdio stations, has proposed that the stations be obliged to devote a percentage of their broadcasts to Canadian programs.

The use of Canadian programs was covered by one of a series of revised regulations, issued today by the CBC. The new regulations will not go into effect until the CBC Board of Governors has heard representations of the privately-owned stations at private sessions.

The percentage will apply to the broadcast hours between 8 a. m. and 11 p.m.

Stations, not affiliated with the CBC and with studios in towns or cities of less than 50,000, will have to devote 30 per cent of their weekly broadcast time to Canadian programs.

A higher percentage will apply in the cases of stations affiliated to CBC networks.

Stations in cities of 50,000 or more and affiliated to the Trans-Canada or the French network will have to devote 48 per cent of their broadcasts between 8 a.m. and 11 p.m. to Canadian programs.

MINIMUM PERCENTAGE

Stations affiliated with the Dominion network will be required to have a minimum of 43 per cent Canadian programs.

Stations in cities of less than 50,000 and affiliated with the Trans-Canada or French networks shall have to broadcast Canadian programs 38 per cent of the time; those affiliated to the Dominion network, 33 per cent.

The regulations adds:

"The [illegible] reproduced program which was produced in Canada, and any program originated by Canadians sent to other countries for the specific purpose of originating programs to Canada, is a Canadian program within the meaning of this regulation. But a reproduction made in Canada from an imported original does not quality as a Canadian program.

"The main content of the program shall be taken as the basis for determining if it qualifies as Canadian unless stations clearly identify the proportion of Canadian in the program.

"The CBC may, at its discretion, alter the minimum amounts of Canadian programs for stations where special conditions prevail.

"Stations may elect to meet these minimum requirements on a yearly rather than weekly basis provided they are prepared to submit full statistics."

A CBC official said that under the regulations the playing of Canadian records would constitute a Canadian program. A program featuring a Canadian disc jockey who chatters while playing American records will not ordinarily qualify as a program with Canadian content.

DISC JOCKEY

For instance, if a disc jockey has a one-hour program and his chatter covers a total of 20 minutes, the station will have to indicate to the CBC the amount of time taken up by the jockey in order to have the time included in the record of Canadian programs.

The regulations also make changes in the advertising content of programs. At present the regulations provide that the advertising content of any program shall not exceed in time 10 per cent of any program period.

The CBC found the regulation to be unenforceable. The new regulation spells out the length of the advertising message that can be used in programs ranging from five minutes to one hour.

LIMIT ADVERTISING

In a five-minute program between 8 p.m. and midnight the advertising message must be limited to one minute and 15 seconds. 6 p.m. the message will be lim-

Accuse Rail Worker Of Looting Wreckage

HARROW, England (AP) — A railway worker was accused of looting today in the wreckage of Britain's train disaster even as rescue workers dug for bodies.

He was charged with stealing cigars, boxes of cheese, a baby's coat, a novel entitled "Lady Say When" — total value about £5 — and ordered held for trial after a two-minute court hearing.

Police identified him as Matthew Fagan.

Police Search Area For Fisherman

SIOUX LOOKOUT (CP) — Provincial Police are searching for Blake Young, Sioux Lookout fisherman who has been missing since Saturday in the Chamberlain's Narrows district, about 90 miles northwest of here.

Search parties found his boat aground with its cargo of 40 boxes of fish intact. It was believed he may have fallen overboard.

Car Salesman Found Guilty Stealing Money

Used car salesman Matt Lawless, 917 Monaghan Rd., was convicted of theft in connection with selling a used car and was remanded until October 15 for sentence today.

He was charged with stealing $155 from Mrs. Ellen McDonough by fraudulently converting that amount to his own use, from an amount of $1,135 received for a car he sold for Mrs. McDonough.

After the crown's case was heard Monday, John C. Currelly, asked Magistrate W. R. Philp to dismiss the charge because the evidence failed to establish that Lawless had stolen the money.

Magistrate Philp reserved his decision on the non suit motion until today. He ruled the evidence called for a defence and after hearing Lawless' evidence, found him guilty of stealing $110. During the course of the trial, it was admitted Lawless still owed Mrs. McDonough $45.

In July, Mrs. McDonough approached Lawless and asked him to buy her car. He informed her the company he was working for would not sell the car on consignment but he agreed to try and sell it for her privately.

SOLD CAR

After advertising it, Lawless sold the car a few weeks later for $1,160. He paid Mrs. McDonough $700 and obtained a receipt stating there was a balance of $325 to be paid. Later he paid her $200 and then $80, and said he offered her a cheque for $45 bringing the total up to $1,025 which he claimed Mrs. McDonough had agreed to accept for the car.

Mrs. McDonough said no price was mentioned when she asked Lawless to sell the car for her but he agreed to sell it for a $25 commission. She said she considered this a small amount for selling the car. After she received the first payment of $700, believing the car to have been sold for $1,050, she said she later learned it had been sold for $1,160.

When Lawless made the third payment, $80, she said she knew he had sold it for more than $1,050 and asked for the balance. When he refused, she demanded payment of the difference between the price he said he obtained and actually received for it, through [illegible] W. R. Gordon.

Then, the theft charge was laid.

Lawless said today, no specific price was mentioned. He said she "wanted the best possible price she could get." "After being unable to sell it for some time," he said he "asked her if she would be satisfied with $1,025." She said she would be glad to get rid of it." He denied that Mrs. McDonough had offered him $25 to sell the car when she first brought it to the used car lot where he works.

He said when he offered Mrs. McDonough the $80 and a cheque for $45 (the balance of the $1,025) she refused to take the cheque. He said he admitted he had sold the car for more than $1,050 when Mrs. McDonough said she knew he had obtained more. He said she then offered him $25 for selling the car, which he refused.

DEAL FAILED

At one time, Lawless negotiated with a dealer to sell the car to him for $1,050. The deal failed to go through, when the dealer, recognizing the car as a former taxi said it was not worth $1,050.

Under cross examination, Lawless admitted that when he was planning on selling it to the dealer, he would have been satisfied with $25 for selling the car.

He also admitted to Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw he had participated in the raising of $1,000 in August and September, above his required needs. "Did you not contribute a fair percentage?" asked Mr. Bradshaw. "Yes," Lawless replied and admitted it "involved quite a financial effort."

"Granted it may not be open handed and frank conduct," Mr. Currelly said, "but it doesn't qualify as theft when she has said she would accept $1,025."

"Both parties admit in evidence there was no definite amount" (mentioned as a selling price) commented Magistrate Philp. "Rather, he was to get as much as he could. There is no evidence that at any time was the property of the car any other person's [illegible] he'd salesman on her behalf."

He said he was finding Lawless guilty, because when Mrs. McDonough signed the receipt on the understanding he had sold the car for $1,050, with Lawless retaining $25 she did so believing "it was the highest price he had obtained for it."

3 Men Fined $54 For Rifles In Car

BRANTFORD (CP)—Three men were fined $54 and costs yesterday for having jack-lighting equipment and loaded rifles in an automobile. The charge was laid under the game and fisheries act.

Pleading guilty to the charge were William Link of Harley, Murdock Alexander of Burford and Ernest Polley of Brantford. Link's car was seized at the time of arrest Saturday and released on payment of $50.

Ewe Produces Twins

ORILLIA (CP) — A ewe on W. J. Rogers farm at nearby Hawkestone produced twins Tuesday for the second time this year. Sheep raisers call the occurrence an extremely rare one.

Baby Contest To Be Sponsored By Moose Lodge

Peterborough's babies are going to be given a chance to strut their stuff and win prizes in a baby contest being sponsored by the Peterborough lodge 813, of the Loyal Order of the Moose.

Parents will be able to register their babies in the festival Friday and Saturday at Walker Stores Ltd.

Nov. 19 there will be a pageant in which winners in the seven age classes will parade to compete for the title of Master and Miss, Peterborough.

Each baby entered will be given a free medical check and each must pass to enter the contest. There will actually be three contests in one. Babies will win prizes in three divisions, health, beauty and the royalty class.

The youngsters will be judged on hair, eyes, personality, physical, facial appearance and complexion. The prettiest and handsomest child of each age group will be picked and it will be from these that the audience at the pageant in the collegiate auditorium will chose Miss and Master Peterborough.

The age groups are: up to six months to one year; one year to 18 months, 18 months to two years, two to three, three to four, and four to five.

Winners in the various divisions will receive loving cups and rosettes.

The pageant which will climax the contest will take the form of a mock coronation with the youngsters, winners in the royalty division made up as a king, queen, princesses, and princes, dukes and duchesses.

Governor J. J. Douglas of the local Moose lodge said that there would be no entry fee and on admission at the pageant. He explained that the lodge was sponsoring the contest to bring the Moose lodge before the public with the idea of interesting more men in the activities of the lodge.

PASS RECIEVER—Paul Salata, Calgary Stampeder end, tucks in a pass from Dave Anderson on Regina Roughriders' 23-yard line for a touchdown. Regina's Bob Pelling (66) moves in quickly but can't stop Salata. The Stampeders' 30-27 victory put them in the Western Football Conference playoffs for the first time in two years.

Robber's Wife Given Reward

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—The unidentified man whose tip to the Worcester Telegram led to the capture and confession of a robber Sept. 29 was given a $500 reward last night — and promptly turned the money over to the robber's wife.

Mrs. Edward S. Myler, whose husband said he robbed the Worcester County Trust Company of $31,000 to help his family, refused the money at first but then changed her mind "for the sake of my two children."

Myler was arrested a few hours after the theft while taking his four-year-old son to the doctor. Most of the $31,000 was found in the trunk of his rented car.

He was traced through a telephone call from an unidentified tipster who told the newspaper he had watched Myler toss a brief case into a car seconds after the robbery. He jotted down the registration number of the auto.

Forged Cheque Ring Bared

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Windsor's part in the widespread epidemic of forged cheques was revealed by [illegible] yesterday, [illegible] the arrest of two Sarnia [illegible] London.

Forged cheques for amounts totalling thousands of dollars, each cheque made out against a legitimate account, have been cashed in banks from Windsor to Toronto.

Here in Windsor, downtown banks paid out a total of $750 for three bad cheques on August 20, Detective Inspector James P. Campbell said yesterday. Each cheque contained a legitimate account number and a facsimile of the signature of the account holder.

Investigation is going forward to see if the two men arrested in London are involved in the local forgeries.

The two were Tuxis A. Beattie, 30, and Robert L. Bleakely, 26, both of Sarnia, were arrested by police in downtown London. Both men face charges of uttering forged cheques.

Of the cheques passed locally, two were passed at one bank and one against another. The face values were $150, $200 and $400.

Plan To Investigate People With U.N.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The U. S. Senate internal security committee will investigate possible subversive influences of persons connected with the United Nations, committee chairman Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) announced last night.

McCarran said the investigation would open in New York Monday. He said it will deal with infiltration of the United States by persons using their diplomatic immunity as a subterfuge.

He told a meeting in his honor: "When we set up the United Nations, we thought we were setting up an organization for the peace of the world.

"Little did we believe the United Nations would be a vantage ground for the infiltration of the United [illegible]

Employment High Kitchener Reports

KITCHENER (CP) — Employment is high in the cities of Kitchener and Waterloo, C.W. Boyer, manager of the national employment office here, said last night before the employment advisory [illegible] drawing unemployment insurance, compared to 2,304 a year ago. The present situation is likely to continue to the end of the year.

Miss Markory Shantz, an advisory committee member, urged that a woman be named to the board of referees which handles claims for insurance.

She said that women appearing before the board should have female representation.

Returns Protest Note Because Insulting

BERLIN (Reuters)—Gen. Pierre Carolet, French commandant in Berlin, today returned a Soviet protest note because of its "insulting contents."

The note, received Oct. 4, protested against an alleged "provocative attack" last Aug. 29 by West Berlin police on a French sector rail station — Communists administer the elevated rail system.

"I cannot accept this insulting note," Carolet said in a letter.

"Furthermore I am astonished that you have informed me only now about an event which happened in August."

Barley Crop Quality Reported Excellent

WINNIPEG (CP) — The quality of Western Canada's record barley crop is excellent, the Board of Grain Commissioners said today.

The barley crop — estimated to hit 284,000,000 bushels — is the largest on record. Last year's crop was 234,000,000 bushels with the 10-year average 168,000,000.

Canadian maltsters use about 15,000,000 bushels of barley a year. Large amounts are exported, especially to the United States which

OBITUARIES

MRS. ELIZABETH MARGARET LEE

A lifelong resident of the city, Mrs. Elizabeth Margaret Lee, widow of Frank D. Lee, 309 Boswell Avenue, died today at her home after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Lee was born in Peterborough, daughter of James Fox, and the former Rachael Shields, both deceased. She was a member of St. John's Anglican Church.

Mrs. Lee is survived by two sisters, Mrs. G. L. Hay and Mrs. Louise MacAfee, both of Peterborough; one brother C. E. Fox, Calgary, and three nephews, B. E. Hay, Dr. D. C. Hay and James Hay.

The funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Comstock Funeral Home, with Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

CHARLES EDWARD BREADMAN

Charles Edward Breadman, 200 London Street, died Wednesday in hospital at the age of 78.

Born in Farnham, England, Mr. Breadman was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Breadman. He came to Peterborough 48 years ago from Reading, England.

For many years he was employed by Stocks Bread Co., now Wonder Bakeries, and retired in 1931. He was a member of the Salvation Army for 60 years, and for a number of years was a flag sergeant.

[illegible] Mr. Breadman [illegible] the 33rd Battalion of the Canadian Army, but was later discharged. He re-enlisted with the 247th Battalion and went overseas with the Foresters' Brigade.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Peacock; a daughter Mrs. Elsie Pearson, Peterborough; two sons, Albert E. of Toronto and Leonard C. of Peterborough; four sisters, Mrs. Louisa Welch and three in England.

The body is resting at the Kaye funeral home. The funeral service will be held in the Salvation Army Temple at 2 p.m., Major Horace Roberts officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Just Out Of Jail Two Sent Back Again

SARNIA (CP) — Irene Briossette 18, and Walter Rogers, both of Kettle Point Indian reserve, yesterday were sentenced to two months each for assaulting Rogers' wife Sept. 29.

The two were returned to county jail less than 30 days after they had been released following a one-month term for the same offence. Mrs. Rogers said she was driving home with her two small children in the back seat of the car when the two stopped her car and beat her.

Report Good Deposits Of Clay Discovered

TORONTO (CP) —Allan Riopelle 44, injured Friday in a fight at Chapleau near Sudbury, was reported in fair condition in hospital here today. A bushworker, Riopelle is a native of Shawinigan Falls, Que.

Lucien Houle and Gene Tremblay, both of Quebec province, have been charged with assault as a [illegible] concrete mixture in the Sturgeon-Grand Lake district, 25 miles from here.

Other "suitable" deposits were found in the Minto, Chipman and Moncton areas of New Brunswick.

Roasting Turkeys Plentiful For Thanksgiving Dinner

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thanksgiving dinner this year should be a little easier on the pocketbook. Roasting turkeys are in good supply and in most Canadian centres will cost considerably less than last year.

Prices of chickens, ducks and geese also are lower in many areas, a Canadian Press survey shows. The main reason seems to be larger supply of the birds.

Turkey is still the most popular dish for the big meal. Many families, however, are settling for the cheaper chicken, goose or duck and saving the big turkey feed for Christmas.

CHEAP IN MANITOBA

In Manitoba undressed turkeys this year are selling as low as 39 cents a pound, a 20-cent-a-pound drop from last year's price. In British Columbia a drop of 17 cents a pound is reported, to 52 cents.

In Alberta the decrease is seven to 10 cents a pound; in Ontario five to 10 cents and in Quebec 10 to 12 cents.

The Maritime provinces alone report prices on a par with last year. Newfoundland authorities report drawn turkeys selling at a country-wide high of 80 cents and New Brunswick at 75 cents.

Prices of chickens, ducks and geese are down about 10 cents a pound in the west and central provinces but there is little change from last year's prices in the Maritimes.

In British Columbia, farmers have boosted production of turkeys in an attempt to make the birds a year-round consumer item. But officials report most consumers are sticking closely to the practice of buying only at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

GOT LATE START

Only in Ontario is any shortage of turkeys in the popular 10-14-pound size expected. The birds in that province got a late start and officials say many buyers will probaly have to be satisfied with smaller birds than they would like.

In Saskatchewan the reverse is the case. Consumers may have to accept larger birds than ordered. The quality of commercial feed has so speeded up growth that big birds may be the only ones available.

In Ontario the most popular turkey is the broadbreasted bronze, with some white Hollands also being sold. The supply of birds has increased considerably over a year ago.

In New Brunswick chicken is a more popular Thanksgiving dish than turkey.

Field Favors Adlai Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP) — Marshal Field said today he is in complete agreement with the aims of Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Field is president of Field Enterprises, Inc. The Chicago Sun-Times, a division of Field Enterprises, has endorsed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee.

He set forth his views in a letter to his son, Marshall Field Jr., editor and publisher of the Sun-Times. The letter was printed in the "Opinion of the People" column of the newspaper.

The Sun-Times said the letter "does not alter or diminish this newspaper's advocacy of Eisenhower for president."

Heavy Sentences For Ringleaders

[illegible] Britain magistrate at Nanyuki [illegible] jail sentences today on members of the Mau Mau, secret anti-white tribal organization, on charges of slaughtering cattle on European farms two weeks ago.

Two ringleaders of the group were sentenced to nine and seven years in prison. A third ringleader had been fatally shot by police during an investigation of the case.

Forty-three other defendants received jail sentences ranging from one to six years.

Water Samples Clear Of Germs

TORONTO (CP) — Samples of water taken last Saturday from Halifax mains show no indication of disease germs, Dr. A.E Berry, Ontario director of sanitary engineering, said today.

Dr. Berry said he took six samples of water from various places in the eastern city's water system and brought them to Toronto for testing.

He said five of the samples were safe for drinking but the sixth contained a higher concentration of bacteria than was recommended for drinking without boiling. He said the high organism count resulted from growths in many miles of the city's underground mains.

As a precaution, Halifax residents boiled their drinking water for several days but discontinued early this week.

Report Bushworker In Fair Condition

HALIFAX (CP) — The Halifax Chronicle-Herald in an Ottawa-datelined story today says federal Mines Department engineers have found two "promising" deposits [illegible]

Cigarette Smugglers Arrested In Quebec

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — R.C.M.P. announced today seizure last night at nearby St. Edwidge de Compton of 242,000 United States cigarettes and confiscation of two automobiles.

Three men were arrested and were scheduled to appear in court later today. Their names were not released.

Car Hits Abutment Pickering Man Hurt

OSHAWA Oct. (CP) — Charles Dennison, 22, of Frenchman's Bay in Pickering township, is in hospital here with injuries suffered last night when his automobile crashed into a concrete abutment.

He suffered a fractured right leg, severe bruises and abrasions. His condition is considered serious.

CLOSE CALL—Nickie Boy appeared to be resting on Tony Skoronski's head after a fall at Detroit's Hazel Park. An examination at a hospital disclosed no serious injuries to the jockey. Track attendants said his fiber skullcap played an important part in saving him from harm.

Archbishop Criticizes Intolerance

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, criticized racial intolerance at a dinner last night celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Council of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Fisher said that the United States has not yet solved the problem of white and negro and "in almost every country there is racial tension waiting to rear up into cruelties."

Racial prejudice "springs partly from economic fears," he said.

BLAMES INTOLERANCE

"It is intolerance between African and European that is at this moment causing grievous tensions in many parts of Africa."

He said that this was an age which has brought the invention of the word "apartheid," which meant "separates" and which has no human remedy, certainly no divine remedy and therefore no remedy at all.

"Apartheid" is the name given to Prime Minister Danial F. Malan's racial segregation policy in South Africa.

Stevenson Accepts Challenge To Back Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois indicated today he will accept the Republican challenge to back President Truman's record while Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower hurled accusations that administration political decisions were largely to blame for the Korean War.

The President teed off against Eisenhower's talk of bringing efficiency and eliminating waste in government by saying the general hadn't done much along those lines in the military establishment while he was army chief of staff.

Senator John J. Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, told a Columbus, O., audience that Eisennower "talks loud and long about programs of which he knows nothing," while his Republican counterpart, Senator Richard Nixon of California, said in Pittsburgh the general will provide leadership that will keep the country out of war.

TAFT RAPS CLAIMS

Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, took a rap at Democratic claims that the country "never had it so good" by saying expenses have gone up and the dollar has dropped in value.

Senator Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat, answered Republican charges of corruption in government by saying Democratic senators — himself, W. William Fulbright of Arkansas, Paul Douglas of Illinois, and Clyde Hoey of North Carolina among others — have spear-headed congressional drives on crime and corruption in various fields.

Another big gun in the Democratic political campaign artillery —Vice-President Alben Barkley — re-entered the presidential battle with a scheduled appearance on a radio-TV program tonight from New York.

Stevenson, who in the past has apparently avoided too close an identification with the President, moved into Truman's home state of Missouri, strongly praising him in a speech prepared for delivery in Kansas City.

GAVE UP LEADERSHIP

He said Eisenhower is an "honorary Republican candidate" who has surrendered party leadership to Taft. He pounded away at the same theme last night, telling a cheering Milwaukee audience that in Eisenhower's speeches "we hear the voice of the general — but the words come from Senator Taft."

Stevenson's Milwaukee reception was encouraging to his aides—he drew a police-estimated 12,000 for his address, about 2,000 more than the estimated number Eisenhower had five days ago and 1,000 more than Truman on Labor Day.

Eisenhower swung into southern California today. Last night in San Francisco he tore into administration foreign policy.

He said a 1950 statement by the State Department, leaving Korea outside the announced defence perimeter in the Pacific, had encouraged if not invited the Korean War.

He told a wildly applauding throng of nearly 29,000 that the United States had been swindled into Korean peace talks, with the result, he said, that the Reds are now half again as strong as they were before negotiations.

SHIFTS ATTACK

Truman, meanwhile, shifted his attack on Eisenhower from foreign policy to national economy as he whistle-stopped through Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio to Buffalo, N.Y.

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at Cleveland that Eisenhower has "moaned and groaned about high prices" even as the Republicans plan to "murder what's left of price controls."

RCAF Nurses Show On TV Their Para-Rescue Work

By HARRY J. WITTSCHEN

NEW YORK (CP) — A pair of attractive R. C. A. F. nurses have just got themselves a spread in a U.S. national magazine and showed American television audiences how they carry out para-rescue work, but they got an even bigger kick out of shopping and sightseeing in New York.

F.O. Marion MacDonald of Vancouver and F.O. Isabelle Thompson of North Bay, headed home to duty today after a two-day visit here.

The nursing sisters were invited to New York by Look Magazine and the NBC in conjunction with a five-page picture story in the magazine's current issue on their para-rescue work in out-of-the-way areas of Canada.

GUESTS ON TV

They were the guests yesterday of Dave Garroway on the television show "Today." A film was shown of the girls in action over heavily-wooded country near Jasper, Alta. Miss MacDonald explained the action of the film which showed the two nurses jumping from a plane, falling into the tall timber with their cumbersome gear and making their way through the bush to their patients.

The girls were shown riding with an accident victim on a stretcher, across a deep, wide canyon with only a nylon rope and a system of pulleys for support.

But they were more inclined to talk about their New York visit. "Oh, we've had a wonderful time shopping and visiting some of the night clubs," Miss MacDonald said.

"Canada's very civilized," Marion told Garroway when he referred to the Dominion as the wild north. "You have to go pretty far north to get away from shops and towns."

Miss Thomson made a jump last July 22 in a vain attempt to aid eight airmen after a mid-air collision near Baggotville, Que. The men were found dead.

"We can't always be successful," Miss Thomson said, "but if we can reach them while they are still alive, we are prepared for anything."

The Volunteer Rescue Corps—there are only seven nurses, five doctors and 53 non-commissioned airmen in all—are trained as qualified medical personnel as well as in bush lore and the art of controlled jumping. Each must make at least 10 jumps to qualify.

Miss MacDonald now is instructing para-rescue and first aid technique at the R.C.A.F. Survival school in Edmonton. Miss Thomson is stationed at Trenton.

Find Flier On Raft Heading For Home

NOME, Alaska (AP)—A U.S. air force man who is charged with deserting his unit in Dayton, Ohio, was picked up yesterday floating about the Bering Sea on a five-man life raft. It has not been explained how he got there.

The man, whose name has been withheld by officials, was spotted three miles from the mouth of the Yukon River, by O.W. Tasch, a bush pilot flying an amphibious plane.

Tasch asked him where he was going and he said Nome. He was 150 miles from his target, straight north across dangerous waters.

Tasch took him aboard his plane and turned him over to military authorities.

Safety Bureau Urged Set Up

TORONTO (CP)—Canada needs a national highway safety bureau patterned on Manitoba's successful example, R. B. Baillie, director of the Manitoba scheme, told the annual meeting of the Ontario Insurance Agents' Association yesterday.

He said the Manitoba plan has cut fatalities by 50 per cent and total traffic accidents by more than 18 per cent in the Winnipeg area in the last two years.

Under the scheme a record is kept for all Manitoba drivers with points scored for all driving errors, accidents and convictions.

With each point the driver receives a warning letter. If he, or she, accumulates eight points the driver is bound to enter a driving clinic or lose his licence. If he passes the clinic test he receives a probationary licence, his length of probation depending on his score.

Japanese Communists Give Judges Painful Headache

By WILLIAM JORDAN

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese Communists are giving this country's courts and judges their biggest, most painful headache in riotous trial scenes.

Red defendants refuse to stand trial peaceable. Their lawyers insist on repeated delays. In court they use every weapon of psychological warfare to harass the judges.

Japanese judges, still remembering the days when they conducted hearings in the name of the demi-god emperor, are at a loss in dealing with this brand of trouble-making.

Under legal reforms imposed in post-war Japan, the courts have been stripped of their power to cite defendants or spectators for contempt of court.

NEW LAW SOON

However, this will be remedied in part by a newly-enacted law which provides minor fines and imprisonment for persons who dis- [illegible] of the courts.

[illegible] suspected of planning and executing the bloody May Day riots in Tokyo. One rioter was killed and about 200 injured in the melee.

When the hearings opened, the Reds were well prepared. Their lawyer carried briefs attacking everything from the jurisdiction of the courts to the number of police on hand.

The hearings quickly developed into disorderly mob scenes. The galleries heckled the court and screamed epithets at the unnerved justices.

"CAPITALIST PRESS"

One organized group surrounded Japanese reporters sent to cover the trials and beat them unmercifully.

"Kick out all the capitalist press," the spectators shouted. "Admit only Akahata (the Communist newspaper, Red Flag.)"

The nervous judges, accustomed to meek subservience from prisoners, heard themselves called everything from morons to "agents of American imperialism."

One after another the magistrates adjourned the hearings for a week and retired to their chambers in confusion.

When eight more hearings were attempted the following day, the Reds repeated their performance with the same results—the trials were postponed.

OFFER $13,000 REWARD IN GOLD THEFT

RCMP Given Tough Job Finding Loot

Believe Bricks Hidden In Canada, Welcome All Clues

TORONTO (CP)—A $13,000 reward was posted today by the R.C.M.P. for information leading to the recovery of $214,000 in gold bullion stolen three weeks ago from the airport at nearby Malton.

Solving of the mystery has been passed to the Mounties by Canadian National Railways investigators and special detectives hired by insurance firms who have been unable to find any trace of either the thieves or the gold. Police officials said a Toronto gang of hijackers may have carted off the loot as it lay on a cargo truck awaiting shipment to Europe.

It was learned that in future thefts of gold in transit anywhere in Canada the R.C.M.P. will be asked to take charge immediately.

A conference of officials of the R. C. M. P., provincial, city and township police yesterday named Inspector J. S. Cruickshank and the Toronto detachment of the R. C. M. P. to take charge of the investigation.

BELIEVE STILL IN CANADA

"We feel certain the gold is still in this country and cached away," said Inspector Cruickshank. "Probably certain people have information about this gold or members of the ring. Any information forwarded to us will be treated in strictest confidence."

It was learned that information obtained within the last week indicates that an international gold theft ring has its headquarters in Toronto and that its members have gone into hiding.

It was indicated that the loot still is here and that leaders of the ring are "local." It was believed that members of this ring are in Northern Ontario mining cities and in Montreal. Police said they have no information that the ring has agents in New York or in other United States cities.

Duke Enjoys Chinese Dinner

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Shark's fin omelette, bamboo shoots and "thousand-year-old" eggs were included on the all-Chinese menu last night at a private dinner party here to celebrate the 17th birthday of the Duke of Kent, cousin of the Queen.

Thousand-year-old eggs are a Chinese delicacy, so-called because they are buried in the ground and preserved for a length of time before being eaten. Gourmets say the longer they are buried the better they taste.

The young Duke, touring southeast Asia with his mother, the Duchess of Kent, later cut his birthday cake with a parang—large double-edged Malay knife—presented to him by anti-Communist native trackers.

French Decision Causes Crisis

PARIS (Reuters)—France has bluntly refused American advice on how to spend U.S. dollar aid, it was disclosed last night.

The incident was reported to have developed into the worst diplomatic blow-up between the two countries since the war.

The Paris conservative press described the affair as "a crisis in Franco-American relations."

The incident was France's greatest diplomatic snub at the U.S. since Gen. Charles de Gaulle refused to visit the late President Roosevelt on his ship anchored outside Algiers in 1945.

Policeman Forgets Gives Himself Ticket

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A policeman here can't seem to remember it — but he gave himself a parking ticket.

This was discovered yesterday when the patrolman hurried to police headquarters and wanted to know why he had been summonsed for overtime parking.

A check of the records showed that he had indeed been sent a ticket, and that it carried his licence number plus his signature—as arresting officer.

War Prisoners Get $1-A-Day Award

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today announced an immediate $1-a-day maltreatment award to roughly 2,000 Canadians for each day they were enemy prisoners in the Second World War. The awards do not affect the great majority of Canadian prisoners-of-war who fell into German hands. They go mainly to about 1,400 survivors of the Hong Kong siege of 1941 who will get cheques of $1,350 to $1,400 within the next few weeks.

They embrace the Hong Kong survivors, Canadian civilians interned by the Japanese and relatively few Canadians who were imprisoned by the more notorious German Nazi organizations such as the Gestapo and S.S.

The money will come out of a $10,000,000 fund built up of seized german and Japanese assets and reparations from those countries.

TO RULE ON CLAIMS

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in announcing the awards, said a commission will shortly be set up to rule on other claims by Canadians.

These are expected to number in the thousands. They range from claims for losses of property in such tragedies as the 1939 sinking of the liner Athenia to claims by civilians imprisoned by the Japanese who have spent their own money regaining their health in hospital and under medical care since being returned to Canada.

Widows of Hong Kong veterans [illegible] known as white [illegible] being returned [illegible] a right to claim. Some may get the full $1,350 to $1,400 their husbands would have got. Others, now drawing pension, would get less.

Prisoners of war who were in regular German P.O.W. camps will be able to claim excessive maltreatment and, if their claims are upheld, will be entitled to some reimbursement too.

An example here might be a survivor of the 1942 Dieppe raid who suffered from being shackled by the Germans for some time after being taken prisoner.

The announcement said:

"These awards are for maltreatment and amount to $1 a day for each day of internment and are

Fire Damages Huge Mansion

GODALMING, England (Reuters)—"Whitaker's Folly," fabulous 80-room mansion with an underwater ballroom, was badly damaged by fire today.

Liberal MP Urges Repeal Of Commons' Pension Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — John Sinnot, Liberal member of the Commons for the Manitoba constituency of Springfield, said today he will meet Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of the cabinet to urge repeal of legislation providing pensions for members of the Commons.

In an interview, Mr. Sinnot blamed the legislation, passed at the last session of Parliament, for the fact that he lost the Liberal nomination at a recent convention in his riding.

He plans to run in the next federal election as a "straight Liberal" against Anton Westlake, who won the Liberal nomination at the convention.

Mr. Sinnott said "gangsterism" was responsible for his loss of the nomination. The convention was "plugged." True Liberal supporters were replaced by supporters of other parties at the convention.

In a letter sent yesterday to Manitoba newspapers and distributed to some members of the Parliamentary Press Gallery, Mr. Sinnott said he had voted for the pensions bill because he had to "play ball with the cabinet" in order to obtain some public works for his constituency.

In the interview, he said the public works included a wharf at Travers Bay, Man., repairs to a wharf at Victoria Beach, and a road to an Indian reserve in his riding.

Asked if any member of the cabinet had intimated that the works would not be carried out if he voted against the pensions bill, Mr. Sinnott replied:

"No. It was a matter of principle."

Mysterious Robbery

$50,000 Vanishes On Plane Flight

MIAMI, Fla. (AP).—An investigation was under way today to determine how $50,000 disappeared from an airliner as it flew from Miami to Lima, Peru.

Puzzled officials of Pan American-Grace Airways said the money might have been stolen in flight or while the four-engined DC-6 stopped briefly at Panama and Guayaquil en route.

W. F. Lewis, assistant treasurer of Panagra, who came here from New York to head the investigation, said there was also a possibility the cash might have been "misdirected."

The loss was discovered Sunday when the airliner landed at Lima. The Panagra New York office said a bag containing the money was found ripped open.

The last big loss of treasure in air transit occurred in Canada last month. Gold weighing nearly half a ton was stolen at Toronto's Malton airport Sept. 24. It was legally worth about $215,000 but would have brought more than $300,000 on the United States market.

Valet Kills Two Butlers Also Wounds Lady Derby

PRESCOT, England (Reuters)—A 19-year-old valet to the wealthy Earl of Derby was charged with murder today after running amok with a machine-gun in his master's home last night, killing two other servants and wounding Lady Derby as she dined alone. Harold Winstanley stood in the dock in his shirtsleeves as police told the story of his rampage about the stately Derby mansion, spraying the place with bullets. The 34-year-old Earl was out for dinner and his wife, 32, was dining alone in the smoking room when Winstanley appeared at the door, they said. The stengun stuttered and a bullet tore into the back of Lady Derby's neck.

Roving through the 400-year-old house, he pumped bursts into butler Walter Stallard and under-butler Douglas Stewart, killing them both, wounded valet William Sullivan in the hand and hit a chef on the head.

ADMITS SHOOTINGS

Chief Superintendent W.J. Woolf said Winstanley admitted the shootings. He was remanded until Oct.

Police could give no motive for Winstanley's actions.

The peeress was reported by the local hospital today to be in a "satisfactory" condition, suffering a superficial wound and shock.

Two hundred police scoured the country around the Derby home last night after Winstanley had fled into the grounds.

But police headquarters got a call from him from a public telephone booth in Liverpool, eight miles away. One policeman kept him talking while a patrol car raced to the telephone station and grabbed him.

Knowsley Hall, scene of the shooting, is one of the stately homes of Britain, where kings and queens used to stay when they visited the north country.

50 CENTS A LOOK

Nowadays, like many other aristocrats, the young Earl throws it open to summer visitors at 50 cents a look to help pay for its upkeep.

His marriage to the Countess, formerly Lady Isabel Milles-Lade, was one of the society events of 1948, attended by the late King George VI and the royal family. More than 1,000 guests went to the reception at the plush Savoy hotel.

As the 18th Earl, he succeeded his grandfather — statesman and industrialist but best known as a race horse owner — in February of the same year.

The earldom was created in 1485 and gives its name to one of the world's greatest horse races—The Derby. The race was founded by the 12th earl in 1780.

Britain Gives Egypt Two Concessions

Britain agreed to withdraw its military post at El Ferdan railway bridge across the Suez Canal. It is a key point controlling communications between the main part of Egypt and her eastern [illegible]

The other concession was an agreement to unfreeze at once £5,000,000 of money she owes Egypt, in order to boost sagging Egyptian finances.

An Egyptian government spokesman said Britain has "truly demonstrated her good will toward Egypt" by the financial agreement. He said Egyptian-Sudanese talks on the future of the Sudan had been suspended for a few days to enable the study of some legal aspects. But, he added, "the points of view are approaching each other."

UK Conservatives Declare War On Union Reds

SCARBOROUGH, England (CP) — Britain's Conservatives today declared war on Communists in the country's trade unions.

The decision, which followed complaints that the Churchill government treats the movement's union supporters like stepchildren, got mass backing from 4,000 delegates at the party's annual convention.

A resolution was adopted pledging the Conservatives to resist the passing of union control "into the hands of Communists or others who would make the movement subservient to political ends."

AIR GRIEVANCES

Britain's massive trade union movement is the backbone of the Labor party. Debate on the move [illegible] the party leadership and brought a call for government action to outlaw the closed shop.

The Conservative party claims it has 3,000,000 members in British unions.

As a result of today's decisions, a conference source said, the party's 1,000,000-strong young Conservative League will be a spearhead of the anti-Red move. Those eligible will join unions and those already in will be expected to set stiff opposition to Red-inspired moves when they spot them.

Riots Enliven Double 10th

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Bands of young Chinese Nationalists, celebrating "Double 10th" day, today stormed around the premises of six pro-Communist trade unions in Hong Kong's mainland city of Kowloon.

Angry crowds shouted abuse at the Chinese Communists in the union offices where two Red flags flew defiantly among hundreds of Nationalist flags.

At the office of the Electrical Workers' Union a crowd broke down the doors, overpowered Communist officials and damaged office furniture.

Hundreds of armed Hong Kong police carrying wicket riot shields restored order. A few persons were injured.

The celebrations marked the 41st anniversary of the Chinese revolution under Sun Yat-sen on the 10th day of the 10th month. The revolution, which threw off the dynastic rule of the Manchus, marked the birth of modern China.

At a mass meeting of "free" trade unionists, Stalin and Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse Tung were reviled. Union leaders spoke of plans for retaking the Chinese mainland and said they hoped to celebrate the Double 10th

Labor Not Worried

New Index Affects Escalator Clauses

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Cost-of-living escalator clauses in labor contracts covering thousands of Canadian workers will be affected by the new Consumer Price Index, but union spokesmen are confident changes will be negotiated without strife or conflict with management.

Escalator clauses provide for pay boosts or cuts in accordance with the rise or fall in living costs, expressed in terms of the cost-of-living index, now due to be replaced by the new price index.

The big complication lies in the fact that the escalator clauses were worked out on the basis of point changes in the index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100. For example, some contracts call for a cent-an-hour wage boost for every 1.3-point rise in the index.

BASED ON 1949

However, the new index will be based on 1949 prices equalling 100. Roughly, a three-point rise in the old index would be expressed as only a two-point increase in the new. This would have the effect of reducing payments to workers under the old escalator clause if living costs should rise again.

To prevent that from happening, union men say they plan to approach management either:

1. To re-negotiate the escalator clauses on the basis of the new index, or

2. To agree to a conversion formula to equalize rises and falls in both indexes through a simple process of arithmetic.

Most popular view is that the conversion factor will be accepted until current labor agreements run out and new ones are negotiated.

The conversion factor will be roughly about 1.6—that is, any point change in the new index will be multiplied by 1.6 to bring it to where it would have been under the old prices barometer.

STRIKE AN AVERAGE

The factor is reached by estimating the average of the old index during 1949—roughly about 160.0—which would be equal to the new index base of 100.

For example, a two-point increase under the new index, multiplied by the conversion factor of 1.6, would bring the increase to 3.2, which, roughly, it would have been under the old index.

The first edition of the new index is likely to be published by the Bureau of Statistics before the end of the month. But the bureau also plans to continue to publish the old index, along with the new, for several months, before discarding the old prices tape measure altogether.

This, said labor officials, will give unions and management a chance to get together and discuss methods of modernizing the escalator clauses.

Though the exact number of work agreements with escalator clauses is unknown, the Labor Department says they are embodied in a big portion of all work contracts signed.

An official survey during 1951 showed that of 1,140 collective agreements signed during the first eight months, 220 — or approximately one-fifth—included an escalator plan.

The plan covered 163,000 workers or more than 40 per cent of the total 347,000 workers covered by all agreements examined.

Bonaccord St. Child Drowns Falls Into Park Pool Short Distance From House

Father Finds Daughter 2, Unconscious Floating 5 Feet From Shore, Work Nearly 3 Hours, Fail to Revive Her

Missing from her home for only 10 minutes, Joanne Landry, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Landry, 509 Bonaccord St., drowned late Thursday afternoon in the Hamilton Park wading pool. It was the fourth death by drowning this year in Peterborough. She was discovered by her worried father who was searching for her after he realised that she had strayed away from home, about 4 p.m. Mr. Landry jumped onto his bicycle and pedalled across the Bonaccord St. bridge that spans Jackson's Park creek, and he coasted along the west bank of the creek. Just north of the dam which retains the Hamilton Park wading pool—he saw his infant daughter floating unconscious, five feet from shore and just beneath the surface of the water.

He dashed into the pool which is two feet deep and pulled Joanne out of the water where she had been floating face upwards. He carried her up the creek bank to Bonaccord St. and tried to revive her.

A few minutes later an inhalator crew from the city fire depart[illegible] of the Captain Frank Shearer and Firemen Ed Close and Bill Torrance.

TAKEN HOME

The firemen worked on her from 4:30 p.m. to 5:20 p.m. Giving her oxygen as they ran, they carried Joanne to her home, not more than 100 yards away. There, under the direction of Dr. William J. Gordon, family physician, they laid her on chesterfield cushions in the living room and continued artificial respiration.

Hot water bottles and blankets were applied after her water-soaked clothes were snipped off by Dr. Gordon's scissors. When there was no response, Dr. Donald Aitken was called; but despite the combined efforts of the two doctors and the firemen it was

Indianapolis Pulls Out Of American League

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Emory Jones, president of the American Hockey League, announced today that Indianapolis is pulling out of the league but that the other seven clubs have assured his office they will continue in operation.

"This will mean a seven-club league and a schedule is now being drawn for the seven teams," Jones said. He added that he expects a playing schedule to be approved at a meeting within the next few days and that it was impossible to say until that time when the league season will open.

The league president said he had no information on whether Indianapolis might operate in another league. Any statement on the reasons for the Indianapolis withdrawal will have to come from Indianapolis, he said.

He expressed confidence that a settlement will be reached shortly on a dispute over the A. H. L.'s decision not to permit the recall of players farmed out with the league by clubs of the National

Chinese Retake Bloody Peak, Fighting Fierce

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Chinese Communists battered their way to the top of White Horse Mountain tonight and massed 16,000 fresh troops within easy striking distance of the blood-soaked hill.

Intelligence officers said the Communists could commit two fresh divisions to battle at any time.

The fanatic Chinese stormed up the slopes with screams and curses and pushed valiant South Korean [illegible] top and [illegible] hand in a drenching rain for one-half hour before surrendering the crest again.

The wild fighting broke off at 9 p.m. with the Chinese in control. The South Koreans hugged the south slope 150 yards from the top.

Earlier reports said a "hilltop brawl" swirled around the peak in almost pitch darkness. Reds and South Koreans fought it out with grenades, rifle butts and bared bayonets.

Death Toll Now 107 In Wreck

LONDON (AP) — The recorded death toll from Wednesday's triple train crash at Harrow station rose to 107 today.

Digging in the debris went on slowly. Railway officials said they feared more bodies still were buried in the wreckage.

Last night 94 injured still were in hospitals. Another 63 had been released after treatment.

The death list may also rise higher as a result of critically injured victims dying in hospital.

It will take at least another day before the mountain of debris is finally cleared. Salvage gangs continued their work today after struggling through the second night by searchlights and kerosene flares.

Low Grade Beef To Receive Price Support

OTTAWA (CP)—The Agriculture Department has decided to extend its cattle price-support program to low-grade manufacturing beef, A.M. Shaw, chairman of the Agricultural Prices Support board, said yesterday.

The new extension, he said, went into effect last Monday and provided a federal offer to pay between 10 and 12 cents a pound to farmers shipping cattle which normally are not good enough for high-grade carcass trade.

The beef from medium and common carcasses in the grades D1, covering thin steers and heifers; D3, plain cows; and S, bulls and stags, will be purchased in boneless form and will be stored until the government can find some way to dispose of it.

Mr. Shaw said this type of beef can be used for manufacturing sausage and other beef products. The government would have no trouble disposing of it eventually.

SECOND EXTENSION

This was the second extension to the new cattle price-support program announced by the government two weeks ago. Originally, the Agriculture Department ordered purchases only of carcasses weighing 700 pounds and over, paying 25 cents a pound, basis good steers at Toronto. The price will drop to 23 cents Nov. 15.

This week the department also ordered purchases of a limited amount of carcasses weighing below 700 pounds, but not below 600, paying a floor price of 23 cents a pound, again basis good steers at Toronto.

There still is no indication when the department plans to cover other categories of beef with federal price support.

Mr. Shaw said it would depend on market conditions. At the moment, he said, the market is stiffening with beef prices strengthening.

Car Rolled Over Abandoned By Driver

Provincial Constable Wallace Mohns is investigating an accident Thursday afternoon in which a [illegible] the driver.

The car is registered under the name of Samuel Rochman of Toronto but Constable Mohns has been unable to contact him.

About $1,000 damage was caused to the car and the driver may have been injured, though no bloodstains were visible in the car.

The accident was on a township road, 10 miles southeast of Peterborough. The southbound car apparently went out of control as it started south down a cut in a hillside. It ran up the east bank and rolled over back onto the road, coming to rest on its side.

Eisenhower's Luck Sees Him Through

LOS ANGELES (AP) — General Eisenhower's luck saw him through another hazard yesterday.

A piece of exhaust pipe, kicked up by the car in front of his, missed the general's head by only two feet as the Eisenhower motorcade was en route from Long Beach to Los Angeles.

The general, sitting in the back seat of a convertible, ducked slightly. Observers said if he had been atop the seat, the tubing would have hit him in the head or chest.

Potato Prices Will Remain High

TORONTO (CP)—Shoppers will again pay a high price for potatoes this winter although Ontario's crop will be 2,000,000 bushels greater than in 1951, A.H. Martin, director of the crops, seeds and weeds department of the Department of Agriculture, said yesterday. The potato harvest now is in full-swing throughout the province.

[illegible] 38,100 acres were planted this year and they are expected to produce about 11,500,000 bushels. But that will not be enough and Ontario will consume the crop and a good deal more than that.

Farm Living Costs Lower

OTTAWA (CP)—Family living costs on Canadian farms eased during August, but peak costs for farm labor, building materials and binder twine trimmed benefits to farmers searching for ways to cut operating expenses.

With food prices down, farm living costs declined to 204.1, from 209.6 last April and 214.1 in August last year, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

This reduced the composite index of commodities and services used by farmers—including living costs—to 227.7 during August from 229.8 in April and 228.6 in August, 1951.

Exclusive of living costs, the index actually increased slightly to 243.4 from 243.2 last April and 237.8 in August, 1951. All indexes are based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, and are surveyed thrice yearly, in January, April and August.

The farm-wage index climbed to a peak of 471.9 from 454.2 last April and 457.3 in August last year.

OBITUARIES

[illegible] Lansdowne St., a resident of Peterborough for the past 46 years, died Thursday in hospital after a short illness in his 73rd year.

MRS. RICHARD DEAN

NORWOOD (ENS).—Wife of Norwood's village clerk, Mrs. Richard Dean, 68, died suddenly at her home Thursday evening.

Born and educated in Tiny township, near Penetanguishene, She was Eva Elizabeth, daughter of the late John Williams and Annie Reinbird. In Norwood she attended the Presbyterian church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Charles Fredericks (Helen), and Mrs. Wilbert Golloher (Grace) both of Norwood, one brother Fred of Grimsby, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral service will be conducted at 4 p.m. Sunday by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian church, and burial will be in Norwood cemetery.

FREDERICK ALBERT McADAM

The death occurred at his home 476 Chamberlain St. on Thursday of Frederick Robert McAdam after a lengthy illness. Born in Belmont township, 64 years ago, Mr. McAdam farmed for a number of years in Otonabee township before coming to Peterborough 25 years ago. Up until the time of his illness, three years ago, he was an employee of Silverwood's Dairy. Mr. McAdam was a son of the late Robert McAdam and Ellen Gerow.

There survive his wife, former[illegible] son, one son [illegible] of Peterborough, two daughters Mrs. Glen Hagle (Dolly) of Detroit and Mrs. Irene Murphy at home; also three brothers and four sisters, David of Smith township, John of Otonabee township, Thomas of Kingston, Mrs. Mary Anderson and Mrs. Sarah Bannon of Havelock, Mrs. Annette Toms of Toronto and Mrs. Jane Whitney of Apsley. Claremont Man Scores First For Plowing

CARP, Ont. (CP)—Horse and tractor plowing champions of Canada will be decided today in two big events winding up the international plowing matches here.

The winners will receive free trips to Europe as reward for a strenuous three hours of plowing. They may sail for the United Kingdom next month to represent Canada at plowing matches in England and Scotland if arrangements can be made.

In past years, the two champions, selected annually at the three-day international competition in Ontario, have sailed for Europe in January. But officials of the Ontario Plowmen's Association which sponsors the match said an attempt will be made to send the Canadian champions to the United Kingdom in time to compete in the fall matches there

STIFF COMPETITION

Some stiff competition may come from Joe Tran, a Claremont, competitor who scored a first yesterday in one tractor event and a third the previous day.

Sons of two of Ontario's top plowmen also have entered the tractor championship. They are Bill Hostrawser of Malton, whose father is regarded as one of the finest plowing judges in Canada, and John McGavin of Walton, whose father is a former Canadian plowing champion.

One of the strongest favorites in the horse-plowing championship is Stan May of Hornby, Ont., who yesterday used a borrowed team and plow to score his second victory in as many days.

The other competitors include Don Evoy of Bar River, near Sault Ste. Marie, who is plowing champion of Algoma district, Algie Wallace of North Gower who won a first yesterday, and Byrnell Wylie of Oakwood, Ont.

Price Changes Slow On Toronto Market

TORONTO (CP)—Stock market price changes slowed down in early afternoon trading today after a rise that carried western oils eight points forward on the exchange's index in a day and a half.

[illegible] junior producers also advanced as MacLeod and New Dickenson added pennies. Among the prospects, New Alger added pennies on a turnover of 40,000 shares and Chimo also gained. Holding companies traded lightly for a general gain.

Base metals recorded a majority of gains as leading issues advanced. Fenimore added pennies in a turnover of 51,000 shares and Labrador and East Sullivan also advanced. Noranda dropped more than $1 and Silver Miller also slipped.

Western oils advances ranged up to 75 cents as Bailey Selburn, Canada Southern, Gridoil, peace River and West Home gained. Home Oil was one of the few losses in the list.

diers who have been fighting continuously more than four days.

A front line officer said it was so dark on the crest that the Republic of Korea troops had to grope their way forward to close with the Reds.

RULE FOR FIGHTING

He said the South Koreans had one simple rule for fighting in the dark: if they felt a shaved head in the hand-to-hand fighting they knew it must belong to a Chinese. That was all the identification they wanted.

The officer said the only sounds from the hilltop were "the screams when someone is knifed and the moans of the wounded." Because of the darkness, the big guns of both sides were silent.

The South Koreans launched their attack from a line about 100 yards below the crest at 8:30 p.m. They apparently ran head-on into the Chinese, who were pushing their way slowly forward.

The ROKS stormed back to the [illegible] Chinese drove them from the top to the base of the hill mass.

The Chinese surged forward in a human sea attack. The officer said they "stormed the north slope with bayonets, fists, grenades and dirty words."

CLAWED BACK TO CREST

The ROKS regrouped and moved back up the southern slop behind the protective curtain of a roaring Allied artillery barrage. About 100 yards from the top they established a defence line at 7:30 p.m. One hour later they clawed back to the crest.

The Red attack a few hours earlier had come as no surprise.

By front-line estimate, the Chinese have lost 8,000 casualties in trying to save face on the strategic height. The fighting has raged for 95 hours with hardly a break. Not since Heartbreak Ridge a year ago has a hill cost so much blood.

OVERSHADOWS ACTION

The action on White Horse far overshadowed fighting elsewhere. Sharp but minor fights were reported along the far western front, northwest of Yonchon and in the east.

The Eighth Army reported Red casualties for the first week of October were 4,786 killed, 2,692 wounded and 50 prisoners — a total of 7,528, the heaviest since last November.

The figure does not include the havoc spread by Allied planes and artillery. Nor does it include the heavy Red casualties of the last three days.

PLANES POUND ENEMY

U. N. fighter-bombers roared in behind the lines today and pounded Red troop concentrations.

Fifteen superforts blasted four Communist supply centres in North Korea last night — three of them in the vicinity of the Korean Red capital, Pyongyang.

Since the fighting on White Horse started Monday night, the scarred peak has changed hands almost 20 times — not even officers on the spot are sure how many.

Sure Of Return Chiang Says

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Gen. Chiang Kai shek expressed confidence on this 41st anniversary of the founding of the Chinese republic that eventual recovery of the lost China mainland is not just an [illegible] Japanese diplomats, and U.S. military advisers joined in praise of a strengthened Nationalist China.

Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, head of the U.S. military assistance advisory group, told a rally that Formosa is "a shining beacon of hope upon which the eyes of the oppressed of all Asia are fixed expectantly."

U.S. Minister Karl L. Rankin declared: "There is no question now that Formosa is secure, and that the Chinese armed forces, with the assistance of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, can successfully defend it."

A parade of three crack, goose-stepping divisions "tremendously impressed" Col. William W. Jenna, chief of staff of the U. S. military group.

In the Philippines, flag-raising ceremonies and anti-Communist rallies marked the opening of an unofficial three-day holiday by 225,000 Chinese.

Young Canadian Dies From Beating

NEW YORK (CP) — The death in hospital of Albert Partridge of Barrie, Ont., has revived investigation into the mysterious beating of the young Canadian in his Y. M. C. A. room last winter.

Partridge, under treatment in Bellevue hospital since last March 10 when he was found unconscious and severely beaten in a room in William Sloane House, died yesterday, apparently of his injuries.

Bellevue's medical examiner however, declined to discuss details of the case before the arrival here of members of Partridge's family.

6-Year Sentence Imposed On Carl Bell

WELLAND (CP) — A six-year penitentiary sentence was imposed on Carl. A. Bell, 17, of Niagara Falls, today by Justice J.L. McLennan. Bell was convicted of manslaughter Sept. 25.

He was charged with murder after his stepmother, Dorothy Bell, 32, was found lying on a neighbor's doorstep with a kitchen knife sticking from her back Aug. 28. She died shortly after. The jury hearing the case found Bell guilty of manslaughter.

Bell took his sentence calmly and showed no signs of emotion.

In giving the six-year term, Justice McLennan said he was considering the age of the prisoner as well as his home environment. "You have had a fair trial and everything that could be said for you has been said," Justice McLennan stated.

NOT PROPER PUNISHMENT

"I have given very serious consideration to the possibility of giving you a reformatory sentence but concluded this would not be the proper punishment," he said.

Defence Attorney Bruce Harris of Niagara Falls, had asked for a reformatory sentence and said he thought it would be harmful to put Bell in a penitentiary where he could be influenced by hardened criminals.

Crown counsel T.F. Forestell, Q.C., stated he did not think a reformatory sentence would be adequate punishment.

a losing battle: there was no indication of a pulse or heart beat.

The two grief-stricken parents, watching vainly for any spark of life in their infant daughter, were later joined by the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs George Groombridge. She was the Landry's only child.

After 45 minutes of unsuccessful treatment they alerted Civic Hospital and took Joanne there in Mr. Groombridge's car. The firemen continued to work on her with the resuscitator as the car sped to hospital.

PRONOUNCED DEAD

At 6:30 p.m.—nearly two and a half hours after she fell into the [illegible] more than 10 minutes," said Mrs. Doreen Landry. "I looked out the window after Joanne had been playing about outside for five minutes. She was gone and I was worried so I told Doug."

Mr. Landry said he mounted his bicycle and pedalled the short distance toward Jackson's Creek.

"I saw her, about five feet from shore submerged in the pool," he said. "I waded in and got her out . . . She couldn't have been in more than five minutes."

"Oh why couldn't that pool have been drained," said Mrs. Landry. "If it had been, as in other years . . . this wouldn't have happened."

Perhaps the cruellest twist to the Landrys is that young Joanne had always been carfully watched when she was playing. When outside she was not permitted to run loose.

But Thursday afternoon — for the first time in their knowledge—Joanne had a few unguarded moments to herself and she slipped away to her death.

She leaves her parents, Douglas Landry and the former Doreen May Groombridge, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Groombridge and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Landry, all of Peterborough.

Mr. Landry, her father, is a commercial artist.

The body will rest at the Comstock funeral home and the funeral will be at 3 p.m. Saturday at St. John's Anglican Church, Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiating.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The American dollar was at a discount of 2 15-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, EST. Thursday's noon rate was 96 21-32 cents. The pound sterling was $2.70 9-16, up 1 3-16 from Thursday.

Pull Dazed Man Out Of Train's Way

TORONTO (CP) — A police officer early today pulled William Dicks, 32, of suburban Long Branch from his automobile seconds before a freight train smashed into the vehicle.

Dicks was semi-conscious when Constable John Loader reached him. The officer raced to the man's car after he saw it plunge through a guard-rail, over a 40-foot embankment and come to rest on Canadian National Railway tracks in westend Sunnyside.

Dick was convicted in court today of driving while his licence was suspended and fined $100. He also was fined $25 for careless driving.

payable to members of the Canadian armed forces irrespective of nationality and to civilians provided that they were Canadians when interned and are Canadians at the present time.

PAYMENT THIS MONTH

"Payment to former members of the armed forces will commence not later than Oct. 15. Payments to civilians will be made as soon as they have established the necessary facts, particularly with reference to their nationality and the duration of internment."

United States citizens in similar positions have received payment of $1 a day. Britons will get about three cents — or an average of about $60.

The decision arises from the report of an advisory commission on war claims tabled in the Commons June 18. The commission was headed by Rt. Hon. J.L. Ilsley, chief justice of Nova Scotia and former federal cabinet minister.

Mr. St. Laurent said the Ilsley recommendations have been accepted with a few modifications.

He said the government accepts the proposal that another commission be named to investigate and recommend on payment of awards of other Canadians who have presented war claims.

"Appointment of a chief commissioner to carry out this complicated and onerous task will be made at an early date."

Never Went To Church

LONDON (CP)—Rev. Cyril Brundritt of St. Augustine's Church, Bermondsey, refused to read burial services for a woman whom he said had not been to the church once in his eight years as vicar. "If people like to support such hypocrisy and receive false com[illegible]thm go," he said.

Fine 'Fish Hogs' Total Of $850, Lecture Given

POWASSAN — Four Southern Ontario men, labelled "fish hogs" by Crown Attorney Burbridge, were fined a total of $850 for having in their possession 12? lake trout. The legal limit was 40 fish.

George Laver, Cooksville, Dr. William Stubbs and Dr. James Thomas Caledon and Lockwood Stubbs of Alton all paid $200 and costs each. Laver was fined an additional $50 for not performing his duty as honorary game warden.

"These men are fish hogs who have flagrantly violated the law," the Crown Attorney said. "We can't consider these men sportsmen."

Magistrate F. C. Powell, who heard the cases against eight men at Parry Sound, Sept. 26, said the sentences were designed to be a deterrant rather than a penalty.

"We are dealing with men who are not playing the game," he said.

Mr. Burbidge revealed that the Attorney - General's department plans to appeal some of the charges dismissed by the magistrate against the other four men. Thirty-three violations of the Game and Fisheries Act were originally charged.

Head-On Crash Kills Six Men

WARREN, Man. (CP)—Six men were killed and three persons injured last night in a head-on collision between two cars north of here. Warren is 25 miles northwest of Winnipeg.

All but one were firemen, believed on a hunting trip.

The victims were identified as Alfred Vincent of Stony Mountain, Man.; his son, Edward; James Henderson, Argyle, Man.; David Gall, Winnipeg; J.H.G. Ross, Winnipeg, and John Millar, retired Winnipeg deputy fire chief.

Injured were Robert Vincent, a brother of Alfred; his four-year-old son, Robert Jr., and Elmer Ashworth of Elm Grove, Man.

Jury Suggests Room For Observation

TORONTO (CP) — A coroner's jury last night recommended the setting up of an observation room for persons under the influence of drink and showing signs of injury.

The recommendation was made when the jury returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest on Francis Kelly, 63, of Toronto.

Kelly died Sept. 13 in a Toronto hospital from a lacerated brain and intra-cranial haemorrhage caused by a fractured skull when he fell on a sidewalk in an intoxicated condition. Police took the injured man into custody Sept. 10 and had him treated in hospital where his condition was diagnosed as intoxication with head wounds.

He was discharged from hospital, placed in the cells and later transferred to the city jail. He failed to respond to questioning and was sent back to hospital.

Two prominent Toronto doctors pleaded for more help in diagnosing such cases with the maximum information on how the injured person met with the accident and a central observation room.

Canada-Sponsored Demand For Autonomy Refused

CINCINNATI (CP)—A Canadian-sponsored demand for more district autonomy in the United Mine Workers was rejected last night at the union's convention.

U. M. W. President John L. Lewis led the opposition to a suggestion that district officers be elected rather than appointed by Lewis.

The demand was contained in a resolution from Local 7292 of Natal, B.C., in Canada's U. M. W. District 18.

It asked the convention to go on record in favor of the officers of District 18 taking a referendum ballot of the entire membership on district autonomy.

MATATER OF PRINCIPLE

Simeon Weaver, financial secretary of the local and one of the signers of the resolution, argued in favor of it. He said that even though it was very likely the members would elect the same officers they have now, it was a "matter of democratic principle."

Only about two dozen delegates out of the nearly 3,000 present stood to be counted in favoring the resolution. Included were some delegates from Pennsylvania and Kentucky as well as the Canadians.

"Sure we're all for democracy," Lewis said in a speech that ended the matter. "Not to the point, however, of cutting our own throats."

"You're doing all right, aren't you?" Lewis asked the delegates. They roared their approval and then voted to retain the present system of filling union jobs.

Organized Health Unit Joins Research Board

COBOURG —(ENS) —The nature of Dr. C. W. MacCharles' duties with the Defence Research Board was outlined by the Board yesterday. Dr. MacCharles, who organized the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit here in 1945 resigned recently to take up his new post.

He joins the Defence Research Board as a scientific staff officer for medical research, according to the announcement from Ottawa. He will assume general responsibility for headquarters' activity on medical reasearch and the coordination of the Board's medical program. His duties will also include assistance in the determination of the services' medical research requirements and medical research liaison with the United Kingdom and the United States.

Titanium Future Discussed By Engineers

Titanium, a temperamental metal that has great promise for structural uses, was the subject of a symposium Thursday night at a meeting of the Peterborough chapter of the Engineering Institute.

Four speakers discussed its properties, its present and possible uses, and the techniques of mining and refining it.

Present cost of titanium is $5 a pound in a somewhat impure ferm, $20 a pound in the form of sheets, rods, ingots, etc. Within the next decade, James King said, the cost is expected to drop to $1 a pound, if a new refining process—not yet known—is discovered.

At Sorel, Que., a metals plant processes a titanium iron oxide to get iron and slag containing titanium oxide. The slag is powdered and shipped to a U.S. plant for purification of the titanium oxide.

Once this preliminary refining is complete, titanium becomes a problem. Ingots are poured in closed molds because of the metal's tendency to unite with oxygen and nitrogen from the air.

Welding that would reach temperatures of more than 1,200 degrees must be done under inert gases such as helium, again because of the tendency to titanium to mix with gases from the air.

Present uses of the metal are mainly confined to aircraft and military fields, where titanium is useful in heats of from 300 to 800 degrees Centigrade. Jet engines have internal blades and other parts made of it.

Titanium is the fourth most abundant metal in the world, and was first discovered in 1912. It is only less common than iron, magnesium and aluminum.

Speakers were Mr. King, W. Wright, C. A. Finnamore, and S. Jennings.

Bullet-Riddled Plane Lands At 225 M.P.H.

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A United States pilot flew a burning, bullet-riddled, F-84 Thunderjet back from enemy territory last night, crash-landed at 225 miles an hour — and climbed safely out of the wreckage.

Maj. Eugene P. Sonneberg of Chicago was on his 93rd mission, an attack on highways near Wonsan, on North Korea's east coast.

"My dive brakes wouldn't work and as I came in for the landing I was doing 225 miles per hour," he said.

"The landing wasn't too tough and I had scarcely skidded to a stop when the crash crew was helping me out of the cockpit."

Set November 16 Election Date

ATHENS (AP) — King Paul today set Nov. 16 as the date for Greece's new general parliamentary elections. The monarch also entrusted Attorney-General Dmitrios Kioussopoulos with the formation of a caretaker government to serve until a new cabinet is formed after the voting.

The new royal decree put the final seal of approval on the King's order Oct. 7 dissolving Parliament and accepting the resignation of the coalition government of Liberals and National Progressives headed by Premier Nicholas Plastiras.

The King's move was made in an effort to get a majority government to aid the nation's grave economic situation. It followed several weeks' of unsuccessful attempts to persuade Field Marshal Alexander Papagos, leader of the strong right-wing Greek Rally, to join in a national government.

Want Strong Security Program Candidates Differ On Best Methods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Governor Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today were in apparent agreement that a strong United States security program could halt Russian aggression, but they disagreed sharply on whether [illegible] doing the job [illegible] identical candidate, contended it was. Eisenhower, his Republican opponent, said a stronger program is needed.

President Truman said in Buffalo last night a phony campaign against Communists is being waged by Republican "hotheads" — and some Democrats — just to win votes. He said these tactics could lead to tearing the nation apart.

Stevenson said in Oklahoma City today that Russia may abandon its aggressive policies because American-sponsored collective security has "worked so well."

GUARD AGAINST TRICKERY

But he cautioned that the U.S. must continually be on guard against any Soviet trickery. He said he didn't see any likelihood of immediate changes in the world situation, but he did see a chance of "long-run improvement" provided the present course is followed. He said that even the chance he now sees for long-run gains toward peace "might all be sadly altered if the Republicans win in November and proceed to do what they say they will do."

Stevenson said Eisenhower will follow the lead of Senator Robert Taft and the old guard who, he said, "have fought our bi-partisan foreign policy right along."

In Los Angeles last night, Eisenhower spoke of a bigger and better social welfare program, better medical care, and a stronger national security program.

He promised — if elected — that the Republicans would promote a program of social welfare which would bring increased security beyond anything yet achieved under the Democrats.

Eisenhower said he was against a health plan "supervised under a Washington stethoscope." He said an expansion of the voluntary non-profit health insurance program, possibly aided by federal loans "or other aid to local health plans," should be explored.

MUST DEVELOP STRENGTH

On the point of national security, he said the U. S. must develop a program and position of strength "which will persuade the Kremlin that further military aggression anywhere is senseless." He emphasized he didn't think the present program was strong enough by saying that not until a new program is worked up will "Communism live at home and leave the rest of the world alone."

President Truman, whistle-stopping through New York state launched an assault on the Republicans' civil-rights program.

He said hurling false charges of Communism in an effort to win votes can split the country and can lead to similar attacks on Roman Catholics, Jews, people with foreign names or any other minority.

Upholding the anti-discrimination sections of the constitution, he said in Buffalo last night, "is one part of the job of being President that you better not turn over to a professional military general."

The End Of The United States

No man in the western world can be presumed to be a better-informed guesser about Russian intentions than Britain's Foreign Secretary. When he says—as he did yesterday at the British Conservative Party's annual conference—that "it is now possible to detect a certain shift of emphasis in Communist propaganda," it is reasonable to believe that there has been a shift, and not merely that Mr. Eden was talking for domestic political consumption. The Communists, he said, "are now relying on their old belief that the capitalist world will tear itself apart." A corollary of this belief would be that Russia does not need to try to tear the capitalist world apart; and that therefore the danger of Russia's making war is not great now.

* * *

The Communist Party is holding a full congress in Moscow, attended by British, American and Canadian delegates, and it was there that the Soviet Deputy Premier Nikolai Bulganin said—a few hours before Mr. Eden spoke in England—that if "American aggressors" raise a new world war, it will be the end of the United States as a fighting power. Perhaps that is what the Communists mean by their belief that the capitalist world will tear itself apart. All this contains some comfort. If Russia is not going to make war, we can see little chance that the United States will make it. Therefore we shall live at least in a state of suspended war or taut peace, which, considering the condition of international affairs today, is not a state to be unthankful for.

* * *

[illegible] a third world war [illegible] the United States might possibly be so exhausted by it as forever to lose her potency—but so would Russia be exhausted. That is something the Soviet Deputy Premier did not mention, but must realize. Therefore Russia's basic interest in keeping out of war is at least as great as that of the United States—even more so, considering present Western strength and the American supply of atomic bombs. Mr. Eden properly coupled this Western item with his hopeful detection of a shift in Communist propaganda: "We are now within measurable distance of having the means to prevent any attack on the west." It seems that peace through strength may be achieved.

Should Polygamy Be Permitted?

According to last year's census Canada had 7,088,873 males and 6,290,556 females. Thus this country continues to have more males than females, as she has had since the first white men came, although the proportion between the sexes has been coming closer. But in other countries, especially European countries decimated by two world wars, women outnumber men. This is the situation in France, in Britain and in Germany, where a heavy toll on the male population was taken by the wars. In Western Germany today, there are three million more women than men. As a consequence, polygamy is being openly advocated in Germany.

The modern German girl is no longer the fraulein of her grandmother's day. The transformation of the formerly rigid moral code of the Germans began after the Great War of 1914-1918. Defeat, revolution and inflation contributed to the breakdown of the strict tradition, but equally influential in creating a new social pattern was the influ[illegible] middle-class [illegible] fled from the Red Revolution and paraded before the fascinated German male with an undreamed elegance.

Leo Lania, writing in the current issue of United Nations World says that "Ladies of the upper middle class—the new society in the new German republic—took one rapt look at the elegance and self-assurance of their Russian sisters, and underwent an amazing metamorphosis overnight. They cut off their braids, shed bosoms and hips, abjured their beloved Kartoffelpuffer (potato pancake) and exchanged kitchen and nursery for bar and tea-room."

Polygamy in Germany? This is a rather startling notion in a country whose women have formerly been noted for their rigid moral code. Yet polygamy is being advocated for precisely that reason; that it would be more moral than the promiscuity which now is practised. Advocates of polygamy (chiefly women, let it be noted) have of course also the basic purpose of family life in mind. The birth rate in Western Germany is satisfactory, but the number of women legally entitled to bear children is more limited (because of the lack of husbands) than German patriots like to see. A very good argument could be made out for instituting polygamy—legally authorizing men to have more than one wife at a time—in Britain, France and Germany; and the argument would be based on the need for more babies, more women having the satisfaction of living as wives, and on the moral issue to restore conventional sexual morality. This last issue would be particularly pertinent in Germany today.

After the Great War French moral codes veered even more disturbingly than German, but after the recent war, Germany has breathed the air of amorality, while the French have padlocked brothels. There has been, Mr. Lania concludes, "a complete reversal of both French and German amatory mores, and an objective warning against easy generalization about nations."

In his article, entitled "Widows of the Lost Generation," the writer says:

> This scarcity of eligible men has been the most decisive single factor in changing woman's status and character in postwar Germany. It has made itself felt not only in the big cities, but in every hamlet and town, in all social strata of the population. Thus, we find for the first time in modern history polygamy openly advocated not by the variety-seeking male, but by the constant female. The demand for at least two women to share a man legally is being raised not by decadent highbrows and bohemians, but by respectable widows and spinsters of the most conservative middle class. They have found their leader in a middle-aged widow, plain and homely as possible, who would be righteously indignant were anyone to ascribe to her crusade an ybut the highest motives.
> In the meantime, millions of girls and women have decided not to wait for the outcome of this "share-a-man" plan—they are putting it into practical application.

The lack of balance between male and female sections of the western European population may not call for as drastic a remedy as polygamy. As generalizations about nations may be easy and wrong, so generalizations about a generation may lead to incorrect assessments and hasty remedies. Few highly civilized nations have encouraged polygamy, and most have abandoned it as they flowered. France, also short of males, is launching a campaign of praise for motherhod and matrimony, encouraging women to enter politics, and the birth rate is steadily rising. The path to virtue and a populous state may be regained by Germany through more conventional means than polygamy. [illegible] to the husban[illegible] wife to clothe, feed and house, and to the State which, officially encouraging plural wives, would surely have to subsidize the husbands. Yet it still can be said that polygamy would be attended by certain conveniences and benefits to German men and women, and certain benefits to the German nation.

Blithe Toronto Subway Builders

Toronto badly needs the subway which is now being built. Torontonians will be happy when it is opened. We wonder if they will be as happy about the financial side of the subway. The Toronto Transportation Commission has long been a paying proposition, and no liability on the community. Will the subway pay its way?

The nearest example Torontonians have is the New York subway system. That system, despite all the money the city pours into public services, will have a deficit of $32,670,000 for the fiscal year ending next June, and an estimated deficit of $36,070,000 for the year 1953-54. New York authorities have suggested that the subway fare be raised to 12½ cents, and that special assessments be made, part on non-residential realty, part on the basis of borough population, to get enough money to meet the annual and increasing deficits.

When the Toronto subway is opened it will be a red-letter day. Is the colour prophetically ominous? We believe that the financial side of the Toronto subway has been carefully constructed, and expect moreover, that Toronto's subway system will be as efficiently managed and operated as the surface transport system of the T.T.C. Moreover, as we see the subway shaping now, and look at the plans of stations and carriages, we are confident that Toronto's underground [illegible] the London underground. New York's system may be the nearest example Toronto has, but it is the worst, from every point of view. Not even a wandering minstrel showman can keep his poise, cleanliness and sanity in the New York undergrounds.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Liberals kept two seats in the recent Montreal by-elections. They weren't hot ones.

We read the other day about a man who was frightened to death by a ghost. There's something seriously wrong with the reflexes of a man who stays near a ghost long enough to be frightened to death.

Every word spoken in the House of Commons will be audible through the public address system, the Ottawa Journal says, commenting that there must be some that would never be missed. Yes, but how titillating it will be to hear the words that should never have been said.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

LET NO ONE THINK that fifty years ago Peterborough was a backwoods place without amenities, culture and style. The large homes that then existed (many now converted into apartments or abandoned as is the old Hamilton house on the River Road across from the golf course) provided comfort and elegance and entertained in style. The town municipally also knew how to comport itself graciously. In the files of the Public Library I came upon the menu card of a complimentary banquet tendered the Honourable Israel Tarte in 1898, and I am very sure no person in Peterborough will dine as lavishly this Thanksgiving as did hundreds of citizens that September evening in 1898 at the Oriental Hotel.

BEFORE I cite the menu I should explain the occasion. The Hon. J. Israel Tarte, a French-Canadian, was then Minister of Public Works in the Laurier Cabinet. He was visiting Peterborough to open the Fair—called the "Central Exhibition". The date was September 30th, 1898.

A year later Mr. Tarte would not have been wined and dined as well; it is doubtful if he would even have been invited; his name was being booed. By that time the Boer War had started, and Ontario was hot for sending a contingent to South Africa. Prime Minister Laurier had at last to accede to the demand popular in all parts of the country except Quebec. But Mr. Tarte, along with Henri Bourassa, the firebrand nationalist, opposed sending Canadian soldiers, although on different grounds. Bourassa, calling it imperialist domination, resigned his seat in Parliament over the issue. Tarte said that the troops should not have been sent without parliamentary sanction—but he kept his portfolio as Minister of Works.

In Ontario in 1898 Tarte was branded as a fellow as traitorous and bad as the Boers. Tarte was always a bold, rash and confident politician, tempering his attitudes only with the wind of political opportunism. (Laurier dismissed him from the Cabinet in 1902 when Tarte espoused a protectionist policy, in order, he thought, to curry favour with the public and force Laurier's hand or downfall.)

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW TO dinner, held when Tarte was still popular in Ontario. The setting was the Oriental Hotel (on the south side of Hunter Street west of George, the building now occupied by the Percival furniture store.) The menu preserved at the library is a folder, which someone (probably a person at the dinner) has bound with decorative cloth. Each course named is followed by an apt quotation from a standard or classical author. (These are given in small type.) And here is the men[illegible] citizens [illegible] Tarte, and gathe[illegible]

WHAT A NOBLE DINNER, indeed fit for a Queen. And this was a dinner a town of 10,854 people was able to offer, and moreover, knew how to offer well. What does Peterborough gracelessly provide today when it gives a civic dinner? Soup or tomato juice, beef or chicken and two vegs, a wilted tiny salad on the side, and pie and ice cream. Toasts are drunk in water. The toast list on that 1898 evening was: The Queen, The Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governors, Our Guest, The Senate, the House of Commons and the Legislative Assembly, Trade and Commerce, Our Manufacturing, Mercantile and Agricultural Interests, (the literary quotation under this was: "Blessed be agriculture: if one does not have too much of it". —C. D. Warner 'Summer in a Garden'), Our Financial Foundation—The Banking Interests. ("For they say, if money go before, all ways do lie open"—Shakespeare), and, be it noted, the last toast was to the Press.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE RECORD: In view of the menu above, we might mention that game was more easily got then than now, and that milk was not 21 cents a quart nor a bundle of nine carrots fifteen cents. Those were the days when A. H. Stratton was advertising a good 25-cent lady's purse for 18 cents, the Golden Lion (Robert Fair) was selling tapestry stair carpet at 25-36 cents a square yard, and H. Le Brun men's ties, newest colours and designs, at five cents each. Richard Hall advertised (September 1898) having fifty dozen ladies' black All Wool Cashmere Ribbed Stockings, extra spliced heel and toe, at 25 cents each. Indeed it was the days when Children Cry For Castoria.

School For Selling Real Estate

(CALGARY HERALD)

WE MUST SAY we were of two minds when we heard that the Alberta Real Estate Association wanted to set up a course in real estate in co-operation with the University of Alberta.

As readers of these columns must know by now, we have never been what you might call highly enthusiastic about the modern diversification of courses at universities. Majoring in hairdressing and real estate have never seemed to us to be exactly the type of courses for the enquiring young mind at a university.

However, we are prepared to admit that a school for real estate salesmen does deserve a place in our highly specialized society. The course, which has been proposed by the Alberta real estate men, would consist of 14 weeks of instruction on salesmanship, legal aspects and presumably [illegible]

The purpose of such a course would be to raise the standards of real estate selling and to provide the public with better service. As the Alberta real estate man would be the first to admit, there are often people who get into the business who are not qualified for the job or who are not too scrupulous about the way they do business. Providing a course in real estate is an admirable way of enhancing the reputation of the business and weeding out undesirables.

At the same time, we were not too happy about the association's decision to approach the provincial government legislation to make it obligatory for prospective real estate salesmen to pass an examination before a licence to sell is granted. This sounds to us a little too much like the closed shop in real estate and we are unalterably opposed to the closed shop, whether in real estate, or medicine [illegible]

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ. And these things write we unto you, that your joy may be full.

This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all. (I John 1:3-5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Hear me when I call, O God of my righteousness; thou hast enlarged me when I was in distress; have mercy upon me, and hear my prayer. . . . There may be many that say, Who will shew us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us. (Ps. 4:1, 6.)

✧ ✧ ✧

In thee, O Lord, do I put my trust; let me never be ashamed: deliver me in thy righteousness. . . . Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am in trouble. . . . For my life is spent with grief, and my years with sighing: my strength faileth because of mine iniquity, and my bones are consumed. . . . Make thy face to shine upon thy servant: save me for thy mercies' sake. . . .

Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee, which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men! (Ps. 31:1, 9, 10, 16, 19.)

Letter To The Editor

HORSE WHERE IT BELONGS

Sir: The other day the papers showed pictures of western wheat lying in huge heaps outside the grain elevators explaining that they were already filled to capacity. I would like to ask how much longer is this "modern age" going to put the cart before the horse like in so many things that are cropping up day by day.

For a few examples: Policing the forests and letting them burn instead of spending the money to cut them down and build elevators! Granting subsidies instead of fostering lively trade and quick turnovers!

Granting lawyers a good slice of someone's property values instead of giving the owner the best part of his demands or compensation!

Building 1½ million dollar reform schools instead of spending money to provide jobs or suitable time-filling enterprises for the youths expected to be inmates of said school!

Fining law breakers in some categories and putting the money in the city's coffers instead of compensating the victimized of his losses!

There are hosts of other examples but the thing is to try and get the horse back to where he belongs, in front instead of behind the cart.

Yours truly,
"PROGRESS."

Extended Holiday

(St. John's Evening Telegram)

Once upon a time three or four steamships would be plying between St. John's, Halifax, Boston and New York, all with accommodation for scores of passengers. Now, the position is reversed and accommodation on a ship between here and mainland and United States ports is at a premium. In fact it is practically non-existent.

Looking ahead to the time when our tourist traffic increases we must consider transportation to and from the province. It would indeed be very unfortunate if visitors with a limited time at their disposal were stranded in St. John's, or some other part of the island because we did not have the transportation facilities to get them back home.

He graduated in 1880, later joining the North West Mounted Police, serving as commissioner 1900-1922. In background is Rev. Major S. W. Williams, also a former cadet, who conducted the service.

Warsaw Pupils Compete In Fair

WARSAF (ENS) —The pupils of Warsaw Public School, S.S. 3, Dummer, held their school fair on Wednesday afternoon.

The children brought their entries during the morning and early afternoon. These were animals, or vegetables for which they had cared or something they had made. There was a doll and doll carriage parade, especially for the junior children.

Livestock, poultry, dolls and doll carriages were judged outside in the school yard. Tables were set up in the craft room for the other entries, where they were judged.

The judges were: livestock — Hilliard Darling, Clarence Watts, Gordon Payne.

Kittens—Hilliard Darling, Mrs. Trevor Watts.

Poultry —Hilliard Darling, Archie McMillan.

Cooking — Mrs. Sherwood Payne, Mrs. Milton Drain.

Vegetables — Mrs. Charles Payne, Mrs. Stan Payne.

Knitting —Mrs. Howard Parcels, Mrs. Sherman Payne.

Woodworking —Mr. Jim Robertson.

BRAVERY AWARDS — Two members of the Royal Canadian Regiment received immediate awards for outstanding courage and bravery during a daylight patrol action on a Chinese Communist-held ridge in Korea. The patrol captured the first Communist prisoner in several months. Lieut. H. R. Gardner (left), of Arnprior, was awarded the Military Cross. Cpl. Karl E. Fowler, of Kingston—sporting a luxuriant moustache — was awarded the Military Medal.

Plastic Valve Used In Heart

WASHINGTON (AP)—Successful placement of a plastic heart valve in a human patient—the first operation of its kind in medical history—was disclosed yesterday.

The valve, consisting of a small plastic ball in a chambered tube, is reported working perfectly in preventing a backflow of blood into the heart, a condition which had constantly threatened failure of the patient's heart.

The Washington Post says the operation was performed three weeks ago at Georgetown University hospital. The patient was identified only as a 30-year-old housewife, whose own heart valve had been perilously damaged by the effects of rheumatic heart disease.

Last Sunday, the Post said, the women left the hospital for her home "hale and happy."

Canada Becoming Major Factor In World

NEW YORK (CP)—Life magazine in its current issue says Canada's "industrial revolution" is rearranging the balance of the world.

The magazine, which runs a 13-page color-picture essay on Canada, says:

"Because prosperity has made her the only N.A.T.O. nation except the U.S. able to pay her own way and help others as well, Canada is becoming not only a major economic power in the western world but a major political factor as well."

Fellowships For 15 Doctors

TORONTO (CP)—Travelling and research fellowships for 15 Canadian doctors have been announced by the R. Samuel McLaughlin Foundation. Twelve of the 1952-53 awards are travelling fellowships, six for a year's study in Europe and six for a similar period in United States medical centres.

The three research awards are for work to be done in Canada and are intended to encourage clinical investigation by junior members of the staffs and particularly by former travelling award winners.

The Foundation was endowed last year by R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa industrialist. Its aim is to improve treatment of the sick in Canada by providing the best possible post-graduate training for the young physicians and surgeons who have been chosen by Canadian medical schools and teaching hospitals for staff appointments.

[illegible] is due to go into production next year. Private companies are reported unofficially to be hard at work on other properties.

Receiving research fellowships: Drs. S.L. Vandewater of Toronto and C.G. Drake and R.E. Greenway of London.

[illegible] schools up to date on new and important work being done in Europe and the United States.

Receiving travelling scholarships were: Drs. W. H. Allemang, C.B. Baker, R.M. Bremner, W.A.Brown, A.W. Conn, J.H. Crookston, W.R. Harris, E.B. Hendrick, W.K. Lindsay, F.R. Yendt, all of Toronto and Earl R. Plunkett and M.P. Wearing of London.

500 Properties Have Radioactive Substances

OTTAWA (CP)—The Mines Department reported yesterday more than 500 properties containing radioactive substances have been discovered in Canada—half in Ontario—but warned people not to get too excited.

The report, "Canadian Deposits of Uranium and Thorium," stresses that it is a common yardstick in all mining that less than one per cent of such mineral discoveries end up by being producing mines.

So far the government has one mine producing uranium in Can[illegible] for use[illegible]

Child Drowned

NEW LISKEARD (CP) — Lois Anne Woods, 2, was drowned near her home yesterday when she tried to fill a pail of water from a puddle.

New Civil Defence Firefighting Truck

OTTAWA (CP)—A new civil defence fire-fighting truck, the first to be designed and constructed to Canadian specifications, was tested and turned over yesterday to Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defence co-ordinator.

The keys were presented by John Panks, representative of Rootes Group Motors of Great Britain, builders of the truck.

The truck carries a crew of six in a heated cab and is equipped with a 400-gallon tank and various lengths of different-sized hoses. It can maintain three streams of water at 120 pounds a square inch pressure at the rate of 700 gallons a minute.

It can draw water from any source.

Jet Sabre Fighters

OTTAWA (CP)—The [illegible] Sabre jet fighters taking part in a mass Atlantic crossing now have reached Prestwick, Scotland, air force headquarters said yesterday.

The three-squadron wing will take off shortly from Prestwick for the final hop of their trip to Gros Tenquin, near Metz, France, where they will be stationed as part of Canada's air defence contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty forces.

Killed By Truck

OTTAWA (CP) — Two-year-old Anne Marie Bourbonnais was killed yesterday, at her farm home at Edwards, 12 miles southeast of here, when she walked under the wheels of a gasoline truck leaving the farm yard.

Charged In Baby's Death

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—David Ruben Andrist, 20, was arrested last night and charged with the murder of his three-month-old son, Robert. Hospital authorities were told the baby had been injured in a fall from a bed.

ONTARIO DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS
GEO. H. DOUCETT · MINISTER

His Honour
The Honourable L. O. BREITHAUPT, LL.D.
Lieutenant Governor of Ontario
Officially Joins the Two Tunnels

From the draftsmen's sketches to the breakthrough today, each step in the great Niagara Development has been planned and directed by men who knew what should be done . . . how it should be done and why.

The planners, engineers and construction crews . . . the men at the pitheads, and below, tunneling through the rock, in all an army of almost 5,000 men . . . each knows where his immediate job fits into the larger plan. A plan that will once again harness the mighty Niagara to serve the people of Ontario . . . the largest power project in Hydro history, Sir Adam Beck-Niagara Generating Station No. 2.

The breakthrough from Shaft No. 4 to Shaft No. 5 is a major step towards the completion of this plan.

The 14th new power source in Hydro's current expansion program, this development incorporates two of the largest tunnels of their type in the world. They will divert one tenth of the flow of the Niagara River from a point near Chippawa, hundreds of feet beneath the city of Niagara Falls to emerge 5½ miles distant at the open-cut canal that will carry the water 2½ miles to the powerhouse at the foot of the Queenston escarpment, adjacent to its great sister development, Sir Adam Beck-Niagara Generating Station No. 1.

The first 5 units of this new station, scheduled for operation in 1954 have an installed capacity of 525,000 kilowatts (700,000 horsepower). The final 12 unit capacity, 900,000 kilowatts (1,200,000 horsepower) will be completed early in 1957.

Some of the senior "B" puck prospects trying out with the Petes the other night were: Harding, Byers, Batley, Gus Leonard, Montgomery, Dugan, Wade, Armstrong, Fryia, Crowley, Steele, West, Doug and Freddy Mortimer, Floyd, Collins, Greenlaw, Parker and Crawford of Lindsay, Fennell, Wyatt, Nicholls, Richlark, Legrow, Hill, Mason, Vitarelli and Rochetta. All weren't working, but they were on deck. Several were undecided about their winter plans, while on the other hand several expected out haven't made it yet. Some work nights, some were busy otherwise, and then there are possible ex-pros like Nip O'Hearn and Bob Thorpe.

* * * * * *

Quite a few railbirds on hand and remarking on the speedy trio of Gus Leonard, George Steele and Bill Crowley, the good blocking on defence of Dugan and Montgomery, and the work of this or that guy. A number of T.V.L. scouts present, too, looking over possible prospects for their teams after the Petes' lineup has been picked—which won't be for some time yet. Some talk as well of the Petes having a farm club in the Trent Loop this winter. Coach Jim Ellis isn't saying much yet, but one gets the impression that he's quite pleased with the quality and quantity of material he has to work with now that there's just one senior puck club here.

Lacing the Leather Lemon

Grid schedules grind along for the high schoolers and the O.R.F.U. squad up this way. Just three weeks left of October, their main football month in the autumn season. Belleville plays P.C.V.S. seniors at eight tonight in Riverside Park, a group game. Collegiate juniors go to Oshawa for group play on the morrow. St. Peter's are listed for action on Monday, the holiday, and that day sees Kingston Tanks tackling our Orfuns in Morrow Park, a league contest worth four points to the winner. Orfuns are really rolling now and worrying the Cobourg Ghosts plenty with their drive.

* * * * * *

Quite a bunch of senior lacrosse fans are going from here on the special train tonight to whoop it up for the Petes' Timbermen in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. Third game of the best-of-seven Mann Cup finals, and the Thorpe team leads Vancouver two games. But it might be different tonight as the B. C. champs crowded the locals right to the final gong in the second joust Tuesday ere bowing 8-7. Different from that first tilt when Timbermen rolled to an easy 9-1 win. With plenty of vocal support tonight, the Petes will be shooting to make it three in a row and get the series over ere it goes too long. Some of them are on the limp and they're all pretty tired after a long season and gruelling playoffs. P.M.L.A. players are going up tonight as guests of officials.

Baggataway by the Braves

Lacrosse in this borough is just 80 years old, having first been played here as field lacrosse away back in 1872. That's what the records say, but it could well be that the Indians roving the woods and plains where our city now stands played their version of baggataway—later called lacrosse by the French settlers—along the banks of the Otonabee. Who knows, indeed? The Indian game actually was a training exercise for the warlike braves, with as many as 500 sometimes engaged at one time in the sport. It is truly a Canadian sport, no other country trying to steal credit for originating the game of lacrosse. Box lacrosse is a comparative baby, first seeing the light of day in 1931.

* * * * * *

Basketball is just around the corner here, and soon balls will be bouncing off the backboards or swishing through the hoops at the Y.W., the Y.M., and the Collegiate and St. Peter's gyms. Latter school has a fine large gym just completed and it will relieve the congestion at P.C.V.S. in basketball traffic. Local leagues and teams will be re-organizing in the near future for a long winter's indoor season. Tonight is open night for the girls at the Y.W., lasses wanting to play in the Girls' City League. All those interested are asked to be on deck at eight bells to be introduced around, play a few friendly games and wind up with refreshments. More again and soon on the hoop sport in this area.

Dealing 'Em Off the Cuff

St. Peter's gridders have an exhibition tomorrow at T.C.S.... Oshawa sheet lists the O.R.F.U. group standing as Peterborough and Cobourg tied with 12 points each, Oshawa four, and Kingston none.... The Ghosts have agreed to stage a Sunday game with the Tanks in Kingston later in the schedule....Tanks tackle Orfuns here Monday ....Monday's Mann Cup playoff in Toronto will be an afternoon joust at 2.30, which should encourage more folks from here to attend.... Oshawa junior "A" Generals defeated Ed Shore's Springfield Indians 4-3 in a puck exhibition the other eve in the Motor City....Reg Truax, 15-year-old goalie from Lindsay, made quite a hit in the Indians' net and that boy should go places in hockey....Lakefield puckists meet at two p.m. Sunday in the town hall to choose an executive for their T.V.L. entry....Honey Tompkins will probably play for Norwood again this winter....Jim Ellis has arranged a hockey exhibition for here next Tuesday night between the Petes and Ed Shore's A.H.L. squad, the Syracuse Chiefs....That should prove an interesting pre-season dish; the Chiefs have been training in Lindsay ....Don't miss that lacrosse special this e'en for Toronto.

Black Hawks Astound Fans Downing Canadiens 3-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Norrises are in the lead in the National Hockey League. And the saddest guy around the circuit is New York Ranger coach Bill Cook. His 56th birthday anniversary, which coincided with the opening of the 1952-53 schedule, was spoiled into the bargain. Before a crowd of 11,039 at the Detroit Olympia, the Red Wings, owned by Jim Norris Sr., unceremoniously walked over the Rangers 5-3 last night and at Montreal, the Jim Norris Jr., Chicago Black Hawks astounded 14,186 Montreal faithful with a 3-2 decision over their beloved Canadiens.

So now it's one up and 69 games to go for the Red Wings who are seeking their fourth straight N.H.L. title. For the Hawks it is a good start in their campaign to climb out of the cellar with newly-appointed coach Sid Abel at the throttle.

Cook, who spent all his big-league playing days with the Rangers—from 1926 to 1936—and who took over the coaching job midway through last season, couldn't expect too much of a celebration. Chuck Rayner, his goalkeeper, was put with an injury and Lorne Worsley, of Saskatoon Quakers in the Western Hockey League, was flown in as a replacement.

INJURY-RIDDEN RANGERS

In addition, he was without Bones Raleigh, first-string centre—out with an injured wrist—and the nifty Edgar Laprade. Red Wings, with the big line of Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay flanking Roggie Sinclair, streaked to a 3-0 first-period lead and Cook's birthday plans were shattered right there.

Sinclair, obtained from Rangers in an off-season trade, was given an assist with defenceman Red Kelly on Lindsay's goal just 3:01 after the opening whistle. Alex Delvecchio notched the second at 7:24 and Howe, with Marty Pavelich getting an assist, made it 3-0 at 15:18.

Rangers tried hard, but could manage only one goal in the second period, by Jack Stoddard.

The clubs split four third period goals—by Pavelich and John Wilson for Red Wings and Wally Hergesheimer and Paul Ronty for Rangers.

It was a real shindig at Montreal with 14 minor penalties handed out, 10 in the second period. And it remained for a Toronto Maple Leaf cast-off, Cal Gardner, to come up with the winning counter.

Gardner, traded to the Hawks in a four-for-one off-season swap for goalkeeper Harry Lumley, scored twice. His first was potted in the second period after a scoreless first frame and the big one came with less than eight minutes remaining and the score deadlocked at 2-2.

BIG WEEKEND AHEAD

Floyd Curry matched Gardner's first goal at 15:39 of the middle session and big Butch Bouchard sent Canadiens ahead at 2:52 of the third on a pass from Dick Gamble. It appeared to be a 2-2 tie until the red-headed refugee from the Leafs sank his second past Gerry McNeil.

The league warms up at the week-end with five games on tap. Saturday night it is Detroit at Montreal and Chicago at Toronto and Sunday Canadiens travel to Boston, Toronto meets the Wings at Detroit and Rangers go to Chicago.

Give Walcott New Try At World Title

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Boxing Association said Thursday that Jersey Joe Walcott, who had an unprecedented five chances to win the world's heavyweight title, is entitled to another try.

Its quarterly ratings put the new champion, Rocky Marciano, at the top, of course. Right next is that old familiar name: Walcott.

The only others listed as logical contenders for Marciano's crown are Rex Layne and Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight king now attempting a comeback.

Marciano, who knocked Jersey Joe out last month, probably would agree Walcott might make his most dangerous opponent.

In the lightweight division, Arthur King of Toronto was listed as an outstanding boxer. He was the only Canadian included in the rankings.

The ratings:

Massachusetts.

Logical contenders: 1. Joe Walcott, New Jersey; 2. Rex Layne, Utah; 3. Ezzard Charles, Ohio.

LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT

Champion: Joey Maxim, Ohio.

Logical contenders: 1. Archie Moore, Missouri; 2. Harry Matthews, Washington.

MIDDLEWEIGHT

Champion: Ray Robinson, New York.

Logical contenders: 1. Randy Turpin, England; 2. Carl Bobo Olson, Hawaii; 3. Charles Humez, France.

WELTERWEIGHT

Champion: Kid Gavilan, Cuba.

Logical contenders: 1. Johnny Bratton, Illinois; 2. Bobby Dukes, Florida; 3. Chuck Davey, Michigan; 4. Billy Graham, New York; 5. Johnny Saxton, New York.

LIGHTWEIGHT

Champion: Lauro Salas, Mexico.

Logical contenders: 1. James Carter, New York; 2. Johnny Gonzales, California; 3. George Araujo, Rhode Island.

FEATHERWEIGHT

Champion: Sandy Saddler, New York.

Logical contenders: 1. Ray Famechon, France; 2. Percy Bassett, Pennsylvania; 3. Tommy Collins, Massachusetts; 4. Willie Pep, Connecticut.

BANTAMWEIGHT

Champion: Vic Toweel, South Africa.

Logical contenders: 1. Jimmy Carruthers, Australia; 2. Maurice Sandeyroon, France; 3. Andre Valignat, France.

FLYWEIGHT

Champion: Yoshio Shirai, Japan.

Logical contenders: 1. Dado Marino, Hawaii; 2. Tanny Compo, Philippines; 3. Jake Tuli, South Africa; 4. Black Pica, Cuba.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Lefty Marius Russo, a surprise starter, pitched and batted New York Yankees to a 2-1 victory over St. Louis Cadrinals to give the Yanks a 3-1 World Series lead nine years ago today. Russo held the Cards to seven hits, and at bat doubled, then scored the winning run on a long fly ball. Yankees won that series by four games to one.

Appetizing Weekend Menu Served For Football Fans

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Farmers and other citizens will offer thanks for a bountiful harvest this Thanksgiving week-end and you can wager that scores of football players, coaches and fans will add a hope for a juicy week-end. Let the stay-at-homes feast on turkey, thousands of others will settle for a seat on the 10-yard line.

Fourteen senior games are scheduled over the three days with home-and-home series in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial unions. Each of the four Ontario Rugby Football Union clubs will play doubleheaders and the rahrah Intercollegiate Union continues as usual with Saturday afternoon hoe-downs.

WEEK-END LINEUP

So, football fans, start chomping on this week-end football feast:

Saturday

W.I.F.U.: Regina at Winnipeg, Calgary at Edmonton.

Big Four: Montreal at Ottawa, Hamilton at Toronto

O.R.F.U.: Sarnia at Brantford, Balmy Beach at Windsor

Intercollegiate: Varsity at Western, Queen's at McGill.

Sunday

Big Four: Ottawa at Montreal

Monday

W.I.F.U.: Winnipeg at Regina, Edmonton at Calgary

Big Four: Toronto at Hamilton

O.R.F.U.: Sarnia at Balmy Beach, Brantford at Windsor.

Things are fairly settled in the Western Conference with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary Stampeders assured of places in the three-team playoffs. Saskatchewan Roughriders have slithered from their 1951 first-place pinnacle to the also-ran position and they'll finish out the schedule Oct. 18 strictly as lassen-

The Blue Bombers, with a two-point lead over the Eskimos, will be giving it the old college try. A first-place berth assures them of a bye into the finals while the second and third-place clubs battle in a two-game total-point home-and-home series starting Oct. 25.

SPOILERS ROLE

The Stampeders haven't a hope of latching onto the No. 1 spot, so from here in it is a fight between the Bombers and Eskimos before the schedule ends Oct. 18. The Roughriders conceivably could take on the role as spoilers in Saturday's game at Winnipeg and also at Edmonton the following Saturday.

In the East, Ottawa Rough Riders appear to have the inside track for some valuable ground gaining against the Alouettes who have yet to win a game in six. The Roughies could go places with a double victory while Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats engage in what is billed as the crucial games of the three-day holiday week-end.

Tiger-Cats and Argonauts are a trifle chummy—at least the officials are acting like love birds. They held a shindig at Hamilton Thursday and the chief guest was Argonaut coach Frank Clair who told the Tiger-Cat Quarterback Club that "our injury list will put our club at a definite disadvantage" in the week-end series and that "Tiger-Cats are at their peak now and won't make many mistakes offensively or defensively."

Clair was talking about injuries to three regulars—Rod Smylie, Freddie Black and George Arnett who missed last Saturday's game when Ottawa knocked over the Double Blues for a tingling 25-21 triumph. Half Ulysses Curtis and Junior Teams Begin Series In O.H.A.

TORONTO (CP)—The nine teams in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series embark tonight on a new season with a 56-game schedule which includes home-and-home games with the four teams in the Quebec Junior Hockey Association.

The new system means a total of 287 games for the regular schedule, of which 278 will be played in Ontario. Each Ontario club now plays four home games and four away, two games more than last season. Games against the Quebec teams—Quebec Citadels, Montreal Royals, Montreal Canadiens and the Three Rivers club—count in the standings.

The Ontario teams are Toronto Marlboros and Toronto St. Michaels, Galt Black Hawks, Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts, St. Catharines TeePees, Guelph Biltmores, Barrie Flyers, Oshawa Generals and Windsor Rockets.

[illegible] Cup champions, expect 11 members of that team back when they open against the Greenshirts tonight.

Goalie Doug Lessor, defencemen Harry Howell, Danny Blair, Ted Brady and forwards Andy Bathgate, Ron Murphy, Dean Prentice, Chuck Henderson, Jim Connelly, Bill McCreary and Frank Bettiol are back to strengthen the Guelph lineup.

St. Catharines, runners-up to Guelph in last year's O.H.A final, are building a club—with the accent on youth—around six of last year's players. The veterans are goalie Marve Edwards, defenceman Allan Kellog and forwards Hank Ciesla, Brian Cullen, Church Marshall and Bill Haas.

Coach Rudy Pilous hopes to get players from Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League, TeePees' parent club.

tawa with injuries, but they are almost certain starters.

Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Balmy Beach are shoo-ins for the O.R.F.U. playoffs. The unbeaten Imps shouldn't have too much trouble against the Redskins at Brantford Saturday and, on past performances, they are favored to take the Beaches on the holiday.

Toronto Varsity Blues will be cut to break a 15-year jinx at London when they meet Mustangs Saturday. The Blues have won two Intercollegiate titles since the war, but they haven't won a game in London.

The college season opened last Saturday with Varsity squeezing out an 8-3 decision over McGill Redmen and the Mustangs, scoring nearly all their points on Gaels 33-1. The winless Redmen and Queen's tangle at Montreal tomorrow.

Say Campanella May Be Coach

BROOKLYN (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's popular catching star, may become the first Negro coach in major league baseball when his playing days are over.

Walter F. O'Malley, owner of the Dodgers, disclosed today he and the club's All-Star receiver have discussed the idea at some length and that he favors employing Campanella as a Dodger coach "in a few years."

O'Malley said:

"I believe the color angle is a thing of the past in baseball. Roy and (Jackie) Robinson and the rest have taken care of that. . ."

O'Malley said he believes the 31-year-old Campanella can continue as a top-ranking star for five more years provided he takes care of himself. He regards Roy as the best catcher and one of the greatest clutch hitters in baseball.

LECTURE No. 1
Tuesday, Oct. 14
In The Canadian Rockies"
— STAN MIDGLEY —
He has become so popular with audiences from coast to coast that they have affectionately titled him "the Cycling Cinematographer", mainly because he travels through his adventures on a bicycle. Mr. Midgley's excellent sense of humor as well as his unique style of photography and showmanship has made him one of the most popular performers in the travel lecture field.
STAN MIDGLEY
He will take us on a bicycle ride over the famous Banff-Jasper Highway through the majestic Canadian Rockies! Hike off the beaten track. There will be visits to all that is good to see at Banff, Lake Louise, Jasper, the Columbian Icefield, and distant panoramas from strategic mountain peaks. At various points of course, there will be daringly dangerous close-up of the wild animal life.
It will be a delightful film lecture described as only Stan Midgley can describe it.

Housekeeper Admits Killing Boss

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—State police said a strapping, six-foot housekeeper has admitted she cut up her employer with an ax after an argument because he wanted her to leave the house.

Corporal E. D. Bazzie identified the 200-pound woman as Arizona Love, 49.

Bazzie said the woman signed a statement yesterday after submitting to a lie detector test. She was jailed and Bazzie said murder charges would be filed against her later.

According to Bazzie, the woman admitted the following in her statement:

She and Marshall argued last Thursday because he wanted her to vacate. They fought in the basement of Marshall's house and she hit him several times with a poker. When she realized Marshall was dead, she cut up his body and burned parts of it in a furnace.

She dumped the rest of the torso in a cabbage bag and dragged it down an alley, from where it was later hauled to the dump.

Rebel Groups Sign Aliance

RANGOON, BMURMA (AP) — Reliable sources said today that three rebel groups battling the Burmese government have signed a triple alliance pledging an all-out offensive beginning next April.

Formation of such a pact has been rumored for some time. It was viewed as a rebel attempt to counteract government successes in the bitter struggle for power that has crippled Burma since she gained her independence from Britain after the Second World War.

The sources said the agreement was signed Oct. 1 by Thakin That Tun, leader of the "White Flag" Stalinist Communists; Thakin Soe, chief of the "Red Flag" Trotskyite Communists and Bo Po Kun, who heads the rebellious P. V. O. (People's Volunteer Organization).

Policeman Injured

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A motorcycle policeman, riding escort for President Truman, was seriously injured last night when his machine went out of control. Two spectators also suffered minor injuries. Patrolman Raymond W. Kimmith, 31, suffered a concussion and a possible fractured skull.

Sectional Rally Held At Warsaw

FAIRVIEW (ENS) —The sectional Fall Rally for the northern district of the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. was held Thursday afternoon in Warsaw United Church with a splendid attendance.

Ladies were present from Lakefield, Warsaw, Bridgenorth and Fairview and also some from Peterborough.

Mrs. Elmer Milburn of Lakefield, sectional vice-president, presided.

The Rev. George Dyson, minister of the entertaining church gave the address of welcome. The Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth read the scripture lesson and led in the opening prayer.

Mrs. Arnold Olmstead, literature secretary for the Peterborough Presbyterial, gave an outline of the various books and leaflets she had on display.

Mrs. Olmstead stressed the importance of reading the Missionary Monthly from cover to cover.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalf of Hastings, president of the Presbyterial, brought greetings and also introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Gordon Watts, Christian stewardship secretary for Dominion Board.

Mrs. Watt stated that the ladies working together in the W.M.S. represented men on a "fishing vessel" [illegible] his own particular duty to perform

Back in the 1880s when there were not such conveniences as telephone, electricity, automobiles, etc., as we have, yet those women did such wonderful work when they started the work among the Indians.

After stating many various ways in which the money is spent which we contribute, Mrs. Watt stated that each Christian stewardship secretary should be given three to five minutes at every regular meeting.

At the close of her address she asked the ladies to divide into four discussion groups and such questions as the following were discussed: how can we increase our knowledge?, how can we increase our membership?; how can we increase our prayer? A secretary was appointed from each group to bring the findings before the rally.

Mrs. Earl Orr of Lakefield expressed thanks to the speaker and reports were received from each church on the highlights of their year's work. These were given by Mrs. Payne, Warsaw; Mrs Orr, Lakefield; Mrs. James Johnston, Bridgenorth and Mrs. Wesley Bell, Lakefield.

Mrs. Tanner of Lakefield gave a report of the school for leaders. More than 170 ladies were present from the Bay of Quinte branch for the 19th session which was one of the largest held in years

The offering was taken by Mrs. Dyson and Mrs. Harold Ray, which amounted to $7.80.

Mrs. Roland Payne presided at the piano.

Rocky Jones Decisions Favored La Starza

AKRON, O. (AP)—Rocky Jones, a little-known heavyweight, kicked around the heavyweight title ambitions of Roland la Starza here last night.

La Starza, highly-favored New York City belter who is rated third ranking contender for Rocky Marciano's crown, lost a unanimous 10-round decision to Jones.

The loss is certain to soften talk that La Starza should have a crack at Marciano's newly-won title. Rocky won a split decision over La Starza at Madison Square Garden March 24, 1950—ending a string of 37 straight victories for La Starza.

At 190, La Starza had 11 pounds on Jones, who was stepping out of the light-heavyweight ranks. But La Starza's five-month layoff appeared to have slowed him, and an eye gash that bled badly from the fifth round on didn't serve to liven him up any. There were no knockdowns.

Sweden To Lodge Protest With U.N.

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden will lodge a strong protest in the United Nations against the shooting down last June by Russian fighters of two unarmed Swedish airplanes over the Baltic, it was learned today.

The protest will be made in the general debate of the U.N. General Assembly opening Oct. 14 and will reaffirm Sweden's insistence — voiced in protest notes to the Soviet Union—on freedom of the Baltic Sea.

The Russians have rejected Swedish protest notes, charging that the Swedish planes had violated Soviet territory.

Find Artist's Body Under Burning Couch

NEW YORK (AP) — The burned body of a man identified as Sanford Tilles, about 35, a television scenery artist, was found tied hand and foot with wire under a burning studio couch in a Manhattan apartment early today.

Firemen answering an alarm found the bedroom and living room of the first floor apartment in flames.

Police Capt. Henry Wade described the case as "arson and murder."

Women Protest

TEHRAN (Reuters)—The Iranian "Women's League" today countered the extremist Moslem demands that all women wear the veil by saying they would do so if men also obeyed religious law by sporting beards and flowing robes. Attempts have been made recently to throw acid at women not veiled in the streets and to molest them.

300 Bombers Built

SEATTLE (AP)—Boeing Airplane company says more than 300 B-47 stratojet bombers have been built since production was started in the spring of 1951. The company now is averaging more than one of the six-jet medium bombers a day. The 600-mile an hour ship has a 116-foot wing spread and is 108 feet long.

NO PHOTO IN BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP)—Is baseball considering a photo finish camera at first base in future World Series to forestall close decisions rhubarbs such as the recent Passarella incident?

There have been reports of such a move, but Commissioner Ford Frick spiked them yesterday with a flat "decidedly not."

The issue arose again following the fifth game of the recent World Series in which an Associated Press photograph showed the Yankees' Johnny Sain safe although first base umpire Art Passarella called him out.

The play occurred in the 10th inning of an 11-inning game, won by Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5. Had Sain, first man up in the 10th, been safe it might have changed the complexion of the game.

"A photo finish camera is all right on a race track where the horses have to come down the straightaway," Frick said. "But it would be ridiculous in baseball where the balls come into first base from all angles.

"We have had letters suggesting such a camera. But I have no intention of giving it a thought. It's impractical."

Gift of[illegible]

CHICAGO (AP)—Some one left a shopping bag on a table in an office at the University of Illinois research and educational hospital several days ago. The bag was opened yesterday. It contained about $500 worth of penicillin in liquid and tablet form and an unsigned note which read: "I love the President, I want to do good, I believe in unions, and I have lost a loved one. Perhaps this will help save someone."

Union Officer Charged

CHICAGO (AP) — An officer of a union conducting a strike against the International Harvester Company was identified last night, police said, by an eye witness as the man who fatally slugged a non-striking worker.

The victim of the attack, William Foster, 52, was felled Friday while he was on his way to work at a Harvester plant. Before his death he said he had been struck with a length of pipe.

Harold Ward, 30, secretary-treasurer of Local 108 of the Farm Equipment-United Electrical Workers Union (Independent), was placed in a special lineup at the detective bureau last night.

Deputy Chief of Detectives John T. O'Malley said an eye witness identified Ward as the slugger.

State's attorney John S. Beyle said a murder charge will be filed against Ward.

Rejected Suitor Fires Bullets At Girl

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A rejected suitor fired a five-shot fusillade through a dining room window last night and wounded 24-year-old Jane Spaulding as she sat eating dinner with her family.

One of the revolver bullets hit Miss Spaulding in the shoulder and ranged into her neck. She was in fair condition at a hospital. Four others at the table were not injured.

Japanese Sing In Opera At New York

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK (AP)—"Made in Japan" was the quality label stamped on the City Center production of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" last night.

The Japanese were Japanese, and the Americans were New York City opera singers, in this opera about a U.S. naval lieutenant who loves and leaves a pretty geisha girl in Nagasaki.

The Yoshei Fujiwara Opera Company of Tokyo was giving its first performance here on its first visit to the U.S.

19 JAPANESE VOICES

There were 19 Japanese voices, and from Harue Miyake in the title role to the chorus of 10 girls twirling parasols they were given a resounding welcome by a capacity audience.

When Japanese characters appeared together, they sang in Japanese. When they were with Americans, they sang in Italian, the language of the original libretto.

Harue Miyake's Butterfly was a new experience for local operagoers, and a delightful one

Besides having a voice that many a western soprano might envy, she possessed a formal, subtle grace.

Vegetable Prices Push Down Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—A "substantial" decline in the price of potatoes and other fresh vegetables pushed down living costs during August in eight of nine regional cities, the Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday.

Egg prices rose generally, but meats and sugar were lower in all centres except Saskatoon. But Saskatoon's rents remained unchanged while they climbed in the eight other centres.

Coal prices rose in Toronto, Montreal and Saskatoon, but in Toronto, the boost was offset by lower coke prices.

The regional index, based on 1935-39 equals 100, for August with the July figures in brackets:

Vancouver, 189.0 (189.5); Edmonton, 177.7 (179.1); Saskatoon, 182.7 (183.9); Winnipeg, 179.0 (180.0); Toronto, 183.3 (184.2); Montreal, 191.7 (191.7); Saint John, N.B., 183.9 (186.1); Halifax, 176.7 (179.0). The St. John's, Nfld., index, based on June, 1951, equalling 100, declined to 103.6 from 105.3

The indexes show changes in retail prices and services in each city. They do not indicate whether it costs more or less to live in one city than another.

Sandwell Declares He's Not Included

BRANTFORD (CP)—A 78-year-old Toronto magazine editor who suggested earlier this week that all Canadians over 70 should drop dead as a patriotic gesture, yesterday offered an afterthought:

"Everybody but me."

B. K. Sandwell, editor emeritus of Saturday Night, told the Ontario Medical Association yesterday that he feels that not even the saving to the federal government in old-age pensions would justify his demise.

"I am quite satisfied in my own mind that I am worth $40 a month" he said, "and I appreciate the fact that the government also appears to consider me worth $40 a month. It may, of course, be some compensation for the fact that I was never able to qualify for the baby bonus."

Company Fires Entire Staff

OLDHAM, Lancs, England (CP)—The entire staff of an old established paint firm here was given one week's notice of dismissal—not because the company is folding up, but for gross inefficiency.

The dismissal notice read: "Owing to the inefficiency of this company and the resultant effect on the company's trading, a complete reorganization is necessary"

William Pethybridge, 42, managing director, said the action was taken because of rising production costs and loss of important orders at home and abroad. To illustrate his point he picked up a tin of paint marked "Green." It was red.

"It's only when you get the sack that you realize how important your job was and how much greater effort you could have put into it," Pethybridge said. Consideration, he added, would be given to those applying for reinstatement.

Doubts Anyone Led To Sin By Reading Book—Critic

OTTAWA (CP)—A United States author and critic, testifying for the defence in an obscene literature trial, said yesterday he doubts "if anyone has ever been led into sin by a book."

Dr. John Bakeless, professor at New York University, also told the court:

"After all, the purpose of literature is not to improve morals but to expand our knowledge of life in many cases."

He and Prof. Alan Seager of the University of Michigan defended the novel "Tragic Ground" by Erskine Caldwell, noted for his stark pictures of life in the deep south. "Tragic Ground" is one of several publications involved in 11 obscene literature charges against the National News Company, a distributor of publications.

The charges were lodged as part of a news-stand cleanup here several months ago, and the company is on trial before Judge A. G. McDougall.

In reply to the Crown's allegation that the seized books contain "lewd, base, vile and lustful" passages, Dr. Bakeless said English literature would cease to exist if all characters if that kind were eliminated.

THEME 'RIDICULOUS'

Two Canadian literary experts testified that another book seized, "Diamond Lil," would have no serious effect on morals.

J. V. McAree, Toronto Globe and Mail columnist and critic, termed it "harmless to morals, but ridiculous as to theme."

Prof. Edward Alexander, head of the English department at Queen's University, said he considered the book "a run-of-the-mill thriller, written in accordance with the bang-bang-kiss-kiss-kiss formula so popular today."

He said he could not see how anyone might derive sex stimulation from such a book. It had no obvious moral purpose but was "just a piece of mechanical exercise" written to entertain.

The trial was adjourned until next Thursday.

Marvik Fracas Said Propaganda

HALIFAX (CP)—The captain of the Canadian cruiser Quebec said Russian reports of misbehavior by his crew in the Norwegian port of Narvik were "a neat bit of propaganda."

Capt. Patrick D. Budge of Halifax and Toronto added however, the reports did have "an element of truth, all except the one saying that our seamen had insulted and accosted women."

The Quebec and aircraft carrier Magnificent docked here today.

"Our shore patrols and civil authorities in Narvik, a town of about 12,000 population, had received no reports that women had been insulted," Capt. Budge said.

"Russian radio and press reports charged wholesale looting of hotels. The answer to that is that some hotels had the odd, attractive ashtray and some of the boys quite likely picked them up as souvenirs."

Irate Customer Bills Firm For 2 Dinners

VANCOUVER (CP)—Irate customer Victor Atkins yesterday sent a bill to the British Columbia Electric Company for two dinners

Atkins said his dinner was on the stove Wednesday night when the power failed for the second night in a row. He had to take his wife out to eat. Several nearby communities were blacked out for several hours both nights.

Atkins said he will permit B.C. Electric to deduct the price of the two dinners from his electric bill.

Tables Turned On McGill Paper

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill students, who chided their University of Toronto confreres on inability to write English correctly, were themselves taken to task yesterday—by their own English professors.

The McGill Daily, student newspaper, outlined the results of a test conducted by the University of Toronto department of English regarding vocabulary, punctuation, knowledge, composition facility and ability to summarized.

The McGill professors sharply reminded their students that correct spelling is a primary step towards successful writing. They pointed to the heading and suggested it was disastrous.

Tobacco Growers Urge Barter Plan With U.K.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—District tobacco growers are urging the government to arrange a barter plan whereby 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 pounds of Canadian tobacco be exchanged for British goods needed in Canada.

The 1952 crop of flue-cured tobacco is estimated at about 110,000,000 pounds, more than the domestic requirement.

Arthur Robson, former vice-chairman of the Ontario Tobacco Marketing board, said yesterday he has been advocating such a scheme for some time, fearing a heavy surplus this year unless the export market is greatly increased.

Ask Labor Day Third Monday

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Tourist Association in convention here voted Thursday to ask that Labor Day be changed to the third Monday in September.

Delegates agreed that the association urge governments, educational, industrial and labor organizations to set the holiday back from the traditional first Monday in September. Postponement of the holiday, if followed by postponement of school opening, would extend the vacation season through September.

Officers elected: Honorary president, Federal Resources Minister R. H. Wife's New Job Annoys Man

NEW YORK (AP)—After 11 years at a sewing machine, Mrs. Tessie Brennan, 43, was promoted to forelady in a blouse factory.

She was put in charge of 40 women, her pay raised from $50 to $59 a week. That was three months ago.

The result, said police, was this:

Her husband, Tom, 42, stormed into the factory yesterday with a pistol and shouted at the owner, Samuel Rosenglick:

"If you don't take my wife off as forelady I'll blow your brains out."

The women workers ran to windows and screamed. They didn't know then that the gun was not loaded. They did attract police who carted Brennan off to the police station and booked him on felonious assault and illegal weapon charges.

"The job of forelady is going to my wife's head," Brennan explained to the police. "She's making too much money."

Roman Catholic Leaders Argue More Immigrants Allowed

OTTAWA (CP)—Leaders of the Roman Catholic church in Canada indicated yesterday they believe more immigrants should be admitted to this country.

The church's archbishops and bishops said at the conclusion of an annual meeting that countries with unoccupied land should open their doors to people from overpopulated countries.

In a statement they said:

"Since God created the entire earth for man's use and benefit, the countries which have unoccupied land should open such territory to people of overpopulated countries.

"The policy that governs the flow of immigration should be truly democratic and any regulations that would restrict, in an arbitrary manner, the emigration of people from an overpopulated country, or of refugees from persecuted lands would be contrary to the fundamental principles of justice and true peace."

CERTAIN RESTRICTIONS

Canada bans almost all emigration from the Orient and limits the number of entries from India and Pakistan. Earlier this year, the government decided to limit the types of workers brought to this country from Europe. For instance, because of the surplus of textile workers in this country, European textile workers were discouraged from coming to Canada.

Canada admitted 194,000 immigrants in 1951, the largest number for any year since 1913 when 500,000 entered.

In the first eight months of this year 126,029 were admitted compared with 116,657 in the corresponding months of last year.

The prelates urged that action be taken to see that families are not broken up by immigration.

See Controversial Session Over New Bible Version

SEATTLE (AP) — Delegates to the 18th biennial session of Lutherandom's largest church pointed today to what is expected to be the most controversial session of their week-long convention — the acceptance or rejection of the revised standard version of the Bible.

The matter is expected to arise during the day with presentation of a memorial from 10 of the United Lutheran Church in North America's 34 synods asking for approval of the new Bible translation.

The action of the 10 synods is in opposition to the decision of the Joint Commission on the Liturgy, which has submitted a report strongly urging retention of the King James version.

The Liturgy Committee is composed of members representing churches of the National Lutheran Council. It has been asked to prepare a liturgy to be used by the majority of Lutherans in Canada and the United States.

The Commission on Liturgy, in summing up some of its arguments against the new version of the Bible, said:

"It would be highly unwise to give premature approval to the liturgical use of a version of the Bible — however fine — of which the church has not yet had opportunity to measure the full stature. . .

"It would be highly inconsistent with the conservative principles of Lutheranism for our church to venture where other churches without our tradition have been unwilling to go. The whole liturgy of the church is in the language of the authorized version of Holy Scripture; and it (and the lessons which are part of it) is a religious art form (like the chorale, for instance), to which the application of any criteria other than those of religion and art can lead only to the destruction of its unity, beauty and value."

AROUND THE HOME

A KNIFE BOX that offers both convenience and protection against sharp edges may be quite easily fashioned from a block of white pine — with strips along the sides — and end and bottom of the same material.

First make cuts in the main block with a saw; then add sides, base and front end. Just as a guide to dimensions: a table knife should be about 4 ins. wide; 2 ins. deep, and 10 ins. long.

Very attractive BOOK MARKS for many years of useful service may be cut from discarded felt hats, or scraps of leather and pieces of silk... either lettered as desired or left plain.

Large Industrial Sites Getting Scarce Around Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Large industrial sites are getting scarce in Vancouver and companies are looking for spots to set up shop in North Vancouver, across the harbor.

James J. Behan, new British Columbia manager for Canadian National Railways, says the way has been opened for the C.N.R.'s biggest developme t in the west for several years—at North Vancouver.

North Vancouver residents last week approved lease of the Second Narrows Bridge, spanning Vancouver Harbor, to the C.N.R. The lease is for 21 years with option to buy.

The railway will take over the National Harbors Board's 11 miles of track which connect the present C.N.R. yards with two Vancouver piers and the North Vancouver area via the Second Narrows Bridge.

WATERFRONT ACCESS

"For the first time, the C.N. will have direct access to deep-water wharves at Vancouver," Mr. Behan says.

C.N.R. President Donald Gordon says the increased traffic which "is sure to result" has prompted the company to make the Greater Vancouver area a new division.

So far, industry in North Vancouver has been confined to shipyards and sawmills.

But Hooker Chemicals Ltd., Canadian subsidiary of Hooker Electrochemical of Niagara Falls N.Y., has purchased a 65-acre site in North Vancouver. It will spend $20,000,000 in the next five years to produce chlorine and caustic soda, used by B.C.'s growing pulp and paper industry.

LOOKING FOR SITES

James Eckman, chairman of the Greater Vancouver Metropolitan Industrial Development Commission, says "several" other companies are looking for sites in North Vancouver. He says most big companies want 25- to 100-acre sites and there are few of these left on the south side of the harbor.

Mayor Frank Goldsworthy of North Vancouver says entry of the C.N.R. to his city will "most definitely spark a new industrial development."

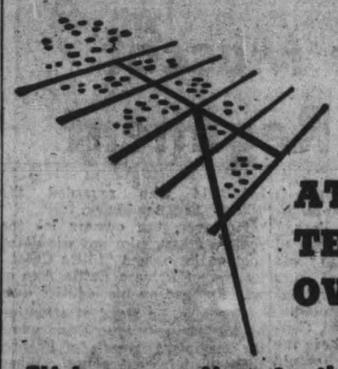
Thumb-Sucking Causes Some Headaches

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thumb sucking in infancy and childhood is a cause of migraine-type headaches and other neuralgias in some adults, says a dental researcher.

Dr. Myron Lieb reported to the Dental Explorers Society of Philadelphia that findings of 12 years of research showed that many ailments and pains in the head and shoulders have been attributed to thumb-sucking.

He pointed out that "rapid and complete cures" of these migraine headaches and other similarly-caused head pains has been affected by restoring the jaws to their natural balance.



Dr. Lieb emphasized that "all infantile thumb-sucking is not serious," but added that "research confirms the fact that as it persists, thumb-sucking does cause an imbalance of jaw relationships."

Canadians Find Chinese Gunners Have Increased Tempo Of War

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP) — Chinese artillery and mortar fire became such a terrific factor in recent static war—both in accuracy and intensity—that the whole atmosphere of the front changed.

Where 50 shells in a day were notable a year ago, the average touched 2,500 in the Canadian area.

Even so, it took an order from the divisional commander to force the Canadians into tin hats. They are worn in all forward areas, but not on patrols or raids since they make too much noise.

PROTECTED ON PATROL

On patrol the troops wear armored vests as protection against fragments and bullet injury but do not wear them for routine front-line duties.

During the early weeks after the brigade moved into the line from a summer period in reserve casualties resulting from shelling were extremely high. The proportion of killed to wounded—normally 1 to 10—was 1 to 2.

Mostly the trouble was bad luck and "fluke" hits. But there were controllable factors, such as troops showing themselves to the enemy, gathering in groups and failing to take cover.

Casualties strained the reinforcement flow, reducing the Royal 22nd Regiment to three companies, for instance. To compensate, the Royal Canadian Regiment created a fifth rifle company out of its own depleted strength to take over the area formerly held by a Van Doo company.

Tokyo leave allocations were curtailed because the men could not be spared.

CHAPLAINS ACTIVE

Morale remained surprisingly good. So many factors operated against it, yet constant good work by unit chaplains was an effective counter-agent.

The Princess Patricias, spelling out their last days of service here, found themselves duplicating the same looking over the shoulder attitude recated in the veteran 2nd battalion. Nobody wanted to "cop it" on the eve of his rotation.

The Chinese shelling brought many changes at the front. Jeeps no longer buzzed about the forward areas. Troops no longer lazed about, sunning themselves in full view of the enemy.

Tanks of the Lord Strathcona's Horse, staggered along the Canadians' hilltop positions, were timbered and sandbagged right up to their turrets. And still they suffered direct hits.

WARY COMMANDER

Even Brig. M.P. Bogert, the force commander, had to change his visiting hours and limit his party to himself and the officer commanding the battalion being visited.

Ground contact between the Communists and the Canadians was not frequent. The Chinese put in the occasional probe — sometimes a heavy one—but artillery and mortar fire were the extent of their regular attention.

The Canadians have a hard time reaching the Chinese, too.

One patrol from the Patricias under Capt. Scott Campbell of Moose Jaw and Calgary were out 2½ miles without making contact.

U.S. Voting Record Shown Unfavorably

NEW YORK (CP)—Americans are having their voting record compared unfavorably with those of Canadians and other peoples, and are being called strange names over the radio as a drive to get out the vote reaches its peak.

Posters in public places tell them that while only about 50 per cent of Americans voted in the last presidential election in 1948, 75 per cent of Canadians voted in their 1949 federal election. The posters say 90 per cent of Belgians vote.

In spot announcements between radio programs announcers urge Americans not to be "LANOVOCS"—lazy, non-voting citizens.

It's all part of a campaign to get more Americans to the polls Nov. 4.

High-Water Damage Will Be Inspected

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Representatives of three New York State agencies will join army engineers tomorrow to inspect high-water damage to state lands along Lake Ontario.

The tour is in connection with an army study of the feasibility of erosion-prevention measures.

The study also will consider the advisability of regulating levels of all the Great Lakes to eliminate future damages to properties along Lake Ontario.

Braid Of Hair Only Remains In Wreckage

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP)—A length of braided hair was the only human remains found near the wreckage of an R.C.A.F. plane which vanished five years ago with nine persons aboard.

The bit of woman's hair—the plane carried seven R.C.A.F. personnel and a Penticton, B.C., hotel man and his wife—was found by the R.C.M.P. police dog Wolf Wednesday.

Discovery of only the hair indicated the bodies of all nine had been eaten and the bones carried away by wild animals.

Wooden Indian Worthy Mascot Of Old Regiment

As with most mascots, there is a story behind the cigar store Indian mascot of the Hasty Pees.

It was back in the autumn of 1939 when the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was being mobilized that the first Indian Chief mascot was adopted.

Owners of the Canadian Canners building at Picton where the regiment was quartered would probably point out that "adopted" is hardly the word to explain how the regiment obtained its mascot.

SCALED HEIGHTS

For as many years as the oldest Picton resident could remember, the statuesque figure of an Indian Chief in full war paint had watched the passing of time from the roof of the cannery.

An enterprising private is credited with scaling the roof of the factory where the regiment was quartered and bringing down the metal Indian.

When the statue was set up in front of the sergeant's sleeping quarters, there were some critical remarks from the nearby inhabitants who regarded the "Chief" as a landmark.

However, the owners let the regiment have him but stipulated that he be named "Little Chief," instead of Private Battle Axe as was stamped on his identity disc.

Overseas, he stood at attention on the barracks square and when the regiment went to France Little Chief went along. When the Hasty Pees were forced to evacuate at Dunkirk, Little Chief was left behind and buried on a spot carefully pin-pricked on the map.

The unit's present Indian Chief which has already arrived in town for the Hasty Pees' reunion here this weekend was carved from a pine tree in Pembroke.

BIG BOY

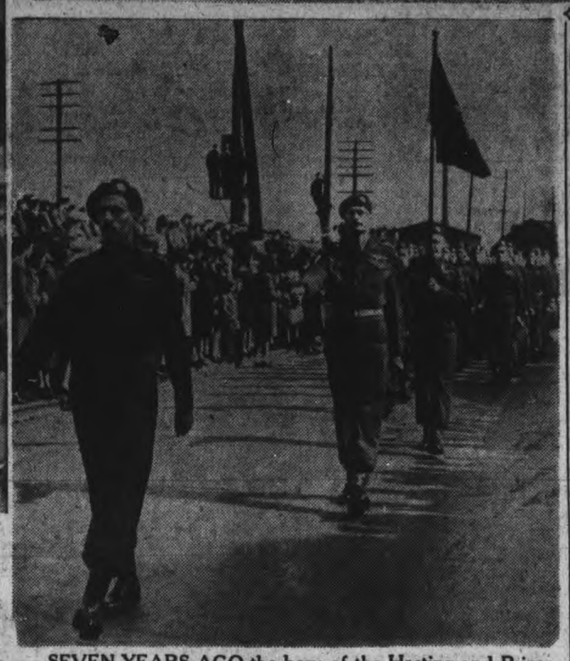
Abe Patterson did the job for $1.50 in 1940. Weighing 500 pounds and carved from a solid pine trunk, 22 inches in diameter, Chief Peta-wa-wa-much, to give him his full title, stands seven feet, eight inches high on his pedestal.

The finely carved features of this Sioux warrior are topped by a regal headdress and his ferocious stare was said to be powerful enough to put a double whammy on Nazi pilots and "bring down a Messerschmidt at 20,000 feet."

Between the time the newly carved mascot arrived at Trenton Armouries on October 30, 1940, and when he joined the Hasty Pees in England in September, 1941, many adventures befell him.

At a ceremony on the shores of the Bay of Quinte on November 26, 1940, Chief Peta-wa-wa-much was turned over to Lt.-Col. A. V. Yates, M.C., honorary colonel of the first battalion.

That fall, he was lashed to the deck of corvette Napanee for transport overseas. The Napanee went aground in the St. Lawrence and after being repaired went about its duties in the Atlantic. The Hasty Pees mascot turned up months later, in the Navy Yards [illegible] port, and in charge of Brigadier [illegible] N. Salmon, arriving in England in September, 1941.



Once located, the statue was sent to England aboard a transport, and in charge of Brigadier [illegible] N. Salmon, arriving in England in September, 1941.

The chief spent all his time in [illegible] with the regiment after VE day in Holland. From then on, he stuck with the regiment.

ON THE LOOKOUT for Hasty Pees is Chief Peta-wa-wa much, regimental mascot who has arrived for the 7th annual reunion and is looking forward to seeing many of his old buddies from his perch in a George St. window.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Cattle Prices Remain Firm On Steers

TORONTO (CP)—Cattle prices were firm on brandable steers and heifers and weak on lower grades this week at the Ontario stockyards. Calves, hogs, sheep and lambs continued steady. The holdover at the close was 500 cattle.

Cattle receipts totalled 8,146 head. Choice heavy steers sold at $25-26.50 with a few at $27.25 and choice weighty steers at $24-25. Good weighty and heavy steers were at $23-25 with mediums at $21-23. Good light steers sold at $21-23 with common to medium light steers and heifers at $12-20 and good heifers at $21-21.50. Good cows and bulls were at $14-15 with canners at $8-10 and common bulls at $11-13. Good to choice fed yearlings brought $25-28 with medium downward to $20. Medium to good stockers sold at $16-21.50.

Calves totalled 2,093. Good to choice veal calves closed steady at $26-28 with common to medium at $12-24. Stock calves brought $22-24.

Hog receipts totalled 3,505 head. Hogs remained steady at $26 for grade A with sows $17 dressed.

Sheep and lambs receipts were 2,490. Lambs closed at $22 for good ewes and wethers with [illegible] and heavies at $20. Culls brought $10-18. Good sheep sold at $8-10 with common downward to $4.

Hasty Pees Record In First World War In France And Italy

A three-day invasion of Peterborough will begin Saturday. The Hasty Pees will be hitting town for their seventh annual re-union.

Judging by the number of advance inquiries coming in, it will be as successful as the unit's fifth post-war re-union held here three years ago when 700 attended.

Peter Castle, president of the Duffy Club, which is sponsoring the re-union, reported Thursday that 60 inquiries about reservations have been received from as far away as Sudbury and Winnipeg.

One of the regiment's former sergeant-majors now living in Winnipeg asked if it would be okay to bring his wife, and about half the men who have advance reservations have indicated they intend bringing their wives along.

REGISTER SATURDAY

First event of the three-day affair will be registration Saturday afternoon, followed by a get-get-together and dance in the evening. Sunday will be the big day, with a parade, memorial service in the morning, and banquet in the Legion Hall in the afternoon.

No formal program has been arranged for Monday, and the veterans who served with the regiment in the First and Second World Wars will have an opportunity to renew acquaintances and recall events when they were comrades overseas.

EARLY IN FRANCE

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment was one of three Canadian units to land in France before the French gave up the fight in 1940, and were evacuated successfully in the famous evacuation of Dunkirk.

However, it was in Sicily and the bloody Italian campaign that the regiment won its spurs and battle honors as a crack infantry regiment.

Landing with the Eighth Army on the toe of the Italian boot on September 3, 1943, the Hasty Pees spearheaded the attack into the mountainous Calabrian peninsula.

After a quick 200-mile advance up the Italian peninsula, it bogged down before stubborn German resistance in the Foggia area.

Then a bloody winter of fighting followed. There was the crossing of the Moro River, south of Ortona, then the long bitter battle for Ortona Christmas week. Although cut off from other Canadian units, and without supplies on Christmas Day, 1943, the Hasty Pees held on and Ortona fell on New Year's Day.

Near the end of February in '45 they were taken out of Italy and returned to England. In April, they again saw action, this time against the Germans in Holland.

VE-Day ended the war in Europe and the Hasty Pees could look back on five and a half years overseas, and almost two of those years they spent on the fighting line.

Fourth Drowning

Four people—two of them children—have been drowned in Peterborough within the last year. Sharon Littlefair, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Littlefair, drowned Jan. 6 when her sleigh went through the ice at Burnham's Point. Robert E. Rendall, 31-year-old Scottish immigrant, of 764 Aylmer St. drowned June 2 in the raceway at the city waterworks when he stepped from a pier onto the gunwale of a moored rowboat which overturned. A Toronto factory worker, 24-year-old Richard Dwelly, drowned July 19 when he dived into the Trent Canal, just north of the Liftlock. He had come to Peterborough on the C.P.R. picnic. The fourth drowning occurred Thursday afternoon when Joanne Landry, two years and four months, fell into the Hamilton Park wading pool, just north of Bonaccord St., where her parents live.

Board Rejects Insurance For Players

An insurance policy that covered injuries to collegiate football players would be too expensive, the Board of Education decided Thursday night.

Put bluntly, this means that boys who play rugby do so at their own risk; and if they are injured the Board will not pay their doctors' bills.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said he made extensive enquiries from insurance companies in Canada and the United States. One insurance company offered a policy but the trustees bridled at the terms.

The Chicago firm laid down the following terms:

The premium would be $10 a player and all players (about 50) would have to be covered. No hospital expenses would be paid and medical expenses would be paid only after $10, with a limit of $500.

CHARGE TOO HIGH

"I think the charge is too high," said Stanley Adamson, chairman of finance. "The policy covers all players and that is not sound; then there's the legality of the policy to be considered."

Mrs. Paige Rowell said she wanted to make sure that parents were aware that the board would pay nothing if their boys were injured while playing.

"I certainly like to watch football — that last game was a dandy," said Chairman W. B. Gordon. "But let's not forget that it is a voluntary proposition. . . The boys go into the thing with their eyes open."

Mr. Gordon recalled that when he was younger there was no insurance on collegiate rugby players. He wasn't even sure if the uniforms were provided.

"It's significant that no Canadian company was willing to make an offer on this type of policy," said Mr. Adamson. "Are we the only Canadian school that considered it?"

The upshot of the discussion was that the Board turned down the insurance plan. And football coaches will be instructed to tell the boys that they will get no compensation from the school if they are injured.

Rent Jumped 140 Per Cent, Tenant Objects

The city's increase of both taxes and rent on the store of Myrtle M. Armitage in the Ashburnham town hall was relayed in a query of cause by Ald. W. G. Beggs, himself an Ashburnham resident, at the council meeting Monday.

The other stores in the block on Hunter and Maria Streets were paying $40 a month, but the Armitage rent was increased to $60.

Mayor Waddell said "we discussed it in property committee, and we really thought the $60 was in line".

At that rate the lease is on a month to month basis.

Ald. Beggs said he was simply conveying the complaint of an Ashburnham taxpayer and also tenant of the city. It appears that the rent of the store was $25, and Miss Armitage spent considerable money repairing the premises. Asking for repairs by the city brought no response.

Miss Armitage wondered whether the council was now trying at $60 a month rent to make up for the margin of comparative advantage when the charge was $25. If the increase had been to $40, as elsewhere in the town hall premises, Miss Armitage would not have objected, but she was now paying 140 per cent more than previously with the city as landlord.

Ald. H. S. Longhurst said its was a corner store and for location it should be worth it as a business place.

Ald. Beggs said Miss Armitage had told him that she was refused permission to allow a tobacco company to put a sign on the east wall.

SPENT MONEY

City Clerk Outram, as property manager, said the city had spent in the last five years ten times as much on the corner as on all the other store buildings put together.

It transpired about the tobacco sign that the entrance to the second floor intervened, and the east wall was actually not part of the store. It was said that as leases expired, rents were raised to bring them more in line with the general trend.

City Asked To Give Money To Help Needy Part Of World

Tonight the people of Peterborough and district will be asked to finance a C.A.R.E.-approved project in some needy place in the world. C.A.R.E. stands for the Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe, the most comprehensive international relief organization in history. No longer just a United States relief agency, it has offices in Canada, Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Peru.

C.A.R.E. is now endorsed by the United Nations who are using the organization in their rehabilitation program.

Since 1946 C.A.R.E. more than 11,000,000 packages of food and clothing overseas, and has shipped the value of $130,000,000 to needy peoples. Besides foods and textiles C.A.R.E.'s expanding rehabilitation program includes: plows and handtools for India, Pakistan and Greece; technical books for the universities and libraries; children's books; resettlement kits for apprentices; and a medical supply program in co-operation with the World Health Organization.

SEVERAL PROJECTS

Dr. E. LeRoy Dakin, international field representative, will present a number of suggested projects to his Peterborough audience tonight.

Thursday he made the rounds of service clubs and other organizations and tonight he hopes to have a representative cross-section of the community at the Kawartha Room, Empress Hotel, at 8 p.m.

This group will include the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, clergy, and representatives from service clubs, schools, organized labor, and other interested organizations in the Peterborough district.

Originally C.A.R.E. was a person-to-person organization. That is, somebody bought a package of food or clothing for another person in a war ravaged or needy country. Now the help is on a community-to-community scale.

THIRD CITY

Peterborough is the third Canadian city where this experiment has been tried.

Timmins, with a population of 28,388, has chosen to contribute $2,200 toward India's first orthopedic hospital being built in Bombay. The money will pay for whirlpool baths, braces and other equipment. The greatest part of the financing of the hospital is being done by the Indians themselves.

The only other Canadian city population of 17,899. Norm Bay is raising $1,140 for books to go to Iwata Universitey, a Japanese national university in a forestry area. Gift books will also go to Malta which was badly bombed during the last war.

Dr. Dakin says that the two cities hope to reach their objective by United Nations Day, Oct. 24. He hopes that Peterborough will adopt a similar project.

"This is something that gives a community a chance to work together," said Dr. Dakin. "It's a healthy thing for the people here to be able to work together like that. And it can do untold good, and build up a fund of good will toward the Americas, in needy countries."

Ald. T. D. Miller To Give Trophy To Safety Patrol

An offer by Alderman T. D. Miller, to donate a trophy for the most efficient school safety patrol was accepted by the Police Commission Thursday.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, chairman of the commission, moved a resolution, thanking Ald. Miller and commending him for making the offer.

The trophy, to be known as the Miller Safety Trophy will be awarded each year to the school having the most efficient safety patrol.

In a letter to the commission offering to donate the award, Alderman Miller said: "I have been watching the work of constable Donald Mackay with school patrols, and feel he is performing a most useful service to our community."

"By way of encouragement for his efforts, I would be pleased to donate an appropriate trophy to be presented yearly, to the school with the most efficient school patrol."

Sgt. G. Puffer Gets New Job

Veteran police sergant Gordon Puffer, now on sick leave will have a new job in the detective office when he is able to return to duty.

The Police Commission Thursday readily agreed with Police Chief John Thompson when he suggested that Sgt. Puffer be moved into the detective office. Chief Thompson produced a letter from Sgt. Puffer's doctor, stating he would be unable to continue at shift work as it was impairing his health.

Chief Thompson said that another man would be required soon in the detective's office in any case and he felt that Sgt. Puffer would be a good man for the job.

The work of the detective's office is growing and it will mean added efficiency if there is a man there all the time."

A resolution was moved by Judge John de N. Kennedy, "Regretting Sgt. Puffer's illness and expressing the commission's hopes that he is able to return to work soon and authorizing Chief Thompson to move him to a new position in the detective office."

Sgt. Puffer is one of the senior men on the force having joined the department in 1921. He was promoted to desk sergeant in 1939 and has served in this capacity until his recent illness.

Crippled Aircraft Makes Safe Landing

SHANNON, Ireland (AP)—A Pan American Stratocruiser which developed engine trouble over the Atlantic landed safely here today.

The plane on a flight from New York to London, made an emergency landing here after flying the last 800 miles of its trip on three engines.

May Fine Merchants If Have No Licenses

Merchants who have failed to comply with a city bylaw requiring that they purchase business licences, are liable to end up paying a fine and costs.

Thursday, Carl Endicott, 639 George St., north appeared in police court and pleaded guilty to a charge of selling cigarettes on September 26, without having procured a licence.

He was fined $5 and 2.50 costs.

Civil Defence In Schools Before Board

The Board of Education is considering a suggestion from the Civil Defence Committee that school children should receive some civil defence training. It would probably follow the recommendations of a federal government pamphlet.

Robert J. Bolton, Principal of Dunbarton of Wales school and member of the C.D.C., made the suggestions Thursday night to the trustees.

1. That a sixth division—the care of schoolchildren—be added to the existing five divisions of the C.D.C.

2. A director in charge of this division should be appointed, either by the C.D.C. or by the public and separate schools.

3. Under this director two assistant directors—one from each of the school systems—should be appointed. There might even be a third, representing the Normal School.

DECIDE ON TRAINING

"We are asking you to accept the responsibility of deciding what training should be given to children in the schools," said Mr. Bolton.

Alderman John A. Dewart, chairman of the C.D.C., said: "Our policy has been that we haven't wanted to alarm the citizens, but we have tried to build up an organization that could, in an emergency, expand at an accelerated pace."

After the regular meeting, in committee on apportionment, the trustees named Dr. Ralph Honey as the interim director for the public school system. A committee to study civil defence as it affects schoolchildren will consist of K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools; Percy Windrim, inspector; and the school principals.

Plan To Clear Brush From Cedar Lakes Park

Plans were laid Thursday night for clearing brush from the Cedar Lakes park project at a meeting of Kawartha Recreations, Inc.

Dates for work parties were tentatively set at October 18, 22, 25. Personnel for these outings will include members of the Exhibition Association, the Chamber of Commerce the Junior Chamber, the Teachers' Federation, Junior Farmers, and the city's service clubs.

At the next meeting, shares or memberships will be offered to citizens of the district so that they may make personal contributions to the development of the park.

City Has Authority To Fine For Overstaying Time On Market Square—Huycke

City Solicitor Makes Report To Council On Question Brought Up By Lawyer Suggesting Authority To Fine Lacking

City council has its own sphere of jurisdiction, City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, Q.C., affirmed in a letter Monday commenting on W. J. Arthur Fair's questioning of penalty for breach of parking regulations attaching to city square meters. Mr. Fair wrote that "council should consider the advisability of discontinuing the use of parking meters on the market square. Someone is going to challenge the legality of a summons to police court and the notice of the fine for over-staying the period of time provided for in the amount of money he deposited in the meter.

"It might be well to refer the matter to your city solicitor as I am of the opinion that your by-laws in respect to parking on the highways do not apply to municipal parking lots . . ."

"If the city is paying wages to a man, as I believe it is now, to put tickets demanding a dollar fine on parkers' cars as soon as the time runs out on the meter, the money could be much better and more happily spent as wages for a manager, and a charge made for the length of time of parking."

LOCAL AUTHORITY

In his comment, Mr. Huycke discussed local authority by-law.

"I have given the matter some consideration," he wrote in his report, "and although Mr. Fair is a very able counsel, I cannot agree with his interpretation of Bylaw 4970.

"My main reason for so thinking is that the city council has certain jurisdiction within its own limits, and to that extent it has certain legislative authority just as the Legislature of the Province of Ontario and the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada have legislative authority in their own spheres.

"The word bylaw, I believe, is derived from the word "by" or "bye" meaning in Danish "a town" and the word "law"; in other words "the law of the Derby and Whitby.

Can Create Penalty

"In order to enforce its statutes every legislative authority has power to create a penalty for their breach. If this were not so, every person could endeavour to make his own law which would result in chaos and disorder. Hence, we read of the "rule of law."

"I cannot agree with Mr. Fair's suggestion that the bylaw is to be interpreted that the city is merely selling parking time, and that it should account for such time as is not used by the individual who parks his car.

"If that were so, in my opinion a person might claim from a tobacco company one cent for a cigarette, part of which he smoked and threw away, or a person might go to a theatre, buy a ticket, stay for half of the performance and then ask for a refund."

Lindsay Chief Four Years, Goes To Weston

LINDSAY — Police Chief Arthur Webster of this town is resigning to take the post of police chief in Weston, in the suburban Toronto area.

Chief constable of Lindsay for the past four years, Mr. Webster served as an inspector with the Forest Hill Police Department before moving to Lindsay. For one year, he was fire chief of Lindsay as well.

Mr. Webster was one of the top graduates in his year at the Regina Staff College of the R.C.M.P. He reorganized Lindsay's nine-man police force and was responsible for installation of a two-way radio used by the town's police.

Before joining the Forest Hill police, he was with the Toronto lifesavers and harbor patrol for six years. Mr. Webster, 44, is married and the father of three children.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Norwood Fair Monday Last of a Long List.... Peterborough 4-H Club Teams Going to Guelph.... Central Ontario Holstein Championships Show Here Wednesday.... F. C. Paterson to Speak at St. James Church Fireside Hour.

Norwood Fair—Monday, Oct. 13.

East-Central Ontario Holstein Championships at Morrow Park, Wednesday, Oct. 15, beginning at 10 a.m.

County Farm Forum Rally — Tuesday, Oct. 21, at Normal School.

"Nothing but blue skies," is Norwood's petition to the winds and the weather of Thanksgiving Day.

If it be one of those October days when you like to kick through the fallen leaves in the hardwoods, G. A. Brethen should be humming: "Everywhere I look, everything's right." And, if he hasn't time for a lilt, maybe Rod Webb will pick up the melody of "Blue Skies."

What a gamble those Norwood Fair directors take on the capricious weather of mid-autumn! The cover page of their prize list says: "Over $7,000 in cash prizes."

Comes sunshine, and they'll cart a bagfull of cash down town to the Royal Bank. But, should it rain, the directors may have to scurry around for a mortgagee.

Norwood is the last of the Eastern Ontario Fairs. Two others are taking a chance on that seasonal spot: Erin and Woodbridge, both on Thanksgiving Day. Department of Agriculture listed 247 for 1952, beginning with Belleville Exhibition August 11-14. They have all run their accepted course, most of them in fine weather, others dampened by rain.

Norwood board has lined up a big program, and if they draw a warm, sunny day, they may attract that fantastic crowd of 25,000 which Mr. Brethen has set as his shining objective, even if some folks say it simply can't be done.

Advertising in 16 newspapers has been one medium of the Brethen publicity; and the slogan has been "Something for everybody."

The executive includes: Rod Webb, first vice-president; Robert Hope, second; Gordon Parker, sec.-treas.; directors, Frank Andrews, Alfred Elmhirst, J. E. Parker, Max Scott, Sam Buck, Bert Lockhead.

There are also associate juniors and women and other citizens of east Peterborough.

Their promotion of better agriculture, apart from the Fair, entitles them to October favor.

Black and White Finals

Holstein herds in the counties from Frontenac to Simcoe will be entered in the Central Ontario championship finals at Exhibition Park Wednesday. D. S. Dunton of Brampton has been assigned the job of judge.

Eligible for this show are the top prize winners at the various county Black and White Days. Eventual honors, following the sectional championships such as at Peterborough, Ottawa and London, are nominations for the All-Canadian titles of 1952.

Ontario county breeders have kept possession of the County Banner for aggregate score since the district championships were transferred from Warkworth to Peterborough. York and Durham are two others well supplied with quality Holsteins. Prospects for the show will have to await word from Jerry Nelson, fieldman, who has been busy with the county shows, the last of which was the Hastings B. and W. Day at Madoc Fair Thursday. Entries are expected from the neighboring county to the east, and because the date was only yesterday, the list for the finals here next week could not be compiled today.

The public is invited to Morrow Park. Ring seats provide satisfactory accommodation, and lunch will be available at noon.

Ten Peterborough boys and girls are leaving next Thursday afternoon to take part in the 22nd annual provincial 4-H Club competition at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, announced the teams as follows: East Dairy Calf Club, Ruth and Audrey Bolton of Douro.

West dairy calf club: Gaye Hancock of Smith and Neil Whitfield of North Monaghan.

Grain club: Eldon VanVolkenburg, Asphodel, and Gerald Bolton, Douro.

Tractor Club: Carman Bulmer and Paul Jopling of Smith.

The competitions on Friday, Oct. 17, will be concluded with a dinner at which the 4-H Club members with their leaders and coaches will be guests of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Hon. T. L. Kennedy will be the guest speaker.

One result of the day's contests will be the selection of teams to represent Ontario in the National 4-H Club finals at the Royal Winter Fair. Last year 214 teams, comprising 546 boys and girls, reported at O.A.C. for the day's events.

Hog Producers Meet

The semi-annual meeting of the county residents and secretaries of the Ontario Hog Producers will be held Tuesday, October 14, at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. The agenda will include the subject "Central Marketing Agency." W. G. Johnson, secretary-treasurer, reports considerable progress in establishing the new producer company, United Livestock Sales Limited. It has been incorporated; they have been negotiating with the Ontario Stock Yards' Board regarding a fee for marketing hogs, and also for office space, and have been completing arrangements to have all cheques issued by the company to be honored at par when presented to any chartered bank in the province.

G. A. BRETHEN
Norwood Fair President

"AND THE FODDER'S IN THE SHOCK" remains a familiar line from the autumnal poem "When the frost is on the pumpkin," in the vernacular of Whitcomb Riley.

Until a few years ago it was true in the Hoosier state, as elsewhere in the fields of agriculture, but corn in the stook, or shock, as a figure in present day farming has become nearly as obsolete as the big, broad wagon and its team of horses.

You are likely to travel far in this district Thanksgiving Day until you come upon a crop of corn set up in stooks. The combination of tractor and forage harvester has changed that old manual chore.

The field scene in the above picture on the farm of Alan B. Mann at "The Hawthorns" in Smith township, overlooking Chemong Lake and its fringe of cottages, is typical of ensiling practice. The forage harvester takes off the crop row by row, chops it into silo-filling length of an inch or so, blows it into a trailing wagon.

When the wagon is filled, a second tractor whisks it off to the barnyard, blows the chopped corn into the silo and shuttles back to the field to pick up the other wagon.

In that machine speed a field of standing corn is whisked off to the silo so fast that it hasn't time to contemplate its fate. The forage harvester has done for ensilage corn what the combine does in fields of grain. The machine has no concern for labor and lines of doubtful poetry.

Blue Sailors In October

A scattered company of blue sailors was an attractive surprise in a field of second growth red clover the other morning, blooming as gaily in October as in their first flowering back in July. Agriculturists never mention second growth wild chicory except as evidence of a fall from grace in weed control.

These blue sailors had taken root among the clover, and were clipped short in haying time. Like the clover they had grown up again, offering their flowers in routine purpose though the bees are gone. They swayed in the wind, trim and seeming young in their new lease on life.

In contrast, their neighbors in the security of the uncultivated margin along the fence had gone to seed, faded and frowsy, and resigned to the approaching winter. Age had wearied them, unlike the striplings in the clover seemingly expectant of a second spring.

These blue sailors appeared lonely fellows. The birds were gone, leaving only memories of their song, and the fields of grain were stripped to stubble yielding furrows to the plows. Sole companions were the late flowering wild asters, tough of fibre against the recent night frosts.

October permits no further illusion. The year is done with fragrance and melody, and soon will dispense with the brief beauty of the hardwoods. Winds are scattering the seeds of the goldenrod, the milkweed, the cat-tails on the edges of the swamps, and the thistledown along the roadside.

The blue sailors are charming fellows, but anomalous with their second flowering. For them, life has been unfulfilled. They have no place, except decoratively, in all that seeding for another spring.

Cites Potato Prices To To Consumer

The Canadian public paid dearly last winter and spring for inadequate price support of the 1950-51 potato crop, as emphasized in the Ontario Hog Producers' Association bulletin of Sept. 26.

That consumer experience could be repeated with other foods including pork products, W. G. Johnson, secretary of the Hog Producers, writes in the bulletin. He quoted a Financial Post article on "High Potato Prices":—"For several years before 1951, prices steadily declined, while costs of labor, spray and fertilizer kept climbing upward. Farmers began shifting their interests to more lucrative, higher dollar yield per acre crops. The result was that by 1951, the potato crop was down 29 million bushels from the year before. Prices went up by mid-November 1951—they had trebled in a year."

Mr. Johnson also refers to an article by D. A. MacDonald, manager of the Prince Edward Island potato marketing board, in a recent bulletin of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, (in part), on the high price of potatoes continuing to the present: "The lack of an adequate price support program has cost the consumers of Canada many times as much as such a program would have cost the Canadian government. . . . The present scarcity of potatoes provides one of the greatest shortages the industry has ever known. There was a reduction of more than 30 per cent in the P.E.I. acreage alone for the past year, and several thousand carloads of U.S. potatoes, costing millions of dollars, had to be imported by Canadt to help supply the domestic requirements. . . . What has happened in the potato industry during the last two years is conclusive proof that any money spent by the Canadian government to help sustain a fair market level for any agricultural product, indirectly benefits all classes of our people as well as our primary producers."

Says Mr. Johnson: "Were it not for the price support on hogs (now in effect) a very large number of our producers would be placed in a tragic position, even though the amount spent by the federal treasury, under the Agricultural Price Support Act, has been small (averaging 15c per capita) each year for the last five years."

"A disturbing factor to the farm people is that the consuming public apparently rejoices at every drop in the cost-of-living index, unmindful or indifferent to the fact that most of the drop is the result of the downward trend in prices of farm food prices, while at the same time the incomes of non-farm people through wages, prices, fees, salaries, etc., are higher than ever before, and are maintaining excessively high costs of production for the farmer in the face of price declines which bring misfortune to the farm family."

Machines Of Harvesting Create Storage Problem

In terms of laden boxcars, the grain harvest in Canada's west this season would fill a train 5,731 miles, according to the estimate of 1,310,468,000 bushels.

The storage problem, aggravated this year by the tremendous yield, is an effect of the new machine age in agriculture. Twenty-five years ago, harvesting was slow, back-breaking work. Elevators and railways were always able to handle the grain as fast as it arrived from the fields.

Today, the big threshing gangs and teams of horses are replaced by combines and trucks, capable of handling huge loads. Grain is delivered at shipping points all at once, literally as cereal foods.

This fall emergency storage of all kinds has been hastily thrown up on farms. In many cases grain is dumped on the ground, more or less at the mercy of the weather. Some farmers are covering these mounds of wheat with bales of hay for protection.

Usually many a Canadian combine travelled south of the border. For the first time in many years, U.S. machines brought their help to the prairie farmers.

Ensilage Corn Winner Is Ralph Cuthbertson

With top score of 92%, Ralph Cuthbertson of Asphodel township is winner of the ensilage corn competition sponsored this season by Norwood Fair board.

This standing field crop competition is another phase of the agricultural undertakings which the board carries on when they are not planning details of the fair (Thanksgiving Day). They have made an imposing record in the last few years with demonstrations and competitions in Beaver oats, Dorwell wheat, fertilizer [illegible] the ensilage corn crop.

Mr. Cuthbertson was only one point above the score of Austin Sampson with 91%.

Other were: Max Scott 89%; Walter Girven 88; Ivan Begg 87; Eric Pulfer, Hastings RR-3, 85%; Alfred Elmhirst, Indian River, 84; Robert Elliott, Norwood, 83.

G. A. Brethen, president of the board, said there were 30 exhibits. He selected the top rating eight, and said on behalf of the board that the response of so many farmers was highly rewarding by showing the interest with which the club enterprise was carried on.

The judge, Allan Curle of Campbellford, said the quality of the exhibit as a whole was the best he had ever examined. The winning field was remarkably uniform, and had a heavy yield of corn and stock. Said Mr. Brethen: "Quite a number of the club members this year said their crop was much better because they had practiced the advice of the 1951 judge, and sowed less seed to the acre."

+ + +

337 Holsteins Shown

The outstanding county Holstein show in the province this season was Perth Black and White Day at Stratford Fair. Twenty-eight breeders presented 177 head, distributed in the various classes of which George R. McLaughlin, of Oshawa, was judge.

The reserve grand champion bull has been sold to South America. Sprucebell Ideal Sovereign, owned by Adam L. Bell, was first in the junior yearling class, was junior champion and also reserve grand.

Roy Ormiston, of Brooklin, was judge at the York county show at Markham Fair October 3, where 27 exhibitors paraded 160 head. The numbers at Markham and Stratford reflect the continuing interest of breeders in the annual county Black and White Days. Quality was excellent in both those rings. Five new exhibitors in York were: M-H Farms of Milliken; Wilbert Jennings of King; R. G. Munro of Sutton West; Gordon Brumell of Gormley; and William Sweezie of Newmarket.

+ + +

Big Holstein Show

New York State Fair held at Syracuse brought out the largest showing of Holsteins [illegible] continent since 1926 with 469 head on display. Grand Champion at this show was Mollie Dale Teake, a five year old cow bred by W. S. Aykroyd, Inverary, Ont., and now owned by Freebar Farms, Fort Plain, N.Y. She headed a class of 28 aged cows in milk and then went on to take the supreme honors.

There was a liberal sprinkling of Canadian-bred animals among the rest of the prize winners, one of the notable ones being Sovereign Cochrane Ida bred by Elmer Stoltz, Alliston, Ont., and now owned by General Cochrane Farm Fort Plain, New York. She was the first prize dry aged cow and will be recalled as the Reserve All-American three - year - old heifer last year. Her daughter Cochrane Sovereign Meg was the winning two-year-old.

The largest Holstein show of all itme on the continent was Wisconsin State Fair which in 1926 had 609 head in the open classes.

+ + +

Holstein Average $379

An average of $376 for 45 Holsteins amounted to the satisfactory total of $16,935 at the Perth county sale at Stratford Friday, October 3.

Thirty-one bred heifers averaged $360; four bulls $426; and nine milking females $426. The sale was organized to distribute some of the animals that would normally be moving to the U.S. market. Top was $620 for a bred heifer paid by David R. Stevens, St. Mary's, to J. L. Innes, of Stratford.

Second highest price was $550 for a bull calf. Best milking female drew $500. Many of the sales exceeded $400.

Purchasers included two Americans to whom the border is still closed. Otherwise the sale indicated that buyers were bolstering some Western Ontario herds with new blood.

Walter Clark To Kemptville For 2-Yr. Course

Awarded the Peterborough County Council $100 scholarship, Walter Clark, of Asphodel township, leaves Tuesday, Oct. 14, for Kemptville Agricultural School to register for the two-year general course.

He is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Clark, whose farm is three miles southeast of Norwood.

Walter is a graduate of 4-H Clubs. He was four years in dairy calf work and two years with the tractor maintenance club.

"I have received a lot of value from the 4-H Club experience," he commented to the Examiner yesterday. "I realise that I have gained a great deal of benefit from association with the other members of our county clubs, and finally in meeting juniors from elsewhere in the province at the inter - county competitions at O.A.C."

Walter was on a Peterborough club team with Miss Dorothy Chambers at Guelph just a year ago. "We did pretty well," he remarked.

WALTER CLARK

From the "ups and downs of farming," which Mr. Clark has already observed, and from 4-H Club affairs, he said: "There is something very valuable in all that experience if you can make the most of it, to recognize it and put it to use."

"My father and mother have been right behind me in joining the 4-H Clubs and also going on to Kemptville. They wanted me to go, and I'd like the members of the County Council to know that I appreciate the $100 scholarship which I have received. It is a fine help in my first year costs, and it brings the council much nearer to me."

Mr. Clark attended Norwood High School, likes farming and hopes to get the most value out of his course at Kemptville.

Middlesex Junior Farmers have a membership of 515 boys and girls as compared with 220 in 1947-48. Their refreshment booth at Western Fair, London, showed a profit of $250.

Hereford Bull $35,700

This bull, LM Larry Mixer 32nd, arrived at the Watson ranch last week.

The Parkes sale of 145 Herefords brought a total of close to $500,000, and the Alberta rancher's bid was the high mark. The sale in Montana followed the death of Mr. Parkes several months ago. More than 3,000 breeders from all parts of the U.S., and some from Canada, attended. Second highest price was $20,500.

Discuss Farm Topics At St. James Church

The Harvest Thanksgiving service at St. James United Church Sunday evening, Oct. 12, will be followed by a Fireside Hour beginning at 8.15 o'clock at which F. C. Paterson, B.S.A., agricultural representative, will speak on the subject: "Soils and Men."

Farmers and city people interested in agricultural affairs are invited by Rev. H. D. McCormack, minister at St. James, to the Thanksgiving service and its extension in the Fireside Hour. It is expected that Mr. Paterson's address will provide topics for an interesting discussion period, amplifying the practical aspect of ideas associated with man's stewardship of the soil.

Give Pasture Good Soil

When large quantities of feed nutrients are produced from a well-managed pasture, you have a crop worthy of [illegible] other part of the farm enterprise, says S. M. Donaldson, Agronomist at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The value of high quality pasture herbage has been demonstrated experimentally and recognized by progressive farmers. For example, in comparing the feeding value of crops grown in Ontario it was reported that, on a five-year average, one acre of improved pasture produced two or three times the total digestible nutrients and four to five times the protein equivalent produced by one acre of winter wheat, barley or mixed grains.

Many farmers hesitate to use good crop land for pasture. Instead, they assign land of low cropping value. At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, pasture is given the full stature of a crop in a five-year rotation consisting of corn, grain, hay, pasture, grain. During 1951, a season of average rainfall, it was estimated that this pasture produced an average of 2,863 pounds of total digestible nutrients per acre, equivalent to 120 bushels of oats per acre or the amount of nutrients contained in two tons of 16 per cent dairy feed, which costs $80 per ton. Results like this, says Mr. Donaldson, cannot be expected from unimproved pasture on marginal land.

[illegible] hay and silage, instead the entire forage program should be more closely linked together and planned in such a way that June surpluses may be utilized for silage or hay and the aftermath of silage or hay used for grazing. This will involve the use of the larger grasses and legumes, widely adapted for either pasture, silage or hay."

"Steady 80% Production with Super Greens Pellets" says John Waltz, St. Mary's, Ontario, who writes:

Three or four pounds of Super Greens Pellets per hundred birds have been fed each day to our flock all during the winter. Super Greens Pellets seem to have the extra something required to keep the birds in good health while laying heavily.

They have been laying since last October and at a steady 80%.

We used to wet mash our flock at noon but Super Greens Pellets are much handier and do a better job.

"COOL CONTROL"
PUNTING THE FOOTBALL

3 Toe turns slightly inward and instep of foot strikes belly of the ball for properly controlled kick. Power and control come with 'follow-through' — kicking leg swings high, often carrying kicker completely off ground. Always keep your eye on the ball until kick is away.

Yes, it's control that counts, in football as in every sport — control which brings the extraordinary quality that sets one performer above the other. In the ability to approach things coolly, to control every move and moment, lies the answer to better results.

This is one of a series designed to increase the pleasure of Canadians who participate in sports.

Porgy And Bess Captivates U.K. Audiences

LONDON (CP)—Drama critics of London newspapers today were unanimous in acclaiming George Gershwin's Negro folk opera, "Porgy and Bess," as performed last night before a glittering first-night audience.

"It was one of those first nights that will be talked about for many months," said the Daily Mail. "It must be many years since the London stage has known anything like it for yerge, drama and musical delight."

The audience roared its approval of the production, presented by a cast of Americans with a British-manned orchestra under the baton of Alexander Smallens, an American.

The curtain went up on schedule last night despite a dispute that nearly brought a British union ban against the show. The squabble developed over choice of a conductor. The union had demanded that a British conductor take over after three performances. The dispute was settled at the last minute when the management agreed to let an English conductor take over the baton from Smallens "as soon as practical."

LIKED IN VIENNA

The show, with an all-Negro cast, came to London after enthusiastic receptions in Berlin and Vienna. It is here for an indefinite run and has a year or more of bookings in other European cities before it returns to New York. The present show has not yet appeared on Broadway.

Judging from the reviews, "Porgy and Bess" will have a long run here.

"Porgy and Bess is here to stay," said the London Graphic. The music critic of the Daily Herald agreed, adding that the show "was worth waiting 17 years for."

William Warfield, playing the part of the crippled Porgy, and his wife, Leontyne Price as Bess, received a rousing ovation for their first act duet: "Bess, You is my Woman Now."

Bandleader Cab Calloway, playing for the first time the part of "Sportin' Life" originally written for him, said the reception was heart-warming.

RAILROAD DISASTER IN ENGLAND —Rescue workers still dig into the mangled wreckage of a three-train collision in the Harrow Wealdstone station in England. More than 100 persons were killed and hundreds more injured in one of Britain's worst rail disasters. Two express trains—the Night Scot and the Manchester Express—and a local crashed in the mist of an autumn fog. Steel wreckage 30 feet high impeded first-aid workers.

Eskimos Want To Remain Nomads So Standard Of Living Is Low

WINNIPEG (CP) — A French priest says Canada's Eskimos are better off than they have ever been but their standard of living has improved little over the years.

This is the report of a missionary who lived in Canada 10 years before he saw Canadian civilization.

Rev. Jean Philippe, O.M.I., 43, was in Winnipeg recently while on a trip to his home in Paris. He says the Eskimo has lost many superstitions and taboos, gained much from schools and sympathetic teachers and has been helped through rough times by government aid.

But the Eskimo's standard of living still is pitifully low because he is a nomad.

"It is very difficult to help them in this respect," says Father Philippe. "They want to remain nomads so it is difficult to find jobs for them. So few live in such a vast territory—one Eskimo per 100 square miles."

17 YEARS IN ARCTIC

Father Philippe went to the Canadian Arctic in 1935, travelling from the Atlantic into the north by way of Churchill, Man., 600 miles north of Winnipeg. He saw Winnipeg—his first Canadian city—for the first time in 1945.

For the last seven years he has worked at the mission in Churchill proper.

"We call Churchill the banana belt," he says. "It's the southernmost point in our diocese—1,000,000 square miles with 12 missions and 25 priests.

Father Philippe's first years in the Arctic were far from easy. He had come almost straight from Paris.

"And they don't teach in the seminary how to handle a dog team or how to shoot a seal," he recalls. "I learned fast."

High River Cadets Best Unit In Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—No. 187 Air Cadet Squadron of High River, Alta., has been judged the finest Air Cadet unit in Canada.

In a joint announcement, the Air Cadet League and the R.C.A.F. Association today named No. 187 the first winner of the R.C.A.F. Association Trophy — a specially designed silver trophy depicting the spirit of modern flight. The award will be presented annually to the most proficient Air Cadet squadron in Canada.

All phases of squadron operations are taken into account in deciding the winner, including quality of cadet training, average attendance on parades, effectiveness of civilian sponsoring committees and other factors. Squadron ratins are made by visiting officers of the R.C.A.F. at annual inspections each spring.

The announcement placed No. 187 in the top spot with a score of 2,449½ points of a possible 2,500. In second place is No. 22 Powell River, B.C., Squadron, with 2,436 points.

Air Vice-Marshal A.L. Morfee, president of the R.C.A.F. Association, will present the trophy to officials of the High River Squadron in Calgary Oct. 17.

Freighter To Sail On Real Milk Run

VANCOUVER (CP)—The cargo freighter Mapledell will sail for the Orient about Nov. 29 on a genuine "milk run."

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada announced yesterday the freighter will carry 70,000 pounds of powdered milk for Korean children.

The shipment will be the first of an anticipated 200,000 pounds of milk to be sent to Seoul to provide a glass of milk a day for primary school children during the coldest months of the year.

It is expected the Mapledell will take the first shipment as far as Japan where it will be transferred to another vessel.

Wartime Friend Willed Home

BRAMPTON (CP)—A Brampton woman who formed a casual wartime acquaintance on an R.A.F. base in England has been willed a home and £500 by a man she only knew as Joe.

Mrs. Everett Biggs, wife of Ontario's dairy commissioner, worked on the base in 1943. Joe, whose real name as given in his will was Algernon Olley, was an elderly civilian employee there at the same time.

A British legal firm has been searching for the Canadian heir for the last three months. She was mentioned in the will as Irene Croydon, her maiden name. It was seen listed in a legal notice in a British trade journal by a friend of Mrs. Biggs in England, who wrote the firm.

$2,000 Trophy For Conservation

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A $2,000 trophy was presented today by a United States citizen to the Canadian Tourist Association in convention here.

Called the Julian Crandall Conservation Trophy, it was presented by Julian Crandall of Ashaway, R.I. It will be given yearly to the Canadian who, in the opinion of the C.T.A., contributes most to the "preservation of the nation's renewable resources of forest, field and stream."

Outdoor writers on Canadian newspapers and magazines will be asked to nominate candidates for the honor.

The trophy will be awarded for the first time in 1953. In presenting it to the C.T.A., Mr. Crandall said it was a form of saying "thank you" for pleasures he has had in hunting and fishing in Canada.

New Approach To Education

OTTAWA (CP)—A new approach to educating Canada's Indians, aimed at encouraging intelligent students to remain on reservations to serve their community, has been recommended by the Roman Catholic Indian Welfare Commission of the Oblate missionaries.

The plan, to be sent to the federal government for approval, calls for Indian students who show promise in reservation schools to continue higher education along study courses designed to qualify them as community leaders.

The Oblate missionaries administer 42 residential schools for the federal government, and an additional number of day schools. They teach more than 4,000 Indian pupils.

Pills For Birth Control Developed By U.S. Doctor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Successful human use of pills as a method of birth control was reported yesterday by a Boston doctor.

The report was made by Dr. Benjamin Sieve who, while reporting preliminary success with them, said further extensive studies must be made "before the general use of this anti-fertility factor is warranted."

Dr. Sieve, in a report in the technical journal "Science," said 298 married couples had experienced complete lack of fertility during periods ranging from three to 30 months while taking the pills.

He emphasized that the anti-fertility action of the chemical prevails only while it is being taken. He said 220 of the women have had a baby or have become pregnant since terminating a period of [illegible]

The chemical, called "phosphorylated hesperidin," is believed to act as an anti-fertility factor, he added, by interfering with the action of a body chemical called "hyaluronidase" which in turn is believed to aid in the impregnation of the female egg by the male sperm.

Saying that the substance "promises safe and controllable anti-fertility," Dr. Sieve said it "can be taken indefinitely without toxic (harmful) effects or permanent inhibition of fertility."

The pills are taken at breakfast, lunch and dinner in dosages regulated for particular persons—and are taken by both the husband and wife. The pills must be taken for 10 consecutive days before their action becomes effective, must be taken continuously thereafter to ensure lack of fertility but "fertility can be restored merely by omitting the drug for a 48-hour period."

Rev. Francis J. Connell, a Redemptorist priest, and dean of the School of Secred Theology at the Catholic University of America, when asked to comment on the report, said:

"Any use of such a substance with the direct intent of preventing conception would be a violation of the Divine Law as it affects birth, according to Catholic interpretation of God's Law."

APPROVES USE

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, bishop of the Washington, D.C., area of the Methodist Church, also asked to comment, said:

"It is in accord with the moral law to plan properly for the coming of children. This discovery may enable mothers to space their children with due regard for health, education and service to society. The discovery is to be commended, not condemned."

Dr. Sieve reported that all 298 couples had had at least one child before undergoing the pill treatment, but that two of the couples had shown an apparent sterility for some time prior to the test. And yet, he said, the woman in [illegible] to become pregnant after stopping the pill-taking.

This suggests, he said, that the chemical may have the power of promotin fertility in persons deficient in that line—while at the same time inhibiting it in normally fertile people. But he said further study would be needed to confirm this idea.

DOROTHY DIX

Married Woman Advised To Forget Her First Love

DEAR MISS DIX: Ten years ago I fell in love with a boy who has been in service most of the time since. I see him only occasionally, but can't get him out of my thoughts. We are both married, and I want to devote myself to my family as I think I should. I don't know if my ex-sweetheart still cares for me or not. How can I forget him?

EILEEN G. K.

ANSWER: A first love is usually more of a symptom than an emotion. Its most apparent productiveness lies inn the daydreams it engenders, and these can go on —at least on the feminine side— indefintely.

Can you honestly think of a more wasteful pastime than mooning over someone you knew ten years ago? The only way to get rid of the insidious growth is to root it out, and supplant it with some worthwhile activity. Very apparently, your household chores offer insufficient mental stimulation, and the thing for you to do is to get out and dive headlong into something that will keep you so busy you'll have no time to sigh over past loves.

LOST BEAU

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 and for about a year have been going with a boy my age. We wrote each other all summer while he was away; now that he has returned, he seems to have changed. He isn't as friendly as he was, and has been going around with another girl. I still like him, and would like to win him back.

S .P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Both you and the boy will find many friends, perhaps many sweethearts, before you settle down for good. Be friendly when you see him, don't greet him with questions or reproaches, and look around for another beau.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a man and wonder if he loves me. We had several misunderstandings, after which he began to break dates. He has asked me to marry him, but I wonder if he would make a good husband.

LUCILE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm afraid marriage is not adivsed where you both are apparently so quick-tempered and stubborn. You have chased him enough, now you should sit back and let him make the apologies. Perhaps he has learned a lesson, and would be a good husband, but it's doubtful.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a boy of 20 who is in the army. I have been writing to him for six months, and when I told him I was handicapped, he stopped writing.

JULIE T. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Apparently you and boy had never met, but simply struck up a correspondence friendship. Hence, he is evaluating you only on surface qualities. Since he has little knowledge of your character and personality, your handicap is, to him, much more important than it would be if he really knew you.

Furthermore, he is a very young boy, and youth has little understanding of imperfection. Don't let this one disappointment hurt you, for you will meet other men of finer perception.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband loves crime stories on the radio, and will sit for two or three hours listening to them. Why does he waste so much time on foolishenss when there are so many fine broadcasts? We have only three rooms, no doors and I cannot get away from these tales. Don't you think he is inconsiderate to keep me from hearing the things I like?

MRS. B. A. W.

ANSWER: When two people of divergent tastes must share the same radio, there are bound to be hard feelings when one or the other monopolizes the speaker. If your husband conceded your right to hear broadcasts you like, he would probably do it so grudgingly that you would have no enjoyment from the concession.

Why not cease trying for a compromise and settle for another radio? The problem of no doors presents quite an obstacle, but not an insuperable one. Either buy, or make, a heavy curtain for one door way, or a corner of the room, with a lining and interlining. This will shut out a surprising amount of interference and, if your husband will be considerate enough to turn his machine low, you should have no difficulty in listening to programs you like. Try it!

LOVELY AND LACY—Katherine Cassidy, of Los Angeles, Calif., models a black satin Lastex swimsuit, with a neckline which plunges to the waist. The lacing, which keeps the upper part of the suit more or less together, and the black lace edge, is reminiscent of the Gay '90's corset design.

Mary E. Armstrong Wed To Herbert John Adams

LAKEFIELD (ENS).—Decorated with pink and white asters and pale yellow 'mums, St. Paul's Church was the scene of a pretty fall wedding on Tuesday morning, when Mary Evelyn, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Armstrong, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert John Adams, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Brampton.

The Rev. Dr. V. J. Masterson officiated and during the signing of the register Miss Ruth Johnston and the bride's brother Harry Armstrong sang "Ave Maria." Mrs. William Hamblin was at the organ.

Given in marriage by her elder brother, Harry Armstrong, the bride wore a gown of navy triple sheer, navy hat and matching accessories and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

She was attended by her niece, Miss Dorothy Armstrong, as bridesmaid, in a frock of powder blue nylon lace over taffeta, navy feather hat and navy accessories and carrying a bouquet of deep pink carnations.

Mr. Dennis Armstrong of Toronto was best man and the usher was Mr. Charles Armstrong, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at D'Eyncourt Manor, Lakefield, where the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Armstrong, received wearing a gown of wine crepe, with matching hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

During the reception, the wedding cake was cut with a silver knife belonging to Mrs. W. J. Webster, which has been used for many years for this purpose.

For a wedding trip to St. Johns, N. B., the bride chose a grey suit, navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Adams will live at Kleinburg.

It has a quieting effect on uterine contractions that often cause menstrual pain!

Readers' Friday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I have a lot of vegetables on hand. The cucumbers are larger than 2 to 4 inches, as you recommend. Will it be O.K. if I cut them and discard the seedy part? Also could other vegetabls — cauliflower, onions, red sweet peppers—be added and brined at the same time ... where would I be without a good recipe before me! G. E. S.

ANSWER: I will repeat Crock Pickles for your question is similar to those of many readers—and it answers all the details in your letter.

CROCK PICKLES

One 6-quart basket cucumbers, either small ones or larger ones cut into pieces; 1 quart small onions, 2 heads cauliflower. Pour enough boiling water over to cover and add ½ cup salt, mixing it through. Let stand 24 hours. Drain. Repeat twice more so that vegetables are in 3 fresh brines over 72-hour period. Bring to boiling 1 gallon vinegar, 8 lbs. white sugar, 2 oz. cinnamon buds and 1½ oz. allspice buds (buy these buds at the drugstore). When boiling, pour over the drained vegetables. More cucumbers may be added at any time, as long as there is brine to cover. The spices should be tied in a cheesecloth bag and left in only long enough to spice the vinegar to your taste. These must be kept cool and covered.

QUESTION: When I make potted meat I always wonder if it is safe to put it in tin muffin pans to set. Just answer yes or no ... I have had quite a few failures recently in making a plain cake ... have changed my baking powder, recipe, etc. I follow recipes exactly and when the cake comes out of the oven it looks lovely, ten minutes later it just drops in the centre. I have wonderful success with the cakes I make with oil but "Himself" doesn't care for them ... Thanking you. MARY S.

ANSWER: Yes, you may mould potted meat in tin muffin pans. Tin is one of the safest of metals regardless of the old-fashioned notion that food in tin cans should be tipped out the instant the can is opened.

As for the fallen cake — try baking them at 25 deg. Fahr. higher temperature and for 2 or 3 minutes longer. Shall I give you my standard 1-egg cake recipe? It may be a little different and detailed than the one you are using.

STANDARD ONE-EGG CAKE

Sift cake flour and measure 1⅞ cups; sift with 1½ teaspoons baking powder and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ⅜ cup mixed shortening and butter until fluffy, then beat into them 1¼ cups sugar until both are light and fluffy, then beat into them 1 very large egg. Sift over them the sifted dry ingredients, 1-3 at a time, alternately with ⅔ cup milk and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into paper-lined buttered 9 x 9 square pan. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 35 minutes. In your case, since your oven thermometer may be registering lower than the actual heat, bake this at 375 deg. Fahr. Let me know if my ideas do not correct your trouble.

QUESTION: Here is a different recipe for canned fruit salad.

CANNED FRUIT SALAD

(Contributed by Mildred L.)

Six peaches, 6 pears, 3 firm apples, 1 honey-dew or ripe cantaloupe, 1 No. 2 can cubed or sliced pineapple, 1 small bottle maraschino cherries. Peel, core and cube the peaches, pears, apples and cantaloupe. Add pineapple and blend fruits well. To every 3 cups prepared fruit add 1 cup sugar and place mixture in earthenware bowl and allow to stand 4 to 6 hours. Add cherries and place fruit mixture in sterilized jars. Process in hot water bath for 10 minutes, counting time water starts to boil. When serving add banana cubed, orange and grapefruit.—MILDRED L.

ANSWER: Thank you very much, Mildred.

QUESTION: Would you please give some advice on using bluestone in making nine-day pickles. Also, what to do in case of having put in too much bluestone. My pickles taste iron-like and don't seem at all like those of other years. H. K.

ANSWER: As you know, I dislike being discouraging, but bluestone is sulphate of copper and should never be used in pickling. Some compounds of copper are poisonous. I would be remiss if I did not say start all over again making your 9-day pickles and never use bluestone again.

Norwood Friends Fete Bride-Elect

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A pleasant surprise was provided for Miss Beulah Chase, whose marriage to Mr. Harry Kavanagh, Norwood, will take place on October 25, when she was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held Wednesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chase. The hostesses for the event were Mrs. Fraser Oliver and Mrs. Lawrence Gerow.

After opening the parcels and reading the mesages of good will, the bride-elect voiced her thanks in a few well-chosen words. Among the gifts was a pair of beautiful boudoir lamps from the employees of the Canada Sports and Fishing Tackle Co. Mrs. Gerald Buchanan conducted two contests which were won by Mrs. W. Copp and Mrs. W. Hitchins. Mrs. John Beatty officiated as pianist for a sing-song. Refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. J. Griffith, Mrs. J. Beatty, Mrs. Henry Parcels, Miss M. Sexsmith, Mrs. W. Hitchins, Mrs. W. Copp, Mrs. W. Smith, Mrs. Ronald Green, Mrs. O. Patterson, Mrs. T. Youmans, Mrs. Carman Ellis, Mrs. Frank Ellis, Miss Dorothy Ellis, Mrs. John McMullen, Mrs. W. Barton, Mrs. E. Brunton, Mrs. Ted Watson, Mrs. A. Holland, Mrs. G. Buchanan, Miss Lillian McLaughlin, Mrs. Roy Longmuir.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were: Mrs. R. Backus, Mrs. H. Smith, Mrs. G. Would, Mrs. Margaret McMullen, Mrs. H. Watson, Miss Leatha Brunton.

Millbrook Bible Group Holds Annual Meeting

MILLBROOK (ENS).—Annual meeting of the Millbrook branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held in St. Thomas parish hall Tuesday evening. All three Millbrook congregations and those of Centreville, Springville and Bailieboro had been invited to attend to hear the special speaker, the Rev. Leonard F. Geary. Mr. Geary is secretary of the Bible Society in Bible lands south, with his headquarters in Cairo, Egypt.

In Egypt the literary movement is part of the national campaign. Young people of the Coptic church are going out to teach the villagers to read. The texts used are the Arabic gospels. Mr. Geary said that to his knowledge the only other agency that was attempting to reach every nation of the world, each in his own language, besides the Bible Society, was the Communistic one spreading its literature.

In the business part of the meeting the Rev. Walter Patterson, who has been president for a number of years of the Millbrook branch, asked that his resignation be accepted.

The Rev. A. A. Chote acted as chairamn. The Rev. W. H. Heustin, the Rev. A. M. Butler, Mrs. Irwin Hatherley, Mrs. Walter Patterson and Miss Anna Fair were appointed as a nominating committee. The following collectors of funds for the Bible Society were also appointed: Miss Anna Fair, Mrs. Walter Patterson, Mrs. I. Hatherley, Miss Henrietta Wood, Mrs. Gerald Armstrong, Mrs. Reginald Fallis, Mrs. Harold Argue, Mr. Norman Hubbeard, Mrs. Mervin Kinsman. It was passed that the financial objective set for the coming year should be $300.

Before the final prayer, Mr. Chote requested all present to stand in silent tribute for a moment to the memory of the late George E. Burnham, for many years president of the Millbrook branch of the Bible Society.

THE NEW, NARROW LINE in evening gowns appears in two evening gowns (left and centre) shown here. White satin is cut (left) with strapless decolletage and skirt with basic sheath line that has overskirt sweeping from hips. Bodice is encrusted with delicate massing of flowers in pearls and sequins. The sleek line appears again (centre) in seafoam green silk taffeta with overskirt. Fabric is draped across the bosom line, tucked across the hips. Bouffant dress (right) is in pale grey Chantilly over pink net. A strapless bodice sparkles with iridescent paillettes. With it is sheer grey tulle stole. All three gowns are by Elfreda-Fox. The young man wears (left) an after-six double-breasted tuxedo with peaked lapels in midnight-blue lightweight wool worsted. His tuxedo (centre) is a single-breasted shawl collar model, again in midnight blue feather-light wool worsted. He wears a full-dress suit (right) in another featherweight wool.

Narrow Look Newest In Formal Evening Gowns

After many seasons of the very full and bouffant skirt, evening gowns are slimming down to the width of a stem. This does not mean that the bouffant skirt has disappeared. It's still very much in evidence.

But it's the narrow look that's the newest look. And it's the new in fashion that keeps it fresh and exciting to women everywhere.

Generally, this tubular silhouette is balanced by an overskirt, a slight train, or by floating panels to relieve the severity of line. But the sheath line is clear and unmistakable. It is also very dramatic because our eyes have become accustomed to bouffant fullness.

Lace gets special emphasis in both short and full-length evening gowns. It appears frequently in combination with taffeta, satin or even velvet. But for the very slim, sleek line, fabric are stiffer; slipper satin, brocade, silk taffeta, silk barathea. These serve to emphasize the tubular line.

The long dress, currently undergoing a revival, has the slim look, too. It's done in soft fabrics: crepe, silk jersey and lame.

Here, as with formal evening gowns, the emphasis is on a generally softer silhouette. While the jacket appears as cover-up for many dinner dresses, the stole and the attached scarf-panel are also used as a means of creating cover-up.

Oratory Contest Winners

CAVAN (ENS). — The North Cavan School Area, under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Waterman, Peterborough, held public speaking contest last Friday evening in the Parish Hal, Ida. Hubert Lowes acted as chairman for the program. There were 11 contestants in public speaking. The winners of the first and second prizes were Ruth Grice and Joan Kempt, pupils of Garry Stevenson, S.S. 3, Fairmount. The winning speech was on "The Empire State Building, the Tallest Building in the World," and Joan Kempt spoke on "Grandmother's Kitchen."

Nancy Snyder, a pupil of George Bedford of Cavan School, won honorable mention on her speech on "The Cavan Blazers."

Doris Moore, a pupil of Fraser Carr of Cairo School, also won honorable mention. Miss D. Hogaboam, the Rev. R. A. Chote, and H. Williams, Millbrook, were the judges.

Ruth Grice will go to complete in the semi-finals to be held in Millbrook Town Hall on October 28th.

You can't go "ALL-OUT" IF you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

C.W.L. Plans Bazaar In November

Mr. Frank Booth of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening of the St. Peter's sub-division of the Catholic Women's League held in the Social Centre.

Mr. Booth appealed to the members for assistance in canvassing for the mass X-ray survey that will take place in Peterborough, Nov. 3 to Dec. 5.

He explained that it is necessary to detect T.B. in its early stages to help in effecting cures. The only way to detect T.B. in its early stages is by X-rays.

Mr. Booth asked that everyone buy Christmas seals. He explained that the proceeds from the sale of seals are used to finance these surveys.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. F. Lynch and thanked by Mrs. K. Poole.

It was decided that the bazaar will be held in the Social Centre in the last week of November or first week in December. Mrs. Lynch will be the general convener. The following will be in charge of the booths: Mrs. F. Guilfoyle, post office; Mrs. F. McCarthy, fish pond; Mrs. W. Vondette and Miss E. Brennan, home baking; Mrs. E. Quinlan, candy; Mrs. A. Willis, white elephant; Mrs. Poole and Mrs. Hickey, doll; Mrs. Trudeau and Mrs. Viscoff, tea garden; Mrs. Beresford and Mrs. Feeley, knitting; Mrs. J. Lane, apron.

Mrs. A. Willis will donate an oil painting for the bazaar.

A motion was passed that the members receive Holy Communion in a body the first Sunday of each month at 7.30.

Mrs. Lynch, convener of Organization for Peterborough Diocese, outlined the organization and explained that the St. Peter's chaplain or director is in supreme command of the league.

A note of thanks was received from the Sisters of the House of Providence on behalf of the residents thanking the ladies donating cars to drive them to Ennismore for the concert and supper sponsored by the C.W.L. of St. Martin's parish.

A tasty lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Graham-Stanton Wedding Vows Taken This Evening

The marriage will take place tonight in Trinity United Church of Nancy Joan Stanton, daughter of Mrs. Charles Edmund Stanton, and Jethro Hugh Graham, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. Jethro Graham.

The church will be decorated with bronze, cream and yellow 'mums and palms for the ceremony which will be conducted by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan. Mr. Donald Kennedy will play the wedding music.

The soloist will be Mrs. H. A. Mitchell who will sing The Lord's Prayer before the ceremony and The 23rd Psalm during the signing of the register.

The bride will be given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. B. Franklin Stanton, of Montreal. Her gown is of French antique ivory velvet. The decolette neckline and long fitted sleeves are held at the back and wrists by tiny velvet buttons. The skirt is fitted at the waist and gored to form a full sweeping train. Her headdress is a matching velvet pillbox with a fingertip veil of tulle illusion held in place with tiny ivory feathers.

The wedding attendants will be Mrs. John A. Skitch, sister of the bride, Miss Jean Hills, Miss Catherine Graham, sister of the groom, and Miss Mary Cover, Reg. N., of Toronto.

Their gowns are identically fashioned to the bride's in brandy spice velvet with cap sleeves and matching velvet mitts, and their flowing skirts end in short trains. [illegible] veilings, they will carry cascades of leaves of caladium, galax, croten, and wild grape in shades of green rust and yellow.

Mr. Morris Richardson of Niagara Falls will be best man; the ushers will be Mr. Leslie Graham, Mr. Douglas Head, Mr. William Browne of Toronto, and Mr. Williams Paterson of Smiths Falls.

After the ceremony a reception will be held at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. The bride's mother will receive in a gown of sandalwood Chantilly lace with an original hat of shadow pink trimmed with small brown feather tips and a corsage of sweetheart pink roses. The groom's mother will assist. Her gown is of misty grey and mushroom pink and she will wear black accessories and a corsage of varying hues of pink carnations.

Later the bride and groom will leave for a wedding trip to the United States. For travelling the bride has chosen a brown wool dress, brown accessories, a top coat of English rusty beige checked wool and a corsage of orange delight roses.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Graham will live at 226 Barnardo Ave.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding will be from Toronto, Niagara Falls, Smiths Falls, Buffalo, Indianapolis, Montreal, Kingston, Barrie and Fenelon Falls.

Washable Dark Winter Cottons Smart Can Save On Many Cleaning Bills

THE DEPENDABLE BLACK DRESS for fall and winter will be washable as well as smart when it is made of cotton (above). Collar and cuffs snap in and out for frequent sudsing (see insert).

This year cottons won't go into hiding until summer comes around again. Dark cottons with the great virtue of washability will fill out your winter wardrobe.

Corduroys without linings are simple to wash and need no ironing for a finished look. Let these garments drip dry and straighten out the seams by the fingerpress method. Brush up the corduroy nap when dry. Just one caution: never rub during the washing process.

Cotton tweed, worsted and flannel can be washed if you make sure the lining is washable too. Remove the shoulder pads. Those that snap in and out present no problems. If there is velveteen trim superimposed on lapels or cuffs, snip it out before you wash. It will be easy to baste the trim back on.

When washing quilted garments, use a soapy brush on the soiled spots rather than rubbing the cloth against itself. Shake the garment out several times as it dries and you will not need to iron it. Just fingerpress the seams.

Whenever possible, buy the dress, suit or skirt with a colorfast, shrink-resistant label. If there is no such label and you want to buy anyway, make the color-fastness test before immersing your garment. Douse a small section in cool water for a few minutes to see if it runs. When in doubt about shrink-resistance, use lukewarm water only.

AN ANSWER TO RAINY DAY DOLDRUMS is this grey cricketeer flannel coat with checked taffeta spicing the cuffs and high collar to match the gay lining.

Wives Keep Bags Packed Ready To Leave In Hurry

EDMONTON (CP) — A former Edmonton girl back from a visit after living in occupied Europe with her American soldier husband says wives in occupied Europe keep bags packed with clothing and food all the time, ready to leave.

Mrs. E. A. Cherry, formerly Grace LaRose, said she could hardly adapt herself to the tension and suspicion.

Her husband, a warrant officer, was stationed at the U. S. military base at Tulln, 25 miles from Vienna.

Food was in plentiful supply from the United States army commissary and she bought clothing from a catalogue or went shopping in Vienna. The latter was an experience.

"The clothes are made with huge seams, either to be let out or taken in," she said. "A fitter made the adjustments in the shop for you."

Woollens were good but cottons and other materials were neither shrink-proof nor dye-fast.

Mrs. Cherry said shoes bought in Austria are expensive, ill-fitting, clumsy and heavy to wear.

"And they squeak," she added.

In the city the girls dressed in gay colors, but in the country they clung to the traditional dress, peasant blouses and dirndl skirts.

Mrs. Cherry said she was able to manage the language sufficiently well to buy fruits and vegetables on the market.

The Cherrys had an attractive apartment. The U. S. army rented houses and apartments from the Austrian government which paid the owners.

After their leave is completed, Mr. and Mrs. Cherry will go to Oklahoma where her husband will be stationed.

Ask Rent Control In Britain Be Adjusted

SCARBOROUGH, England (Reuters) — The annual Conservative party conference today urged that Britain's rent-control acts, under which many rents are pegged at pre-war figures, should be brought into line with modern conditions.

The conference also passed resolutions congratulating the government on its housing drive. The representatives devoted the day to discussing domestic affairs.

Housing Minister Harold MacMillan promised that the Conservative government would keep to its target of 300,000 new houses a year "if all goes well with us in the larger fields of policy." He denied Socialist charges that the government was building more houses for sale than for rental.

Another [illegible] pledged the Conservative party's belief in a free and independent trade-union movement and urged Conservatives to take part in union activities.

Prime Minister Churchill received a warm welcome from 4,000 of his supporters when he arrived overnight. He is due to wind up the conference tomorrow with a major speech.

Elect President

TORONTO (CP) — Rev. Edward Morris of Halifax has been re-elected president of the Canadian Protestant League. Rev. Arthur B. [illegible] of Moncton and Rev. Walter Schunk of Winnipeg are vice-presidents.

The league, representing upwards of 50,000 Protestants across Canada, plans to double its field work.

Japanese Princess Weds Rancher

TOKYO (Reuters)—An unprecedented Royal romance culminated today in the wedding of Princess Yori, fourth daughter of Emperor Hirohito, to a wealthy chicken rancher.

The 21-year-old princess has shredded tradition in her romance with Takamasa Ikeda, 25 a millionaire lover of animals who prefers the wide open spaces of southern Japan to Tokyo society.

She has agreed to live on his lonely ranch, marking the first time in 2,000 years that a princess has lived outside the capital.

Like her father, Princess Yori has accepted the swift changes in court life which followed the last war. Nobody is more aware of the new regime than the prospective bridegroom who lost his title as marquis when the peerage was abolished during the Allied occupation.

Ikeda has withdrawn almost completely from Tokyo society and tends his 2,000 chickens at a ranch near Okayama City, 500 miles west of Tokyo.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Throop To Celebrate 50th Anniversary

ASHBURNHAM RESIDENTS all their married life, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Throop, 362 Burnham St., will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary Thanksgiving Day.—(Roy Studio Photo)

Thanksgiving day will see a double celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Throop of 362 Burnham St. Besides observing the traditional holiday, the Throops will be celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary.

The couple were married Oct. 14, 1902, by the Rev. C. L. Thompson of Mark Street Church.

To be exact, the anniversary should not be till Tuesday, but Mr. and Mrs. Throop decided to hold it a day earlier for the convenience of relatives and friends outside the city.

The immediate family and intimate friends will dine with Mr. and Mrs. Throop at a dinner given in the Empress Hotel. Among the guests of honor will be the bridesmaid and groomsman who were present at the wedding 50 years ago. They are Mrs. Gus White, the former Nellie McCabe, and Edmund Wand.

After the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Throop will return to their Burnham St. home to receive their friends from 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. and again from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Attending the golden wedding celebration will be their son, William Wand Throop of Downsview; two daughters, Mrs. L. B. Cunningham (Alberta), and Mrs. R. A. Fitchett (Helen), both of Peterborough. Also five grandchildren: Flight Cadet Albert L. Cunningham of Centralia, Larrie J. Cunningham of Peterborough, and Wanda, Albert J. and Colin Troop, the last three of Downsview.

Mrs. Throop was born in Ashburnham and has lived there all her life. She has been active in church work at Mark Street United and is a member of the Women's Auxiliary and other groups. She has also been a prominent member of the W.C.T.U.

Mr. Troop moved to Peterborough from Cobourg when a boy. He was employed with Adam Hall for five years, the C.G.E. for four years and Adamson and Dobbin for 36 years.

During the Second World War, Mr. Troop helped in the erection of the camp at Morrow Park for the Royal Canadian Engineers. He was also five years with the United Kingdom inspection board.

At present he is employed by the Lakefield Boats Ltd.

He has also been prominent in the Masons: past master of the Corinthian Lodge, A.F. and A.M. No. 101; also past first principal of Corinthian Chapter No. 36, Royal Arch Masons.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Meat Prices Aids Thanksgiving Dinner

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The way meat prices are slipping in most parts of the country a "groaning board" will prevail in most homes this Thanksgiving.

The old-fashioned phrase means that across Canada dining-room tables will fairly "groan" beneath the weight of meats, vegetables, fruits and desserts prepared for this festive occasion.

Roast turkey is the traditional Thanksgiving dish and this year is selling for 80 cents a pound in many homes, particularly in Newfoundland where it still is regarded as the most popular

CHICKEN TOO

Chicken will be king in other spots. In Ontario a good roasting chicken can be obtained for 59 cents a pound.

But in many parts the recent decline in meat prices may see families enjoying their first roast in months. Around Sarnia and in other parts of Ontario beef is selling for between 69 cents for lower grade cuts to 85 cents for porterhouse. A good rib roast of beef could be bought recently in Toronto for as low as 60 cents a pound.

Ingredients: 1½ cups pumpkin; one cup brown sugar (firmly packed); three eggs well beaten; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-half teaspoon ginger; one cup milk, one-half cup cream.

Mix in order given and bake in deep nine-inch shell at 400 degrees for 15 minutes, then reduce temperature to 350 degres and bak 40 minutes longer or until finished.

COMPANY SNACKS

With company coming it's a good idea to make certain there is food handy for quick snacks.

Here is a recipe for a banana cake which should prove [illegible]

Ingredients: [illegible] cup margarine or shortening; 1½ cup sugar; two medium-sized bananas (mashed); two eggs; two cups cake flour; one teaspoon baking-soda; one-quarter teaspoon salt; one-half cup chopped dates; one-half cup coarsely chopped walnuts; one-half cup sour milk or buttermilk

Cream margarine and add sugar. Then add mashed bananas and beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking-soda and salt and add gradually to the batter alternately with the milk. Stir in dates and nuts. Bake in square cake-pan lined with buttered paper at 325 degrees fahrenheit (about 55 minutes).

EATING HABITS VARY

Most families eat all three meals in the kitchen or breakfast-nook, a recent survey of Canadian eating habits has found.

The survey, conducted among a cross-section of Canadian housewives by a large food company, found that one-fourth more Canadian families serve meat or fowl than in the U.S., and twice as many serve fish, but only one-half as many serve sandwiches.

Almost two-thirds of our families serve tea as compared to one out of six in the U.S. but in the U.S., there are three times as many serving coffee as there are in Canada.

What's Right?

You give money to a child on his birthday in place of some other gift.

WRONG: Tell him what you expect him to do with the money.

RIGHT: When you give money as a gift, don't attach any strings to it. Let the one who receives it feel that it is his to do with as he wishes.

6—In Memoriam

BYERS—In loving memory of Thomas Byers, who passed on Oct. 10, 1950.
Not dead, but passed beyond
The mist that binds us here,
Into the newer, larger life
Of that unclouded sphere.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

BOYLE—In loving memory of William P. Boyle, who passed away three years ago today.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew;
He was so kind, so generous and true,
On earth he nobly did his best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
—Lovingly remembered by wife, daughter, son-in-law and three grandchildren.

DEW—In loving memory of a dear father who passed away Oct. 10, 1949.
There's a road they call remembrance,
Where thoughts and wishes meet,
We take that road in thought today,
[illegible] cannot greet.
Happy and smiling always constant
Loved and respected wherever he went,
Always thoughtful, willing and kind,
These are the memories he left behind.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by wife and family.

LEAL—In loving memory of Arthur V. A. Leal, who passed away October 10, 1947.
We mourn for him in silence,
No eyes can see us weep,
But many a silent tear is shed
While others are asleep.
—Fondly remembered by wife, son Douglas, daughter-in-law and grandson Douglas.

LEAL—In loving memory of our pal, Arthur Leal who passed away Oct. 10, 1947.
We watched you suffer day by day,
And could not help in any way,
But just stood and see you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.
—Ever remembered by Violet and Charlotte.

6—In Memoriam

LEAL—In loving memory of a dear father, Arthur Leal, who passed away October 10, 1947.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
His weary trials and troubles are past.
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,
Till God called him home, to suffer no more.
—Ever remembered by Melvin and family, Beverley and family.

McDOUGALL—In loving memory of my dear brother, William McDougall, who passed away three years ago today.
Memory lane is a lonely path,
Where hearts are ever true,
A path I travel again and again,
Because it leads to you.
You left me beautiful memories,
Often secret tears,
But you will always be with me,
As I journey through the years.
—Ever remembered by his sister Eva.

McDOUGALL—In loving memory of William McDougall, who passed away three years ago today.
However long our lives may last,
Whatever lands we view,
Whatever joy or grief be ours,
We will always think of you.
—Ever remembered by Eva, Hermie and Johnny.

McDOUGALL—In loving memory of William McDougall, who passed away three years ago today.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory sad and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion,
Of one who thinks of you.
—Lovingly remembered by his sister Luella and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the nurses and attending doctors, also all kind friends who sent fruit, flowers, gifts and cards and visited me during my recent stay at St. Joseph's Hospital.—Ralph Conners.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my friends and neighbors, the Omemee Fire Brigade and all those who in any way helped fight the fire which, during my absence, destroyed my home last Friday night. But for their untiring efforts all of the furniture as well as the other buildings would have been destroyed. My thanks also to the Fire Brigade for returning on Saturday to keep the fire under control, and those who came and helped get the furniture stored.—Eugene Switzer.

Mrs. Ellenor Wilson and family wish to express their appreciation and thanks to their friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during their recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trotter and family of R.R. 4 Peterborough and Apsley wish to thank the doctors, nurses and Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital; also the friends and neighbours who donated blood and those who sent cards and flowers or helped Ernie and Sanford in any way.

Parks Dept. Drains Pool After Drowning

Parks department employees today drained the Hamilton Park wading pool where Joanne Landry, two-year-and-four-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Landry drowned Tuesday afternoon.

The Landry family live at 509 Bonaccord St., about 100 yards from the wading pool which is a dammed up section of Jackson's Park Creek. The pool is made of limestone rock and is about two feet deep.

Joanne fell into the pool while playing at the water's edge, about 4 p.m. Thursday, and she was found a few minutes later by her father who had become alarmed when she disappeared while playing in front of their home.

Last year a similar accident would not have occurred because the pool was drained. And this was commented on by Mrs. Landry, mother of the drowned girl.

Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, said today that his department had purposely refrained from draining the pool this year because children liked to wade there, even if there was no supervision.

DRAINED FOR WINTER

"The pool is drained before freeze-up time because if the ice got in there it would smash the stonework," he said. "The draining has been done primarily to prevent damage, not as a safety precaution.

"Sometimes the children like to wade in there during the warm days," he said. "Last year we were told we drained it too early and the boys and girls were missing a lot of fun.

"When I heard of the little girl drowning I sent some men up there today to take the stop-logs out."

The wading pool was built by the Kiwanis Club but is maintained by the parks department.

Wagon Of Gravel Runs Over Boy, Only Bruised

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A five-year-old boy suffered only bruises and a shaking up Thursday afternoon when the front and rear wheels of a wagon loaded with gravel passed over him.

Allan Gallagher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gallagher, Alnwick township, was riding on a wagon load of gravel behind a tractor driven by his father. The front board of the wagon slipped out and the gravel started to slide, letting the boy slip to the ground.

The wheels of the loaded wagon passed over the boy's hips. His father rushed the lad to a doctor, where it was found not bones were broken. Allan suffered bad bruises and a shaking up.

Find Cote Guilty Of Attempted Murder

HAMILTON (CP)—Louis Cote, 27, yesterday was found guilty of the attempted murder of a policeman April 18. He will be sentenced Oct. 17.

Cote was charged with the attempted murder of constable Ray Houlihan. He brought a gun out of a duffle bag and shot at the officer and his companion, constable Joseph Gratz, when they halted his car for a minor traffic violation.

Impede Movement

ST. LEONARD'S, England (CP)—David Eccles, Minister of Works, told a meeting in this Sussex town: "Controls, like certain articles of ladies' clothing, are necessary to curb swelling figures. But they impede movement and the sooner they can be dropped the better."

Humane Inspector Visits Fall Fairs

Fall fairs at Bobcaygeon, Port Perry, Lindsay, Warkworth, Campbellford, Coe Hill and Tweed were all visited during the past month by Bruce Menzies, Humane Society Inspector, the monthly meeting this week was informed. In these visit, Mr. Menzies found no irregularities to report to the society.

Mr. Menzies also reported picking up 18 cats and destroying 39, humanely destroying 30 dogs and looking after 36 stray cats and 29 stray dogs. Some 59 warnings were issued and good homes were found for 16 cats and 12 dogs.

The attention of the society was drawn to the practice of summer cottagers leaving pets around their cottage when they close them up and the inspector was instructed to prosecute those who were found abandoning animals.

Miss Helen Lytle was named a delegate to attend the O.S.P.C.A. convention next weekend in Niagara Falls. The inspector was also asked to attend.

Boyd Defended By Detective

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto detective testified yesterday that Edwin Alonzo Boyd was a "safe man with a gun" and that he had more regard for the lives of persons he robbed than for his own.

The testimony came a few minutes before Boyd's trial was adjourned until Oct. 15 and during an eventful day which saw the 37-year-old robber, ill and grey-faced, plead guilty to five charges of bank robbery.

His admissions also included pleas of guilty to attempted bank robbery, car theft and to his Don Jail escape last month, his second in less than a year.

Det. Sgt. Adolphus Payne testified:

"He has been fired on many times but only once did he ever return the fire and then over the heads of police."

Payne told of Boyd's capture in a Toronto apartment last March when "he had great opportunities to fire on me. . . and never did."

Payne said Boyd's holdup pattern was "very thorough."

Use Inter-Train Radio Communication

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) The Algoma Central Railway this month became the first Canadian line to use inter-train radio communication along its entire length.

The radios make it possible for a crew member at the front of a train to get in touch with a fellow worker at the rear of the train and for messages to be exchanged between train crew and flagmen, between trains about to meet and between trains travelling in the same direction but some distance apart. They eliminate a great deal of hand signalling.

Permanent radio sets and loud speakers are installed in the cabs of the 21 diesel-electric locomotives. There are portable radio-telephones in the cabooses.

Police Continue Search For 2 Armed Refugees

SOREL, Que. (CP) — Police today continued their search for two armed Polish refugees, wanted in connection with the slaying Sept. 25 of restaurateur Aurelien Houle, but said the trail seems to be getting colder.

Each tip was followed up but they all fizzled out when investigated, an officer said.

Heavily-armed police searched the island-dotted St. Lawrence River near this centre 50 miles east of Montreal for Maksymilian Ciesla 21, and an unidentified companion.

Houle, 32, was killed by a single blast from a sawed-off shotgun as he attempted to prevent a hold-up attempt.

35 French-Canadians Received By Pope

ROME (Reuters)—The Pope today received 35 French-Canadian newspaper publishers and journalists in audience at his summer palace of Castel Gandolfo near here.

The group, headed by Gerard Brady of Drummondville, Que., is on a European tour. Canadian Ambassador Pierre Dupuy met them on arrival last night from France [illegible] of Deputies, were to receive them later on.

Truman Receives Summons After Talk

CLEVELAND (AP) — A few minutes after President Truman made a political speech here yesterday a deputy United States marshal gave the President a court summons.

The deputy, Norman F. Black, served papers which made the President defendant in a lawsuit filed by William W. Cavanaugh, 33, a lawyer.

Cavanaugh's petition challenged the legality of the Korean War on grounds the President failed to get congressional approval for entering it.

The President has 60 days to answer the summons, but court aides here are doubtful the lawsuit can stand up in this court district.

Used Car Dealers Warned Of Shady Deals

Used car dealers were given stern warnings by Magistrate W. R. Philp and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw today that shady business deals bordering on theft by trickery will not be tolerated.

Thursday, Magistrate Philp found used car salesman Matt Lawless, 917 Monaghan Rd., guilty of stealing $110 from Mrs. Ellen McDonough when he sold a car for her.

Lawless was remanded a week for sentence but was brought down from the jail for sentence today at request of his counsel, John C. Currelly.

LESSON TO TRADE

In opposing suspended sentence as urged by Mr. Currelly, Mr. Bradshaw said, "It's time the trade was given notice their operations are not always of the highest order. I don't think the accused deserves a heavy penalty but he should have some penalty, either fine or short imprisonment as a lesson to this particular trade which is continually playing with fire."

"Those in the used car trade will have to watch their very loose way of doing business," said Magistrate Philp in fining Lawless $50 and $11 costs or a month in jail.

Lawless was charged with stealing $155 from Mrs. McDonough during August when he sold a car for her. He sold the car for $1,160 to Wallace Muir. Mrs. McDonough said Lawless was to receive $25 for selling the car and was to get "the best possible price he could for it."

After selling the car, Lawless gave Mrs. McDonough $700 on the understanding he had sold it for $1,050. Later he paid her $200 and then $80 and it was admitted during the trial he still owed her $45.

Today Mr. Currelly said he had been given $155 and instructed to pay over the entire amount to Mrs. McDonough regardless of the sentence imposed on Lawless.

SOLD ON OWN

Although employed as a used car salesman for a large firm in the city, Lawless sold the car privately and Mr. Currelly said the conviction registered against Lawless was in itself a severe penalty.

The company where he is employed is in process of being reorganized Mr. Currelly said and Lawless was slated for a promotion which is "definitely out now." Whether [illegible] is yet to be determined, Mr. Currelly added.

"I wouldn't want to jeopardize his job unnecessarily," said Magistrate Philp in fining Lawless. "Yet at the same time, it comes very close to plain theft by a trick."

British Teenagers Vote Television Good Influence

LONDON (CP)—Target of recent criticism by the Archbishop of Canterbury, television has been voted as a positive influence for good by a cross-section of British teenagers.

The boost for TV was contained in a report based on a survey conducted by a psychology group, attached to Birmingham University. Hundreds of questionnaires were sent to schools, youth clubs and factories in an attempt to ascertain the impact of television on boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 18.

The group reached the conclusion that television was capable of countering many prevailing social evils and otherwise had a considerable positive influence on the adolescent population.

WRONG IMPRESSIONS

"We cannot agree with these people who from time to time condemn television," the report says. "Generalizations without the support of statistical figures must create impressions which are not supported by evidence."

Only 19 per cent of those canvassed admitted that television interfered with their studies. Hobbies, they said, had not been seriously affected.

One in every four said television had given them a greater interest in the legitimate theatre and induced them to participate more than before in outdoor sports. About one-third said it had made them less interested in radio programs.

The survey, however, found that tele-viewing had certain drawbacks. Its worst effect, it said, is that its attraction is too great—'teen-agers are glued too closely to the set. This, it contended, could be remedied by inviting more discriminating viewing, by raising the general level of programs.

Canada Must Keep Strong P.M. Declares

Must Not Relax Till Reds Show They'll Be Peaceful

OTTAWA (CP)—The free powers must build and maintain their strength until the Communists show they intend to mind their own business, Prime Minister St. Laurent said last night.

He said it was "the path of wisdom and a way to peace" to show the only possible aggressor in the world that, if he started a war, he was not likely to win it.

Mr. St. Laurent spoke at the annual banquet of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, which has been holding its annual international plowing match this week at nearby Carp.

Defence preparations, he said, meant sacrifice. But the cost was small compared to that of a large-scale war the free countries are trying to prevent.

RECOGNIZE STRENGTH

He added:

"When we reach a position, and we are not there yet, where the Communist Imperialist leaders all recognize that it would be folly for them to start a full-scale war, what do we do then? These men are not likely to divulge their thoughts to us, but the best informed advice we can get indicates, if nothing else, that those who make policy behind the Iron Curtain at least know strength when they see it.

"We hope that those who have been making life miserable for free men and women will then think it is time to do some serious negotiating about the issues which divide us and might then reveal honest intentions of minding their own business. Until we can count on that, we will have to maintain and keep in good working order that strength we are now building up."

Even that would not mean the triumph of the plow over the sword. There would still remain many problems having a significant bearing on the peace of the world.

Chief among these was the raising of living standards in the depressed areas, and Mr. St. Laurent told the farm group that agriculture had a large part to play in providing food for hungry people.

Find Missing Man

CAPREOL (CP)—Richard Lloyd, 77, lost in the bush here for three days was found early today by a party of searchers. He was found sitting on a stump near this town 20 miles north of Sudbury. The search party was aided by two shots Lloyd fired into the air. He disappeared Oct. 8 while hunting

Butter Market Controlled By Government

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has gained control over the butter market, agricultural sources disclosed yesterday.

They said the flow of surplus butter into government larders during the summer was big enough to give the government the upper hand in stabilizing butter prices through the winter when production is low and demand is met through accumulated stocks

Officials declined to disclose how much butter the government has stored. One commercial dairy expert estimated that it might be about 45,000,000 pounds, but this figure could not be confirmed.

In its latest estimate, the Bureau of Statistics placed total creamery butter stocks on Oct. 1 at 77,427,000 pounds. These include stocks held by the government and the trade, but the bureau gave no breakdown. The total stockpile was about a year's 62,608,000 pounds.

SUPPORT PROGRAM

The government's butter accumulations resulted from its price-support program, offering to buy all surplus butter at 58 cents a pound.

Now with butter production reaching a seasonal decline, the butter market has strengthened, with wholesale prices running about three cents a pound higher than the support level. This has halted the flow of butter into government warehouses.

Butter prices likely will edge up until the government announces the selling price. Normally, the government sells its accumulations to the trade at cost, including freight and storage expenses.

However, to prevent a possible accumulation of supplies by speculators, the government likely will play a cautious hand in making sales and may even delay distribution until most of the commercial stocks are sold, possibly some time in mid-winter.

100 Citizens Sworn In As Deputies

Five Last Noticed After Getting Money Out of Bank

CHESTER, Calif. (AP) — Sheriff M. H. Schooler said today four children and a grocer carrying $7,100 apparently had been kidnapped.

More than 100 lumberjacks and business men sworn in as sheriffs' deputies are searching for the missing man and children through the high mountain forests of Plumas and Lassen counties, northeastern California.

"I can see no possibility other than that they were kidnapped," said Schooler, referring to the disappearance of the five.

TO CASH CHEQUES

Sheriff Schooler said Gard Young, 43, grocer, left here yesterday by car to go to a bank in nearby Westwood to cash $7,100 in cheques.

With Young were his three young daughters and a neighbor boy.

Schooler said Young got the money — used for cashing cheques — then went across the street and bought candy for the children. That was the last seen of the [illegible]

Schooler said it was generally known that Young took weekly trips to Westwood to get large sums of money with which to cash loggers' cheques.

Customs Officer Admits Smuggling Aliens

DETROIT (CP)—A Canadian Customs officer confessed yesterday that he smuggled aliens into Detroit in the trunk of his car for $100 each. United States Immigration officials said the inspector told them he brought seven persons into the U.S. via the Ambassador Bridge in the last 13 months.

Stanley Carley, 40 of neighboring Windsor, was ordered held on $5,000 bond for a grand jury investigation. He has been an inspector at the Canadian end of the Ambassador Bridge since 1945.

Carley was arrested Thursday night at the U. S. end of the Detroit-Windsor tunnel. He was driving his car with the trunk empty.

He was arrested, officers said, on information supplied to the Immigration Service by Dominique Albertini, 40, an Italian, and Alviades Landouris, a Greek. Both were allegedly smuggled across the border by Carley.

Ralph Holton, acting assistant director of the immigration service here, said that after several hours of questioning during which he was confronted with statements made by Albertini and Landouris, Carley broke down and gave an account of his activities.

Albertini is being held on a charge of offering a $10,000 bribe to an immigration official.

$5 Capsule May Give Polio Immunity

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A capsule that will cost $3 to $5 and will make a person immune to infantile paralysis may be available in a couple of years, say medical scientists.

The pill will contain thousands of weakened polio viruses grown in fertilized chicken eggs. The viruses will pass into the patient's blood stream and the blood will start building anti-bodies to destroy the viruses. Because they are weak, the viruses will not cause the disease but their presence will be sufficient for the blood to build defences against future polio virus invasions.

LIFE IMMUNITY POSSIBLE

"The immu[illegible] said.

Basis for this outlook is the disclosure here yesterday that the fertilized hen's egg is an almost ideal medium for mass-producing the most deadly type of polio virus.

The process was developed by Dr. Herald R. Cox and associates at Lederle Laboratories, Pearl River, N. Y., and reported by him at a gathering of scientists for the opening of the University of California's new virus laboratory.

A great quantity of vaccine has been made but it must be tested on animals before it can be tried on humans, Dr. Cox told a press conference.

The deadly virus was made harmless by growing many generations of the organism until some of them became non-lethal This docile type then was produced for the vaccine. It has been tested on a few monkeys. They were not harmed and it protected them against virulent doses of infantile paralysis organisms.

COMBAT ALL TYPES

The vaccine thus far made protects only against one of three main types of polio — the Lansing type, which is rated as the most deadly. There is reason to believe the vaccine can be manipulated so that it also will produce immunity to the other types — the Brunhilde and Leon varieties — Dr. Cox said.

Evidence that the weakened Lansing type of virus can produce antibodies was disclosed by Dr. Karl F. Meyer, expert on epidemic diseases. Viruses similar to those used in the hen's egg technique

Child 7, Dies In House Fire 4 Others Hurt

SUDBURY (CP)—A little girl died early today in a fire that trapped her in the upstairs of her family's two-storey log house.

Collette Hebert, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hebert, was unable to leap to safety as her sister and two brothers had done.

The children's mother fell out of a window while trying to save the four and suffered an ankle injury. Both Mrs. Hebert and her son, Robert, 5, also suffered burns.

Claudette, 11, and George, 9, were slightly injured in their leap.

The father said he was outside the house when the blaze broke out. He said he saw the smoke but was unable to get back inside for a rescue attempt.

The cause of the outbreak was not known immediately. The alarm was turned in a few minutes after 3 a. m. It took firefighters nearly two hours to extinguish the blaze.

Sudbury's last bad fire occurred in the early morning of Oct. 2 when six members of one family perished in their one-room frame home in the Garson area. They were Mrs. Margaret Gauvreau and her five children, ranging in age from 12 years to 16 months.

Authorize Company To Build Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP) — The Board of Transport Commissioners today authorized Westcoast Transmission Company to build a natural gas pipeline from the Peace River area to Vancouver and the British Columbia-United States border.

Earlier, the board had given the company a qualified authorization for the 960-mile project, provided a survey would establish that there were enough gas reserves in the Peace River district to justify the line.

In its final decision today the board said a survey made by federal engineers had indicated reserves of 2,506,000,000,000 cubic feet in the area straddling the northern Alberta-British Columbia [illegible]

On the basis of evidence before the board, the estimated reserves would be enough to supply for at least 25 years the company's expected markets in British Columbia and the U.S. pacific northwest.

To get into the U.S. market, Westcoast will need authorization from the federal power commission of that country. It now has an application pending before that body.

U.S. Raises Estimate Of 1952 Tobacco Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Agriculture Department raised its estimate of the 1952 tobacco crop to 611,000,000 pounds for burley and 2,235,000,000 for all types.

The brightened prospects, an increase over last month's production estimate, were attributed to good harvesting and curing weather during September.

Other forecasts: flue - cured 1,389,000,000 pounds; fire - cured 55,800,000; dark air -cured 30,200,000; cigar 109,000,000; Maryland 39,10,000.

Mountain Changes Hands Twice More

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese Reds swept back up the north slope of White Horse Mountain through intense Allied tank and plane fire today and pushed weary South Koreans off the crest in savage hand-to-hand combat. Far to the north United Nations Sabre jet pilots shot down six Communist MIG jets. The battle for strategic White Horse, dominating the Chorwon road net into South Korea, passed its 120th hour of almost continuous fighting. The hill has changed hands more than 20 times.

Ninth Division South Koreans, whose motto is "Stay Fight," were making a new stand only 200 yards from the crest.

DETAILS FEW

Reports from the front were sketchy. It was not known here whether the attack was made by 16,000 Chinese troops which earlier had been reported massed for a fresh assault.

The South Koreans, in a bold manoeuvre, had won the hill only a few hours earlier. They circled White Horse below the crest, charged from all sides, and killed or drove off all but two small pockets of Chinese.

Tanks manned by South Koreans rumbled into the valley that winds north of White Horse. They turned their big rifles on a nearby hill which the Chinese have used as a springboard for assaults on White Horse.

But the manouevre did not stop the Reds for long.

Before launching the operation that for a time won back White Horse, the South Koreans fought off seven fanatical human-wave attacks against their positions on three slopes of the hill. They routed the bugle-blowing, screaming Chinese in fierce, close-quarter fighting.

HILL CONTROLS ROADS

The South Koreans called their flanking move around White Horse "Operation Iron Fist," because of its nearness to the city of Chorwon, which [illegible] into South Korea.

In the week ended Friday, the Air Force said, allied Sabre jets destroyed four Red jet fighters and damaged 13.

Canada Donates 7 Doors To U.N.

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Seven nickel-plate doors donated by Canada open Tuesday to thousands of visitors expected to attend United Nations meetings—and argue about the architecture of the ultra-modernistic General Assembly Hall.

Judging from the controversies among those who have already seen New York's newest showplace there will be even more of a public argument over the new $12,500,000 Assembly Hall than there was over the 39-storey Secretariat Building, like a cracker box.

STILL NOT FINISHED

Workers are still putting finishing touches on the Assembly Hall and it will be months before the landscaping is completed for the $65,000,000 permanent headquarters of the U.N., started in 1946 on an 18-acre site dotted with slaughter houses. New York City itself is spending $27,000,000 to beautify

The Assembly Hall, of white English limestone facings, completes the three buildings built in mid-town Manhattan which make up the headquarters. The glass-walled Secretariat skyscraper and a low conference building have been functioning for some time. An underground garage holds 1,500 cars.

The Assembly Hall's 75-foot-high main lobby, with its three white cantilevered balconies and cathedral-like lighting, is one of the most [illegible] of the headquarters.

The auditorium itself is divided into two areas, for delegates an for spectators. The delegates area is taken up with 10 rows of green, leather-covered desks and blue upholstered chairs.

Natives Dive 60 Feet Miss Death By 4 Inches

VILA, New Hebrides (Reuters)—Melanesian braves today will climb a 60-foot tower, tie a rope around their ankles and dive headlong toward a pile of crushed coral in a ceremony performed once a century.

The rope is supposed to stop their dive with a joint-rending jolt just four inches before they hit the ground.

If the home-woven rope breaks, it means death. The braves, proving their courage, intend to survive with nothing worse than dislocated ankles.

The plunge—equivalent to a fall from the top of a six-storey building—is the highlight of a four-day feast. It is performed only once every 100 years in honor of the yam, staple diet of these tropical South Sea islands. The ceremony takes place on Pentecost Island, on the northeast flank of New Hebrides.

Springboards have been fixed at varying heights on the 60-foot tower so that other youths and boys too young for the real thing may take the plunge with less risk of death.

Guests of honor at the death-defying ceremony will be H.J.M. Flaxman, British resident commissioner for the New Hebrides, and Pierre Anthonioz, his French opposite. The islands are jointly administered by Britain and France under a convention of 1906.

Baseball Player Hurt In Crash

CLEVELAND, O. (CP) — A car and a truck collided at an intersection today, killing a child. Four other persons, including a utility infielder for the Brantford, Ont., Red Sox baseball team, were injured. Nine-year-old Gailee Simons of Brantford, died in Huron Road hospital an hour and a half after the crash.

The injured, all occupants of the car, were: infielder Donald Rowe, 19, of the Brantford Red Sox, driver of the car; Gailee's father, Gilbert, 46, a molder; his wife, Shirley, 26, and Gailee's sister, Dawn, 6.

Rowe and Simons were released after treatment of minor injuries. Mrs. Simons and her daughter

The truck driver, Carl Bass, 46, of Kirkwood, Mo., was driving a load of machinery. Police are holding him for questioning.

The Simons and Rowe were on their way to Akron, O., to visit Edward Finney, a former player with the Brantford Red Sox.

Seven-Year-Old Boy Flies Like Veteran

CLEVELAND (AP)—His mother says he can't spell too well, but what's that to a seven-year-old boy who can fly an airplane?

Paul Mueller, Jr., is the idol of his third grade classmates at nearby Berea's Fairwood school. He can fly like a veteran, according to his dad, who taught him.

His little brother, Johnny, 6, is learning to fly too, but so far he's had just three lessons.

Paul started flying 14 months ago in the family Aeronca Champion. He can't go up alone, because that's against regulations. But with a licensed pilot along, all is well with the law. He can't get a student's licence until he is 16.

Plane With Reservists Crashes Into Canal

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A United States navy plane bringing Marine reservists here for week-end training crashed into a canal and killed five occupants. A sixth was injured.

The twin - engined Beechcraft crashed yesterday less than two miles from its home base, the New Orleans naval air station.

Cmdr. D.A. MacIsaac, executive officer of the air station, praised the apparent effort of the pilot to miss the heavily populated residential area near the crash. An open area was just beyond the canal.

Car Rolls Over 5 Slightly Hurt

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Five Keswick men, brought to hospital here last night after a truck accident in Norwich, today are reported in good condition and suffering from only minor injuries.

Robert Draper, Lionel Taylor, M. McCue, Richard Dowdy and Orville Porte were in a vehicle police said was driven by Harry Comer when it rolled over in avoiding a car said to have been driven by Mrs. Laclare Edmunds. Comer and his wife were shaken up.

2 Cars Collide Girl 21 Killed

KINGSTON (CP)—Cleo McCrae, 21, of Arnprior, 43 miles west of Ottawa, died in hospital early today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Thursday night.

The girl was riding in a late model car police said was driven by Eric Sullivan of Kingston and Arnprior when the vehicle and one reported driven by Harold Young, a member of the R.C.A.F. at Edgar, sideswiped each other. Young and his passenger, Nancy Semple of Toronto, suffered shock. Sullivan and the two other persons suffered slight injuries.

From the point of contact the Sullivan car travelled 300 feet, struck a pile of rocks which tilted it on to two wheels, then came into contact with two trees which sheared off the roof before righting itself on the road again. The Young car struck a hydro pole.

Scottish Doctor Weds In Quiet Ceremony

ABERDEEN, Scotland (Reuters) Dr. Ewan Forbes-Semphill, who recently changed his name from Elizabeth, was married quietly last night to his housekeeper, Isobel Mitchell.

News of the wedding, toasted in champagne, did not leak out until today.

Friends say it was a wedding in real old highland tradition, with champagne being sent to the servants quarters and old Scots songs being sung after the ceremony.

Arnprior Pilot Gets Another Russian MiG

SEOUL, Korea (CP) — United Nations jet pilots including Sqdn. Ldr. James D. Lindsay of Arnprior, today shot down a total of six Communist MiGs in their biggest victory of the month over the Russian-built jets, the United States Fifth Air Force said.

Lindsay, one of seven R.C.A.F. exchange pilots now flying with U. N. forces in Korea and previously credited by the U.S. Air Force with one enemy plane damaged, shot down a MiG today in a battle between four sabres and 15 Red planes near the Suiho reservoir, on the Yalu river.

Including Lindsay's kill today, R.C.A.F. exchange pilots have destroyed a total of six MiGs, damaged five and have been credited with two probable kills.

Martha Raye Seriously Ill

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The condition of Martha Raye, singing comedienne, remained critical today after a blood transfusion in St. Francis hospital.

Miss Raye, in private life Mrs. Nick Condos, was flown to the hospital Thursday from Jamaica with severe intestinal disorder.

Tests were being made to determine if the ailment will require surgery. The 36-year-old stage, screen and nightclub performer was on a vacation when stricken Thursday.

Lives Lost Stopping Racket

US Has Halted Red Extortion From Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States Treasury law enforcement officers think they have beaten down Communist extortion of "blood money" from Chinese in this country—but at a cost of many lives.

An enforcement official said the indictment yesterday in San Francisco of the Min San Trading Co. and its manager, Tom Hancock, charged on 17 counts of violating Foreign Assets Control regulations by sending $161,843 through Hong Kong to Red China, would be followed by a number of other similar cases.

The official, who asked not to be named, declined to say how many such cases have been placed in the hands of U. S. attorneys. They are scattered across the country.

He gave a glimpse into a sombre struggle between Treasury law officers and Chinese caught between the milestones of the law and fear for loved ones in the old country.

Communist Chinese worked the extortion racket by sending letters to Chinese in the United States saying friends or relatives in China would be tortured or killed, or both, unless a certain amount of money was sent to a specified person.

MUCH MONEY SPENT

Chinese here sent millions of dollars. An enforcement officer said as much as $1,000,000 or more in blood money was going from the United States to Red China every month in late 1951.

Then the Treasury ordered a halt to remittances of any money for any purpose to Communist China.

Chinese in this country were told that sending money would only encourage the Reds to demand more, and in the long run would not save their people.

They finally came around to our view," an enforcement official said. "But, he added: "We know of cases where we persuaded people not to send, and their families were killed."

Reporting success of the drive, he said few Chinese get extortion letters any more.

Pagliacci Comes With Film Of Ballet Russe

Harry Yudin is offering at the Centre Theatre on Wednesday, October 15, Leoncavalla's music drama "Pagliacci," and a second film entitled Danse Magic, featuring the Ballet Russe of Monte Carlo, and Katherine Dunham.

In this program, Mr. Yudin is continuing the occasional films which he has been providing through two fall and winter seasons for people who like good music.

The opera Pagliacci is the basis of the main film which is presented under the title "Love of a Clown," recommended by critics as a genuine version of the Leoncavalla production in which Caruso often starred.

"It has been screened successfully before, but not with this fine cast headed by Tito Gobbi as Tonio; Gina Lollobrigida as Nedda, and Afrio Poli in the role of Canio," Mr. Yudin said. "Chorus and orchestra are splendid, and I do hope that we can start this season with an attendance that will warrant other offerings from time to time.

"Leoncavalla wrote enduring music for this opera of love and tragedy. English titles tell the story, and clearly build up the suspense.

"I don't think I need to emphasize the second film showing the Ballet Russe, and separately Katherine Dunham. I have seen both and I have no hesitation in promising fine entertainment for the public."

Mr. Yudin said it probably would help the cause of music of this quality by commenting that in St. Catharines the corresponding series of musical programs had repeatedly "filled the house."

"St. Catharines is only one of many cities, some of them in the west, where these films have had big audience response."

He also said that a neighboring feature, "Curtain at 8.30," had attracted large attendances regularly."

"I can get other high class musical films if Peterborough shows that it is really interested, and I know there is a large number of music lovers who have been missing some good programs on these occasions. I think people would say that the Ballet Russe is just about worth the admission price itself."

THESE THREE CREW members of a U.S. hospital plane landed unhurt at Tempelhof Field, Berlin, this week after a brush with two Russian fighters in the air corridor between West Germany and Berlin. The big plane's pilot, Capt. James P. Peterson, right, dived his plane into a cloud to avoid machine gun bursts from the diving Red jets. The other crew members are Maj. George A. Beere, co-pilot, left, and a U.S. Army nurse who refused to give her name.

ROME (AP) — Film producer David O. Selznick said last night he believed the Hollywood production code, under which American films are censored voluntarily, has outlived its usefulness. "Motion pictures are entitled to the same treatment of expression as the press, for instance,' Selznick said at press conference. Selznick is in Rome to produce a film.

Plowing Match Of 1953 Will Be Held At Port Hope

CARP (CP)—Two dairy farmers met after the international plowing matches last night and decided it was pretty good to be Canadian plowing champions. They were Doug Reid of Brampton and Algie Wallace of North Gower. Reid won the tractor championship and Wallace the horse-plowing championship yesterday.

The 26-year-old Brampton dairyman met Wallace at a banquet in Ottawa at which they were awarded the top prizes in the three-day international-free trips to Europe.

"Shake hands, Algie," Reid said. "I guess we'll be seeing a lot of each other from now on."

ANXIOUS TO START

Reid, who has a 50-head herd of dairy cattle on the 285 acres he farms with his father, said he is anxious to get overseas and compete in the world plowing matches next month in Scotland.

After that, he said he wants to see London and take a trip to Holland.

"We have a lot of Dutch farmers near our place and I've talked to them a lot about Holland," he said. "I've heard they have some pretty good dairy herds and orchards there."

Wallace, a 35-year-old bachelor who farms 225 acres south of Ottawa, said he hasn't thought about his trip yet.

"No, I wasn't excited when I won," he said in reply to questions from reporters. "I don't get excited. I came up to do my best but I made up my mind not to be too disappointed if I didn't win."

The two plowing champions will leave for Britain early next month if arrangements can be completed. Both said they are ready to go any time.

The Canadian champions in past years have gone to the united Kingdom and other European countries in January. But officials are trying to get them there this year in time for fall plowing matches at which they will represent Canada.

TRIES SEVEN TIMES

Second place in the tractor championship went to Ivan McLaughlin of Stouffville, who was trying for the seventh time. Joe Tran of Claremont placed third.

Stan May of Hornby placed Wallace in the horse- ... Watson of Forest third.

In the intercounty match, Don Manley of Berwick, plowing on the Stormont county team, won high individual honors. H. Marshall of Ayr, a member of the Waterloo county team, was second.

Ontario county's team of Hugh Baird and Don Dunkeld of Claremont won the intercounty team title. G. Mitchell teamed with H. Marshall to give Waterloo county second place. Barry Archer of Georgetown and A. Howden of Milton made up the third-place Halton county team.

Officials announced that the 1953 match will be held at Port Hope, and the following year it will be at Kitchener.

Glen Morrissey, 17-year-old Prince Edward Island champion from Cherry Valley, was easily the most disappointed competitor in the tractor championship.

Plowing his first furrows in competition since he arrived here, he broke a plow-share coupling which cost him valuable time making repairs. He finished out of he money.

N. ONTARIONS FAIL

The two Algoma district champions in horse and tractor, Don Evoy, who farms near Sault Ste. Marie, and Vern Carter of Desbarats also failed to place in their classes.

One of the best records chalked up during the three-day international was that of Bill Snowden of Nanticoke. Ineligible for the championship match which is open only to branch match winners, he placed second in yesterday's three-furrow class after winning two days in a row.

Sees Puppy Killed Boy Learns Justice

WINDSOR (CP).—Ten-year-old Bobby Moroz, has a new conception of the word "justice" today.

Bobby was on his way to school yesterday afternoon when he watched as a police constable on a motorcycle run over his dog. He ran home crying.

But the justice came two hours later when the constable, Jack Moxon, of the traffic division, showed up at Bobby's home with a six-weeks-old Spitz puppy to replace the dog.

What Jesus Said Of Prayer

The Lord's Prayer, as recorded in Matthew 6 and in Luke 11, and translated in the commonly used Authorized or King James Version, has variations in the petition regarding forgiveness that lead to some confusion in the public use of the Prayer.

In Matthew 6 the petition is rendered ... as we ... debts in the Prayer.

In Luke 11 it is "Forgive us our sins; for we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us." However, in recording the comment of the Master, emphasizing, or enforcing the petition, in Matthew , there is the mention of "trespasses." There is a similar reference in Mark 11: 24-26, apparently drawn from the Lord's Prayer, though Mark does not record the Prayer as a whole, as do Matthew and Luke.

The differences are unimportant with regard to the meaning of the Prayer, its clear implications, and its use by individuals. The confusion arises in its public use and recitation. This possibly chiefly affects visiting ministers conducting services, who may forget to inquire before the service whether the congregation uses "trespasses" or "debts."

In my personal ministry I have been very definitely aware of this. About half my years of ministry have been in various pastorates and the other half in editorial work. In this latter half, and in considerable travel my contacts, chiefly with Congregational churches, have been fairly wide.

I figured recently that in all I have preached and conducted the service in some two hundred churches. In these the hymn book commonly, though not universally in use, has been the Pilgrim Hymnal. In its printing of the Lord's Prayer in the various orders of service the word "trespasses" is used, though in at least

Board Warned Care Needed Finance School

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The statement of current assets and liabilities for the Norwood district high school as presented at the October meeting by the secretary-treasurer H. W. Roches was as follows:

CURRENT ACCOUNT

Assets: Bank balance, $29,546.58; capital account, $1,855.64; municipal levies, $19.494.20. Total, $50,-896.42.

Liabilities: Peterborough County debenture, $20,756.56; bank loan, $8,000.00; assets over liabilities, $22,139.86. Total, $50,896.42.

Mr. Roche drew the board's attention to the fact that all the grants had been received in full and that there was approximately $22,139.86 to finance the next three months and as the expenditures for September had amounted to $8,600 that care should be exercised to keep from going in the red.

CAPITAL ASSETS AND LIABILITIES

Assets: The county owes the board approximately $16,000.

Liabilities: The board owe: The Eastwood Construction Co. $5,000; Mr. Pearce, building, $3,000; current account, $1,800; equipment, etc., $6,200. Total, $16,000.

The transportation contract with E. Clarke which was cancelled by the board was one which had never been signed by the chairman.

Chest Of Silver Given Couple

WARKWORTH (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McCleary of Percy township celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Thursday evening at their home as guests of honor when more than 100 relatives, friends and neighbors met for a social evening.

Mrs. McCleary, whose maiden name was Eva Bull, is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Orval Bull of Oak Heights and Mr. McCleary is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Sam McCleary of Percy township.

After their marriage they took up residence on the McCleary homestead which has been in the family for 139 years.

During the evening a program was presented with Ewart Hardy as master of ceremonies. Community singing was enjoyed with John, Ambrose and Carman Atkinson leading in the music as a male trio. Readings were given by Mrs. Arthur Ward, Anne Pollock, Mrs. Archie McCracken and Mrs. Delbert Brisbin; a boys' quartette from S.S. No. 10 and a ladies' trio composed of Mrs. A. Ward, Mrs. C. Honey and Miss Ruth Hardy.

Others taking part in the program were Mrs. Richardson, Warren and Carolyn Atkinson and Mrs. W. Atkinson.

Warren Atkinson read an address and Walter Covert, Borden Campbell, Allan Burney and Alymer Harnden made the presentation of a chest of silverware, a set of dishes, an iron and a travelling bag.

Relatives from a distance attending included Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King of Colborne, Mr. and Mrs. Alymer Harden and family of Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bull, Mr. and Mrs. David King and family of Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. George Bull and Helen and Mr. and Mrs. Morris King and family of Percy township, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bull and Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Birney, Allan and Evelyn and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Covert of Warkworth.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices of coarse grain futures rallied briskly in late trade Friday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Trading increased.

There was export buying in December contracts of oats and barley. Trade reports indicated a revival of export interest in barley, with two cargoes of feeding grades reported sold to Germany. There also was shipping demand. Export interests, seaboard and industrial accounts showed interest in flax. Prices of Class 2 wheat were up 1⅝ cents; prices of I.W.A. wheat were up ⅝ cent.

were processed two years ago and last July were given their first test on 61 children in a California institution for the feeble-minded.

All 61 youngsters had no polio antibodies in their blood before being given the vaccine. But they all developed these antibodies in a few weeks, Dr. Meyer said.

This establishes that antibodies can be produced in the human blood stream, where they can attack polio before it gets into the brain and nerves to cause paralysis and sometimes death.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

A series of weather disturbances from the Pacific have been moving across Western Canada and Northern Ontario for the last day or two. The path of these small storms has been far enough north that fine autumn weather has prevailed in all but northern sections. Little change is expected in the weather on Sunday and Monday except for warm and cool trends which will cause maximum temperatures to fluctuate about the season's normal.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Georgian Bay, Haliburton, Niagara regions; Windsor, London, Toronto and Hamilton cities: Sunny today and Sunday. Little change in temperature, wind light. Low tonight and high Sunday at Windsor 40 and 65, St. Thomas, Toronto, St. Catharines and Hamilton 40 and 60, London and Wingham 35 and 55, Trenton 35 and 60, Muskoka and Killaloe 32 and 55.

Summary for Sunday—Sunny.

Stevenson Gives Pledge Smash All Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP) —Governor Adlai Stevenson pledged today that, if elected president, he would smash any corruption in government — a government Republican opponent, Dwight Eisenhower, said has become one of "spend and rule."

Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, was pressing his southern campaign, switching today from New Orleans to Miami, Fla., while Eisenhower rested at Denver before swinging a second time into the southern states.

President Truman was in New York City, the biggest whistlestop on his "given-em-hell" tour in Stevenson's behalf. Truman "poured it on" Republicans yesterday from Buffalo to New York, saying Eisenhower is "not fit to be trusted with the great office of president."

DEMOCRATS NOT INFALLIBLE

Stevenson's speech for delivery at Miami made no claim that the Democrats have been infallible but added: "I claim that our Democratic leaders are and have been pretty good human beings." Then, as he did yesterday in Oklahoma and Louisiana, he compared present conditions with the depression era of 20 years ago when the Republicans were in power.

Eisenhower, in a speech at Salt Lake City last night, again called for middle-of-the-road leadership to "keep in balance the twin ideals of security and of liberty."

MIXED RECEPTIONS

The president's trip into New York was punctuated along the way by some boos and heckling. A tomato was thrown at Amsterdam but Truman apparently didn't notice it. There was a fist fight at New York's Grand Central station. Even where the incidents occurred, however, the crowds were enthusiastic.

At Utica, Truman said that Eisenhower by endorsing Republican Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, had stooped so low as to be unfit for the presidency.

Stevenson's New Orleans speech — delivered in Beauregard Square where slaves once were sold at the auction block—evoked only a weak cheer when it pledged him to the Democratic platform's anti-segregation plank.

Earlier, Stevenson's own entourage encountered a civil-rights problem. James Hicks, negro reporter for Afro-American newspapers, quit the accompanying press corps when denied a room at the Roosevelt Hotel where other reporters stayed. Two other negro newspaper men agreed to stay at a negro college.

Patterson Funeral

NORWOOD (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Robert Patterson was held Thursday afternoon from Cottesloe United Church, with the Rev. H. K. Wright conducting the service. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mrs. Patterson died Tuesday following a short illness. She was born 72 years ago in Dummer township where she has spent all her life.

Pall-bearers were Charles McMillan, Harry McMillan, Walter Girven, James Girven; John Golloher, Percy Allen.

Flower-bearers were Shirley Golloher and Lorraine Girven.

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters) — A plea for Japanese participation in world trade on a fair basis was made by today's Manchester Guardian. The Liberal paper—published in a cotton city which fears Japanese competition — emphasized that Japan must live by its trade.

Anti-TB Centre To Be Built In Montreal

QUEBEC (CP) — An anti-tuberculosis centre with two clinics and a 100-bed hospital will be built soon in northeast Montreal at a cost of $3,000,000.

The provincial government will foot the bill for the "important step" in Quebec's fight against tuberculosis, Premier Duplessis announced yesterday.

The government decided to build on land donated by the City of Montreal. An anti - tuberculosis vaccine clinic will be one of the two clinics with quarters in the centre. The other is the Bruchesi Institute.

EXPLAINS NAME

The vaccine institute known as the BCG Institute, gets its name from the Anti-Tuberculosis-Vaccine Bacillus Calmette Guerin created in 1922 by Calmette and Guerin of the Pasteur Institute in Paris.

Mr. Duplessis said the vaccine, used chiefly on children, had been made available free of charge to anti-tuberculosis clinics in the province since 1950. The Health Department, operating with a $10,-000,000 fund for anti-TB work, estimated that between 75,000 and 80,000 persons receive the vaccine each year.

Mr. Duplessis noted that since the government opened its anti-TB drive, the tuberculosis mortality rate dropped from an average of 81.3 per 100,000 deaths between 1936 and 1945 to 58.2 in 1948.

Wild Geese Feed In Wheat Field

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS — A flock of about 40 wild geese landed on the farm of William J. Wilson near here this week, and had a feed on a wheat field. Mr. Wilson saw the birds and walked over to them as they continued to eat the grain, apparently not in the least nervous of his presence.

Once Mr. Wilson started to walk toward the house, however, the leader gave a couple of loud honks and the entire flock raised from the field, in perfect V fashion, and soon disappeared from sight, heading south.

Golf Links Champion Ray McAuliffe Dies

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A former United States Golf Association national public links golf champion died here yesterday after a brief illness. He was Raymond J. McAuliffe, 57.

McAuliffe won the public links title in 1925 at Garden City, N.Y.

He turned pro shortly afterward, working at Grover Cleveland Park, Buffalo, Erie Downs, Fort Erie, and Park Country Club, Buffalo.

Want To Expand TV

LONDON (Reuters)—The BBC is pressing the government to let it expand TV facilities in time to televise the coronation ceremonies next June throughout the country. But so far there has been no reply from the government which must license the work and won't do so unless it feels the defence drive can spare men and materials needed to build the new stations.

2 Stamps Issued

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Two stamps will be issued next month to commemorate the 171th anniversary of the death of Thomas Moore, famed Irish lyric poet. Erskine Childers, Post and Telegraph Minister, said yesterday a portrait of the poet by Sir M. Archie Shee, which now hangs in Dublin's National Gallery, will be reproduced on the 2½ and 3½ pence issues.

School Spending Takes Back Seat

MONTREAL (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa said yesterday that Canadians spend far more annually on tobacco and alcoholic beverages than they do on education.

Speaking before the annual convention of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers of Quebec, Miss Whitton said 1951 figures, when completed, would indicate that $410,000,000 was spent on education but tobacco expenditures were $422,000,000 and half as much again went for alcoholic beverages.

"We're paying more attention to what goes on outside of the head than what goes on inside," she said.

Miss Whitton said Ontario "is probably the best equipped with teachers, at least in the quantity of its teachers."

But Ontario has hundreds of unqualified persons teaching by permit "and some classrooms still remain closed."

One reason, she indicated, is inadequate salaries. In Ottawa "we are paying less to the caretakers of the mind than to the caretaker of the building."

Jailed 6 Months For Attempt At Rustling

LINDSAY (ENS) — Two men, one 22 and the other 67, were sentenced to six months in the reformatory in police court here Friday on charges of attempting to rustle six head of cattle from two Fenelon township farmers.

Glen Saunders, 22, of Shelbourne, pleaded guilty to attempted theft of six head from the farm of Clifford Worsley, of Fenelon township, and not guilty to a charge of attempting theft from William English, whose ranch is across the county road from the Worsley farm. He also pleaded guilty to a charge of public mischief, in reporting a stolen truck falsely.

Joseph McDermott, 67, of Beeton, pleaded guilty to the same charge of attempted theft as McDermott, but also pleaded not guilty to the charge concerning the English cattle.

Constable Denniss, of the Lindsay detachment O.P.P., testified that both men had co-operated in the investigation and had given statements concerning the "incidents" in question. He read a statement given to the police by McDermott, in which he admitted the Worsley theft and stated he had come to the area for the purpose of stealing cattle.

ASKS SIX MONTHS

In response to a plea for leniency for Saunders, by his counsel, I. E. Weldon, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, Q.C., stated that he was concerned with the value of the cattle being stolen, and the fact that the farmers were ranchers, depending on the cattle for their livelihood. He therefore asked for a longer term than the three months suggested by Mr. Weldon, and requested six months on all three charges. Magistrate Gee concurred, and made the three sentences to run concurrently.

In McDermott's case, the Rev. Duke, minister of the Beeton Presbyterian Church, appeared as character witness for the accused and commented on his home and his age. He also requested leniency.

Crown Counsel Jordan, however, asked for the same sentence as that given Saunders. At the request of Mr. Weldon, a recommendation will be forwarded by Magistrate Gee to the Provincial Secretary, to the effect that the two men should be lodged in different reformatories, suggesting Burwash for the younger Saunders, and Guelph for McDermott.

The magistrate summarized with a warning to all who have intentions to make off with Victoria County cattle that the case heard Friday morning and the lenient penalties meted out were not to be taken as examples, and promised a crack-down on any further activities of this kind in the area.

Lions Celebrate 7th Anniversary

BANCROFT (ENS). — The seventh anniversary of the charter of the Bancroft Lions Club was celebrated Monday night at a gala banquet at the Legion Hall attended by more than 100 members and guests.

Guest speaker of the evening was Charles Carter, Bowmanville, International Counsellor of Lions Clubs in Canada. He was introduced by Lion Whitney Martin and gave a speech in which he stressed unity as the mainstay of today's troubled world. Mr. Carter congratulated the local club on its fine progress in the past seven years. It was Mr. Carter who presented the club's charter in 1945.

Out-of-town guests at the head table were: Deputy District Governor, Vic Fredericks and Mrs. Fredericks, Lion Alec Sissons and Mrs. Sissons, Peterborough. The guests were introduced by secretary Art Hewitt.

Jack Follis was master of ceremonies for the evening, the program called to order by president "Mike" Burns.

Presentations of several awards to members for commendable work in the past year were made by the immediate past president, Cecil Wiggins. Entertainment by the Campbellford "Hill-Billies," an original amateur group, was very much enjoyed at the conclusion of the program. Following the banquet a dance was held at the community hall. Don Wilson, Bancroft, was the lucky winner of a pair of woollen blankets given as the booster prize.

Farmer Burned To Death

Gladys Long Fined $50 Left Accident

LINDSAY (ENS) — Gladys Long, of Lindsay, was found guilty this morning in police court here of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and fined $50 and costs. It was her second offence under the same section of the Highway Traffic Act.

Counsel for the accused, I. E. Weldon, gave notice at the conclusion of the trial that the decision would be appealed.

The accident in question occurred north of Lindsay on August 31, when the Long car and one driven by Glen Cain, of Lindsay, were in collision on Highway 36. The Cain car stopped, according to the evidence of two of the boys in it, Cain and John Dehrusha, and the boys got out just in time to see the other vehicle disappearing over the top of the hill.

They turned and caught up with it, and found Miss Long driving. They stopped the car, demanding payment for the damage to their car and called the police when they were laughed off.

Miss Long and the man accompanying her at the time of the accident, Warren Irwin, stated that they had stopped immediately after the accident, with Irwin driving, looked for a chrome strip from the side of the car, and had seen the other car driving away.

Shortly after that, Miss Long allegedly remarked on Irwin's driving and they changed places. When the boys found the car and stopped it, Miss Long was driving.

Provincial Constable Monsteven testified that she had claimed to be the owner and driver. This evidence was refuted by both Miss Long and Irwin, who both contended that no such question had been asked.

Magistrate Gee preferred to believe the story of the boys, and found Miss Long guilty of the charge. He fined her $50 and costs of $40.50, or an alternative of sixty days.

Counsel Weldon gave notice immediately that he would appeal by requesting the court's direction in the correct procedure to do so.

Terrorists Slash Elderly Couple

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Anti-White Mau Mau terrorists Friday broke into an elderly British couple's bedroom in Nairobi and slashed their faces and arms.

Richard M.G. Tulloch, 75, and his 74-year-old wife were left bleeding on the floor. Both were in serious condition in hospital today.

The Mau Mau, a secret African organization using terrorist methods to back up its aim of driving Europeans out of this British colony, has been responsible for a wave of attacks on people and livestock. Attacks on whites, however, have been rare.

15 Explosions Link Tunnels Under Niagara Escarpment

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Fifteen explosions 185 feet underground yesterday linked two tunnel sections under the Niagara escarpment. They also marked another step in one of the most ambitious projects of Ontario Hydro's $1,000,000,000 expansion program.

Set off by Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Louis O. Breithaupt the blasts of 1,800 pounds of explosives bit through 20 feet of rock linking two separate half-mile sections of what will ultimately be a 5½-mile tunnel.

The 51-foot-wide tunnel, and another parallel to it, will ultimately feed water from above Niagara Falls to the new Sir Adam Beck-Niagara No. 2 generating station at Queenston. There it will be converted to 1,200,000 horsepower.

Watching the ceremony on a platform 3,100 feet away were 400 business, government and construction industry officials, all wearing hardrock miners' helmets. An inspection afterward showed that two crews, starting more than a mile away from each other, had met less than an inch out of line.

Chairman R. H. Saunders of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario said it was "an occasion of great significance for Hydro."

The first tunnel, when completed next year, is expected to be the biggest hydraulic tunnel in the world. Already 1,125,000 tons of rock have been hauled up the five shafts from it. When finished, it will carry 15,000,000 gallons of water a minute.

Soviets Demand Crew Punished

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet officials have demanded that "severe punishment" be imposed upon the crew of an unarmed United States Air Force plane which was menflying a hospital mission. Americaced by machine-gun fire from Russian jet fighters while it was can authorities already have protested the shooting.

The Berlin-bound plane, carrying a crew of five and a woman nurse, was buzzed Wednesday by two Soviet MiG-15s. It escaped into a cloud after a warning burst of bullets zipped past its nose.

Maj.-Gen. Lemmel Mathewson American commandant in Berlin, sent a protest to Maj.-Gen V. I. Trussov, Soviet deputy chief of staff, describing the firing as "hostile, unfriendly, unwarranted and uncivilized."

But Trussov also dispatched a protest, the army disclosed today. The Russian claimed the DC-3 transport flew for 55 minutes outside the 20-mile-wide air corridor from the U.S. occupation zone to Berlin.

"The American plane did not heed the demand of Soviet planes to make a landing, and attempted to hide itself in clouds," Trussov said.

U.S. Cigarette Gifts May Bring Trouble

LONDON (Reuters) — Well-meaning American troops who hand out cigaretes to their British friends may be leading them into trouble with the law, a court ruled yesterday.

Lord Goddard, the Lord Chief Justice, declared:

"Strictly speaking, anyone who accepts a cigarette from an American soldier is committing an offence."

His statement was based on the fact that duty-free cigarettes from the United States are intended solely for the use of American troops in Britain.

The court ruled against Wilson Coupe, an inn-keeper who admitted buying 280 packs of cigarettes from two American soldiers.

Alma Mater Ontario

Ontario is the richest province. It has grown rich from what grows on its surface and lies underneath, and from the industry and enterprise of its people. It has husbanded and promoted that wealth by intense and skilled cultivation of industrial, agricultural, economic and financial techniques. It is a good thing to be wealthy since riches provide means to live well. We do not decry Ontario's wealth, nor the intensity with which it has been pursued, but we ask if this Province has not been too single-minded in its pursuit of money? Wealth is a means to an end, not an end in itself. Is Ontario living as well as it could with the wealth it has?

We have a specific matter in mind, and a comparison which is not favourable to Ontario. For many years the Quebec Government has granted prizes, scholarships and bursaries to outstanding persons engaged in the arts. Students and scholars in philosophy, literature, music and painting have been encouraged in their work and studies by Quebec Government prize-money, bursaries and travelling fellowships. Creative writers and artists of the province have been recognized for their talents and achievements, and in a helpful, monetary way; not merely by the award of some medal (like the Governor-General's medal) which is an honour without substance. Ontario has no such prizes and purses, despite her wealth. Official Ontario, it seems, prefers to pretend that the arts have no value or place in the Province.

The Ontario Government spends hundreds of thousands of dollars promoting industrial and agricultural reseach. It pours money into schools and colleges for so-called practical education. But it does not recognize those few Ontario men and women who may by their revealed talent, their creative art or the quality of their abstract thinking, do more for the welfare of Ontario and the everlasting honour of Canada than a score of bridge-builders, budding insecticide discoverers and brilliant economic theorists. Without the engineers, the practical scientists and the financial geniuses—and the millions put into industrial, forest and agricultural development—Ontario would not have grown rich as she has. But the emphasis has nearly all been materialistic—and man does not live by bread and bridges alone.

Out of her abundance—even by way of thanksgiving for it—can Ontario not now afford and institute prizes, bursaries and scholarships like those which Quebec has had for many years, to recognize and encourage distinguished and distinctive cultural contributions to the province and the country? Ontario has fostered, officially, the practical things of this life. Let her now become an alma mater to the arts, a fostering mother to our culture, following the graceful and good Quebec example.

Personal Impression Of The Televised Candidates

The importance of television in the American presidential elections is already very great: its influence on the results will be tremendous. Through his voice alone, radio brought the personality of President Roosevelt intimately to millions, but now the broadcast instrument of mass communication is enough television's coupling of the image with the voice. Both presidential candidates are being revealed in a new totality to masses of Americans who would never otherwise hear and see them, and while television is a means of mass communication it is peculiarly individual and personal. The speaker's presence comes into the home, to people in their privacy with unclamoured leisure to look and listen. He comes as one person speaking to another; not as a public figure addressing crowds.

Even when the candidate is being televised addressing a large public gathering the personal and individual quality of the television broadcast remains. To it is added the pleasure and convenience—even superiority—of witnessing the whole show as a detached auditor. This detachment and personal impact may have a profound effect on political speech-making. Not only is the speaker aware that he is being heard and seen by more tens of thousands outside the hall than in it; also he may adjust himself to this larger audience attending his person and words quietly, privately, and with time to think (since they are not part of the clatter and clutter around a platform). He may judge that clap-trap, blaring generalities and political platitudes will not carry the weight they have formerly done with people crammed into a hall and subject to the hysteria and excitement of the place and occasion.

This week we saw both candidates by means of a television screen. Both were impressive—television seems to give moment to their words and to enhance the importance of the elections—but, it was Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and not General Eisenhower who cut deeper. While Governor Stevenson's voice seemed light and high at first, the clarity of his enunciation, the decision (without pompous gravity) of his words, the logic of his sentences, and his wit won our esteem and held our interest. Here, we felt, is a man of high, balanced intelligence, of great capacities, and the ability to influence people and lead them well. General Eisenhower, great man as he is, great as his name may be, seemed by comparison dull, heavy and confused.

Governor Stevenson has been charged by his critics with being too arty with words and too lofty of phrase and idea for the common people of the United States. He turned his debating skill to good use by saying that he would rather be accused of talking over people's heads than talking behind their backs. His wit is ready and appropriate: "I have been tempted to make a proposal to our Republican friends; if they will stop telling lies about us, we'll stop telling the truth about them."

Next month we shall know the verdict of the American voter; but we cannot deny now that television will have a large influence on their vote, whether it is General Eisenhower or Governor Stevenson whose television personality comes more favourably to the millions who look, listen and ponder beside their receiving sets.

Their Dear Charlotte

The Ottawa Journal thinks this needs to be said, and before the active campaign for Ottawa's chief elective office begins; so this guide and friend to Miss Whitton has said it. "Mayor Charlotte Whitton is impairing her unquestioned competence for public service by the scenes she creates (or allows herself to fall into) and the lack of consideration for her colleagues which she frequently displays."

Tut! Tut! What has Miss Charlotte been falling into? Blue jeans at a plowing match? Mayor Lamport's arms? Yes but surely a lady may have her quiddities—and at least she has so far refused to kiss Toronto's Mayor.

What colleagues has she been inconsiderately upsetting? She twice walked out of the Ottawa Board of Control, over which she presides, when other Board members ungraciously insisted that she explain her action in calling police to look for a document which she suspected somebody was hiding from her. Surely the male married members of the Board of Control know enough about the vagaries of feminine minds and emotions not to ask a woman to explain her conduct, and not to be upset when Miss Whitton flounces from their presence white with rage? Have they never been stood up before by a woman?

Ottawa—even the Journal—ought to be thankful for this one notable contribution Miss Charlotte Whitton has made since she became Mayor. She has put civic Ottawa on the map. Formerly any news and views coming out of Ottawa were Federal Government stuff; the rest of the people of Canada were only occasionally reminded that there was such a thing as the city of Ottawa when its mayor came skulking out of some hole of a rented office to tag on to the reception queue when a dignitary visited the capital. Civic Ottawa still has its rented office, but now out comes, in all her flounce and flambuoyancy, Miss Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., putting her hand to the plough, her shoulder to the wheel, her nose to the grindstone, her ear to the ground, her foot in the stirrup, her spoke in the wheel. Civic Ottawa is on the stage—with its Dear Charlotte big in the middle of it. Perhaps that is what is hurting the sensitivities of her colleagues: Charlotte is taking the limelight.

Ottawa is conservative-minded and they do not like constantly to see their mayor in peevish and suspicious moods" says the Journal. It did not add, that the conservative Ottawats may not like to see her in coveralls either—and their prejudice is not solely aesthetic. Her Worship in the honeymoon of her term has displeasdd her bridegroom. But there again, is that not rather a common feminine failing?

NOTES AND COMMENT

"Tories Ready For Parley In High Spirits," reads a Montreal headline. Come to think of it, this is the pickling season.

Ottawa is to have a plebiscite on Sunday sports. Why bother, with Mayor Whitton there to entertain everybody every day? Or do Ottawa people think that this sport will be ousted at the same polls at which the plebiscite will be taken?

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: At a friend's house I picked up one of those books about the Scottish clans, which explained not only which clans were which, but what families were associated with each. And, to my surprise, there was no mention of the Marchbanks, or even the Marjoribanks, anywhere! Can it be, then, that my family, which has always considered itself to be Scots in a mild and non-partisan way, and which has been resident in Scotland for so many years—a couple of centuries, at least—is not really Scots? Are we Marchbanks Irishmen? Or are those Marchbanks who may be found in North Wales really on their native heath? Or are we Englishmen who, for some masochistic reason, have chosen to live in Scotland? Poor indeed is that Scot who cannot scrape a connection with some clan or other, but if the Marchbanks are among these outcasts I shall bear it philosophically. I may even find a clan of my own, with the slogan "Hoot toot, Marchbanks!" My badge, the thistle. My tartan, any convenient motor rug.

MONDAY: When I was in Toronto last week I was suddenly confronted by a girl selling tags for the support of the Humane Society. I am a humane man, but humanity has limits; I am humane exactly twenty-five cents' worth. But I had no silver, and like a craven I gave the girl a dollar and dared not ask for change. Since then my extravagant humanity has gnawed at me. But last night I dreamed that it was happening again; I gave the girl a dollar, and in return she handed me, not a tag, but a printed card, which read: "The whole Brute Creation hereby promises and guarantees that in future it will not leap upon you and shed its hair on your trousers; it will not lick your hands or face; it will not bury bones in your flower beds, nor use your lawns either as a privy or as an arena for noisy amour; it will not howl or meow between 10.30 p.m. and 8 a.m., it unconditionally swears not to upset your garbage cans. Yours for brotherly love, "The Animals' Humane Society." I was happy to receive this pledge, and when I awoke, and found that it was all a dream, I was downcast.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: I have not started my furnace yet, but the coldness of the autumn nights forces me to light a grate fire each evening. Since my first unhappy experience with my fireplace a week ago I have hoped that affairs would mend, but so far the draught which comes down the chimney has far exceeded any which I can persuade to go up the chimney until the fire has been burning for at least half an hour. As a result, the Towers is beginning to smell like an Indian tepee, and my household companions are victims of what I may best describe as complacent despair. Complacent, because they know that in time I must light the furnace, and because they have lost their first fear that I will burn down the house: despair, because fine ash has settled on everything, and because the chimney sweep has diagnosed the case as one of inherent vice in the chimney, curable only by complete rebuilding on the other side of the house . . . A sentimental visitor dropped in this evening, after the Great Agony was over, and said: "Who needs television when they can look at the pictures in the fire?" If he could have seen the picture an hour earlier of me fighting the flames, he would have said it with even greater unction.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Was in the country today, and coming over the crest of a hill was surprised to see a fox a few yards away; it did not see me, and the wind was in the wrong direction for it to smell me, so I watched it for what seemed a long time, but was probably two minutes. Then it turned, saw me, gazed for a few seconds, and trotted away grinning. This is not what I would have expected, and when I returned to town I called a naturalist friend and told him that the fox had not appeared to be afraid of me. "Oh no", he said, "unless you shot at it, or shouted, it probably wouldn't fear you; foxes are stupid creatures—any dog is smarter than any fox—and if it couldn't scent you it probably didn't realize even that you were a man". This was a blow to the notion I acquired as a child, from countless stories, that foxes are brilliantly intelligent, and the master-minds of the forest world. And after all, what evidence have we that a fox is clever? When chased it runs away, and makes better time in country it knows than a dog does. Is that clever? But a fox looks clever, and with animals as with humans, that is more than half the battle.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Passed a hitch-hiker on the road today who had rigged himself up to look as much as possible like a soldier; that is to say, he wore a forage-cap and a battle-blouse without any insignia on them, but had only a pair of dirty blue jeans to complete the outfit. Still, in a bad light, he might have been mistaken for a soldier by some kindly soul with a weakness for young men in uniform. But I have never understood why a soldier, who gets paid like other men, should not buy himself a seat on a train or a bus, like other men. This fellow looked like a villain, and the fact that he had taken trouble to disguise himself made me suspicious that he was up to no good.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: As I trudge to my work every day I pass a house which has what architects would call, I suppose, a Gothic window—that is to say, the window [illegible] a little Gothic arch, of the sort usually seen in churches. Why this woodshed is so quaintly adorned I cannot say, but across the street from it is a house with an oriel window—an upstairs window which sticks out of the side of the house, and has romantic Gothic arches. Thus, for a moment, as I pass on my way, these two windows—one in the woodshed and the other on the wall—breathe the last enchantments of the Middle Age in my direction, and I am grateful. They are pleasing reminders of that attempt, over a century ago, to revive Gothic architecture for domestic use; like all other architectural movements, it arrived in Canada, hopelessly battered and discredited, when the rest of the world had rejected it. It was a crack-brained scheme; Gothic buildings are not to live in; they are to be instructed in, edified in, and pitifully afraid in; nobody could live an ordinary life in such surroundings. But it was a notion of such commanding craziness that it inspires respect, and I freely accord it such respect, for thirty seconds every day.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Browsing today in "Canadian Author and Bookman"—a publication of the Canadian Authors' Association—I came across an article called "Let's Turn an Honest Coronation Penny", which suggested that we Canadian authors write about past Queens of England in such a jolly way that editors will not be able to resist us. I was greatly struck by one suggested subject—"Queens and Their Beverages"; I think I could handle that one. I would have to lie about Boadicea, for I have no idea what she drank, but I could say it was the blood of her enemies, and who could dispute it? Queen Elizabeth was a moderate drinker, and seems to have been fond of beer. But I could really let myself go on Queen Anne, for it is a well-authenticated fact that she drank brandy all day long, out of a teacup, and referred to it coyly as "cold tea"; rude courtiers called her Brandy Nan. Historians burble about the "spacious days of Good Queen Bess" but they were not half so spacious as those of Queen Anne when she and George of Denmark closed the door on the court and went to work on a cask of cold tea and a chicken pie. Spacious?—They were four dimensional!

HISTORICS

Brown (after night out): "When I arrived home last night my wife was awake and promptly went off into historics."

Jones: "You mean hysterics."

"No, historics. She dug up my past."

Mr. Abbott's Caution

(MONTREAL STAR)

MR. ABBOTT will not be surprised if a certain number of people smile when they read that he will be well satisfied this year, if he breaks even. He had accustomed us to surpluses far larger than his budget estimates, and taxpayers are now all dreaming of the happy day when he produces another good-sized surplus and hands out substantial tax reductions.

Perhaps, like Jurgen, we had better put our dreams upon an allowance. Past surpluses to some extent reflected the failure of departments to spend the money allotted to them. This was notably true of the defence program which, by its nature, is a slow starter. But the defence program is rolling now, and monthly spending is rising fast.

There is, however, another factor. When Mr. Abbott brought down his budget last April he made an interesting calculation of the gross national product, from which of course, all taxes come:

> "Last year our gross national output reached $21.2 billion. For budget purposes I am assuming that output in real terms will advance another 4 or possibly 5 per cent and that prices will lie somewhat between no change and 2 per cent. higher. If one takes the lower of both these assumptions . . . gross national product in 1952 will reach $22 billion. If one takes the higher of both . . . our gross national product will be about $22¾ billion. All these estimates assume good average crops, continued increase in general productive efficiency and no serious or prolonged industrial work stoppages. I am basing my budget on an expected gross national product that will closely approach $22½ billion."

Half the fiscal year is now over, and it may be useful to examine Mr. Abbott's April assumptions in the light of the record. The crops have been more than good over the country as a whole. His expectation of increased efficiency, to judge by his Charlottetown speech, is being well realized. Strikes have probably been just about average unless the U.S. steel stoppage affected Canadian production severely.

The one factor in his calculations which clearly has not come up to the budget calculation has been the price level. Prices have continued to decline, slowly to be sure, but the trend has been steady. This may change between now and what we might call B-Day, meaning, of course, the expected day of joy and gladness when the budget holds the longed-for tax reductions. If it does not, the effect on the national revenues may be substantial. Our tax structure is so devised that, when prices rise, revenues pour in (hence many of our surpluses). When prices drop, on the other hand, revenues fall short.

Hence Mr. Abbott's caution. Hence also, we would judge, the existence of a certain degree of emotional disturbance at Liberal party headquarters where the high command struggles with such weighty problems as the state of public opinion and the creation of of an adequate election appeal to the nation. The fiscal aspect of this problem would certainly be much simpler if prices had kept moving up instead of slipping back.

Dumb-Waiters

(Windsor Star)

In the architecture of modern homes no provision is made for dumb-waiters. And we don't mean that type of human waiter, sometimes encountered, who might be called dumb.

Time was when many homes had dumb-waiters. These would be found in such houses, seldom built on this continent, where the kitchen is in the basement, or on the ground floor, with the dining room on the floor above. The food would be put in a box-like contraption and pulled up from where it was cooked to where it was served.

More prevalent was the dumb-waiter which could be hoisted up and down from the cellar. Food which it was desired to keep fresh would be lowered in the dumb-waiter down into the cool cellar. When it was to be used, it would be pulled up again. This saved the housewife making so many trips down and up the cellar stairs.

With modern refrigeration and cupboard space, most food now is kept right in the kitchen, handy for cooking and serving. In earlier days, however, the dumb-waiter was a handy and useful contrivance.

How Time Flies

The Dumbells revue of 1922 will perform next week at the Grand Opera House.

The local O.R.F.U. squad works out under Coaches Dr. Dick Sheehy and Dr. Ed Wood.

1932 Treasurer Vernon Morphet reports that the Kiwanis Club has spent $1,796 so far this year in community work.

Dr. Roger Fairbairn, a Peterborough native and a ship's doctor for many years, dies in London, Ont.

1942 Lts. Allan Park and Don Weese of Peterborough arrive in England in a big convoy.

Lt. G. Hudson Hall is promoted to the rank of captain with the Signals Corps overseas.

Percy Bond of Peterborough, former O.H.A. president, is reported seriously ill in an Ottawa hospital.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus said the Lord of Hosts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets that prophesy unto you: they make you vain: they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord . . . I have not sent these prophets, yet they ran: I have not spoken to them, yet they prophesied . . . I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? Yet, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart; which think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal.

The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is the chaff to the wheat? saith the Lord. (Jer. 23: 16,21,25-28.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise. For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness. And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain. (I Cor. 3:18-20.)

PLAIN ENOUGH

When he let me go fifty-fifty I sensed he was cooling off.

A BRITISH OPINION

SHARE-OUT

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

Have been running around the countryside a bit this week getting a preview of our Kawartha wonderland. It is out of this world, as usual. And it's wonderful to know that the colours will still be at their finest on this, Thanksgiving weekend.

Not least showy of the overall vivid pattern are the wild grape vines that spill over tall cedars, fences and stonepile bases of the hedgegrows. The flashy yellow leaves, now curling brown at the edges from early frost, are withered and reveal tight bunches of dusky purple fruit on the vines.

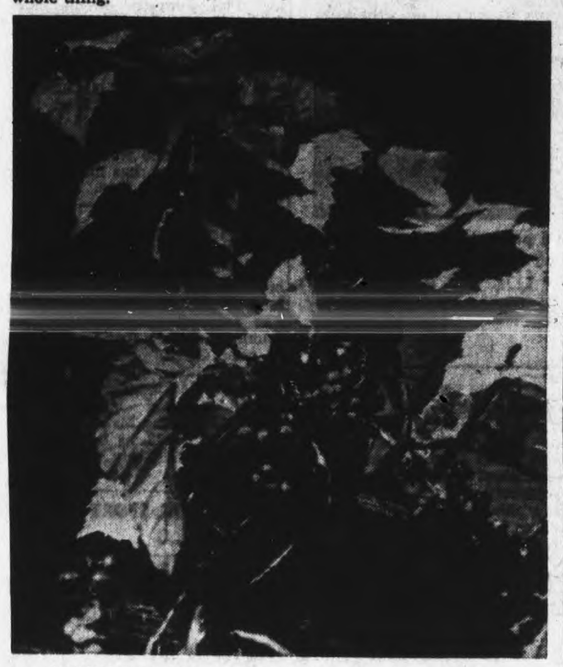
There are many species of this fruit-bearing vine thriving in regions as far as the Southern States; they are called Summer, Pigeon, Sweet Winter, Frost, Chicken and Riverbank. Our Kawartha variety is known as "Northern Fox Grape." It is a plant that plays an important role in the birdlife conservation picture and man, too, can squeeze some mighty fine benefits from it.

A great many folks who would be mortified if they were caught coming out of the liquor store with a bottle under their arm are secret grape wine brewers.

Have Anuzzer Wine 'O Glash. Made It M'Shelf

This according to a timid friend of mine, is how it should be done:

Gather 50 pounds of fruit, leaves and tendrils and put them in a tub (clean) with 37 pounds of moist sugar and four gallons of water. Bruise the fruit, stir well and let stand for 24 hours. Pour off the liquid from the pulp and add two more gallons of water and let this stand until fermentation begins (24, 48 or more hours). Now get out the clean ten-gallon keg and pour in the liquid and fill up to the bunghole with water.



CAUTION: You may have to lean the keg on one side a bit so that the working stuff can discharge itself. Keep the keg full to the bunghole with water for ten or 12 days. When the fermentation becomes moderate drive in the bung and bore a gimlet hole in the top and fit it with a tight plug. Pull the plug every day or so for about two weeks to let the carbonic gas escape and after that at intervals of two weeks for some time.

Then, the man says, on a fine frosty day near the end of December empty the keg (naturally) but only for the purpose of gently drawing off the brew from the "turgid tart."

At this point—if you have great will power—clean out the keg and return the brew to it with more water added to fill. Try to sample as little as possible.

I think there is something wrong at this point because my stickler friend leaves the wine in his cellar until March and then bottles it.

Better plan to work a year ahead on this program or forget the whole thing.

NORTHERN FOX GRAPE Is Not Only For the Birds

Duck shooters did fairly well at Rice Lake on last Saturday's opening day in that district. Bluebird weather still holds the majority of birds in the north but the season is now giving a few signs that it will boot them south at an early date.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

You O' Buzzard, You . . .

Harry Rayner of Codrington, south of Campbellford, was having wolf trouble recently. He set a trap with a dead chicken and caught one predator and reset and rebaited with the same lure. A few days later Harry inspected his set and found a huge bird in it; wingspread, six feet, two inches.

Unable to identify it he lugged it to Codrington Hatchery manager Ted Mound who, after leafing through several books, identified it as a turkey buzzard. It is the first time a bird of this type has been caught in these parts since its normal northern range limit is Maryland and Virginia.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Les Crowe of Crowe's Landing tells me he has three deer—a buck, doe and fawn—on his farm that are so tame they will come as close to him as half a block away. That was until this week when some itchy-fingered hunter took a shot at one of them. Deer poachers are busy at the head of Stony Lake, too, I hear. . .

About partridge in the bushland on and near his place Les has been getting several. They are in large flocks and cute enough to keep to the thick underbrush where they are safe for the time being.

Warsaw Post Office Now 110 Years Old Has Postal History

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

On October 8, 1842, when the Warsaw Postoffice was opened by Thomas Choate, the present writer's grandfather, Her Majesty's Mail was carried in a hat on the first official journey over the Warsaw - Peterborough courier route of fourteen miles.

The delivery of one "free" (official) letter is recorded in the large, limp book which gives an account of "Mails Received at the Warsaw Postoffice", the counterpart of which tells of "Mails Sent".

The first "paid" letter despatched from Warsaw was sent a week later. It was addressed to the "Editor of the British Whig, Kingston", the newspaper which is now The Kingston Whig - Standard, published by Senator Rupert Davies. This was what was then known as a "money-letter". It involved a payment of one shilling, sixpence. (All accounting of that time, and for nearly twenty years later was, of course, in £. s.d.)

110TH ANNIVERSARY

On this 110th Anniversary, the writer believes that factual data selected from these books, and relevant official letters and documents now in his possession in their original form, will be helpful to historically-minded people who may wish to gain a clearer answer to the question: "How did the early Ontario people manage to establish and carry on the essential social services in their day of sparse settlement and rough forest trails? Among the few public utilities of the time, the Postal Service surely ranked high in importance. For it was life-blood that flowed through the arteries of the Communicated Word.

Elsewhere in these columns will appear copies of the original letters of appointment and the primary instructions to Thomas Choate, written in flowing longhand by William Richardson, Acting P.O. Surveyor, Toronto, from which city matters of Departmental administration were then directed. The new Postmaster was advised to confer with the Postmaster of Peterborough (which was then listed in one almanac as situated in the Township of North Monaghan). About this time (just a few months later) S. J. Carver assumed the office of postmaster on the sudden, tragic death of Ephriam Sandford. Mr. Carver was a well-informed and clear-sighted official, whose kindly co-operation was to continue through the years. Mr. Choate's assistant in the early years was John W. Wright.

WARSAW NAMED

On assuming his postal duties, Thomas Choate gave Warsaw its name. The office was opened in the store he had established soon after he had completed building the first of four mills (gristmill, sawmill, carding mill and furniture factory) in co-operation with Hon. Zaccheus Burnham of Cobourg, husband of Betsy Choate). In 1844 and for some years later he was serving as District Councillor (then Colborne District). He was Dummer township's first School Superintendent and in 1840 became Justice of the Peace.

One of Thomas Choate's sureties through his long postal service was Elias Burnham, his boyhood friend at Smith's Creek (later Port Hope), who after studying law with Chief Justice Draper in Toronto, became Peterborough's first barrister, and one of the town's largest property-owners. The other surety was Sampson Lukey of Warsaw, father of the late Mrs. Francis T. Lumsden: grandfather of the late Mrs. B. F. Ackerman; and great-great-grandfather of Mayor Hugh Waddell. Mr. Lukey was succeeded by Archibald R. Kidd, later reeve of Dummer.

IN LONGHAND

For many years the store and postoffice books were kept in the beautifully-formed, legible hand of the English-born George H. Garlick, who reared his large family in the village and maintained his bee-garden "across the pond". Mr. Garlick needed no Dun or Bradstreet to inform him of upcurves or downcurves in the world of trade. If business wasn't all it might be his report was simple and direct: "It's a pretty dull day—I haven't sold a hax."

Half a century later his daughter, Clara Garlick, then Mrs. Frank E. Barrett, writing from her home in Rochester, N.Y., in her versified "Memories of Warsaw", shared with readers of The Examiner her clear image of life in the village that nestled between the hills flanking the Indian (Squaknegossippi or "Sweet Water") river. The verses, though not exactly in the diction of Goldsmith's type in his "Sweet Auburn", nevertheless revive a sense of the atmosphere of her native valley of girlhood dreams:

I can see a little cottage and a garden filled with flowers,
Where Mrs. G. H. Garlick spent many happy hours,
And the water of the millrace flowed by her cottage door,
Where the kids all played together, always happy by the shore . . .
I can see the old Post Office and George Garlick sorting mail,

There were also four big churches and three big blacksmith shops
It was a peaceful village where they didn't need a cop.

NO COP NEEDED

No, Warsaw, like a good many other villages of those days before centralization in cities, "didn't need a cop." It was not unlike the Wiltshire village so beautifully described by Hudson, wherein "Each house has its centre of human life, with life of bird and beast, and the centres were in touch with one another, connected like a row of children linked together by their hands; and together forming one organism, instinct with one life" . . . Let one villager cut his foot with his axe. All the others would quickly know of it and instantly have a vivid mental image of his fellow's sufferings. Sympathy and solidarity united all in the small isolated community and none would be capable of a thought or emotion which would seem strange to the others . . . The temper, the mood, the outlook of the individual and of the village would be the same.

And for good reasons. As another writer puts it "There is no separation between the structures and processes of the part of the body that entertains ideas and the part that performs acts. Brains and muscles work together."

In such conditions of intimacy, intervention by the "cop," agent of the Political State, would be an impertinence. For the State is far from being Society, or co-terminous with it. Only once in 110 years of Warsaw postoffice history has there been any crime suggesting the need for a "cop." And on that occasion the villagers themselves, though perhaps unconsciously, thwarted the evil designs of outsiders. About 1898, when the postoffice safe was deeply drilled, preparatory to a dynamite blast, the marauders were put to flight so precipitately that they left their tools. Experts adjusted the displaced "combination" lock.

$56 A YEAR

Coming of the letter-registration and money-order systems added greatly to the duties of accounting, yet as late as 1871 the Postmaster's salary was only $56 per annum, which was calculated on the revenue; such revenue, as Ottawa explained, being for this purpose "the amount of postage on letters and newspapers, etc., unpaid, received at and paid in money or by postage stamps, sent from your office, less the amounts of 'mis-sent and redirected' and 'Dead Letters'."

Periodic "enumeration" of matter passing through the mails for a specified week was adopted later as a basis of salary adjustment. Through the later years the weekly "Report Night" called for care and punctuality in accounting for all business. The report having been completed and placed in a large manila envelope, a long stick of Her Majesty's sealing wax was ignited with a match and a red seal of heroic proportions, bearing the imprint of the Crown, was affixed.

The registered letter and money-order records show the increasing importance of the expanding mail service in the conduct of all kinds of public affairs. Names of men prominent locally and nationally appear repeatedly in the listings of senders or recipients of mail. By 1861 the Dummer population had grown to 1,757.

Increase of official correspondence is illustrated by the entries relating to Captain George Arundel Hill, who served for some years as councillor, township clerk and treasurer, and superintendent of schools. He was a veteran of the Battle of Waterloo and lived at Broad's Corners, on the Warsaw-Lakefield road, near Clear Lake.

THUMBED BEFORE RECEIVED

Newspaper readers were multiplying, although during and after the rebellion period of 1837, copies of William Lyon Mackenzie's fiery "Colonial Advocate" seem to have been at a premium. With amusement, Thomas Choate would recall in later years how his copy, long delayed, would be all but worn out by avid and multitudinous readers in Peterborough, before he would receive it. Lists of newspaper subscribers in succeeding decades show the wide popularity of Hon. George Brown's Toronto Globe and John R. Dougall's Montreal Witness and Northern Messenger.

EXPEDIENT DELIVERY

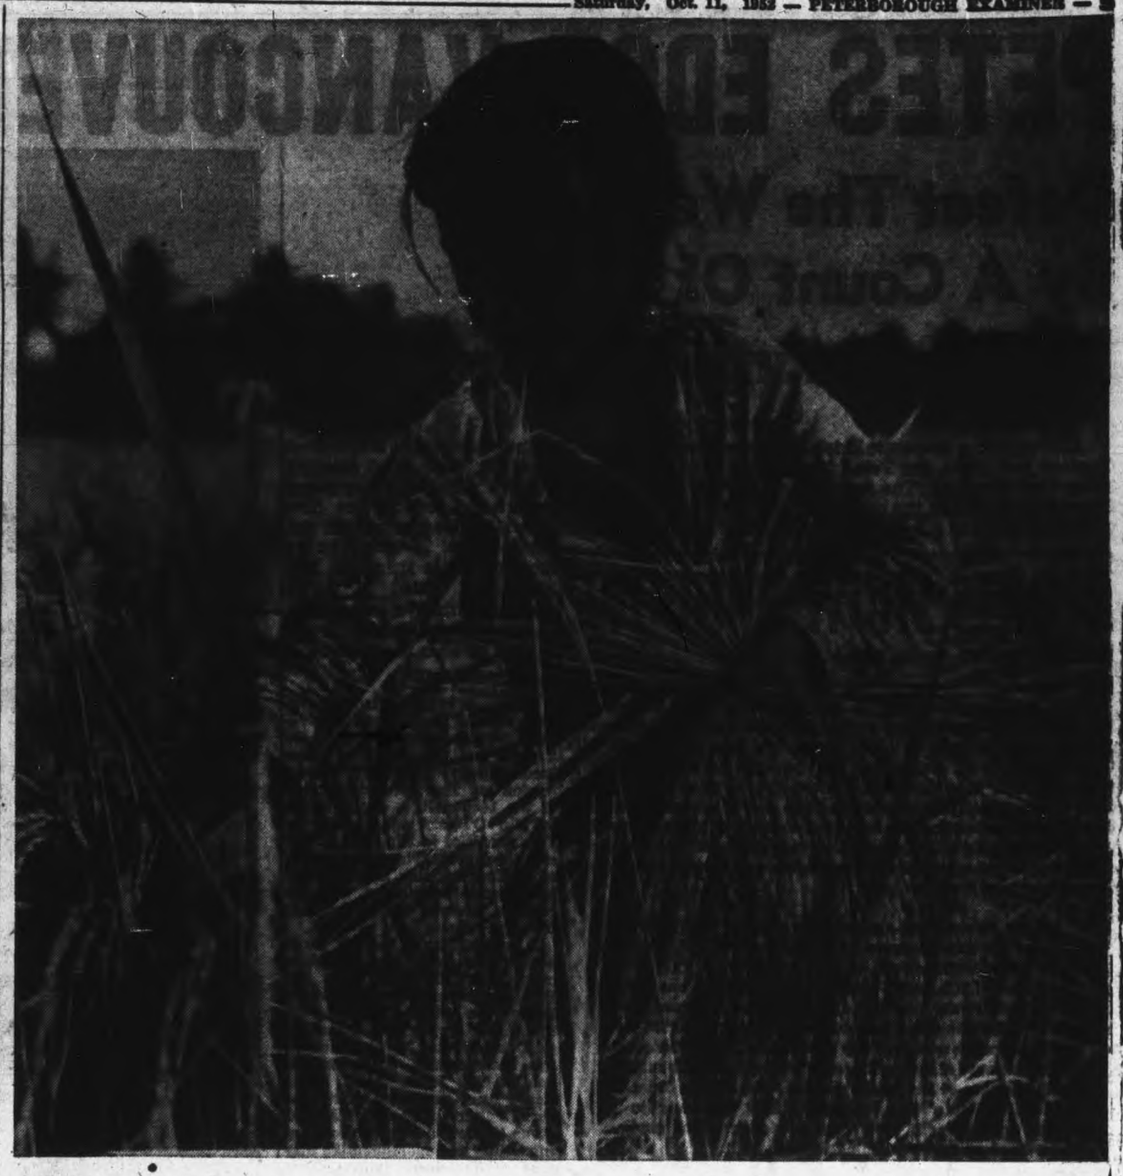
Scope of service given by the village postmaster in earlier days was not bounded by Departmental "musts." If a letter of especial importance or urgency arrived for one of the Paynes, or Crowes or Jorys, or Battens, or Darlings up the "English Line," he was at pains to arrange for its prompt delivery, through the good offices of neighbors. Though registered mail was invariably "signed for" by recepients, signed notes conveyed by a "bearer" frequently saved miles of travelling. Store business of that period in the main allowed wide latitude for payment of accounts, a credit term of one year being considered quite reasonable and normal, as the voluminous ledgers testify.

The Postmaster, too, was called upon not infrequently by the Department for advice or aid in keeping open the lines of mail communication. On August 28, 1875, R. W. Barker, P. O. Inspector at Kingston, wrote to Thomas Choate regarding the service to the large North Dummer area, for which Warsaw had become the distributing centre.

Will you please make enquiries and let me know the very lowest sum per annum you can get any responsible person to undertake the Warsaw and Stony Lake weekly mail service on a four years' contract, the service to start from the Warsaw end of the route. No tenders for the contract have been received and I am obliged to make a special arrangement for the service. The service should not cost more than $60 a year. Mr. Robb does it for $50.

47 YEARS

When Thomas Choate resigned as Postmaster of Warsaw on July 1, 1889, his term of service of 47 years was said to be the longest in Canada for such an office. In the touching interchange of goodbye letters with the veteran Inspector Gilbert Griffin at Kingston, a poignant note is struck in the latter's reference to himself as "the last rose of summer." The Postmaster's office was then taken over by his son, Arthur F. Choate, who a little later remodelled the premises, installing a system of glass-front call-boxes which had served in the Peterborough office, when Colonel H. C. Rogers became Postmaster.



From 1889, Arthur F. Choate served until 1927, a term of 38 years as Postmaster, though he had begun as assistant in 1867, having thus to his credit 60 years

Your Garden:

Why Must We Peek-a-Boo Through Front Shrubbery?

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

One often wonders why the majority of our houses have so many evergreens along the front in such masses. It is then necessary for the owner to brave a forest gloom to reach the front door. When once inside it is necessary to play peek-a-boo to get a view out the first-floor window.

There are several reasons why this unpleasant picture is so common. The first is because evergreens which grow most easily are cheaper to buy.

Another reason is because many speculative builders who no doubt know how to build houses know nothing about plants or their suitability for foundation planting. They go to a nursery and get a few young evergreens so that the house is "dressed up" and more easily sold.

This builder does not care how the house will look a few years hence, since it will have been sold long before the plants get so large that the house cannot be seen.

TAKES ADVANTAGE

He takes advantage of the fact that the average house buyer doesn't know much about the plants, their adaptabilities, advantages or disadvantages.

A house of good design does not need to have the entire foundation planted out. If, however, the foundation is a high, blank expanse of brick or concrete, the harsh line neds to be hidden or softened.

To remedy this situation, the public must be made to realize what is good and why, and what is appropriate and distinctive, fitting and successful, from both the horticultural and aesthetic viewpoint. These smothering and poorly conceived plantings should be ruthlessly thinned out and cut back, with care used in substituting the right sort of plants.

Keep the planting arrangement simple, grouping the plants to give height at the principal corners with descending masses into the areas between them. In general, keep inside corners or bays free of high planting and avoid stiff straight rows along the foundation lines.

Use evergreens as accents only in the planting and fill in with ground covers of myrtle, pachysandra or English ivy.

Thick forest gloom of evergreens at front door should be ruthlessly thinned out.

The several varieties of Japanese holly (ilex crenata), Oregon hollygrape (mahonia aquifolium), Japanese Andromeda (leucothoe catesbaei) blend well with the needle forms of evergreens and relieve the monotonous effect achieved when the needle type alone is used.

Often the effect is more pleasing if some of the larger accents are deciduous [illegible]

Gardening Questions

Q.—Is there any fertilizer value from water in which egg shells have soaked for several days?

A.—No. Egg shells contain some minerals which are only released through decomposition. If you have excess egg shells work them into the soil about the plants or add them to the compost pile.

Q—How early in autumn may we transplant crabapples, lilacs, and similar flowering trees and shrubs.?

A—When the leaves have taken on autumnal coloration and are in the process of dropping, and the summer growth of wood is no longer extremely succulent. Planting can be continued until the ground freezes.

Q—Our corn patch has a slight infestation of smut. What should we do to avoid its reappearance next year?

A—Remove at once and burn all smut boils. Rotate your crops and avoid varieties of corn known to be susceptible.

OLD CHOATE STORE — at Warsaw, which has housed the post office through most of the 110 years since the office was established, October 8, 1842. Here was the point of departure and arrival of the historic "Warsaw Stage," which ran on the Warsaw-Peterborough mail route, usually laden with passengers and freight. Structurally the building has undergone little change, though the motor age has left its imprint on the exterior. Large room on the upper floor (right end) has been of widely varied service. In earlier decades it was frequently the scene of public gatherings; or of lodge or society meetings, such as those of the Sons of Temperance, once a flourishing organization. It was long the meeting place of the singing school which Thomas Choate carried on gratis for 60 years. In later years, it was fitted up as a living apartment. Frank Sidey is the present postmaster.

PETES EDGE VANCOUVER TO TAKE A 3-0 LEAD

Defeat The Westerners By A Count Of 9-8 In Third Mann Cup Fray

By CEC. PERDUE

Staving off a desperate drive by Vancouver Pilseners in the fourth period at Maple Leaf Gardens last night, the Petes' Timbermen eked out a 9-8 victory for their third straight Mann Cup triumph. The fourth game will be played Monday night. Cheered on by many Peterborough fans in the crowd of 2,253 the Thorpe team rode to a 3-1 lead in the first quarter, built it to a 6-4 margin at the half and were coasting on a 9-4 lead going into the final frame. Cashing in on local penalties then, the B.C. champions rifled in four markers without a return, and they were fighting furiously to tie it up when time ran out.

A ROUGH GAME

It was a bruising battle with Referees Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond letting far too much go for a time, and then cracking down inconsistently from the second session on. The Petes drew nine of the 14 penalties, one a major to Nip O'Hearn in the fourth. Two penalties to Nip in this heat cost three goals. There was plenty of slashing, tripping, boarding and interference throughout, and the referees received quite a panning from the fans.

A special train took a large number up from here, including more than 100 boys from the P.M.L.A., as guests of the officials. During the halftime intermission, the O.L.A. trophy was presented to Doug Miller Jr. as coach of the Peterborough champion juvenile "B" team. Also, Roger Smith was presented with the Jerry Patterson Memorial Award, given by Ostrander's, for combining ability and sportsmanlike play best of the local junior Filter Queens.

EXCITING SCRAP

Play generally was fast and exciting, with the rivals laying on the gad plenty. The Petes turned in a solid effort, especially when short one and two players at a time to dominate the duel until the westerners started running hard in the late stages. But those two penalties made the main difference even in the fourth frame, and the seventh and eighth goals were partly deflected off desperate defenders in front of Goalie Moon Wootton.

The Moon came up with another terrific display to break the Vancouver hearts. He has strong checking in front of him, and the forwards worked well both ways. Don Ashbee starred with two goals and two assists. Bobby Thorpe continued his fine playing with a marker and two assists. Russ Slater banged two more home. Ross Powless shone in all-around display, despite suffering a groin injury which kept him out a good part of the third period. Curly Mason, Grant Burns, Dootch Vitarelli and young Roger Smith had a goal each, and Lou Nickle aided on one. They were a tired bunch at the finish, but so were Vancouver.

Fred Whittaker counted one for the losers and helped on two more markers. Ernie Smith lit the lamp twice, and Jim Swanson slapped in a brace. Single goals were tallied by Webb, Ernie Buchanan—who also had an assist—and Denny Huddleston. Harry Buchanan and Ed Hanson counted an assist each.

MOON ON MOVE

Wootton had to hop often early in the first quarter as Pilseners crowded in from the start. They took a 1-0 lead at 3:15 when Huddleston shook his check and moved in fast from the side to catch a net corner. Thorpe evened it shortly with a slap shot at close range on Ashbee's corner passout. Mason made it 2-1 a minute later with a bullet shot at a slight angle. Mason then sat out a tripping penalty and Vancouver pressed hard but couldn't count during his absence. It was a hard and fairly even period with plenty of slashing on both sides. Ashbee scored one late on a passup from Nickle and a hot shot at the crease's edge.

It was fast and rugged again in the second heat, but the referees cracked down more. Play was quite even and both goalies shone. Burns took Thorpe's pass on the dead run to score in 32 seconds. Ernie Smith got it back shortly with a whistler on a rebound off the back-boards. Vitarelli was gated for high-sticking and Whittaker promptly scored in a scramble. Huddleston was waved over next for slashing and Kinna followed him any two for a game. It cost a goal, Slater counting a nice one in close from Ashbee. Slater hit the sin trail next for slashing, and Swanson got it for tripping. They were back when Elmer Buchanan tallied from Harry Buchanan on a play the Petes argued was in the crease. Vitarelli got it back on fine combination with Thorpe and neat finish. Mason was chased near the close for slashing to end a hard-hitting and exciting period.

PUT ON PRESSURE

Pilseners pressed plenty to start the third chukker. But Timbermen scored at 5:27 when Slater tipped in Powless' forward pass. The latter added one as he took a fast pass on the dead run from Roger Smith. Ashbee circled the net and shoved in one more to make it 9-4. The period roughed up and wound up in a parade of penalties. Powless was hurt and Leatherbarrow drew a slashing penalty. He was back when Thorpe got it for tripping, followed by Vitarelli for slashing. Next Huddleston went for slashing and Ashbee followed for high sticking. No scoring resulted from the penalties.

Vancouver had a good margin on play in the lively fourth stanza. Only brilliant work in goal by Wootton kept them down to four goals. At 5:10, O'Hearn went off for slashing and the B.C. crew struck for two fast markers. Swanson got both at close range from E. Buchanan at first and then from Whittaker. O'Hearn returned but drew another one, this time for five minutes when Harry Buchanan was cut. The B.C. bunch drove furiously and cut the Petes' margin to two when Smith slapped in Whittaker's pass at 8:35.

Moon rushed far out once to retrieve a loose ball. Vancouver got one more with Nip off as Webb's hard angle shot with Hanson's pass caught a corner. Nip returned and the westerners were ganging up hard at the bell. Teams:

Vancouver: Goal, Green; defence, Kinna and E. Smith; centre, Webb; wings, Hanson and Huddleston; rover, E. Buchanan; alternates, Redline, Swanson, Marsh, Whittaker, H. Buchanan, Sakich and Leatherbarrow.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Killingbeck and Nickle; centre, Thorpe; wings, Vitarelli and Smith; rover, Ashbee; alternates, O'Hearn, Wipper, Mason, Slater, Powless, Burns and Robinson.

Referees, J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER for the junior O.L.A. Filter Queens during the past season, Roger Smith has proved himself capable of senior "A" ranks with his fine performances so far in the Mann Cup. Smith was surprised during half-time in Friday's game when he was awarded the Jerry Patterson memorial award by Frank Patterson, sponsor of the junior club. The fleet forward promptly turned in one of the season's best games, grabbing loose balls as in the top photo and checking firmly. Smith (11, lower photo at right) checks up big Jim Kinna, knocking the ball (at Kinna's shoulder) loose. The Timbermen won their third straight 9-8.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

WINS AWARD—Being chosen best among the local junior lacrossers this year for ability and sportsmanlike qualities, Roger Smith last night was presented with the Jerry Patterson Memorial Award in Maple Leaf Gardens. It is a local trophy, given annually in memory of the late Jerry Patterson.

INDIANS RELEASE COACH

CLEVELAND (AP) — General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians last night said first base coach Jake Flowers will not be retained by the Tribe next year. Greenberg said the Indians tend to be a phlegmatic team and for that reason he wants "a more aggressive type of coach than Flowers."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The grid Orfuns expect to take that four-point fixture o'er Kingston Tanks here Monday eve to climb into undisputed possession of first place in their O.R.F.U. group. It's been a dogfight with Cobourg Ghosts all season and will continue so right till one is eliminated. May it be the Rapid Wraiths. The Kingston R. C. E. M. E. crew deserves credit for sticking in there despite several pastings to date. Changing personnel has hurt their chances all along of rounding up a contending club. Orfuns are really potent this fall and rate plenty of fan support the rest of the short schedule and through the playoffs. They might take it all this year.

* * * * * *

A lot of comment among puck officials and fans have followed the announcement of Alfie Moore's appointment as coach of Belleville Glens, in our O.H.A. senior "B" group. The former N.H.L. goalie ought to know his stuff, but then so should Red Doran, the Quinte playing coach last year. Doran will play for the Glens and will coach the junior "B" team in that town. He was probably eased out of the senior coaching job because of the indifferent showing Belleville made in the late stages of last hockey season. They broke from the barrier like Man o' War, but were strictly "also rans" in the stretch drive. They'll need some bolstering in the stronger group lined up for this coming winter.

Jim Looks 'Em Over

Petes are practicing away at Civic but no berths are clinched as yet. Naturally, some of the puck prospects working out are a shoo-in, but no announcements have been made so far by Coach Jim Ellis. Lots of time yet to look 'em over and sign the best possible combination. Jim will get a real good idea of what he has when the Petes play an exhibition game here Tuesday eve with Ed Shore's A.H.L. Syracuse Chiefs. This pro club has been in training at Lindsay, and the exhibition is part of the training program just before the long season opens. It'll be good for the Petes, too—and for the fans who want a pre-season gander around Thanksgiving Day time. The tilt is Tuesday at eight-thirty p.m. in Civic Arena.

Only super-duper goaltending by the one and only Lloyd (Moon) Wootton kept the Timbermen in front in the fourth quarter at Toronto last night as they squeezed out a 9-8 win o'er Vancouver. A minor and a major penalty in a row to Nip O'Hearn for accidental slashing really put Petes on the spot as the B. C. champs rolled rapidly in the windup frame. Fired home four goals without a return and almost sewed it up with some late blistering shots which the Moon managed to steer aside. A sizzling finish to an exciting scrap, giving Petes their third straight win in the Mann Cup set. If they cannot do it again Monday night, they'll be bringing back the trophy in the wee small hours of Tuesday a.m. The fourth tilt, originally listed for the aft of the holiday, will go in the evening, Gardens officials announced last p.m.

Real Spotty Refereeing

Refereeing was quite erratic in this game. Murphy and Vipond let far too much go in the first half and then started cracking down in the last two quarters to try to keep the game in hand—and it had the rival players plenty confused. A check that was okay once turned out to be a slashing offence later, just when it hurt most. Timbermen drew the majority of the sin sentences and saw a healthy 9-4 lead being dissipated rapidly in the fourth frame, but they hung on to earn the win. Quite a bunch of fans from here, going by train and car, including more than 100 P.M.L.A. players. C.G.E. Pipe Band didn't go when 'twas learned only bandsmen of the Musicians' Union could play in the Gardens.

* * * * * *

Game was a hard-hitting and nifty affair, with the Thorpe team looking good. Had a margin on play the first three stanzas, every player hustling up and down the floor. Don Ashbee turned in a whale of a driving effort, Bob Thorpe and Rusty Slater were as steady as ever, Ross Powless was a power-house every time he came off the players' bench, and he and Rog Smith teamed up for one of the best goals of the night. Yeah, they were all in there battling all the way. Vancouver, too, gave it all they had and 'twas almost enough, but not quite. Petes' juvenile "B" champs got their O.L.A. trophy, and Roger Smith also was presented with the Jerry Patterson Memorial Award during intermission.

27 Amateurs Slug It Out At Tournament

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-seven Canadian amateur heavyweights with stars in their eyes and—they hope—dynamite in their mitts, will slug it out here next Tuesday in Jack Dempsey's third "White Hope" boxing tournament. The former heavy champion will be around to view the mauling.

The winner, after the three-round elimination bouts, will receive $300. If he shows promise, he will be groomed for bigger things in the fistic world.

"This is the only way to inject new blood into the heavyweight division," Dempsey said yesterday.

"Out of these tournaments will come some young fellow whom we can develop into a real title contender. Look what we have in the heavyweight division now — just Rocky Marciano. He's 28 and in two or three years he'll be ready to be taken and some of your youn fellows by that time might be ready to turn the trick."

"A million dollars to the man who makes good" is the slogan of Dempsey and co-promoter Frank Tunney of Toronto. They've received entries from Fredericton, N.B., to Toronto—guys who have never fought for money before and who probably wouldn't know a right cross from a left jab.

The Fredericton entry is Bob O'Ree, 21-year-old inside with Toronto Balmy Beach of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union. Bob is six feet one inch tall and weighs 205 pounds.

MANY HOPEFULS

Others are from Montreal, Ottawa, Niagara Falls, Quebec City, Hamilton, Sarnia, London and Toronto.

Entries include: Tex McEwan, Frank Dezio and John Kelly, Niagara Falls; John Hruska, Hamilton; Phil Simpson, Sarnia, and Bobby Hesson, London.

Only one entry—Eddie Zastre of Winnipeg—has made good in the three previous tournaments. Zastre won in 1949 and now is Canadian light-heavyweight titleholder. The last tournament was held in December, 1951, and was won by Al Hogan of Toronto who, according to the promoters, has made $3,000 by his fists since then.

S. Heckman Leads

In the Y.M.C.A. senior girls' bowling league this week, Aces took six points over the Tigers. The Hurricanes, Bombers and Commandos won four respectively over Glens, Corvettes and Lucky Strikes.

Shirley Heckman had high three of 725, followed by P. Minard with 602. Shirley Marshall led in singles with 273, as S. Heckman hit 268, M. Flaherty 250 and D. Scott 244.

Kitchener, Guelph Tie 2-2 In Junior OHA Opening

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A new era in Eastern Canada junior hockey began last night with the opening games of the Ontario Hockey Association junior "A" league. The 1952-53 season will see an inter-provincial Ontario — Quebec schedule embracing 13 teams —nine from Ontario and four from Quebec.

The O.H.A. has a schedule of 287 games, ending March 1. In the league are the defending Memorial Cup champions, Guelph Biltmores, Toronto Marlboros, Toronto St. Michaels, Barrie Flyers, Windsor Spitfires, Kitchener Greenshirts, Galt Black Hawks, St. Catharines TeePees and Oshawa Generals.

During the heavy interlocking schedule the O.H.A. entries will meet Quebec Citadels, Three River Reds, Montreal Canadiens and Montreal Royals of the Quebec Junior Hockey Association.

BARRIE WHIPS GALT

Three games ushered in the O.H.A. season last night. Kitchener Greenshirts thrashed out a 2-2 overtime tie with the Biltmores at Guelph. Toronto St. Michaels put a damper on St. Catharines' home opener with a 7-5 win, while Barrie Flyers whipped Galt Black Hawks 12-8 on their home ice.

Orv Tessier, whose contract was in dispute right up to game time, got both Kitchener goals. He had a chance to break a third-period tie on a penalty shot but drove the puck wide of the net.

Ron Murphy and Bill McCreary scored for Biltmores.

St. Michaels broke a 4-4 tie in the second period at St. Catharines for their win despite a strong TeePee attack in the final minutes of the game. Jack Caffrey and Jim Logan potted two apiece for Toronto while Les Duff, Murray Costello and Mike Rathford scored singles.

Teeps scorers were Ian Cushanen, Chuck Marshall, Allan Kellog, Ralph Markarian and Brian Cullen.

MANY PENALTIES

At Barrie the Flyers overcame an early two-goal deficit for their 12-8 win. Play was rough with referee Andy Bellemer handing out 24 minors, 12 majors and one 10-minute misconduct penalty.

Don McKenney picked up 15 points for a wide lead in the league's scoring honors with seven goals and one assist. Johnny Martan, Minnie Menard, Bob White, Fred Pletsch and Ken Collins scored one each.

Jim McBurney slammed home four Galt tallies while singles were made by Neil McDonald, Buddy Horne, Frank Bonello and John Sleaver.

Rebuilt Hawks Meet Test

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago's revamped Black Hawks meet their acid test tonight and Sunday. The Hawks, a sad last in the National Hockey League last season, take on Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers in the loop's first big week-end.

If the Hawks can continue their good showing—they edged Montreal Canadiens 3-2 in a league opener Friday night—they'll make the fans sit up and take notice.

For Toronto fans tonight will be their first glimpse of winger Cal Gardner in a Chicago uniform. Leafs traded Gardner during the winter. Thursday night he popped in the winning goal against Montreal.

ROLLINS VS. LUMLEY

The fans will also view one of those queer reversals of pro hockey. Toronto's nets will sport Harry Lumley, for whom the Leafs traded four players. In Chicago's goal, Al Rollins, one of the traded four, will fight off the onslaughts of his former team mates.

Rollins, no doubt revenge-minded was once touted as the successor to burly Turk Broda, long-time Leaf net-minder. Now he has the backing of a club toughened by a hard pre-season exhibition tour and under a new coach, Sid Abel, a former Detroit Red Wing.

Remember When —

Ted Phelps of England won the world's professional sculling title from Bert Parry over the Thames 22 years ago today. Phelps was champion until defeated by Bobby Pearce at Toronto in 1933 when Pearce, Australian-born newcomer to Canada, won the three-mile event by a margin of 200 yards.

Reynolds' Arm Sore After Game

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Just how much wear and tear is there on a pitcher's arm during a strenuous seven-game World Series?

So much that Allie Reynolds couldn't even comb his hair yesterday because his arm was too stiff. Mrs. Reynolds obliged so that her husband could look pretty as he rode in a parade with Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Allie was quick to tell reporters that riding in the parade had no political significance although reporters noticed he was wearing a Stevenson button.

"I just wouldn't want to make a commitment at this point," he said. "I've been too busy lately to think about politics."

STENGEL'S SALARY

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Del E. Webb, co-owner of New York Yankees, yesterday denied reports that Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, has signed a new two-year contract at a salary ranging from $75,000 to $100,000 a year.

"Those quotes are amusing," he said in an interview. "We haven't even talked to him about it. It's very apparent this is quite a guessing game, but he hasn't signed."

Asked if Stengel will get an increase, Webb said:

"That's my business."

P.C.V.S. Seniors Capture A 37-6 Grid Triumph Against The Quinte Squad

Peterborough Collegiate emerged triumphant over Belleville C.I. Friday night at Riverside Park 37-6, in a dashing and exciting, though one-sided, senior football struggle under the arcs. Despite the honors and triumphs of recent years and the traditional class of P.C.V.S.'s teams, the polish and finesse of Bev. Goulding's 1952 edition of football stalwarts was a source of further satisfaction to the large crowd of parents, students and other fans who saw the popular lads ring up their second straight win of the regular group schedule. They trimmed Oshawa C.I. 40-0 last week. Working off a split T formation, the local boys in Garnet and Grey displayed a fast breaking line, a shifty and tough backfield starring veterans Bob Craw, Spin Hope, Don Scriver, Murray Grafstein and Barry Hollingsworth; while the front wall led by Dan Griffin, Larry Forbes and ably supported by Hughie Outram, Bruce Walker, Ed Sanders, Jack King, Gord McGrath, et al, left nothing to be desired.

Quarterbacks Langhorne and Corbett handled the signal work efficiently and completed all but one pass in 10 attempts with such receivers as Griffin, Craw, John Eastwood, Scriver and Eddie Sanders picking them off in big-league style.

Among other heroes of the fray might be mentioned Freddie Ash, Charlie Geale, Gary Gilders, Jim Haggart, Don Hillis, Dean Lynch and Grant Reader, who all sparkled in a stellar two-way performance.

BEST OF LOSERS

Jim MacDonald proved the shining light of a dimly-tinsled Belleville crew, followed by George Farmer and centre Dick Morden; while "Salty" Moore hoofed a fair chore on the halfline as he essayed to match punts with bashing "Spin" Hope. MacDonald scored the visitors' only major after a belated drive in the final frame led by him, Morden, Rowan and Farmer.

P.C.V.S. scored first in the first quarter, when Dave Langhorne carried around right end for a 35-yard run; but the convert failed. Passes began to click for the Goulding squad and with these and plunges, Peterborough moved close; at the 10-minute mark Scriver carried over on a nice play. A Langhorne to Griffin pass, hit pay dirt early in the second with no convert, and the locals outplayed their game but spotty rivals who completed but one pass in three and whose attack and defence wobbled at times.

A GREAT RUN

Bob Craw snared a long punt at the deadline and made a phenomenal run through the entire team for a touchdown in the third, but the play was ruled a single, the kick being slightly over, and Craw's great effort was nullified. P.C.V.S. added four more majors however, in the final half, as Scriver on a buck, Corbett on a run in the third, Craw on a Corbett pass and Hollingsworth on a run in the fourth, all hit the score sheet the while their mates played sound football to give the necessary protection for scoring plays. It was a clean game.

Belleville C. I.: Flying wing, Kellett; halves, Moore, MacDonald, Farmer; centre, Morden; quarter, Baker; insides, Burrows, Frederick; middles, Cherry, McCurdy outsides, Wagar, Batchelor; alternates, Bradford, Fattis, Powell, Reid, Gray, Bedford, Rowan, Brant, Marner.

P.C.V.S.: Flying wing, Craw; halves, Hope, Scriver, Grafstein; centre, Forbes; quarter, Langhorne; insides, Outram, Walker; middles, King, McGrath; outsides, Sanders, Griffin; alternates, Eastwood, Ash, Geale, Gilders, Haggart, Hillis, Hollingsworth, Reader, Corbett, Lynch.

Referee, Gord Young; umpire, L. McBrien; head linesman, H. Hempstead.

Curling Rinks Chosen For The Year

A meeting of the skips of the Curling Club is called for Thursday, Oct. 16 at 7.30 p.m. It will be held in the club's parlors.

If a skip finds that he cannot be present, he should have the vice-skips there.

The main object of this meeting is to choose schedule rinks for the coming season. The committee is aiming for 70 schedule rinks and that means exactly 280 active members.

The membership committee expects to have that number by Thursday evening, but there are some of last year's members who have not as yet signed their application cards. This makes a rather awkward situation. It would be most unfortunate if they should be left off the list. Give the membership committee a break — send your application along at once to Secretary I. Moore or chairman B. Harrison.

Vancouver Canucks Whip Cougars 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks rebounded from their season-opening defeat at Victoria to whip the Cougars 5-1 at Vancouver last night in a Western Hockey League game.

At Edmonton, veteran Johnny Chad scored from a goalmouth scramble in the last two minutes to enable Saskatoon Quakers to salvage a 3-3 tie with Edmonton Flyers in the night's other game.

The tie kept intact the unbeaten record of the Quakers, defending league champions who whitewashed Calgary Stampeders 6-0 in their opener. It was the revamped Flyers' debut.

'DOUBTFUL' ABOUT LEAFS

TORONTO (CP)—It was five-away [redacted] Gardens, home of Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League for 25 years. And the donor was General Manager Conn Smythe who has master-minded the blue and white palace since it opened.

He was in munificent mood. He "gave" Detroit Red Wings, Montreal Canadiens, Chicago Black Hawks and Boston Bruins playoff spots when the 70-game N.H.L. schedule winds up next March. What about his Leafs and Bill Cook's New York Rangers?

Well, Smythe told a gathering of sports writers and sports broadcasters in his annual early-season press conference, "their future is in doubt."

The Leafs, who made the playoffs last season and then went out four straight in the Stanley Cup semi-finals to the Red Wings, have a chance of making the post-season series "if" they can get replacements for the four men traded to the Hawks this autumn for goalkeeper Harry Lumley. And "if" they get five the Leafs are "in."

Toronto opens the season here against Chicago tonight and Smythe said the club will be without eight or nine men who were on his 1951-52 team. "This is probably the biggest change any club has made in the history of the game," he added.

He called the Hawks for a playoff spot for two reasons: They are "slightly loaded with playoff material" and Jim Norris, Jr., the club's new owner, is "the smartest dealer in the league and he won't be content with a poor club."

Hawks started in the right direction Thursday night when they edged Canadiens 3-2 at Montreal. They've been cellar-dwellers so long that in past years it has been a habit to call them for sixth place in pre-season predictions.

GUELPH BOWS TO VARSITY

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto's intermediate football team opened the intercollegiate season yesterday by trouncing Guelph's Ontario Agricultural College 4-12.

The Aggies jumped to a first-quarter touchdown lead when Wayne Gerrie went off tackle from [redacted] scored a field goal and a single in the first quarter.

Varsity led 15-12 at half time on two touchdowns by Don Cheesman. Aggies scored their second major when Doug Kincaid went over from the Varsity five. Dave Francis converted.

In the second half the blues scored five touchdowns, converting three, and kicked a single while keeping the Aggies scoreless.

SOCCER LEAGUE MOOTED

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today an Ontario-Quebec senior soccer league has been proposed for next season by soccer men here and in Montreal.

The story says that four officials of the Province of Quebec Football Association conferred here recently with Arthur Arnold, chairman, and Bill Simpson, Secretary, of the Ontario Football Association.

WINDSOR TRIMS MOHAWKS

TORONTO (CP)—Windsor Optimists last night defeated Brantford Mohawks 13-7 to win the Ontario Lacrosse Association Peewee championship. The game was played as a preliminary to the Mann Cup final between Peterborough and Vancouver.

Els Martinello scored four goals for the winners, Richard Green three and Larry Boise and Don Pecore two each. Ronnie Doxtator stood out for Brantford, scoring five goals.

BOBBY JONES ILL

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Bobby Jones, the king of golf who retired in 1930 after making the first and only grand slam, is recovering from a heart attack in an Atlanta hospital.

Jones was on the way to visit a doctor Tuesday for an examination into pains he had experienced for several days when he suffered the attack.

Jones' grand slam was the winning of the British and U. S. professional and amateur championships in the same year.

Barbara Ann Draws Bigger Gates

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sonja Henie and her 1953 Ice Revue drew a "good house" Thursday night as it lapped over into the run of Barbara Ann Scott's Hollywood Ice Review, but the newcomer had the bigger crowd.

Herb Carlin, press representative for Miss Henie, said she played to a 75- to 80-per-cent house. The Butler University Fieldhouse where she is appearing will seat 7,500 to 8,300.

Dick Miller, speaking for the Scott show, said there were 9,000 persons in the big State Fairgrounds Coliseum, which holds 10,500.

The estimates of the press agents did not indicate how many were paid admissions.

REPORTERS' ESTIMATE

Reporters estimated there were about 5,500 at the Barbara Ann show and 4,000 at the Sonja revue.

The box-office battle between the ice-skating blondes became unavoidable when Miss Henie announced ticket sales were so good she was holding over her show for an added week.

This threw her into direct box office competition with Miss Scott, the Ottawa miss whose revue will show nightly through Oct. 26. Miss Henie started Oct. 3.

Champions Break Records At Annual Field Meet Of Central Public School

Central School pupils gathered at Nicholls Oval Friday afternoon for their annual Field Day. Under the supervision of Mr. D. T. Crawford, principal, and his staff a very successful track and field meet was held. Below is listed the events and the winners together with the champions of each section and the runner-up: Ribbons were awarded to the first five in each event and crests were presented to the champions. Several records were broken as follows:

Charles Sorrie broke his brother Bill's record for the running high in the Intermediate division by clearing 4' 2"—the old record 4' ½".

Charles Sorrie in the intermediate ½ mile cut 12½ seconds off the old record to set a new time at 2 minutes 50 sec.

In the senior division Terry Welch jumped 8' 3" to wipe out the mark set by Joe Mathews in '51 of 8' 2". In the running broad jump Bill Sorrie set 15' 1" and thereby destroyed the record of 14' 9" set by Kwong Hum a year ago. In the running high jump Earl Robbins set a new mark of 4' 8" and again in the ½ mile Robbins broke the old record of 2 min. and 53 sec. and set a pace of 2 min. and 27 sec.

In the senior girls section Joan Gillespie broke the running broad jump record set by Marina Turner in 1950 of 11' 1" and set a new of 11' 4".

In the junior standing broad jump Dianne Dalton jumped 6' 5" to better Eleanor McIlmoye's 1951 mark of 6' 2".

Earl Robbins sets two new records and is senior boy champion as 9 new marks were established in the field day.

Report Lewis Considering Country-Wide U.S. Strike

CINCINNATI (AP) — John L. Lewis was reliably reported today to be considering calling a country-wide coal strike in the United States unless the government Wage Stabilization Board approves a recently-negotiated pay boost by next Wednesday.

Lewis sent his chief legal lieutenant, Welly Hopkins, flying from the United Mine Workers Union convention here to confer today with the Wage Board in Washington.

The problem, it was understood, may complicate the current political situation.

Lewis, who seemed to be on the verge of endorsing the Democratic presidential nominee, Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, after apparently favoring Republican nominees in the last three national elections, is holding up any flat endorsement until he sees how the Democratic administration handles his wage case.

The miners union president has just negotiated one of his fattest labor contracts — a pay boost of $1.90 a day, boosting the basic daily wage for miners to $18.25, plus a 10-cent increase in the tonnage royalty paid by coal mine owners to the union's welfare fund. The increase brings the royalty to 40 cents a ton, or better than $150,000,000 a year.

Coal operators maintain they can't pay the new contract terms until the Wage Board approves it. It has generally been felt among those close to the situation that the board probably will give its approval, but perhaps later than the Oct. 15 payday when first cheques bearing the new pay rates become due.

So far in the convention Lewis has seemingly leaned heavily toward Stevenson and against Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee. The union boss has not, however, made any endorsement. Both the A.F.L. and C.I.O. have come out formally for Stevenson.

Hypnotist Ends 75-Day Fast

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — New York hypnotist Jack Wafer ended a 75-dayfast today and claimed a world record for living without food.

Wafer, 30, had been sitting in a glass cubicle, nourished, he said, only by soda water and cigarettes, since July 26.

He was weak but still could walk when he came out. He weighed 126 pounds, compared with 147 when he went in.

He said he had one big advantage over fellow-fasters: when the pangs of hunger got too bad "I found self-hypnosis a big help."

Water Still High

BROCKVILLE (CP)—A 13-inch drop in the level of the St. Lawrence River here in two months was reported by the Public Utilities Commission at the end of September. The river however is still above the level at the same period of last year.

Fairview Women Plan Tea For November

FAIRVIEW (ENS) — The Fairview Women's Association held their Thanksgiving meeting at the home of Mrs. Carman Bell. Mrs. Edison Kimball led the worship period when Mrs. Harold Heard, Mrs. Robert Fowler and Mrs. Carman Bell, the president, Mrs. Wesley Bell, led the business. Plans were made for the Autumn tea which will be held in the Y.W.C.A. on Nov. 13. The ladies are also serving dinner at the church for the W.A. Presbytery fall executive meeting when they expect to serve 75 ladies.

Mrs. Cephas Heard, secretary, read several cards of thanks for fruit sent to the sick.

Fairview ladies accepted an invitation from the Bridgenorth W.A. to meet with them at their regular meeting, Tuesday evening. Eighteen ladies were present and enjoyed a very pleasant evening together with the Bridgenorth and Selwyn ladies. All agreed that these social meetings together should be an annual event.

Outline To Builder Highest Payment You Can Afford

Naturally you want the most house for your dollar. To get it you must help your builder by outlining to him the full amount of the monthly payment which your budget should stand and the amount you originally invest. Ask plenty of questions—make sure that you understand each other perfectly before you permit him to bid.

Make sure, before a detailed cost estimate and bid is made, that the design you have selected is within the general range you wish. Your builder or lumber dealer can tell you this.

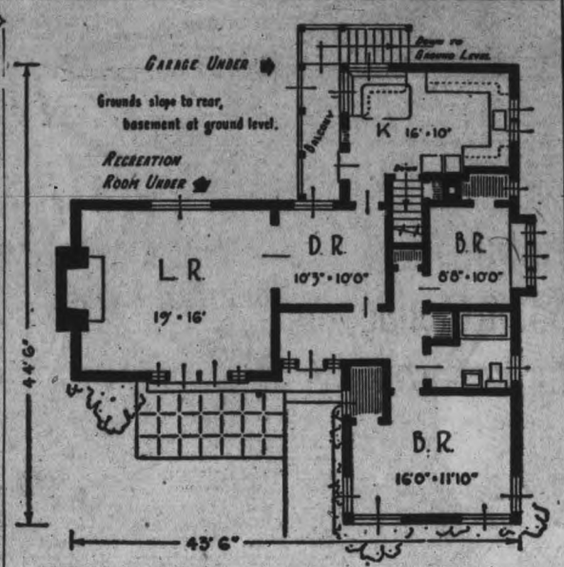
Peculiarly enough, it makes little difference to your builder whether you construct a large or small home. His compensation is based on time and effort a structure requires of him. Small homes take less time and they involve less financial risk. Many builders prefer to build them in large numbers on a modest percentage.

Your builder—contractor is an individual who gathers together for your convenience in one person the functions of as many as 30 different trades and operations. The process of determining the price of a home is one of carefully checking the materials and labour operations in these 30 trades. There are many qualities and many prices for each operation. Someone has to make the decision as to just which grade material shall be used for a certain place in the house and how the work shall be done—it is the answer to this question repeated many times which determines the final cost of your home.

When you take the time to give your builder exact information as to your requirements and wishes there is no reason for him to make guesses and decisions which might unnecessarily boost the cost of the house. In lieu of specific information it is natural for the builder to estimate sufficiently high to cover all contingencies.

If the first estimate on the house you want exceeds your cost limit, don't throw up your hands in despair, go over the plan and specifications step by step with the builder. Every house built is a compromise. Remember that slight changes in the requirements which cut the cost of each item five per cent all along the line may make as much as $1,000 difference in the total cost.

By all means avoid making your builder gamble. If he is sure of his ground and has full knowledge of exactly what is required of him, he will help you get a good house for a fair amount of money. He will not try to profiteer; but if he must take risks, he must protect himself. Remove the risks and you cut your costs.



There is a good rule to follow: "Change your mind before you start the building job—not during it". Have all the "pros and cons" talked out before the building materials arrive at the site. Talk is cheap—but building material and labour cost money.

DO THESE THINGS:

1. Before you spend money for to the general price class into which your choice falls.
2. Question every decision as to kind of ... to be sure that some other material wil not do the job as well and at less cost.
3. Make a general list of everything you want in the house and get your builder's opinion item by item.
4. Avoid generalities. The only accurate cost of a building is based on definite specific items.
5. Be sure you know exactly how much you have to spend before you start negotiations.
6. Don't spend all your fund at first—leave yourself a contingent reserve.
